Lindenwood University
Donor Report

August, 2002

Dear Friends:

Financial uncertainty...this is a phrase that has been discussed at length lately. We have watched as companies have folded and people have lost money. Everyone is looking for a good investment, something they can get behind and know that they will get a good return. What better investment than to give to the education of future leaders and to support a university that is not afraid to promote values-centered learning. Beyond that, what better investment than to give to Lindenwood University.

Lindenwood has continued to be a certainty in an uncertain world. While other schools are cutting programs...

Lindenwood University is expanding. While other schools are selling land...Lindenwood is investing and building. While other schools are looking to the government for support and removing topics such as values from their classrooms...Lindenwood is teaching students the importance of values and gaining independence and support based on our own merit. While other schools are raising tuition to cover costs...Lindenwood has instituted a tuition freeze to continue to offer a quality, affordable education to all qualified students. While other schools are concerned about their endowment...Lindenwood's endowment has continued to grow, thanks to sound business investments.

The following lists of donors have realized the importance of investing in the future of education at Lindenwood. A Lindenwood education helps create better prepared people who are entering the work force and making decisions that will affect our everyday life and the lives of our children.

Please pay special attention to those who have donated endowed scholarships and honors awards. These people are helping to prepare Lindenwood for the next 175 years. Pay special attention to the general donors. These are the people who understand the need to keep Lindenwood a state of the art university.

To all our donors, thank you for your support of Lindenwood. Rest assured, Lindenwood is prepared for the future. The University will continue to be an excellent investment that offers great returns for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Third generation student attends Lindenwood in his grandfather's honor

Lindenwood University continually attracts the best and the brightest students, making the competition for scholarships fierce. Most receive these scholarships based on their merit. Some receive scholarships based on need. All Lindenwood students compete for the privilege of receiving awards based on their talents, whether in academics, character, athletics or the arts.

Many of Lindenwood's alumni and supporters have recognized the need to help educate students and have set up endowed scholarships in honor or memory of a loved one. One such scholarship is named for Frank B. Brockgreitens who was the Mayor of St. Charles in the 1970's. He retired in April of 1979 and was the first recipient of Lindenwood's Sibley Award in May of 1979. When he died later that year, a group of citizens and friends established the Frank B. Brockgreitens Memorial Scholarship. The Scholarship is awarded to a student from St. Charles. Barbara Brockgreitens Clark ('63) and Terry Brockgreitens Rau ('71) have monitored the funds throughout the years. This year the Frank Brockgreitens Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Chris Rau.

Chris, a junior studio art major, says he is honored to have received the scholarship named for his grandfather, "It's a great way to carry on my grandfather's name. I like the idea that he will continue to be honored in this way."

Chris came to Lindenwood as part of a long line of family traditions. He will be the third generation on his mother's side to graduate from Lindenwood and the second generation on his father's side. But that is not the only reason he chose Lindenwood. "I like the small classroom size and the fact that I can talk to my professors and they know how I am doing. I also like the tradition of Lindenwood and the strong history behind it." Another thing that has impressed Chris is the fact that Lindenwood is always staying on the cutting edge of technology. "I am really impressed with the way Lindenwood is continually updating the equipment needed for computer art and other majors."

With the help of endowed scholarships, students will be able to enjoy the opportunities Lindenwood offers for the next 175 years. For more information on how to start an endowed scholarship, please contact the Development Office at (636) 949-4903.

A friend of Lindenwood is a friend indeed: Supporter Spotlight

Lindenwood has had many friends throughout her 175-year history. These friends have helped out in times of need. They have supported her by sending students and talking to people in the community about all the good Lindenwood does. These friends, like Colonel and Mrs. George Butler, have been strong financial backers to the University. Ray and Grace Harmon are two such friends.

The Harmon family began their support of Lindenwood in the 1930s when Ray's father taught philosophy and religion to the young women who attended the school. When Ray was in the sixth grade, he began taking violin lessons from Gertrude Isador, a teacher at Lindenwood. He was her only male student. Ray's attachment to Lindenwood continued, as his sister, Jeanne Huessemann graduated from Lindenwood and began teaching in the Mathematics Department, a career that lasted for 29 years. In 1983, Ray became a member of the Board of Directors and by 1992, he was elected Chairman of the Board.

Ray has seen a lot of changes during his time at Lindenwood. "I think one great accomplishment has been the growth. The growth began when Dennis Spellmann came on board and it hasn't stopped since. The school was literally ready to close. Now, Lindenwood is completely out of debt and is building new buildings and adding more land. Lindenwood's greatest accomplishment, however, is the quality of the students and the excellent educational opportunities."

Ray and Grace continue to be strong advocates of Lindenwood University. Like Colonel and Mrs. George Butler who provided financial and verbal support, the Harmon's have also provided well for Lindenwood. Harmon Hall was named for Harmon family. They named an honors award for students who excel in the study of religion. The Harmon's have contributed to the Performance Arena and the new Spellmann Campus Center, as well as many other projects. Ray and Grace are members of the Butler Society and have added their support to Lindenwood's Endowment Campaign. The Harmon's, on a routine basis, support Lindenwood by referring students and talking about Lindenwood University in the community.

Ray and Grace's entrepreneurial spirits have led them into careers that involve education, healthcare and religion. Following Ray's graduation from Washington University, the Harmon's began Nursery Indenta-Foto in 1955 in Washington D.C. The company began by taking newborn pictures at four hospitals with one and a half employees. Today, known as Growing Family, the company serves over 2,700 hospitals, taking over 80% of the photos of newborns in the United States, all the photos in Canada and most of the Australian born babies. They have contributed back to the hospitals in excess of $140 million. Ray's sense of community also includes his activities as an elder at the Presbyterian Church.

Ray feels Lindenwood is an institution people can be proud of and is happy to be such a big part of the growth. "Lindenwood has been operating in St. Charles for 175 years and we plan to be around for 175 more. It is simply an exciting place to be a part of. The potential of serving both tradition and adult students is tremendous."

Butler Society

The Butler Society is named in honor of Colonel James G. and Margaret Leggat Butler, Lindenwood's most generous supporters during the 1900's. Today the Butler Society honors a distinguished group of loyal friends who have followed in the Butler's footsteps by committing their resources to promote the rich heritage of Lindenwood and to support its vision for the future.

The New Campus Showcase

The Spellmann Campus Center will be a focal point of the Lindenwood University Campus. As this state of the art building is erected, alumni, neighbors and friends are delighted to see the building following the style of the older part of the campus. The Campus Center will be one of the most used facilities on campus, housing the new cafeteria, a 24-hour computer lab and KCLC radio. The Anheuser-Busch Leadership Center, where students can go to receive help looking for employment, will also be a part of the new Center.

Many contributors have come together to make this building a reality. Several rooms have already been named after different contributors, including the J.E. and L.E. Mabee Foundation Gallery. Lindenwood has enjoyed a long relationship with the J.E. and L.E. Mabee Foundation. In 1994, Lindenwood first approached the foundation for a gift to the Robert F. Hyland Performance Arena. A $1,000,000 challenge grant was issued to the friends and alumni of Lindenwood. Recently, the Mabee Foundation issued another $1,000,000 challenge grant for the Spellmann Campus Center. Both challenges were accepted and met, ahead of schedule, thanks to the generosity of our alumni, friends and family. Due to their strong support of Lindenwood building projects, University officials felt it would be appropriate to name something for the Foundation. Therefore the beautiful Gallery and Atrium will bear the name of the Mabee Foundation.

Be a part of Lindenwood University

Naming opportunities abound at Lindenwood University. You help Lindenwood students by naming a room or a building. Sue Spellmann decided to fund the renovation and furnishings of the Performance Arena's VIP conference room to honor the memory of her late mother and father, Lena and Vance Spreckelmeyer. This much needed conference room is used for many things, including presidential meetings and faculty conferences.

There are many more naming opportunities throughout Lindenwood's campus. Contact the Development Office at (636) 949-4903 for more information.

The Spellmann Campus Center gets some finishing touches as it prepares to greet students in 2002.

Corporate Support Helps Students

"Lindenwood University is doing an excellent job of preparing its students to meet the challenges they will face in the world of work," says Dana Lorberg, Senior Vice President at MasterCard International and member of the Lindenwood University Board of Directors, when presenting a $100,000 "MasterCard credit" pledge to President Spellmann in June 2002 at the MasterCard corporate headquarters site. MasterCard's pledge funds the Single Parent Program at Lindenwood University and will be paid over a five-year commitment.

Business and corporate gifts help in a variety of University needs, to include student scholarship assistance, capital improvements, program development such as the MINTS classroom or special projects in the areas of fine arts, humanities, science and math, communications, etc., and general support. "The partnerships we have created in the corporate and business community have helped us strengthen our educational programming for Lindenwood students.

They provide a strong foundation to this institution," says President Spellmann.

The Honor Roll of Donors represents the generosity of Lindenwood friends and alumni during the past year. Through their support, they have helped Lindenwood University continue its mission to provide a values-centered education for all students. We honor these members of the Lindenwood family for their steadfast belief in the principles that are Lindenwood University. The list below denotes gifts received between July 1, 2001 and June 30, 2002.

“Receiving the Mary Easton Award (as the outstanding female graduate) in 1994 was quite an honor for me! It was the highest, most special recognition that I could receive from the Deans of Lindenwood. As a student, I appreciated the excellent education, positive support from the entire staff, pleasant learning environment and helpfulness of Dr. Spellmann and all of my instructors at Lindenwood. Being given the Mary Easton Award was probably the best thing that happened to me at Lindenwood!”
Caryn Mahaffy, Class of 1994, 2001

"My husband and I were quite pleased when our daughter, Caryn, decided to live on campus and attend Lindenwood for her B.S. degree. We knew that she would receive an excellent, values-based, more individualized education of the "whole person." Caryn earned her B.S. in Biology in 1994 and her M.S. in Secondary Administration in 2001 at Lindenwood; she plans to begin work on her doctorate degree in the fall of 2002. Lindenwood provided a great education both for Caryn and myself - to help us both be successful in our chosen professions."
