LINDENWOOD

Female College

ST. CHARLES, MO.

An Hour's Ride from St. Louis, on North Missouri R. R.

THIS Institution, (as recently re-organized) offers favorable advantages to young Ladies, for thorough and advanced education.

THE BUILDINGS

Are commodious, and comfortably furnished. A new Hall has just been erected for recitations by the liberality of Mr. COPELAND, of St. Louis. The GROUNDS comprise over twenty acres of beautiful rolling land, with fine old shade trees, orchards and gardens. These supply fruits, flowers and vegetables in their season, and give opportunity for needful exercise in walks, rides, and out door games promotive of health.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

Aims at symmetrical culture. A corps of experienced teachers will fill distinct Professorships in Language, Mathematics, and Science, securing proportionate attention to each branch of knowledge. The utmost thoroughness will be required in elementary studies. In selecting higher branches the wishes of parents and the tastes and health of pupils will be consulted. Several valuable courses of Lectures have been promised by the REV. DR. NICCOLLS of St. Louis and other gentlemen interested in the highest success of the college.

The President and his family will reside in the College building, and will make every effort to diffuse a wholesome religious influence, and a refining social atmosphere among the pupils.

The partial success of the effort now in progress to endow the institution, enables the Directors to offer these advantages at unusually low rates. The whole charge for board, fuel, light and tuition varies, according to advancement of pupils, from $230 to $260 per year of forty weeks.

The next term will begin September 12th, 1871. As the present capacity of the College building is limited, early application should be made. Full information will be furnished on application to—

REV. J. H. ALTON, President.
