"Lindenwood," is a locality widely known for its remarkable beauty and healthfulness. It is now entirely devoted to the purposes of Female education. It is an hour from St. Louis, and accessible from the upper part of the State by the North Missouri Railroad. The grounds are extensive and varied, and have recently been greatly improved. The building is new and furnished with the modern appliances for comfort and convenience, warmed with hot air and lighted with gas. An excellent Callisthenic Apparatus is in course of construction, furnishing a variety of exercise suitable for young ladies. The accommodations have been somewhat enlarged; yet as only two students occupy a room, the whole number of students must be limited.
