New Programs, New Technology Solidify LU's Future

There is a lot going on at Lindenwood University, and acting LU President Jim Evans, Ph.D., in a talk given to alumni and parents at the annual reunion and Parents Weekend breakfast on October 21, outlined present and planned developments for the large crowd.

"President Spellmann left Lindenwood University with an excellent legacy," Evans said at the recent Homecoming Alumni Breakfast. "He laid the foundation for our goal of becoming the most desirable university in the Midwest. We teach our students to set goals and reach for them, and I can assure you Lindenwood University will remain focused on academic excellence."

New Degree Programs

Evans talked about the development of new degree programs, including the university's first-ever doctoral program. In September, a team from the Higher Learning Commission visited the campus to conduct a review of the proposed doctoral degree in education. Approval of the new program is expected in the coming months. It will accommodate a maximum of 50 students, and an estimated 300 educators are interested in it already.

Other additions include a journalism program, "as a part of the curriculum in an already excellent communications division," Evans said. He also noted the addition of a writing proficiency program that has been implemented to ensure that all Lindenwood students have the writing skills necessary to perform at the college level. Under this program, all students in Composition II will take a writing assessment test; those who do not pass will be required to participate in a writing lab. Also, at graduation, the students' transcripts will indicate they have passed a writing proficiency exam.

A music management degree was recently added to complement Lindenwood's existing degree programs in music instruction and music performance. The degree program has been designed for students who want to pursue the many careers in music that do not entail instruction or performing.

At LU's satellite campus in Belleville, Illinois, Lindenwood recently received approval to offer its health management program. The program, which was approved in October by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, is for health care workers who want to pursue managerial positions in their industry. The program is already available at Lindenwood's Missouri campuses.

Evans also said that Lindenwood is continuing in its commitment to attract top faculty to the school. "We are committed to increasing the number of Lindenwood professors with doctoral and other terminal degrees," Evans said. "All of our students will benefit from such a move."

Campus Culture

In addition to academic improvements, Lindenwood has a number of infrastructure projects planned, including the installation of pedestrian and bike paths on the main campus and the addition of two to five new gated entrances to the campus. Tentative plans are also in the works for two additional residence halls.

2007-08, this 130,000-square-foot building, designed to be a cultural center in St. Charles County, will include a 1,200-seat main theater, a smaller "black box" theatre, gallery space for student shows and traveling exhibitions, and classrooms and practice rooms.

"We already have begun looking into booking large shows and other events," said Evans. "Our students and their performances and exhibits will come first, but we have 52 weeks a year to book. There are plenty of opportunities for partnerships in the community."

Undergraduate tuition to make modest increase in fall

Tuition for traditional undergraduate students at Lindenwood University will increase 3.3 percent to $12,400 in the fall of 2007.

Lindenwood's board of directors approved the increase on Friday, November 3. It is only the second tuition hike at Lindenwood in five years.

James D. Evans, acting president at Lindenwood, said the tuition increase was needed to cover increasing costs of new academic programs and technology.

"This increase essentially covers inflation," said Evans. "Lindenwood still compares quite favorably across the country. The average tuition increase nationwide is six percent."

Evans said the cost of room and board for Lindenwood's 3,500 residential students will increase by $200 to $6,200.

Adult students studying in Lindenwood's accelerated evening program will see a 5.5 percent increase to $2,610 per 9-credit-hour cluster, Evans said.

Holiday Checkout Procedures for Residential Students

With the semester coming to a close, it is time to start thinking about the holidays. There are certain times when the residence halls and other housing close due to holiday breaks and the semester ending.

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, there will be no classes on Thursday, November 23 and Friday, November 24. All students are encouraged to enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday off campus. All residences will close at 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 22, and will reopen on Sunday, November 26, at 12 p.m. The last meal in the cafeteria will be lunch on Wednesday, November 22. Café services will re-open for breakfast on Monday, November 27.

At the end of semester, all residential students are required to check out of housing on the day of their last final exam. Residences will close at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, December 15, for undergraduates and Saturday, December 16, for graduate students. No one will be permitted to re-enter the residences over the break, so please make sure you have everything out of your room that you will need. The last meal in the café will be lunch on Friday, December 15. Staff will check each room or residence to make sure they have been vacated and the above procedures have been completed. Please contact your Residential Director at the time that you plan to leave. This will expedite your check out process.

Students requesting late departure or permission to remain through the break must submit a letter to Mrs. Giessman in Resident Life (located in Spellmann Center: fourth floor, Campus Life) by Friday, November 24.

Students who are graduating from Lindenwood University in December 2006, or students who are not returning to Lindenwood in 2007, must also complete a STUDENT CHECK OUT form, which can be obtained from Michelle Giessman. This form must be turned in to the Resident Life office no later than Friday, December 15. Completion of the form will help expedite the students' requests for the refund of their housing deposit. Any questions regarding the housing deposit refund should be directed to the Business Office.

To ensure energy conservation, safety, and security for personal property and residences, prior to leaving for Christmas Break, all residents must follow a check out procedure. At this time students will also turn in their room/house keys to their Resident Directors prior to leaving for the semester break. Failure to return the keys or complete the check out procedure may result in improper check out charges. Residents will not be permitted to re-enter the Residences during break.

Check Out Procedures

- Leave heat on 55 degrees (lower than normal setting).
- Close and lock all windows.
- Unplug all electrical items except aquariums, refrigerators, and answering machines.
- Clean room and empty all trash into the dumpsters. Residents will be charged $15.00 for each bag of trash removed from the Residence.
- Turn off all lights.
- Lock all doors including bathroom doors if you have adjoining rooms.
- Avoid leaving valuable items (jewelry, money, sound systems, TV's, VCR's, DVD players, computers, CD & DVD collections, bicycles, sports equipment, automobiles, etc.). Items left in residences should be engraved, if possible, with driver's license number or some other form of identification. Record all serial numbers and insurance information.

LINDENWOOD UNIVERSITY DOES NOT ASSUME RESPONSIBILITY FOR PERSONAL PROPERTY OR VALUABLES LEFT IN THE RESIDENCE DURING BREAK AND DOES NOT CARRY INSURANCE TO COVER SUCH PROPERTY LOSS. PROPERTY LOSS OR DAMAGE MUST TO BE COVERED BY PERSONAL HOMEOWNERS INSURANCE OR OTHER PROTECTIVE POLICIES AVAILABLE TO STUDENTS.

(See Resident Life Office for information on available student property plans).

'A Christmas Carol' returns to the Jelkyl Stage

In keeping with a long-standing tradition at Lindenwood, the Theatre Department will present a production of Charles Dickens' immortal holiday classic, "A Christmas Carol," at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, 2, 8 and 9, with a 2 p.m. Matinee on Dec. 2. All performances will be in Jelkyl Theatre in Roemer Hall. Ticket prices are $10 for general admission, $8 for seniors (55 and older) and $6 for students (age 5-18). Lindenwood students are admitted for free. To purchase tickets, call the Lindenwood Box Office at 636-949-4878; box office hours are 1 to 6 p.m. on Monday through Friday. Tickets for "A Christmas Carol" typically sell out quickly; early reservations are recommended.

Larry Quiggins, of the Lindenwood Theatre faculty, will direct the production, using his own adaptation of Dickens' story, which Dickens did not write as a play, but rather a novella. Lindenwood typically performs a different stage adaptation of the story every year.

"The ideas played out in 'A Christmas Carol' are as timely today as they were when Charles Dickens first penned this tale," said Ted Gregory, director of the theatre department at Lindenwood. "Audiences are still delighted by the trials and tribulations of Ebenezer Scrooge and this stage version will undoubtedly stir up the holiday spirit."

The student director of the production is Michael Perkins and the stage manager is Jane Kohonen. The sound, set, and lighting design is by Donnell Walsh and the costumes are designed by Cynda Galikin. The properties mistress is Jeannette Mattingly. The cast features Mike Dowdy as Ebenezer Scrooge and also includes Brad Lewandowski, Jamie Fritz, Mike Junkal, Tom Lehmann, Jessie Held, Adam Loyd, Peter Colombatto, Betsy Bowman, Wes Rankin, Lindsay Bartlett, Mike Howington, Brian Kappler, Michelle Sauer, Sandra Kliene, Mike Lara, Katie Lindley, Kari Lorenz, Amanda McMichael, Jonathan Turner, Shauna Staryak, Sarah Porter, Robert Mitchell, James T. Quiggins, Benjamin Quiggins, Michael Faletti, Aimee Dion, Toni Faletti, Quinton Rogers, Jordan Knobbe, Micaela Mason, Hayley Schaub, Ryan Sebacher, and Courtney Thomason.

'A Christmas Carol,' an LU tradition.

J-Term, 2nd Semester and Spring Break Check-In Procedures

Returning students attending J-Term courses need to have their LU ID ready to check-in with their housing RDs from 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on January 2 to re-obtain keys. New students attending J-Term courses need to check-in on the fourth floor of the Spellmann Center before checking in with their housing RDs to obtain keys. New students may then begin moving into their housing assignments.

Students returning for the spring semester need to have their LU ID ready to check-in with their housing RDs starting at 12:00 p.m. on January 21 to re-obtain keys. New students need to check-in from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the Connection on the lower level of the Spellmann Center before checking in with their housing RDs to obtain keys. New students may then begin moving into their housing assignments.

Students returning from Spring Break can begin returning to their residences at 12:00 p.m. on April 1.

'Netiquette Etiquette' - Professionalism in e-mail

Today's Internet savvy students often use e-mail as a quick, cost-effective way to stay in touch with friends and family. E-mail can also be an effective means of communicating with professors, potential employers, and business associates. Professional e-mail correspondence is distinctly different from casual e-mail correspondence. The following guidelines should be observed when corresponding with university and business professionals:

1. Choose a conservative e-mail address that is appropriate for business communication (for example: janedoe@yahoo.com)
2. Be concise and to the point.
3. Use proper grammar, spelling and punctuation. Avoid using emoticons, short-hand and phonetic spelling. Always proofread the message before sending it.
4. Use proper structure and layout. Use short paragraphs and blank lines between each paragraph. When making points, number them or mark each point as separate to keep the overview.
5. Do not overuse the high priority option—misusing the high priority option can cost you credibility and come across as slightly aggressive.
6. DO NOT WRITE IN ALL CAPITALS—this is often used to convey anger and should be avoided.
7. Do not use e-mail to discuss confidential information. Sending an email is like sending a postcard. If you don't want your email to be displayed on a bulletin board, don't send it.
8. Never make any libelous, sexist or racially discriminating comments in e-mails, even if they are meant to be a joke.

Extended Hours for Fall Finals Week

Finals Week can be a stressful time for Lindenwood students. The University offers opportunities for students to take a break from studying and extend facility hours to accommodate students' busy studying schedules.

Those facilities that will have extended hours during finals week, December 11 to 15 include: the Library will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. from December 10 to 14.; the Computer lab will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. from December 9 to 14; the Connection will be open until midnight as usual from December 10 to 14.

The Loft will be open until 2:00 a.m. from December 10 to 14. There will be food available for students from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., except on Monday, December 11, due to the Midnight Breakfast in the Spellmann Center Cafeteria from 11:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

• Sunday, December 10: Cheese platters with crackers, fruit platters, veggie platters with ranch, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, hot cocoa with marshmallows, punch and tea.

• Tuesday, December 12: Chili with crackers, PB&J assorted finger sandwiches, celery/peanut butter assorted platters, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, hot cocoa with marshmallows, punch and tea.

• Wednesday, December 13: Pretzels with cheese, cheese popcorn, tortilla chips with salsa, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, hot cocoa with marshmallows, punch and tea.

• Thursday, December 14: Donuts, assorted pastries, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, hot cocoa with marshmallows, punch and tea.

The Midnight Breakfast will take place from 11:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. on Monday, December 11, in the Spellmann Center Cafeteria. All residential students are invited to come to this festive tradition where the faculty and staff serve the students. Residential LU ID is required.

Honors Convocation

The annual Honors Convocation will be held at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, April 29, at the Lindenwood University Cultural Center.

Dr. Rick Boyle, Dean of Faculty, speaks at last year's event.

Each year at this special event, we recognize students who exhibit leadership, high academic performance and professional promise. These awards recognize high achieving individuals in the various academic and professional disciplines, as well as the visual and performing arts of music, dance and theater. Special recognition is also given to students who combine athletic skill with high academic achievement.

Spring Break 2007

There will be no classes from Monday, March 26, through Friday, March 30, due to Spring Break. Residential students are required to check out of their residences for Spring Break; residences will close at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 23. All residences will reopen on Sunday, April 1, at 12 p.m. No one will be permitted to reenter the residence during the break, so be sure to have everything out that you will need. The last meal in the cafeteria will be lunch on Friday, March 23. Café services will resume for breakfast on Monday, April 2.

Students unable to leave for the break due to special circumstances MUST notify Michelle Giessman, Director of Campus Housing in writing NO LATER than Monday, March 12. Please keep in mind that work-related reasons for staying will not be accepted.

Spring Intramurals

You can sign up for spring intramurals at the Student Activities Table outside the cafeteria from Monday, March 12, through Friday, March 16, and on Monday, March 19, and Tuesday, March 20. All participants are required to sign a consent form prior to participation. Game times will be from 3-7 p.m.

Spring Finals Week

Finals Week can be a stressful time for Lindenwood students. As a result, to meet the needs of students, we offer opportunities for students to take a break from studying and extend facility hours to accommodate students' busy studying schedules.

A number of facilities will have extended hours during finals week May 14-18. The Library will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. from May 13-17. The Computer lab will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. from May 12-17. In addition, the Connection will be open until its usual 12:00 a.m. from May 13-17.

The Loft will be open until 2:00 a.m. from May 13-17. There will be food available for students from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., except on Monday, May 14, due to the Midnight Breakfast in the Spellmann Center Cafeteria from 11:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

- Sunday, May 13: Cheese platters with crackers, fruit platters, veggie platters with ranch, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, punch and tea.
- Tuesday, May 15: Assorted sub sandwiches, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, punch and tea.
- Wednesday, May 16: Pretzels with cheese, cheese popcorn, tortilla chips with salsa, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, punch and tea.
- Thursday, May 17: Donuts, assorted pastries, coffee with assorted creams and sugars, punch and tea.

The traditional Midnight Breakfast will take place from 11:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. on Monday, May 14 in the state-of-the-art Spellmann Center Cafeteria. Faculty and staff will serve the students as has become custom. Residential LU ID is required.
