New Student Commons Building to be Constructed on Campus

In August, the Lindenwood Board of Directors approved a tentative plan for a $10 million, 40,000- to 50,000-square-foot student “commons” building to be placed in an undetermined location. After months of soliciting input from students, faculty and key staff, a revised proposal for a $16-20 million, 114,000-square-foot student “commons,” which will include a movie theater, student government offices, and a four-court gymnasium with a cardio, weight room and suspended track was submitted to the board and approved in November.

This building will be placed adjacent to the Performance Arena in the current back campus green space and will also include a fast food commercial retail center, student meeting rooms, laundry services, resident and commuter post office boxes, a coffee shop, and a cafeteria that can support 300 students at one time.

“The expansion of the student commons proposal is a true reflection of the campus community focused to facilitate positive and meaningful activities for the student body,” Evans said.

Vice President for Student Development John Oldani added, “A

In the beginning of the fall semester, a lunch tent was put up in the quad to alleviate long lines in the Spellmann Center Cafeteria. The new student commons will include a second cafeteria to address these conditions.

physical space for students to gather that is 100 percent student-centric will be a wonderful addition to our beautiful campus.”

Construction is expected to start during the 2008-2009 fiscal year. The building is expected to be completed in either the 2009 or 2010 fiscal year.

A Message From the Vice President for Student Development

Lindenwood University has a proud legacy of educating men and women who demonstrate academic excellence, ethical leadership and a commitment to positive social change. We believe the journey to intellectual, spiritual, and internal growth is accomplished by augmenting excellent academic programs with meaningful student development opportunities. Therefore, we offer a wide array of activities that foster life-long learning, promote global awareness, and facilitate community involvement.

Spring Will Include an Array of Special Events

Spring Fling

This year's Spring Fling will be held from Friday, April 18 through Sunday, April 27. Student Activities will again be running a number of activities during this time frame. Look for more details in the upcoming months.

Spring Fling Opening Pep Rally

The annual Spring Fling Pep Rally will be held Friday, April 18, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Hunter Stadium. This event will feature spring athletic teams, the LU Crew, the LU Cheerleaders, the Spirit Band, etc. Those in attendance are encouraged to show their LU spirit by wearing black and gold apparel.

LSGA Spring Festival 2007

This year's LSGA Spring Festival will be held outside the Spellmann Center from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 21. All participating clubs and organizations will host an activity at this event. This is also a chance for many of Lindenwood's organizations to promote themselves to potential members on campus!

LSGA Black and Gold Celebration

From 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. on Friday, April 25, the annual Lindenwood Student Government Association (LSGA) Spring Black and Gold Celebration will take place. This event includes a DJ, food and beverages. The theme, location and menu will be determined in the upcoming months.

International Festival

The biannual Lindenwood International Festival on Nov. 16 started with a parade of 79 flags across campus to the Spellmann Center, where they were displayed in the atrium. Master of Ceremonies Rao Ayyagari, professor of biology (center left), introduced demonstrations, speakers, entertainment and other attractions throughout the evening, including a demonstration of Brazilian music and martial arts (bottom left) and a performance of Haitian music (bottom right). The festival was attended by hundreds of Lindenwood students and faculty.

Career Services Offers Advice on Making the Most of Job Fairs

Looking for a full-time or part-time job? Need an internship? Just want to see what's out there? Mark your calendar! On Wednesday, March 5, 2007, from 10 am – 2 p.m., the Office of Career Services will host a fair in the lower level of the Spellmann Center for students to network with prospective employers.

Career fairs allow local and national employers to market their volunteer and employment opportunities to a large applicant pool. Your first experience with a job fair can be a little daunting. With the right amount of preparation, you can navigate the career fair waters like a pro! Below are some guidelines for making the most of a job fair.

1. Obtain a list of participating employers and determine whom you would like to speak with. Research those employers; become familiar with the organization and the positions for which they will most likely be recruiting. (Most will have web sites!)

2. Determine what you will wear.

Women: Wear a professional, knee-length skirt or pant suit, sheer hose, closed-toe and closed-heel pumps in a dark leather (low heel is fine). Remove visible body piercings and wear minimal jewelry, no perfume, natural looking makeup, and a conservative and polished hairstyle. Bring a purse or a briefcase (no backpacks). If you choose a purse, do bring a folder in which to keep your resumes etc.

Men: Wear a professional suit in a conservative dark color, with dark shoes and dark socks, an ironed long-sleeve button-down shirt, a conservative tie, and no cologne. Remove visible body piercings. Do not wear necklaces, bracelets or earrings, and wear a conservative hairstyle. No backpacks!

3. Smile, introduce yourself and offer a firm handshake. You will only have a minute or two to distinguish yourself from the hundreds of other candidates the recruiter might be seeing that day. Make sure your first impression is a good one. You may use the following "One-Minute Commercial" as a guide.

Your One-Minute Commercial

Hello, my name is _____

I'll graduate (in May/this summer/have graduated) with a _____ degree in _____. I'm interested in a position (describe in general terms the type of job you are seeking).

As you can see from my resume, I've taken a variety of courses (describe the coursework you have taken that will be pertinent to the employer's needs, or that you did especially well in).

I've also had some valuable job experiences (describe here the characteristics of previous jobs that were positive learning experiences).

I filled up the rest of my time in college with extra-curricular activities (describe here the organizations you have joined, offices held, awards won and activities you participated in).

During the 2007 Lindenwood Career Fair, hundreds of students took advantage of the opportunity to meet with human resources professionals from the St. Louis region.

Is there any information on my resume that you would like me to clarify?

4. Determine one to three questions that you will ask each company. Write these down and bring them to the fair.

Sample questions:

- Does your organization employ... (a particular career area)?
 - I am considering getting into _____. What qualifications does your organization consider when hiring in this area?
 - Do you anticipate much demand in _____ in the next _____ year(s)?
 - What makes one qualified applicant stand out from the others?
 - What are your company's most sought-after skills? What training is provided?
5. Bring plenty of well-written resumes to present to employers after you introduce yourself and ask questions.

6. Ask for a business card while thanking the recruiter for his or her time. Reaffirm your interest and ask to whom and when you should follow up.

The Lindenwood University Career Services Office assists students and alumni in the areas of career exploration, career development, intern/co-op employment, part-time and volunteer positions, Community Work Service/America Reads, as well as professional employment upon graduation. Career Services is committed to assisting students with making the transition from academic life to a career.

Career Services coordinates on-campus interview and resume and job matching programs, bringing together LU students and graduates with representatives from business, industry, governmental agencies, and educational institutions; conducts job search seminars, hosts or co-hosts a variety of career fairs, and maintains a Career Information Center.

Partnering with eCampusRecruiter.com, the leading provider of custom online career center management software, online event management, and recruitment solutions, Lindenwood's online career center management program, the "LIONetwork," provides the following services to students:

- resume approval and referral
- job search and postings
- interview and event management.

To access the LIONetwork, go to www.ecampusrecruiter.com/lindenwood.

New users:

- Under the box labeled, "Are you new to this system?" click on icon next to "Students & Alumni."
- Complete the online registration and submit.
- Career Services will review your registration and send confirmation via e-mail when you are approved to begin using the system.

Returning Users:

- Under "All Current Members Login Here," enter your username and password

For more information regarding the LIONetwork or any career-related service, feel free to call 636-949-4806 or come by the Career Services Office on the fourth floor of the Spellmann Center.

Community Work Service Opportunity Available at Campus YMCA

The Campus YMCA is looking for a few good volunteers! Lindenwood University residential students may participate in the Community Work Service Segment of their Work and Learn Program during their junior and senior years. The students will work an average of 10 hours per week for 15 weeks, or a total of 150 hours for the semester. The students' university accounts will be credited as though they are working on campus.

The purpose of the Community Work Service Program is as follows:

- to expose students to volunteer agencies and social programs in the local community.
- to enable students to be involved in hands-on experience outside their normal disciplines.
- to provide diverse opportunities that will enhance the students' educational background and broaden their range of marketable talents.

For more information about the Campus YMCA Community Work Service Program, call 636-949-4787 or, if you prefer, e-mail CampusYMCA@hotmail.com. If you would like to hear about other community work service options, please contact Dana Wehrl at 636-949-4806.

The Lindenwood Campus YMCA is located at 1116 First Capitol Drive in St. Charles.

Start Thinking Now About Housing Assignments For Next Year

It is never too early to start thinking about housing arrangements for the upcoming year. Traditionally, if resident students like their housing and want to keep it the same, they have one week to hold their current housing assignments for the upcoming year. Dates to reserve your current housing assignment for next year will be March 3 through 7 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Leadership Room on the fourth floor of Spellmann Center. Just pick up an application from your resident director, download it from the LU web page, or fill one out that day and bring it to the Leadership Room.

All residential students, from freshmen to graduate level, must sign up for housing every year. Graduate students who will continue their education through August 2008 will also need to sign up for housing at this time.

If students want to change housing assignments, they must do so at the same time they register for classes. For the third year, housing, Work and Learn and class registration will be together in The Connection, beginning with senior registration on Monday, March 10, and junior registration on Tuesday, March 11. Sophomore registration will be the following week on Monday, March 17, and freshman registration is on Tuesday, March 18. Housing and Work and Learn sign-ups are from 8:00 a.m. to 5 p.m.

It is important to remember to complete class and housing registration on time. Failure to do so may result in the loss of the desired housing assignment.

If you are returning for the spring semester, please follow the steps below to make sure your personal items are safeguarded while you are away.

- Turn in your key to the resident director.
- Clean up your residence.
- Clean out your refrigerator.
- Take valuable items with you or arrange to have them placed in a safe location.
- If you are leaving a vehicle on campus, notify the Residential Service Office to verify where you can leave your vehicle.
- Make sure all windows and doors are locked in your residence.

When you are transferring or graduating, please follow the steps below to make your transition a smooth one.

- Complete the University Student Checkout form
- Turn in your key to your resident director
- Make sure your room or area of responsibility is clean

NOTE: The university is not responsible for your personal items during the break. If you have any questions call the numbers listed below.

Dean of Students Terry Russell: 636-949-4980

Director of Residential Services Wade Hampton: 636-949-4687

Changes are in Store for J-Term Housing Check-in Procedures

Students returning for J-Term 2008 will see some changes in the check in procedure. All new and returning students enrolled in J-Term, LCIE, graduate, MBA and trimester classes may move into their residences on Wednesday, Jan. 2, 2008, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. All residential students will be required to come to the Connection in the Spellmann Center FIRST to receive their key for their residence.

Failure to do so may result in additional check-in charges. Café services will resume for breakfast on Thursday Jan. 3. Check-in times will be split alphabetically by last name as follows:

A through K: 9:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.

L through T: 11:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

U through Z: 2:00-4:00 p.m.

Students enrolled in Spring semester classes will be permitted to move into their residences on Saturday, Jan. 19, 2008, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.—no earlier. All residents must FIRST report to the Connection in the Spellmann Campus Center to receive their keys. Check in times will be split alphabetically by last name as follows:

A through L: 11:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

M through Z: 2:00-5:00 p.m.

Spring semester classes will begin on Monday, January 21.

Please make travel plans according to the class dates listed above. All housing assignments will be held for 48 hours from move-in date. If you are returning late, you must notify the Director of Resident Life. Please direct all questions and concerns to the Resident Life Office at 636-949-4848.

Deadlines to Apply for Graduation

If you are a senior and planning to graduate during this academic year, please fill out an Application for Degree form, have it signed and return it to the Academic Service Office by the dates below. If you have any questions or need assistance with these forms, please see the Academic Service office for further information.

- Download application from http://www.lindenwood.edu/academics/acad_services.asp or pick up the application from Academic Services in Roemer Hall.

- Complete the top portion of the form and submit it to your advisor, who will complete the remainder of the form. Late applications may be held until the following graduation date.

- Graduation deadlines:

June – Nov. 30 of prior year

August – Feb. 28 of same year

September – Feb. 28 of same year

December – Feb. 28 of same year

Sign Up for Work and Learn During Housing and Class Registration

The time for Work and Learn registration is near. The Work and Learn office will conduct sign-ups for the 2008-2009 school year during the housing and class registration sign-up periods.

Remember that you are required to sign a contract for the upcoming year if you plan to participate in the Work and Learn program next school year. Also remember that jobs are assigned depending on the needs of the university on a first-come, first-served basis. Your current assignment does not guarantee assignment to that same work area for the upcoming year.

If you have questions, please call Mike Tolman or Eric Mircsov at 636-949-4562 or visit us in our office on the third floor of the Spellmann Center.

Get Ready to Apply for Financial Aid For 2008-2009

It's almost time to apply for financial aid for the 2008-09 academic year.

Beginning January 1, 2008, you can complete your FAFSA.

Remember to always apply before the priority deadline of April 1st to ensure consideration for your maximum financial aid eligibility.

Don't forget to apply for your Personal Identification Number (PIN) if you have not already done so,

Apply at www.fafsa.ed.gov

Lindenwood University school code: 002480

Please visit the Financial Aid Office in the lower level of Roemer Hall or call at 636-949-4923 if you have any questions or concerns.

Spring Semester Payments Due

Based upon your financial aid award, your spring semester Student/Family Contribution is due by Jan. 5. If you are interested in setting up a payment plan, please contact your account representative (see below). When submitting your payment, please remember to include your student ID number. If you have already submitted a payment or made payment arrangements, we appreciate your timeliness.

If the Business Office, located on the main level of Roemer Hall, can be of assistance regarding payment and/or financing alternatives, please feel free to contact the following account representatives, based on the first letter of your last name:

A-L – Kathy Steenberg, 636-949-4967

M-Z – Sharon Beck, 636-949-4968

Graduation is Sooner Than You Think

In order to graduate from Lindenwood University, you must fill out an Application for Degree form. March graduates need to apply by September of the previous year. May and June graduates should apply by November of the previous year. August, September and December graduates should apply by February. These deadlines are firm!

Buying Textbooks Online is Fast and Easy With MBS Direct

When Lindenwood University began offering books online, it stopped selling them at the campus bookstore. Thus, the name of the bookstore was changed to the Lindenwood Spirit and Supplies Shoppe to more accurately reflect what is sold there.

Under the new system, professors can more easily place book orders for their classes, students can more easily buy needed texts, and delivery can be arranged to either the student's home or to the Spirit and Supplies Shoppe for pick-up. Books can even be sold back online after the semester.

Book orders can be placed two to four weeks before the start of the term. The following are some frequently asked questions about buying books online through MBS direct:

How do I order? There are two options: the MBS web site or by phone. The web site may be reached by going to "Lindenwood.edu" and clicking on "order books" on the homepage or by going straight to "Direct.mbsbooks.com." To place phone orders, call 800-325-3252. In either case, you will need a copy of your schedule with course ID (i.e. ENG 150.10 English Comp I). Simply follow the directions on-screen or on the telephone interface to select the books you need for your classes.

How do I pay for books? If you are using the phone to place your order, you may use a credit card, mail in a check, or use a university-issued voucher. If you are ordering online, you may use a credit card or university-issued voucher.

What is a University Book Voucher? This is a credit line that the university sets up for you with MBS that will allow you to purchase your books using credit from your student account.

Who is eligible for a voucher? Students with credit in their student accounts are eligible to request a voucher (a voucher may not exceed the available credit on the student's account). If there isn't any credit available in the student account, the student must use one of the other payment methods to order books.

How do I request a voucher? Please contact your account representative in the Business Office to see if you have a credit on your account. For more information, call the Business Office at 636-949-4650.

New Opportunities for Intramural Sports are Available

This year, we have an exciting new opportunity for our resident and commuter population. The Intramural program has been redesigned to offer four opportunities per week, with one on the weekend. Below you will see the times and available activities. We hope you and our students take advantage of this opportunity. If you have further questions, please contact Marshall Newman at 636-949-4374 or visit him at his office in the Butler Loft.

Flag Football-Tuesdays at 4:00 p.m., at the intramural field, located inside the track. Sign-ups are necessary prior to play. Please stop by the intramural office below the Butler Loft to join the roster.

Sand Volleyball-Thursdays at 4:00 p.m. at the sand volleyball pit next to Harmon Hall. Sign-ups are necessary prior to play. Please stop by the intramural office located below the Butler Loft to join the roster.

Competitive Ultimate Frisbee -Sundays at 4:00 p.m. at the intramural field. Just show up and play.

Lindenwood Student Organizations Are There to Fill the Void

For students wondering what to do in the evening or on the week-ends, the following is a current list of active clubs and organizations. Listed with each club name is the name of the faculty or staff moderator of the club, along with his or her telephone extension (dial 636-949 and the extension). If you would like a complete description of any of the clubs or organizations, please visit our on-line site at: http://www.lindenwood.edu/campus_life/stud_org.asp.

Lindenwood Finishes Second In Directors' Cup

The Lindenwood athletics department finished second in the 2006-07 NAIA Directors' Cup standings, which names the top all-around athletics departments in the country.

Lindenwood has now been the runner-up in these standings for the last three school years. The team has been in the top-five for the last nine years, including a first place finish in 2001-02 and 2002-03.

Leading the way in the standings for Lindenwood last year was the wrestling program, which won the NAIA National Championship.

Among the other sports teams that scored points were men's swimming, women's swimming, men's indoor track and field, women's indoor track and field, and men's golf, all of which posted top-10 finishes.

Athletics Department Inducts Inaugural Hall of Fame Class

Lindenwood University inducted its inaugural Athletics Hall of Fame class during the 2007 Homecoming Weekend.

The first inductee was the late Lindenwood President Dennis Spellmann, who was inducted for his meritorious service to the athletics department.

Lindenwood began an unprecedented institutional turnaround in 1989 under Spellmann's leadership. He planned and secured funding for numerous athletic facilities, including Harlan C. Hunter Stadium, Robert F. Hyland Performance Arena, Lou Brock Sports Complex and the Track and Field Complex.

Spellmann initiated or improved 38 intercollegiate sports programs at Lindenwood. He and his wife, Sue, enthusiastically supported all athletic programs, taking particular pride in the numerous conference and national championships earned by the university.

Fourteen former student-athletes were inducted into the inaugural class. They were: Kelly Austene-Raines (softball), Earl Austin, Jr. (basketball), Sean Birren (track and field), Jaime Bonney (basketball), Kelley Bowen (soccer), Caryn Chasteen (soccer), Dan Emrick (golf), Sallie Henry (softball), Jessica Metcalf (swimming and diving), Beth Neyman (soccer), Krista Niedenbach (soccer), Tim Nihart (baseball), Nebojsa Stefanovic (soccer), and Kris Tebbe (softball/soccer).

Coaches John Creer (track and field) and Debbie Washburn (women's soccer) were inducted as coaches, and the 1998 Indoor Track and Field team, which won Lindenwood's first national championship, was inducted in the team category.

The Lindenwood Athletics Hall of Fame was established earlier this year as a way to recognize those individuals who have helped make the university's athletics program one of the most successful in the nation. A permanent display honoring the inductees is located in the Hyland Performance Arena.

Lindenwood Fall Teams Experience Success

Lindenwood's athletic teams got off to a great start for the 2007-08 school year. The school won half of the Heart of America Athletic Conference championships during the fall season in football, women's volleyball and men's cross country.

After winning their first 10 regular season games and climbing to a number seven ranking in the country, the football Lions lost their last regular season game and then lost in the first round of the NAIA playoffs to St. Francis of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The cross country team wrapped up a very solid season with a third-place finish in the national meet on Nov. 17 in Kenosha, Wis.

The women's volleyball team played in the NAIA national tournament for the first time in school history. The team advanced to the quarterfinal round before losing to the third seed.
