CASA, LINDENWOOD JOIN FOR OPERA PERFORMANCES

The St. Louis Conservatory & School for the Arts (CASA) and the Lindenwood Department of Performing Arts are combining talents April 2 for a unique production of two one-act comic operas, "Rita" by Gaetano Donizetti and "Gianni Schicchi" by Giacomo Puccini. The performance will be in the Jelkyl Theatre beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are $4 for students and senior citizens and $6 for all others. For tickets, call the Box Office or #218.

Lindenwood students are constructing the sets under the direction of Mel Dickerson, assistant professor of theatre. They will be transported to CASA's St. Louis headquarters for performances March 30-31. Costumes are being designed by Niki Juncker, assistant professor of theatre, with the assistance of students who comprise the technical crew. In charge of lighting for the three productions is Keith Polette, Lindenwood technical director.

"The possibilities of joining the artistic departments of CASA and the Department of Performing Arts in this cooperative venture are very exciting," said Robert E. Peffers, Ph.D., department chairman. "We look forward to this premiere production with great enthusiasm," he added.

EMPLOYERS EYE LINDENWOOD FACILITIES, PROGRAMS

Through the arrangements of Sydney Parrish, conferences director, and Jane Moerschel of the Evening College, representatives from a number of major area firms have been visiting the campus in recent weeks to view facilities and find out about educational offerings. Among those who have or will visit the campus in upcoming weeks are officials of ACF Industries, the Brown Group, Coca-Cola, IBM, Kroger Co., Laclede Gas Co., Mallinckrodt, McDonnell Douglas, Metropolitan Life, Ozark Airlines, Seven-Up, Southwestern Bell, United Vanlines and Western Electric. Many visits have resulted in bookings for Lindenwood conference facilities.

STUDENTS ELIGIBLE FOR $265,000 IN SCHOLARSHIPS

Top-ranking students at the 10 public and private high schools in St. Charles County are eligible to compete for nearly $265,000 in partial and full-tuition scholarships being offered by Lindenwood. Ten full-tuition scholarships, valued at $4,600 per year each, and 10 partial scholarships of $1,000 per year are available to two 1983 graduating seniors at each of the high schools.

The full-tuition scholarships will be offered to students who rank first or second in their class after seven semesters. If the recipient maintains a 3.50 grade-point average out of a possible 4.00, the scholarship is renewable, making its total value worth more than $18,400 during the four-year period.

The partial scholarships of $1,000 per year are available to 10 students who have a seventh semester grade-point average of 3.00 or higher. These students must rank in the upper 25 percent of their graduating class and should have demonstrated qualities of leadership and service. In addition to the $1,000 per year in financial assistance, these students also will receive a room in a Lindenwood residence hall, valued at nearly $1,000 per year.

All recipients will be required to maintain full-time resident status and to work four hours per week as a student ambassador for the betterment of student life at Lindenwood.

In announcing the record contribution to students from St. Charles County schools, President James I. Spainhower said the scholarship awards "are another means of expressing Lindenwood's commitment toward higher education and its interest in public and private education in St. Charles County. What these scholarships mean," Dr. Spainhower continued, "is that 10 deserving students each will have more than $18,400 contributed toward their college degrees. In addition, another 10 high school students each will benefit from about $8,000 in tuition and room-and-board costs."

Recipients will be guaranteed the maximum awards provided they do not qualify for other financial aid under federal and state guidelines.

DEAN'S OFFICE TO BE NOTIFIED FIRST

Effective immediately, all campus events must be scheduled through the Master Calendar that is maintained in the Dean of Student's Office. No events may be scheduled or publicized without this prior approval, according to President Spainhower.

LEISURE LEARNING COURSE RESCHEDULED

The Leisure Learning course, "Listening Beyond the Words - Building Communication Skills," originally scheduled to begin March 15 has been rescheduled April 5 through May 3. Offered on Tuesdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m., the course addresses the need to improve communication skills by developing positive techniques of perceptive listening. A similar course will be offered from 9 a.m.-noon, April 12 through May 3, at the West Port Center. For information and registration procedures for either offering, contact Barbara Ludwig at extension #346.

EXHIBIT TO HONOR ST. CHARLES ARTIST

On almost any weekday afternoon Harlie Cornelius of St. Charles can be found at a potter's wheel in the FAB art studios. He isn't a student or an instructor but a 71-year-old retiree and artist who each week donates much of his time to helping Lindenwood art students in a variety of projects in exchange for the use of studio facilities.

In the past four years, his volunteer efforts have ranged from working with students in the experimentation of new art forms to rebuilding kilns and pottery equipment for the Art Department. Recently at his own expense, Cornelius converted manual potter wheels to electric-powered ones for more effective use by students and instructors. He also is credited with the construction of a vapor kiln to be used as an alternate method for glazing.

In recognition of his contributions to the Art Department, Lindenwood will sponsor an honorary exhibit, "Harlie Cornelius - Clay, Glass & Wood," March 28-April 8 at the Hendren Gallery. A community reception to honor the St. Charles artist is scheduled from 1-4 p.m. April 2. Cornelius will display nearly 40 pieces of his original works at the exhibit.

AMATEUR VENTRILOQUISM COURSE OFFERED

For those who dream of becoming an amateur ventriloquist, Lindenwood will offer a course in ventriloquism, from 7-9 p.m. on Tuesdays, April 5-May 10. Designed for participants of all ages, the course will provide information on speaking and breathing techniques, developing the personality and manipulation of the figure, working with the audience, developing a routine and handling stage fright. It will be instructed by Janet L. Glaser of St. Charles, a professional ventriloquist who has appeared on television locally and has been a guest on CBS-TV's "To Tell the Truth" show. The fee for the 12 hours of instruction is $60. For further information and registration procedures, contact Barbara Ludwig at extension #346.

JOB OPENINGS AIRED ON KCLC-FM RADIO

A listing of available employment opportunities in the greater St. Charles area is being broadcast at 9:05 a.m. each Tuesday and Thursday by KCLC-FM. Job openings will be furnished to the station each week by the Missouri Division of Employment Security in Harvester for the new series. KCLC-FM, 89.1 khz on the dial, broadcasts educational, cultural and community service programs as well as bluegrass, jazz and rock music to nearly 50,000 listeners in a two-state area.

April 21 for the two-hour sessions. Assessments will be made in the Campus Health Center in the basement of Cobbs Hall. For an appointment, call the Nursing Department at extension #264.

COURSE TO EXPLORE 'SECRETS' OF BUSINESS SALES

The "secrets" of a prosperous business include the ability to reach customers with the right message about goods or services that will persuade them to purchase, states Mary A. Lewis, president of Women's Research of Metro St. Louis. She will be the co-instructor for the course, "Making the Sale," to be offered from 7-9 p.m. on Mondays, April 11-May 2. The noncredit course is designed for small business owners who want to increase the success of their businesses and motivate their sales people

The course will include topics on evaluating the market, strengthening the image of the product or service, selecting appropriate sales approaches and techniques, discussing buying trends, building a network of contacts, using the telephone as a selling tool and handling resistance or objections. The fee for the eight hours of instruction is $45. To register, contact Barbara Ludwig at extension #346.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS DISPLAY

Lindenwood students from Oman have created an informative display in the lobby of Butler Library. Highlighting the display will be a film about traditional Oman, March 29 from 12:30-1 p.m. in the Night Owl Nook of Butler Library. International students will be on hand to answer questions and to discuss recent changes in Oman. All students and faculty members are invited to see the display as well as to attend the film showing.

The International Center also reports that host families are needed for international students. In addition to boarding a student while he or she is at Lindenwood studying English, host families invite students to participate in various family activities such as a picnic, nature hike or barbeque. Those interested in enriching the lives of international students at Lindenwood by being a host family should contact the International Center at extension #277.

SUMMER ENRICHMENT PROGRAMS OFFERED

Howard University in Washington, DC, is sponsoring several enrichment programs this summer for minority and disadvantaged premedical students. A two-week program will be held for juniors and seniors, June 6-17, while a six-week session will be offered for freshmen and sophomores, June 20-July 29. The university will pay for housing, board and part of travel expenses. For further information and application procedures, contact Dr. John Bornmann in the Chemistry Department, extension #235. Applications must be received by April 15.
