AN ANNUAL STUDENT BODY PUBLICATION
OF LINDENWOOD COLLEGE, ST. CHARLES, MISSOURI

Lindenwood . . .

. . . a campus vibrant with color and sound on a brisk October morning, an ivied Gothic library, squirrels scrambling through piles of sear leaves.

. . . falling in love for the first time, receiving a letter three weeks overdue — or a “care” package from home. It is a sympathetic roommate, an understanding housemother.

. . . a professor who teaches for the exhausting joy of it. It is a term paper which was a challenge to write, a seminar which shattered sound precepts. It is an all-night cram session — a single flash of insight.

. . . one convocation, one speaker who strikes a responsive chord, or a choral selection of soothing harmony. It is a dorm devotional, an evening walk through drifted snow, a sunrise.

College is a kaleidoscope of adventures, the greatest of which is its people: friends, instructors, housekeepers, townsmen. With each encounter we become more complete students, richer individuals, and, perhaps, realize the purpose of the adventure.

This is Lindenwood . . .

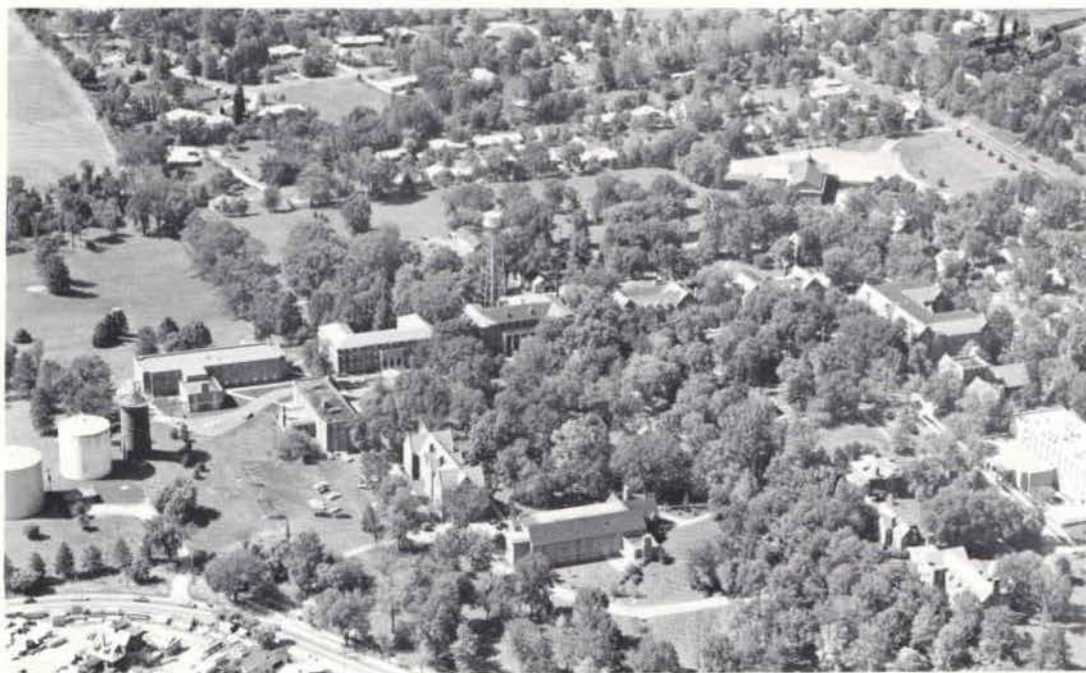

We came separately, with pride in ourselves and in what we are about to achieve . . .

And in the initial chaos of the first few weeks, we begin to learn, and to act, and to meet—or ignore the challenge that is constant.

85812

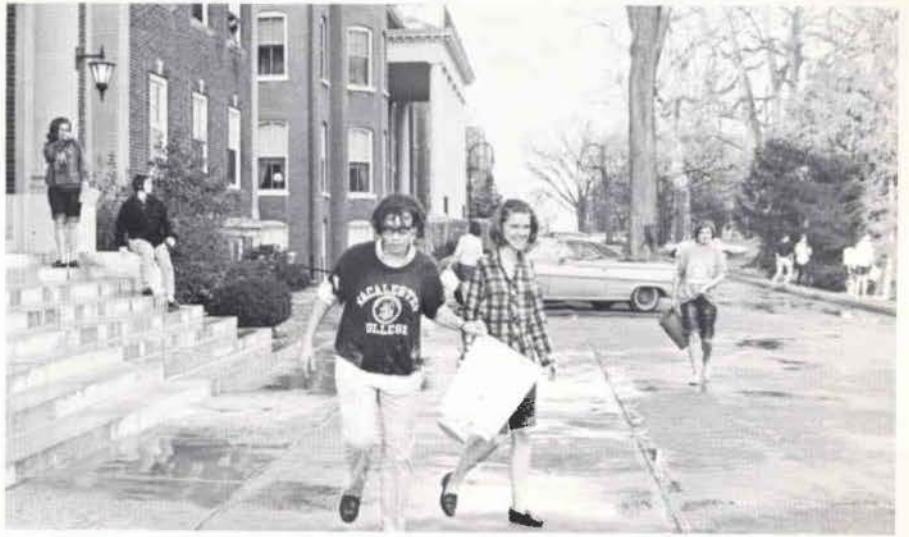

From trivia that makes up our experience each day, we learn to learn . . .

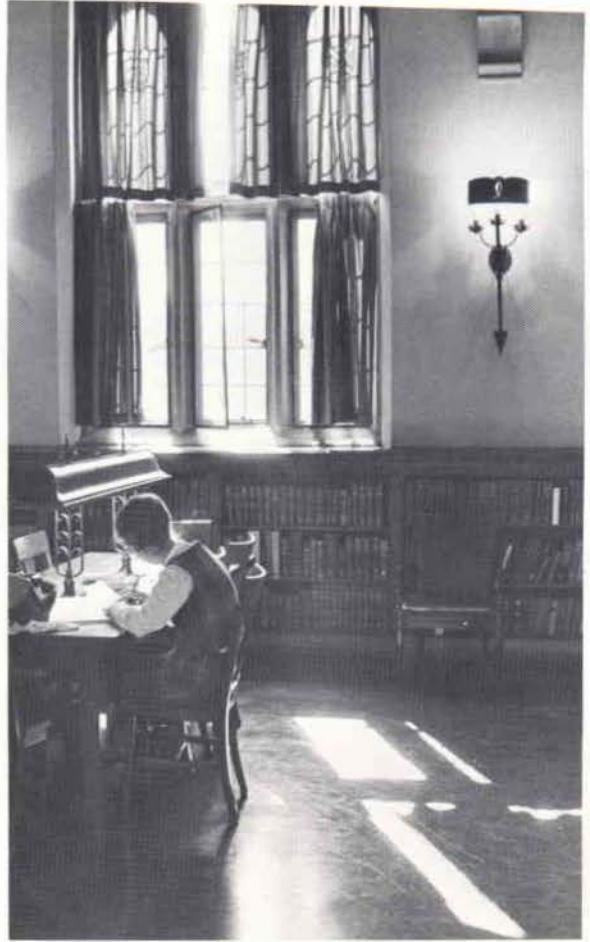

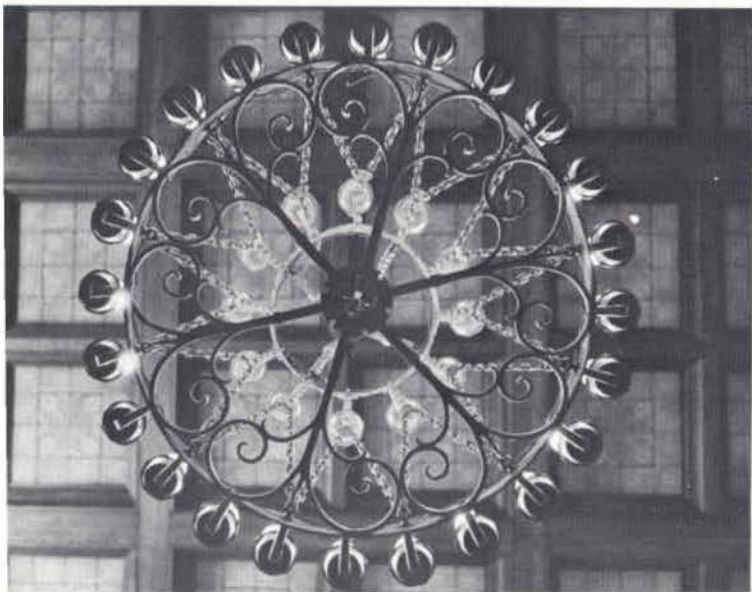

From phone calls, and letters two weeks overdue, from blind dates that were really blind, from plays and mixers, from traditions we can fight or follow, we learn.

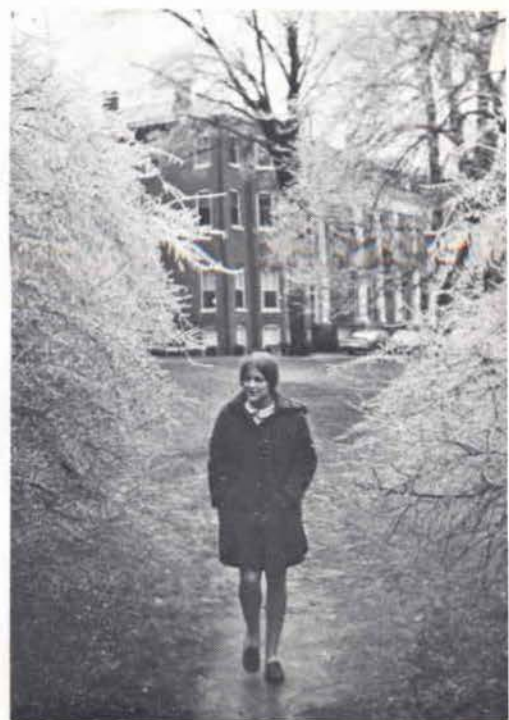

In the day, attending classes, walking through halls, passing innumerable bricks and gardens, or in the night, working and whispering, we make our fragments of impressions known . . .

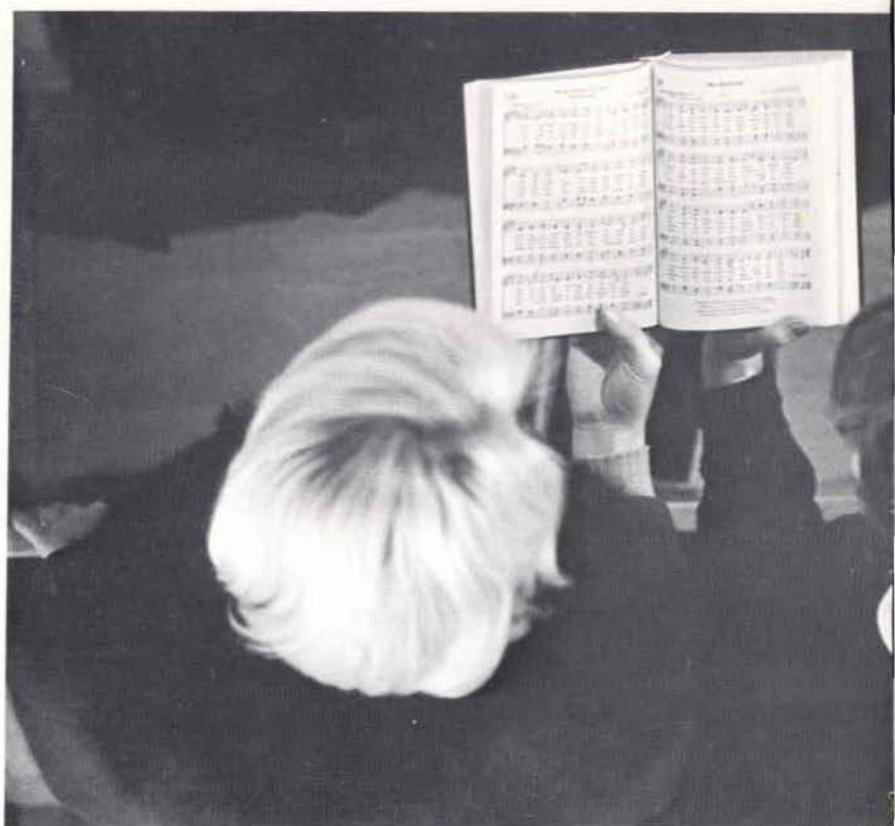

Often giving something we did not know we had, receiving something we did not know we needed.

To each other we have pledged trust; to the college loyalty; to ourselves honor. And all of this is nothing except as it exists between our first separate togetherness and the final unity of solitude.

In this developed print, why must there loom
Deceptive glass in pitch hued lines of net,
Like snaring spells the Neo-Druids set,
To vex attempts to see into this room?
Why must the door which leads beyond the gloom
Be only open wide enough to let Me see one soul before a slate and get
No more from that than what I might assume?
I wonder at those two fogged smears of white
That stand out through the grave door's three squared panes
And stretch behind the man whose words I see,
But cannot read because he writes too light-
Ly his one dusty line—so, though his right hand strains,
Just he and careful light formed shades shine through to me.

Fifteenth President Inaugurated

Represented in the inaugural academic procession are distinguished delegates from some 250 colleges and universities throughout the country and also 24 learned societies and associations.

John Anthony Brown, Jr., was formally inaugurated as the fifteenth president of Lindenwood College on October 20, 1966.

Following the presentation of the president-elect by Dr. F. L. McCluer, President emeritus, Dr. Brown was installed in office by John M. Black, President of the Board of Directors of Lindenwood College.

Dr. Calvin Darlington Linton, dean of the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences at the George Washington University, was the principal speaker of the afternoon. An enthusiastic audience received his remarks on the role of the liberal arts college today.

Ceremonies concluded with Dr. Brown's inaugural address. To a responsive crowd numbering about one thousand persons, the new President spoke of his esteem for the college community, and also suggested several modifications in its structure. The audience seemed most receptive to his proposing the possibility of a male enrollment in the math and science departments, provided that, as Dr. Brown emphasized, no qualified young woman were denied admission.

Faculty "early-birds" await the formation of the inaugural procession.

Inauguration preceded by all college convocation

Mr. Theodore Gill, director of the Joint Study Commission of the World Council of Churches and of the World Council on Christian Education, spoke on "The New Student." Lindenwood students will long remember Mr. Gill's insight into the problems facing us today, and his knack for genuine humor. Brief remarks were also made by student leaders from Washington University, St. Louis University, Westminster College, and Lindenwood. "The New Student" was well received, and set a tenor of excitement for the entire day.

The Rev. Theodore Gill, former professor of religion and Dean of the Chapel at Lindenwood, speaks at the morning convocation.

A beautiful Buffet luncheon, complete with smoked oysters and Swedish meatballs, was served for all inaugural delegates and guests. Caterers, Chefs, and excellent food gave a special flair of importance to what is usually termed "institutional food." A reception immediately following the Inaugural service afforded Lindenwood students and delegates an opportunity to become acquainted with each other, and to personally give congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. Brown.

Administration

DR. JOHN ANTHONY BROWN
President of the College

MARLENE HART, Secretary
MARY E. YONKER, Secretary to the President

In his first year with us at Lindenwood, we have seen Dr. Brown invite drenched students to eat dinner at his table after a hilarious water fight; sneak down for an hour to ride "Little John"; feed the fire in the library; take a genuine interest in the problems facing our publications and Student Government; instigate the conversion of curriculum to a more progressive 4-1-4 program, beginning with a co-educational summer session; and be a devoted husband and father to a fine family. To him nothing is too small in the realm of time for stopping and considering; to him no challenge is so great that it cannot be met full force with confidence and patient understanding. We welcome Dr. Brown to Lindenwood and hope that 1966-67 is the first of many successful years not only for him, but also for Lindenwood.

In addition to rearing her family, Mrs. Brown also finds time for active participation in campus affairs.

WE: weary waltzing, dissolving haze.
We who fade like yawning nether rays.
We who blur beyond the fane like wraiths.
We have all renounced our other faiths to suck deeply at Somus' silent spring and then around the clear dream of the She we bear within, we weave ourselves slowly.
Now all lie still, to hold what we see.

SALLY GOLDENBERG

Taeko is often seen in the sculpture house, splashing in plaster. Her love for art and travel gave her incentive to plan a summer in Europe. Her itinerary includes such spots as The Prado, Tate Gallery, and the Kroeller-mueller. This past summer was spent at the Memphis Art Gallery studying techniques of oil painting, sculpturing, and art appreciation.

TAEKO KONDO
Kyoto, Japan

Foreign Students

Cathy's enthusiasm for fun is evident in her extracurricular life. Interests range from sky-diving and sailing to bacteriology. Last summer she gained worthwhile experience in her chosen field of biology through working in a bacteriology laboratory. This summer's plans include New Jersey and Europe. Would you believe—a Mexican drawl?.

CATHERINE SKIRROW
Flacopac, Mexico

VIJAYALAKSHMI MALURKAR
Tasker Town, BangAloo, India

Vicky's vivacious personality has allowed her to pursue varied interests from star watching to swimming lengths of L.C.'s pool. Kennedy oriented, Vicky devotes some of her time to The Young Democrats. Often heard mimicking in a British accent, she's "a real character."

CONSTANCE VOKIETAITIS

Connie chose to spend last summer in Chicago studying at The Art Institute, developing her creative talents. Travel is second nature to her and one of her prime loves. Plans for this summer include an art tour of Europe where she can use her knowledge of four romance languages. This past summer Connie and her family moved from Venezuela to The United States.

GLORIA JACOVOU
Larnaca, Cyprus

Gloria's love of travel and excitement has brought her to the United States to continue her education. Although she has visited many places, the languid beaches of her homeland are a favorite for summer fun.

Foreign Students

HENRIETTE BOTT PETERSON
Copenhagen, Denmark

A city girl at heart, Bott often expresses her delight in the suburban atmosphere at Lindenwood. Her varied interests range from exhaustive sports to a major in bio-chemistry.

LILIAN L. MEIER
Riehen, Switzerland

Lilian is at home in any number of countries; multi-lingual, she speaks French, German, Italian and English. A sports enthusiast, her talents range from the ski slopes to the tennis courts.

URSULA MARIA OERI
Basel, Switzerland

A lover of the out-of-doors, it is understandable that Ursula particularly enjoys skiing, climbing, and horse-back riding. Her geniality and eagerness to become involved in campus life have made the U.S. transition an easy one.

Ursula and Lilian express tenor of Switzerland in their native costumes.

DARAKA KIATTINAT
Bangkok, Thailand

Daraka has intrigued us all with her oriental beauty and natural poise. This poise was most appreciated on International Night when she performed a Thai dance in her native dress.

A scattered drift of pictures lies
In a still spill along the boards
Up to the bare and right-hand foot
That's stemming from a seated danc-
Ing girl, whose slowly turning strands
Are touched with real, reflecting door-
Glass light as her eyes seem to note
A blurred picture she holds between
Her hands. I wonder if she dreams
Those shapes that stand above and seem
To wait, with hands beyond our sight,
For her to give them music, steps
And form, in time, a twisting, care-
Ful dance; or, if both standing, dark-
Ly drawn and distant, human forms
Are what it is that orders her,
Whose face and what she sees are now
Unknown to us; who were not there
But only may gaze at this print,
Another's picture of the three, and note,
That in this light and room, they fall
In line with all themselves and go
Beyond the early others of their kind.

1967 Concert-Lecture Series

The Iowa String Quartet has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe. It is recognized as a chamber music ensemble of the highest international stature.

In its concert here, the group played three string quartets. The one most enthusiastically received by the students was Beethoven's Quartet in F Major.

The Iowa String Quartet in concert: Allen Ohmes, John Ferrell, Charles Wendt, and William Pruecil.

Getting ready for a performance is sometimes entertainment in itself.

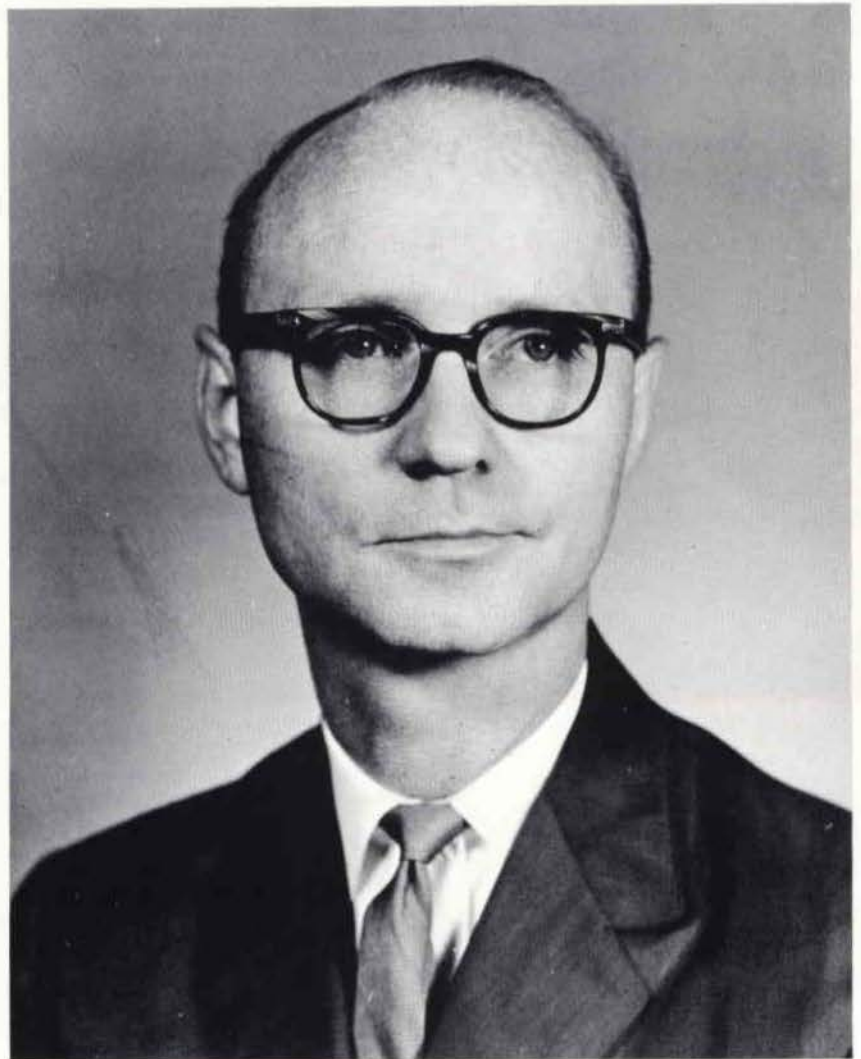

The third program in Lindenwood's concert-lecture series featured Willis Stevens, associate professor of piano at Southern Illinois University. A noted pianist, Mr. Stevens has appeared many times in recital on college campuses. His performance on November 21 included works of Brahms, Bach, Chopin, and Debussy.

Karl Wolfram, lutenist-singer of German folk songs, presented the second program in this year's concert-lecture series on October 11. Mr. Wolfram, widely acclaimed throughout Europe and America as a revivalist of the art of minstrelsy, accompanied himself on several stringed instruments. His interesting repertoire included a unique selection of ancient love songs and epoch ballads in various German dialects.

Dr. James Hood gives third annual faculty lecture

Dr. Hood, chairman of the History and Government department, chose as his topic "The Public Responsibilities of the Historian." The lecture was given on November 16 in the chapel. Dr. Hood views the historian as a public figure whose work ought to contribute to the solution of social problems. The largest aspect of the historian's responsibility is his role as a creator of reality. Dr. Hood has established an outstanding reputation at Lindenwood as a lecturer, teacher, and Student counselor.

Dr. James F. Hood

Mr. Edward Klein, associated editor in Newsweek's international department, discussing the Vietnam war.

Edward Klein; "Vietnam and the American Empire"

The informal question and answer period gives students a chance to express their opinions.

On January 11, the Public Affairs Club sponsored a lecture in Roemer Auditorium. The speaker, Mr. Klein, talked about "Vietnam and the American Empire". He spoke objectively about the diplomatic consequences of a decision concerning the war. He also emphasized Red China, and lamented the fact that people know so little about such a powerful country.

Cotillion

March 11 was a night to be remembered by all those students who attended the 1967 Cotillion at the Chase. The Social Council really outdid themselves—gone were the coke bottles. In their place a beautiful punch fountain. The style show on Thursday gave the student body the opportunity to view all the candidates, and select a queen. The striking court bowed to Parker Hall's representative, lovely queen, Vicki Hand. Those who remained after the coronation, danced to the music of the Russ David orchestra.

MISS VICTORIA HAND, 1967 Cotillion Queen

Vicki graciously receives bouquet of red roses from retiring queen Judith Prowse of Sibley Hall.

THE 1967 COTILLION COURT: Seated; Jean Schuttenberg, Day Students; Queen Vicki Hand, Parker; Molly Twyman, McCluer; Standing; Janet Culbertson, Butler; Polly Sowa, Ayres; Lynn Pendleton, Niccolls; Amy Dieckgeiser, Sibley; Margo Musgrove, Irwin; Lynn Russell, Cobbs.

McCluer Hall's representative, Miss Molly Twyman, was selected as special maid to the queen.

Sports Program

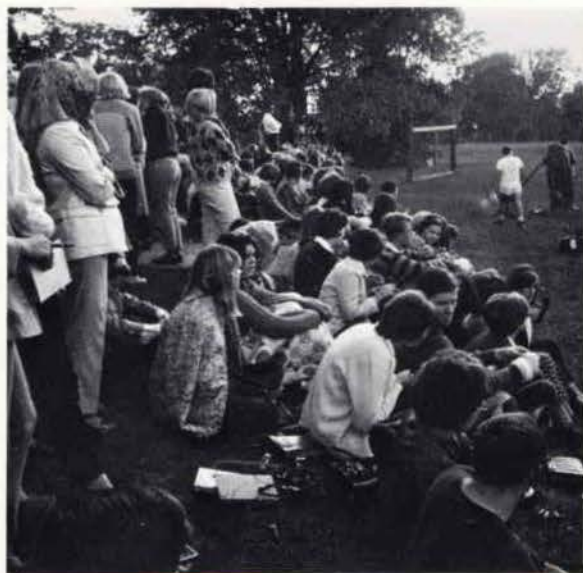

The Lindenwood Sports Program this year included extramural games with other St. Louis area schools, intramurals between the dorms and the Day Students, and a Rugby game on back campus. Two Lindenwood swimmers won firsts at the annual Sports Day at the University of Missouri at Columbia. Michael Shelton, a junior, swam the 50 yard butterfly in 30.1 seconds, and her sister Candy, a freshman, set a record of 35.6 seconds in the 50 yard backstroke. L.C.'s extramural teams also did quite well competing in hockey, basketball and volleyball. The intramural tennis tournament was won by Ayres Hall, while the Day Students won both the badminton and swimming competitions. Basketball, riding, volleyball, softball and bowling were held later in the year.

Many hours of practice proved worthwhile in L.C.'s hockey victories over Kirksville and Fontbonne.

The swim team prepares for an annual meet at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

In amazement, students and friends watch a rough and tumble game of Rugby between two St. Louis area teams on Lindenwood's campus. A mixer followed the event.

The evening of October 14 brought the final installment in a series of changes which had been taking place on campus during the preceding week. We had watched our campus being slowly cleaned and "spiffed up" in expectation of Parents' Weekend. Mother Nature added the final touch! A tornado cut through the campus, scattering leaves which "green men" had so diligently raked up—and it even managed to throw in a tree or two. Fortunately, the damage was minor and no injuries resulted. And, Lindenwood Ladies had a taste of what life pre-electricity while they were waiting for power to be restored.

"Dynamic Force" on Campus

Dr. Maguire's dynamic lectures posed many searching questions to the student of a women's college

Dr. Maguire leads

One of the SEA officers who helped make Religion-In-Life-Week

Dr. John Maguire, associate professor of religion at Wesleyan University, Middleton, Connecticut, appropriately entitled his lecture series "Pilgrims' Dance: Sketching a Christian Life Style." The visiting professor, relating theology to modern literature behavioral science provoked many lively discussions. Through the efforts of Louise Simms, vice-president of SEA and Religion-In-Life-Week Chairman, Dr. Maguire's visit was hailed by the students as a worthy experience.

Tuesday Recitals

Miss Dotty Alcock, a freshman from Clarksville, Tennessee, sings "The Three Ravens" by Healy Willan. The recital was held in Sibley chapel.

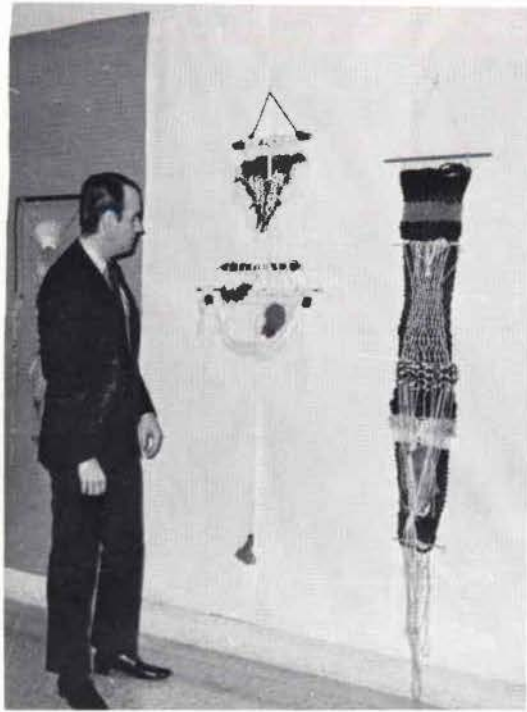

Miss Lyn Schults, a music major from Flint, Michigan, played both the piano and organ for her recital. Included in her piano pieces were Chopin's Ballade #3 in A flat, and Beethoven's 1st movement of Concerto #3. Lyn's organ selections included Bach Corale Prelude, and Prelude & Fugue in E minor.

Miss Kristi Slayman, Lindenwood alumna, emphasizes a point to interested students.

Mr. Harvey L. Jones, noted design artist, comments on weavings done by Colorado students.

The November Design Workshop featured three visiting instructors from Colorado State College. They were Kristi Slayman, a 1963 graduate of L.C., Robert M. Fischer, co-author of "The Design Continuum", and Harvey L. Jones. Mr. Bruce Buck and Mr. John Wehmer of our faculty joined the instructors in an open panel discussion of contemporary art trends, ranging from Pop to Psychedelic art.

Visiting artists given enthusiastic support

Robert Hansen discussing some of his works in Young lounge. Behind him is a small painting entitled "Christ Ascended".

In February, Mr. Robert Hansen came to the Lindenwood Campus as guest lecturer and artist. In the three days he spent here, he always drew a large audience, whether he was giving a painting demonstration, or speaking informally. His technique of painting on masonite with lacquer was unknown to most students, and they were pleasantly surprised at the results. Mr. Hansen is an instructor at Occidental College in California.

Carriage House Theatre opening night

The Carriage House Theatre opened its bright red doors for the first time this year. It provides an opportunity for folk singers, poets, and other campus talents to perform before their own classmates and friends. On Friday and Saturday nights, it is a wonderful place for those first "on campus" dates.

"Cookie"

Jim Wood, Vik Kemper portray obnoxious boys who pester two middle aged ladies, Judy Wychoff and Carolinda Cowles, in their improvisation of a theatre audience.

Regular entertainers at the Carriage House pose for "ethnic" type shot.

Visiting actress directs "House of Bernarda Alba"

Karen Johnson, visiting drama lecturer from New York, spent eight weeks on campus directing "The House of Bernarda Alba". Miss Johnson, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke, recently produced her one-act play "The Indiscretion of the Meatpacker's Daughter" in an off Broadway theatre. With the help of John Wehmer, Miss Johnson designed and supervised the construction of the set.

The three act play by Federico Lorca is the culmination of his folk tragedies. It centers around the frustrations of a family of women without men, trying to uphold the aristocratic traditions of a dying era.

Egos invade gridiron

Dress rehearsal: "Ah right everybody, back on your feet. We've got to go through this one more time."

Before the show: "Dr. DeWulf" receives last minute attention from Sue Freeman.

"Karen Johnson" takes the stage.

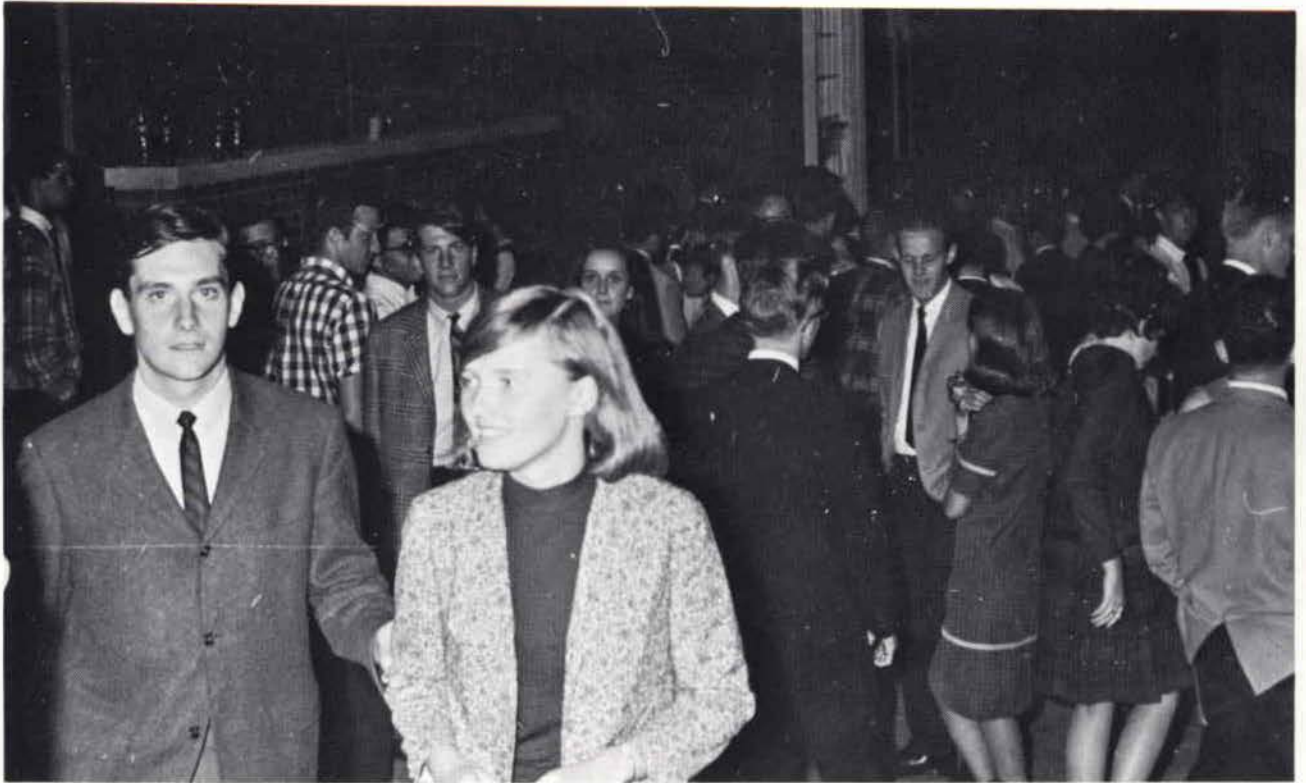

The Egos "all live in Mary's water tower!"

Flowers for the Director.

A traditional event, Gridiron was a hilarious success. The directing of Diane Carithers and the spontaneous ad libs by the girls "made" the show. What a cast party at the Pizza Hut—where everyone "let loose" and agreed that there was nothing better than a Senior performance such as this to unite the class; and have one of the most memorable nights of their college careers.

Parker Hall had a "shoulder to shoulder" group in their rec room when Social Council sponsored an All College Dance, with L.C. entertainment.

All college dances

At a December Mixer, gaming tables were provided by Harold's Club of Nevada, and guests played for high stakes with what else but . . . play money.

The entertainment must be something to gain that much attention.

No it's not Bunnies, but the Social Council at the "Last Chance" Mixer.

So it was that we went through four years of the college experience—growing, learning, understanding, suffering, accepting . . .

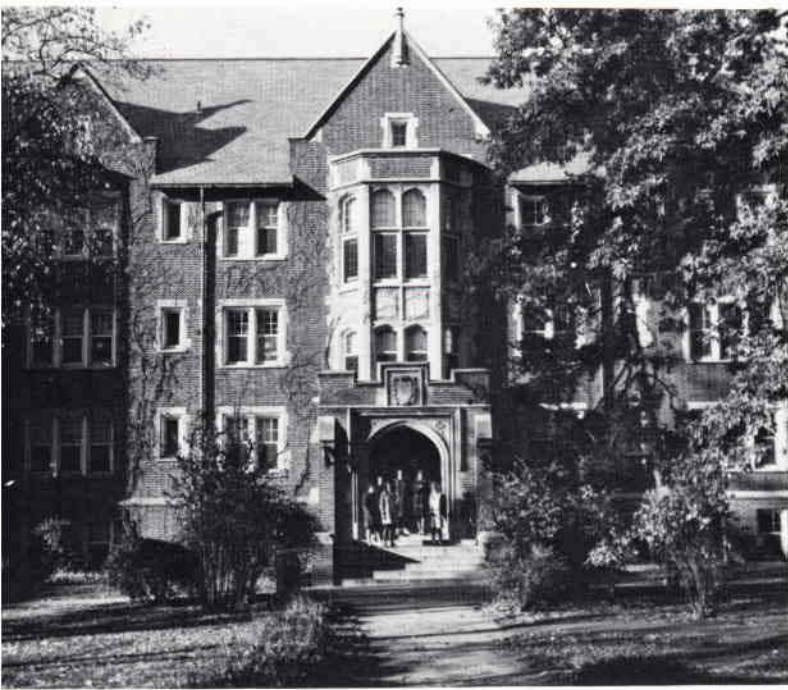

We have seen professors, weekends, friends come and go, argued and agreed, studied and played, laughed and cried.

We shall remember the tea hole, Gridiron, Young Hall, spring fever . . .

But more than any place, more than any time,
more than any building or season, we shall remember each other.

People before our time and after share with us our memories of something fine.

editor's note:

A yearbook can hardly be successful without the help of many backstage hands. I especially would like to thank Miss Jane Wainwright for her news releases, helpful collaboration and personal interest in the 1967 Leaves; and Mr. Mike Fletcher for some of the expert photography found on these pages.

A yearbook can only catch glimpses of what goes on here. I only hope that what is seen and read on these pages cause every student to remember those other "spots in time" that, together, make Lindenwood the fine school that it is.
