May we present the Owl and the Parrot, Lindenwood's home-grown version of Pogo. These dashing creatures adorn our weather vain atop Lillie P. Roemer Library. Being caricatures of the symbols of life at Lindenwood, one, the serious search for knowledge and the other, the spontaneous gaiety, they have graciously agreed to guide your tour through the year 1961 - 1962 via Linden Leaves.

DONALD M. MACKENZIE
Dean of the College

B.A., Park College
M.A., Ph.D., University of Chicago.

ed To ...

Few colleges can boast of such dynamic leadership as that given by our Dean. In tribute to his outstanding moral guidance, his understanding of students, and his tireless efforts toward improvement of the college, we dedicate the Linden Leaves of 1962 to Dean Donald M. Mackenzie.

In Memoriam

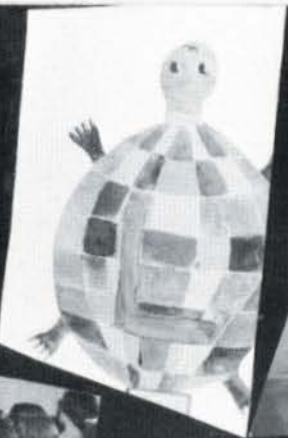

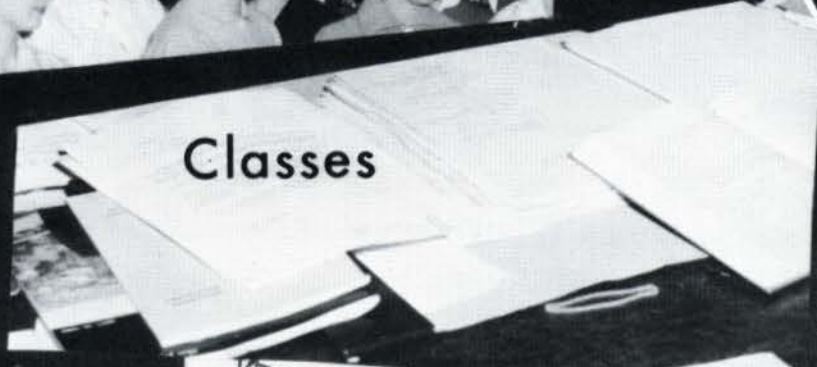

The letters of Dr. Alice Parker's life are written in Chaucer's description of the clerk of Oxford: "And gladly wolde he lerne, and gladly teche." In Doctor Parker's life students saw an example of faith and knowledge seldom known by mankind. Benefiting from her guidance are numerous friends and students. This page is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Alice Parker, Professor of English.

We write in memory of Nicole Johnson, a member of the Senior Class, who died on December 16, 1961. Endowed with a restless spirit, an insatiable desire for knowledge, and a gift for composition, Nicki contributed the discoveries of her creative mind to our campus in her numerous writings. First to reason, and then to decide, was a challenge Nicki Johnson gave to all of us.

We also write in memory of Karen Howlett, another member of the Senior Class who died on December 16, 1961. Blessed with outstanding beauty and the poise and charm of a warm-hearted person, Karen extended compassion and understanding to all she encountered. Karen's love for children was the basis of her success in teaching.

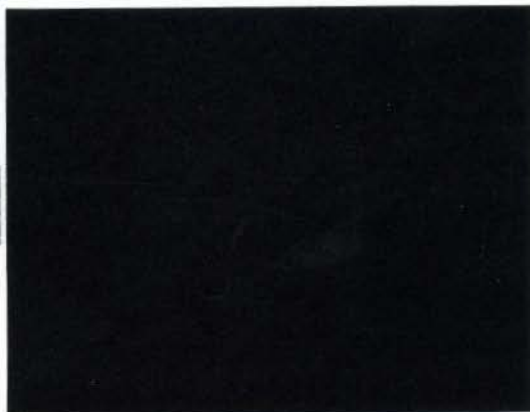

Introducing the Freshman Class! These enthusiasts, optimists, and party girls of our campus distinctly symbolize the gay young Parrot. The Owl, on the other hand, is skeptical of such vivaciousness in these "pea greens" personified. Leading these activists are Bylle Snyder, President; Cheryl Ranchino, Vice President; and Nancy Rose Chenoweth, Secretary-Treasurer.

Superior in mimicry of the Parrot is the Sophomore Class. The Owl, along with other such noble creatures, has labeled the Sophomores as sophisticated morons. But, here at Lindenwood they're just the "silly, silly, Sophomores." President, Jane Periman; Vice-President, Jeannie Mattern; Secretary, Martha Ellen Ferguson; and Treasurer, Mary Frances Rankin are the silly Sophomore Class officers.

The Owl is gripped with anxiety as he surveys the Junior Class rebels. He trembles at their use of gained wisdom; he gasps at the objectives they prize, while that suave character, the Parrot, leads the Juniors in a last, long fling. The Junior Class officers are Karen Louise Rasmussen, President; Michaela Kay McKittrick, Vice-President; and Secretary-Treasurer, Linda Luane Lowry.

Here are the grand old Seniors! The Owl is triumphant at last. With pride he proclaims the poise, the grace, the wisdom of the Senior Class. The honor of being a Senior is worth the four-year struggle. Catherine Crebbs Morris, President; Mary Elinor Mohlenkamp, Vice-President; Judith Ann Suter, Secretary; and Shirley Marie Ott, Treasurer, are the honorable Senior Class officers.

TO DIVISIONAL SYSTEM

Departments Fuse Into Four Areas Of Concentration

Dr. Mary Talbot

Mr. Bremen Van Bibber

Dr. Franc L. McCluer recently announced that the four divisions of the curricula would be headed, respectively, by Dr. Mary Terhune, professor of modern languages; Dr. Mary Talbot, professor of biological science; Dr. Homer Clevenger, professor of history and political science; and Mr. Bremen Van Bibber, professor of education.

Last spring Lindenwood College adopted a divisional plan of curricular organization, the curricula being divided into four general heads: humanities, natural sciences and mathematics, social science, and professional education.

The present 19 departments are then grouped under these divisions; each division is headed by a person appointed for a one-year term of office.

Departmental Groupings

Humanities Division I, includes Art, Classics, English, Modern Foreign Languages, Music, Philosophy and Religion, Speech.

Division II, Natural Sciences and Mathematics, is composed of Biology, Chemistry and Physics, and Mathematics.

Division III, Social Sciences, incorporates Economics, History and Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology.

Education, Home Economics, Office Management, and Physical Education comprise Division IV, Professional Education.

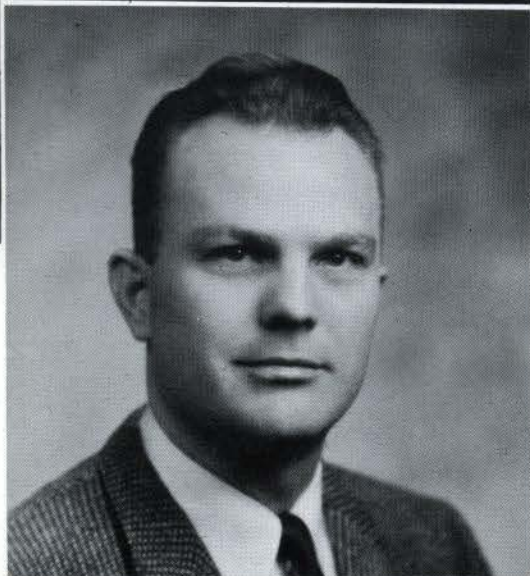

Implications of Program

Although the plan is still in its infancy, barely lifted from the paper, its importance lies beyond the fact that it is up-to-date, "progressive." How is it "progressive"? What will it mean to the Lindenwood

The Humanities division on Lindenwood Campus includes the departments of Art, Classics, English, Modern Language, Music, Philosophy, Religion, and Speech. Dr. Mary Terhune presides as the directing head of this division. The basic correlation of these departments is the awareness of senses and imagination and the development of interrelated patterns produced by the various great arts.

First floor Roemer and the basement, we mean the "terrace level," are the stalking grounds of the Administration. Here in their offices, the Administration works to insure the efficient functioning of the college as a whole.

President of the College

When rushing to a class in the Fine Arts Building, hurrying along the halls of Roemer, or eagerly waiting for the bell to ring for dinner, you're almost sure to be greeted by Doctor McCluer with his warm smile. Taking a sincere interest in all whom he meets, he is known by everyone, student or visitor, who enters the campus. Doctor and Mrs. McCluer's affection for Lindenwood is evident in the lively interest they take in all campus activities. Their residence on Butler Way is surrounded by a magnificent garden. Each spring the brilliant blossoms indicate our President's devotion to his hobby of horticulture.

Another residence on the campus, the home of Dean and Mrs. Mackenzie, lends itself to our informal atmosphere. The Dean, his wife, and their two sons have contributed personality to our campus each in his own way. The Dean strolls the walks with students. Mrs. Mackenzie delights us with her charming conversation. The boys have taken over the physical education department, in nightly basketball, that is. And on special occasions, Don has provided an added attraction to our mixers with his guitar playing.

This year is Miss Lichliter's first as Dean of Students, and we're proud of her new title. Still known as "Miss L.," she is personified by wearing glasses on a chain, tearing her hair, and knowing exactly where everything is on her desk. Miss Lichliter is the confidant and the solace to all students, especially the seniors. Miss Lichliter makes her home with Miss Beale in the Gables. The L. C. Room in the Gables is the site of many informal gatherings.

Pogo may live in the Okefenokee Swamp, but the home of the Owl and the Parrot is Lindenwood's modern library. The atmosphere of contemplation and discovery found in our library is sometimes disturbed by the exuberant Parrot appealing for aid to Miss Eggman and Miss Kohlstedt, our librarians. The Owl, however, buries himself deep in the stacks where silence prevails.

McCluer Hall, named in honor of President and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer, was formally dedicated at an outside service on September 24, 1961, a colorful fall afternoon. The program included the formal presentation of the building to the architect, to the Board of Directors, and in turn to the Administration. Mr. Russell Lee Dearthmont, a member of the Board of Directors, presented the address, and representatives of the faculty, administration, students and alumnae gave greetings to President and Mrs. McCluer. A reception in McCluer Hall followed the dedication.

Probably every student has proudly proclaimed to her friends at home, "Lindenwood is run on the Honor System." Whether this proves the virtue of the college, the virtue of the students, or the virtue of the system, really doesn't matter; it's the fact that we've succeeded where so many have failed. The Honor Board, with Mari Anne Ryan as chairman, discusses the cases of those who violate the Honor System.

Pi Alpha Delta is the campus organization for students in the classics. Club meetings go beyond the regular class studies in re-discovering the greatness of the past and relating it to the twentieth century. The highlight of the year's activities is a Roman banquet. Authentically dressed Dianas and Jupiters attend and feast on "food for the gods."

Poetry Society

A truly literary club with the purpose of encouraging students to write, criticize, and discuss their own poetry is the Poetry Society. Each year a poetry contest is held which is open to all students, and the winning contestants are offered membership in the club. This year the Poetry Society sponsored a lecture-discussion series with a contemporary poet and novelist, Miss May Sarton.

Linden Leaves

Linden Leaves

Here is the motley Linden Leaves staff! Anyone who listened closely might hear from behind these pictures: "Marty, I have faith that you will have your copy in on time. If not, Mrs. Christianson would like to see you." "Anita, Parrot is not typed with two t's." "Ellen, would you please get Lay-Out on the move? It's two days before deadline, and nothing has been done." Our professors warn us that first things must come first. And in the lives of the yearbook staff, the Linden Leaves has been first. Deadlines, deadlines, deadlines—these mean panic, work, and greeting the sun with bleary eyes while we drop the finished portion of the Leaves into the mailbox and promptly fall asleep in the middle of the hall on Roemer terrace level.

Linden Bark

For information concerning campus viewpoints, interests, and activities, students look forward to every issue of the Linden Bark, our school newspaper. Keeping us ahead of time, behind the times, and with the times, the Linden Bark staff searches frantically for newsworthy news, which ranges from the selection of Romeo to an account of the immediate campus controversy.

Griffin

The month of March signals the march of the Griffin staff. At this time the Freshman Writing Contest ends; then the selecting and editing of the best student writing, whether it be poem, essay, or short story, begins. The publication of a literary magazine provides the staff with learning experiences in criticism, editing, and publishing.

Day Students' Organization

Practically outnumbering the resident students are the day students of Lindenwood College. The day room on the terrace level of Roemer rocks and rolls until it shakes the administration overhead. This is due not only to the size of the room, but also to the bandstand parties held there every Friday afternoon. Nonetheless, these students continually take the high honors and seem to be the perpetual holders of "Lindy."

Choir

The exhilarating performance of "The Messiah" at Christmas time is long remembered by Lindenwood students. The Choir's main function, aside from various tours and performances in and around the St. Louis area, is to present the musical portion of our Sunday evening vesper services. Mr. Milton Rehg directs the Choir in outstanding harmony and precision.

Choralaires

The Choralaires, under the adept direction of Dr. Kincheloe, represent the musical talent of our campus on their tours throughout the United States. The girls are chosen by private audition, and once accepted they are trained in methods of small choral group singing. Their performances throughout the year on our own campus prove the worth of the training and the talent of the girls.

Student Christian Association

It is the duty of the Student Christian Association to help students discover the meaning of Christ in their lives and to guide them in expressing their Christian ideals. The SCA sponsors many social service projects including work at the Salvation Army and the St. Charles Boys' Club. Guest speakers who describe summer service opportunities are often a feature of SCA programs. The annual Religion in Life Week is the culmination of the organization's activities.

KCLC

Radio Free L.C.! Students with good radios invariably cannot find the station, but those with poor radios can pick it up in a minute. Bombarding us with debates, lectures, good music, bad music, fashion trends, monologues, and dialogues is the KCLC Staff. Students majoring in Radio and Television and those interested in the field manage our radio station with the help of Miss Boyer, sponsor, and a new control board.

As a reward for high scholastic standing in the freshman class, girls are invited to 'pledge Alpha Lambda Delta. This national freshman scholastic honorary fraternity taps students who have a 3.5 grade average for their first semester of college work. With no major elections to campaign for, the Young Republicans have settled down to learning more about their particular party. They have planned a workshop in Washington, D. C., with other young Republicans and have sponsored several speakers on the campus. Secretly they are drawing posters for the next national election.

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats make no secret about their delight in the 1960 national election. They are avidly making banners and painting posters for the next election (although some people insist they are just polishing up the old ones). Young Democrats learn more about their party through student workshops and speakers.

Alumnae Week-End

The traditional Alumnae Weekend was held this year in October. In one short weekend "The Girls" relived their college years through convocations, dinners, luncheons, teas, faculty seminars and staying in Cobbs Hall. Nancy Hanschman, woman correspondent for CBS radio network, was the guest speaker for the weekend.

Religion in Life Week

Religion in Life Week, traditionally held in mid-February, is a period set aside for the spiritual enrichment of the students' lives. This year three guest speakers presented sermons and participated in informal discussions with students. This exchange of views on the place and purpose of religion in college life was very helpful to everyone.

Washington Semester

Three juniors spent their first semester and one her second semester this year at the American University in Washington, D.C., participating in the Washington Semester Program. Upon their return to campus, they presented an assembly describing their social and academic life. All of the nearly one hundred students from colleges all over the country participate in a seminar program and a special project in addition to their regular classes. In spite of the work load, LC semesterites always manage to find time for the National Theatre, the Smithsonian, and even side trips to New York and Philadelphia.

Plays

Everyman, an ancient medieval morality play, was presented at a Sunday vesper service in the chapel, under the direction of Mr. Hume.

The Chalk Garden, by Enid Bagnold, was presented by the advanced acting class, under Mr. Hume's direction. It presents the story of a Victorian grandmother who tries but fails to rear her twentieth-century daughter, and then her granddaughter, in a Victorian manner. She finally realizes that the era that she was trying to save is lost, and she reconciles herself to life of the twentieth-century.

Three one-act plays were presented on Friday and Saturday, March 16 and 17, 1962, by the beginning acting class, under the direction of Freda Grace Miller and Juliann Bottorff. The theme of Impromptu, by Tad Mosel, is: What should be the proper ratio of truth and illusion in the balanced life? Juliann directed Riders to the Sea, John M. Synge's tragedy of life in an Irish peasant family. In this atmospheric play, the characters are not as important as the language, setting, and spirit. Freda directed Queens of France, a satire on life in New Orleans in 1869. Thornton Wilder's play concerns a greedy lawyer who conns credulous women by convincing them that they are heirs to the throne of France.

The annual Alpha Psi Omega production for May Weekend this year was Somerset Maugham's The Circle, which was directed by Bob Hilliard.

Plays

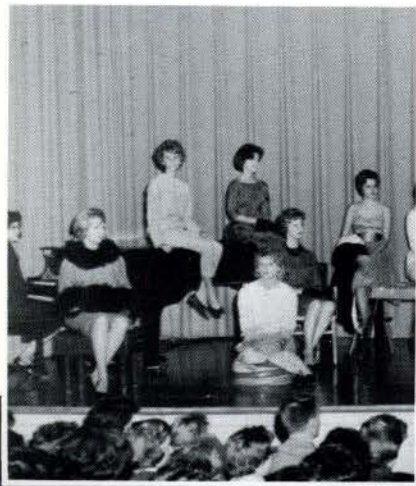

Linden Cotillion Court

A private debut of Lindenwood girls was held in full style at the Khorassan Room of the Chase Hotel this fall. The already glamorous dance was completed by a superb orchestra, the best of Lindenwood talent, and a court of Linden Lovelies from the Freshman and Sophomore classes. A few days prior to the Cotillion, a style show was held in Roemer Auditorium in which the girls posed in their finest clothes in a creative setting of chairs, ladders, piano benches, and saw horses.

Linden Cotillion Queen

Marty Ferguson

Known for her sense of humor is Marty Ferguson, elected our Linden Cotillion Queen. She has a comeback even for the jokes she doesn't catch. Coupled with her obvious beauty, Marty has a warm and vivacious personality. She is a fine asset to our college and a lovely queen for our Cotillion.

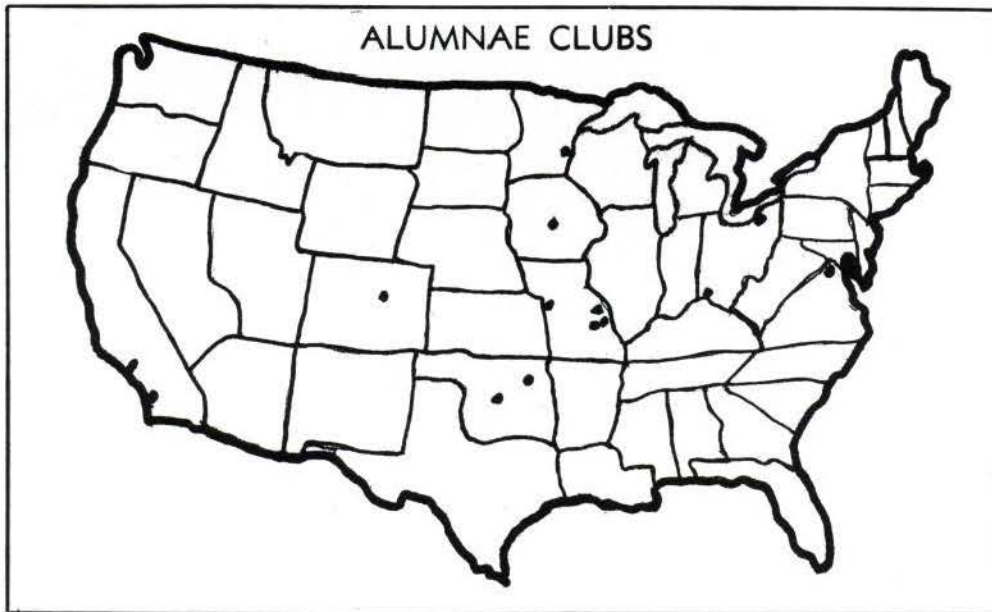

Congratulations on this yearbook. May the memories of this year, the friendships on this campus, and your own achievements on it be for each of you a source of strength for many, many years to come.

LINDEN LEAVES

FOREWORD

From Sweden's lofty slopes, from Hawaiian beaches,
From farming towns and steel-stacked cities . . . We come;

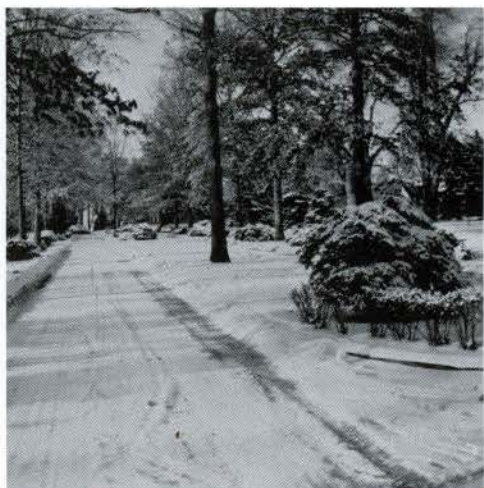

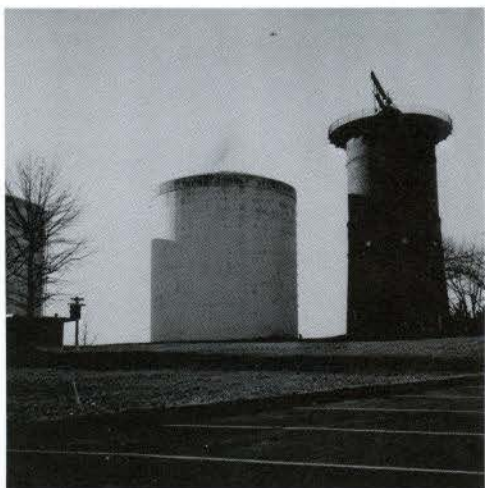

AND we come to know others
And we come to share what we have known;

This institution is a synthesis of cultures,
Inevitably,
The restless NOW, invisible between two points—
Past
And Future.

The importance of our origins is undeniable.

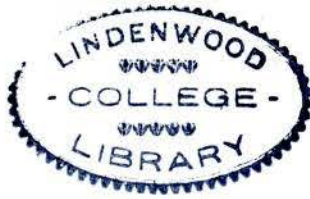

AND we come to understand the possibilities;
And we come to know what we can do

About the lofty slopes, along the beaches,
Around the farming towns and beyond the straight steel cities.

HOMER CLEVENGER, B.S., Central Missouri State College, M.A., George Peabody College, Ph.D., University of Missouri

DEDICATION

For the years and constancy of his service in the interests of the student; for his welcomed smile; and in grateful recognition of the dynamic qualities of a man who takes pleasure in his profession; this Linden Leaves of 1963 is dedicated to Dr. Homer Clevenger, recently honored by the office of Acting Dean of the College.

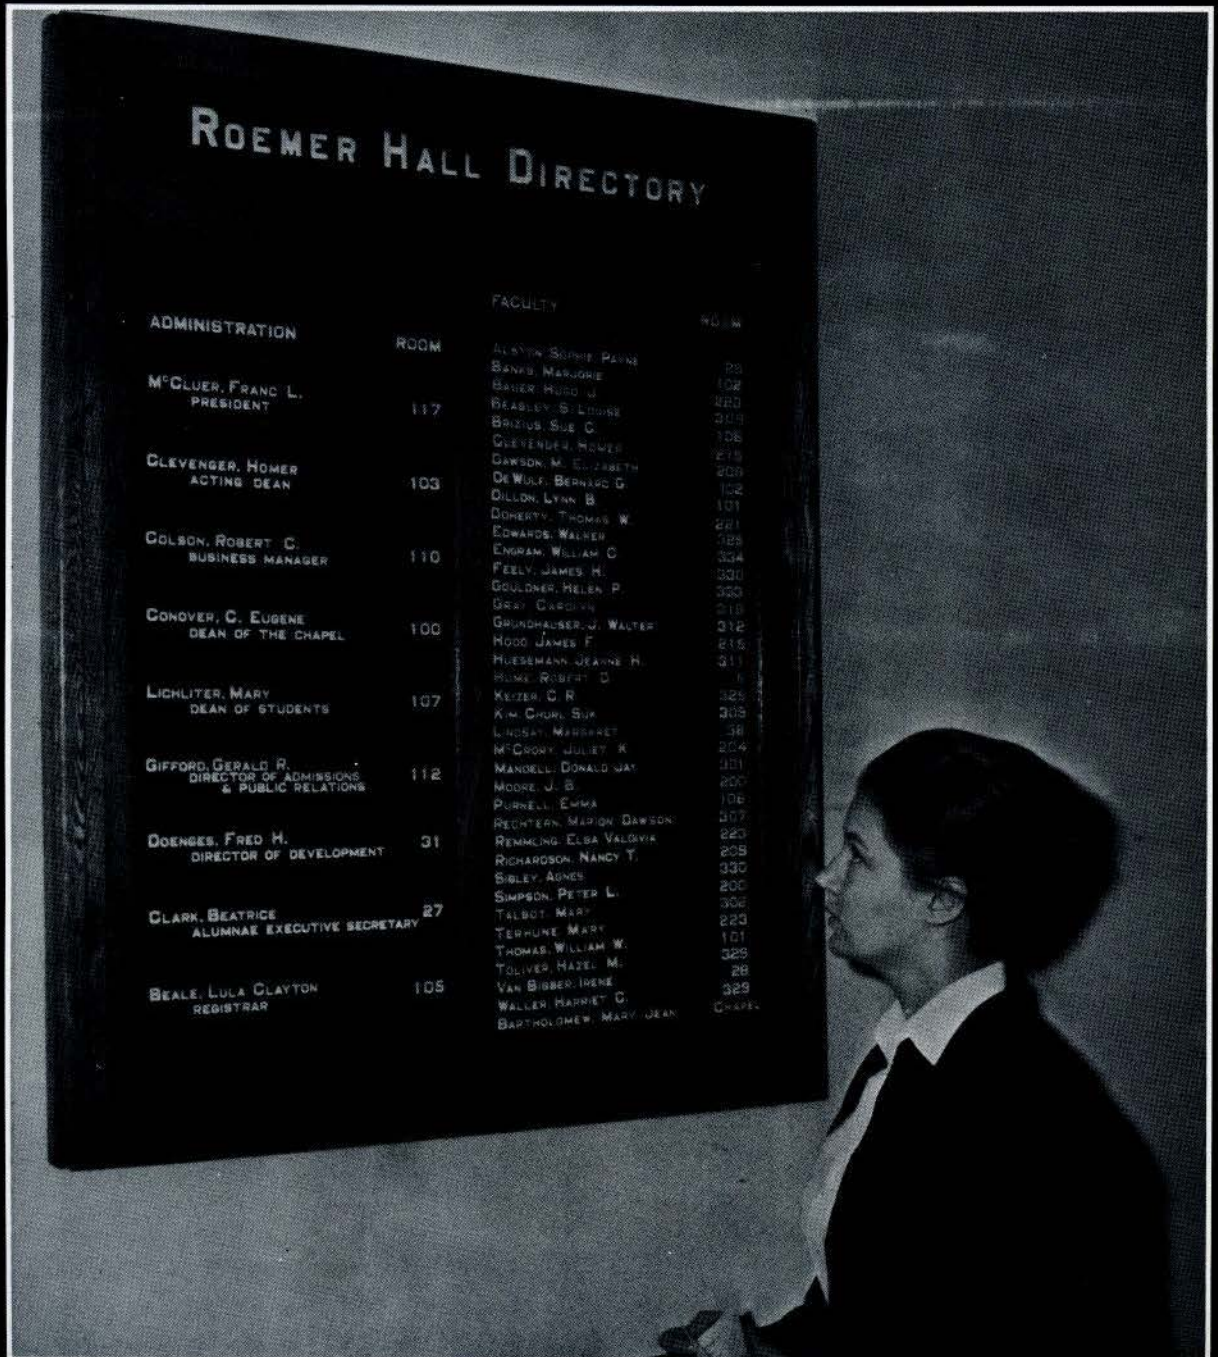

BREMEN VAN BIBBER, B.S., Southeast Missouri State College, M. Ed., University of Missouri

IN MEMORIAM

Sparked by a faith in high ideals and an unsurpassed will to attain them, Mr. Bremem Van Bibber was a dynamic force in a world that demands such of an educator. A teacher of teachers, the results of his organized efforts move ever outward, expanding in a timeless tradition.

Secretary to the President

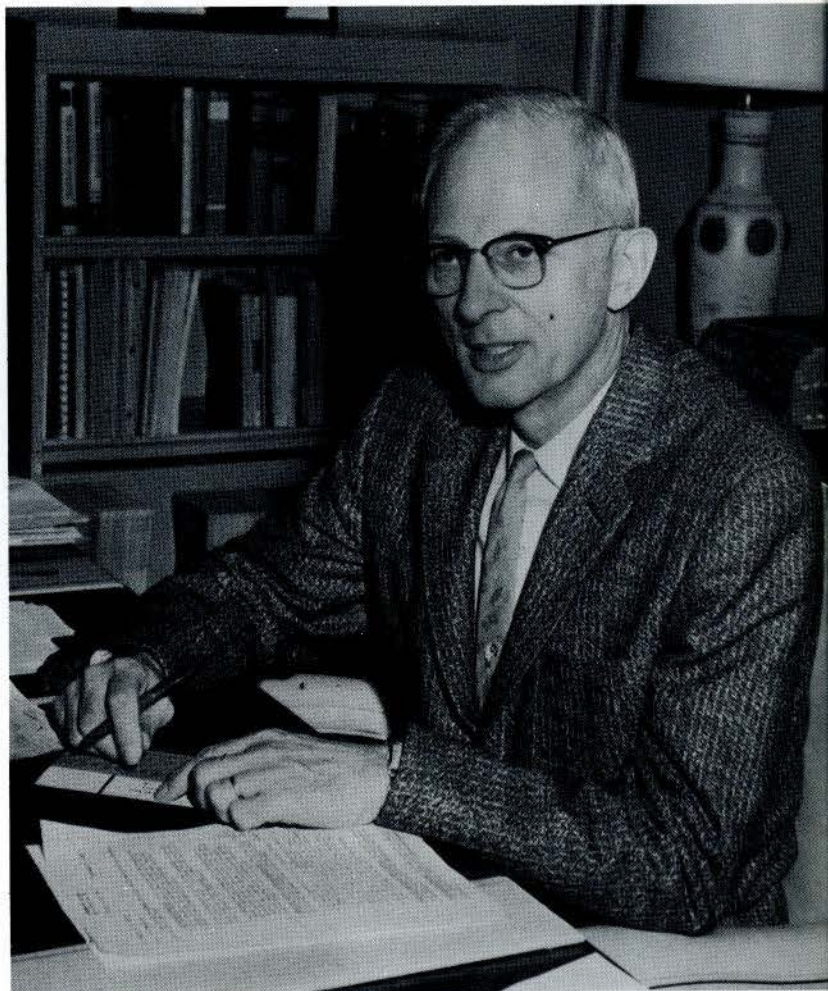

PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE

A conscientious president, Dr. McCluer astounds us year after year by recalling our names as well as our aims. Although he affirms the importance of the individual, he also unites the community by taking the lead in such group activities as his speaking at the Founder's Day convocation. His congeniality and deep understanding provide a solidarity for our transient years at Lindenwood.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

On a leave of absence since the first of November, Dean Donald M. Mackenzie is now with the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, making a study of church-related colleges and universities. Having caught occasional glimpses of him in Roemer Hall by day and strolling on campus with Mrs. Mackenzie by evening, students miss the confidence of his quiet voice and quick efficiency in scholastic matters and individual advice.

FAYE MARTIN
Secretary to Dean of the College

MARY F. LICHLITER, B.A., Wellesley College, M.A., University of Chicago

DOROTHY BARKLAGE
Secretary to Dean of Students

DEAN OF STUDENTS

Constantly in touch with students, house-mothers and the administration, Miss Lichliter works hard as Dean of Students. The placement of seniors each year is her special task, which she accomplishes with commendable results.

DEAN OF CHAPEL

As our leader in prayer, Dr. C. Eugene Conover takes heartfelt interest in the spiritual welfare of students both individually and as a whole. His inspiring talks help us to reconcile our religious beliefs with the facts and demands of the modern, scientific world.

C. EUGENE CONOVER, B.A., College of Wooster,
B.D., Union Theological Seminary, M.A.,
Ph.D., University of Cincinnati

MARGUERITE ODELL

SOCIAL DIRECTOR

A part-time student herself, Miss Odell shows both a week-by-week and a long-range ingenuity in organizing the social affairs of Lindenwood students.

REGISTRAR

Held in esteem for her friendly disposition, Miss Beale demonstrates her efficiency in keeping track of the students' often-changing class schedules.

LULA CLAYTON BEALE, B.A., Murray State College, M.A., George Peabody College

LILLIAN MAHON
Secretary to the Registrar

GERALD R. GIFFORD, B.S., M.S., Kansas State College of Pittsburg

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

Looking always toward the future of the college, Mr. Gifford keeps busy by furthering public relations with high schools, by evaluating the credentials of applicants, and by working steadily to improve the academic quality of the student body.

HEALTH CENTER

Participating in a five year nursing program, Lindenwood's student nurses spend three years at Deaconess Hospital and the remaining two at Lindenwood where they receive their degrees in Nursing. After attending Deaconess, the nurses may apply for a scholarship to work in the Health Center on campus while attending classes at Lindenwood.

SENIORS

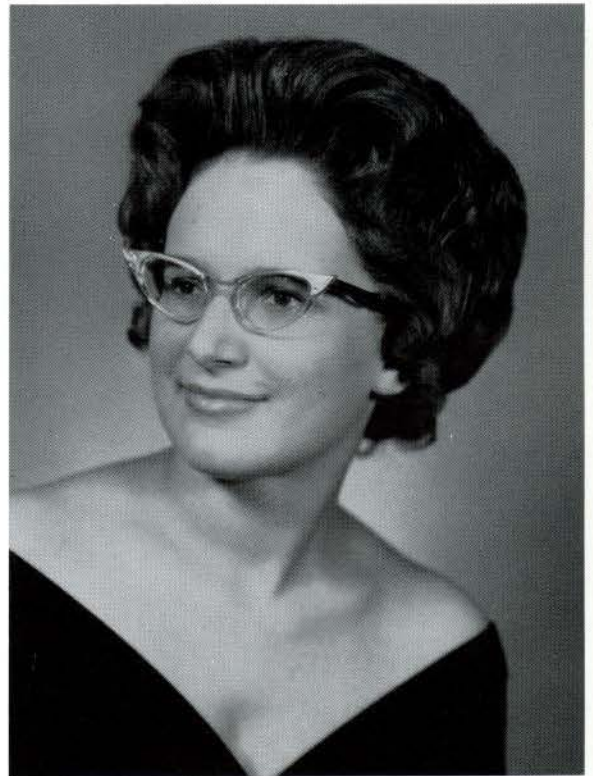

SENIOR CLASS

Although the seniors are celebrated and dined by the Alumnae in the fall and by the juniors in the spring, the class has its own particular functions. Their major activities include participating in Pin Day, deciding upon books for the library as their class gift to the college, and submitting a list of possible speakers for the baccalaureate and commencement addresses.

JUNIORS

An ambitious class, the juniors plan the traditional Junior-Senior banquet, and finance the project in part by spring car-washing. Along more academic lines, the class sponsors "conversations" which, for the first time this year, are extended to include the entire student body.

SOPHOMORES

FRESHMEN

As members of the largest class, the freshmen have the problem of getting acquainted with each other and of becoming accustomed to college life. The class officers, together with the council of freshman representatives from each dormitory, try to solve the problem by planning informal get-togethers throughout the year.

ORGANIZATIONS

KATHRYN TAYLOR
President

STUDENT COUNCIL

Lindenwood's Student Council formulates the policies by which the student body should live. Through the association, rules are enacted and enforced, and both community and individual responsibility are promoted. Leading this governing body are Kathryn Taylor as president, Marilyn Malone as vice president, and Ann Brightwell as secretary treasurer. Other members of the Student Council are elected from the classes, from the dormitories, and from the Day Students.

HONOR BOARD

The Honor System is a way of life which enters into every part of the students' activities at Lindenwood—academic, social, and personal. Because honor can be stimulated by the awareness of honor in others and by an atmosphere of mutual respect, the Honor System develops a strong community and individuals with personal integrity and a sense of responsibility. It is with the hope of perfecting such a system that the Honor Board, a council of students, faculty, and administration, functions.

CONNIE WOLTER
Chairman

SOCIAL STANDARDS

The Social Standards Council, part of the Student Council, is comprised of representatives from each dormitory who discuss and suggest changes in dress regulations to meet the changing college community. The Council also cooperates with the administration and faculty in achieving a proper and comfortable classroom, dining room, and chapel atmosphere.

SOCIAL COUNCIL

The functions of the Social Council and the Social Chairman are to plan parties and dances and to help arrange dates for Lindenwood students. Unlike many offices, the Social Chairman begins her duties in January and continues them until after the first semester of the following year. This year Meg Blumers was succeeded by Barbara Sell. All other social activities are planned and arranged by Miss Odell, Social Director.

STUDENT ARTISTS GUILD

Sponsored by John Wehmer, the Student Artists Guild stimulates added interest in the areas of art by various activities. Trips to the St. Louis Zoo, Climatron and Art Museum, as well as the annual weekend at Mound Ridge give creative students an opportunity to explore individually the different art media. Special meetings this year included lecture-demonstrations by Pat Degner, Rudy Torini, and Harland Goudie, and a combined meeting with the Poetry Society.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi is a national honorary fraternity for students of the Classics. The Lindenwood chapter of Eta Sigma Phi is relatively young, chartered in 1960. It has four active members, three of which are on campus. The principal activity of the organization is to act as a steering committee for the classics club discussions.

It has four active members, three of which are on campus. The principal activity of the organization is to act as a steering committee for the classics club discussions.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Small but active, the Philosophy Club meets often to discuss problems of philosophy by sharing and comparing ideas and points of view. Topics discussed this year included "The Limits of Reason," "Existentialism," and the philosophy of Paul Tillich. Dr. C. Eugene Conover and Professor William W. Thomas sponsor the group.

PI ALPHA DELTA

Pi Alpha Delta is a campus organization which strives to promote an understanding of the classical Greek and Roman cultures and their relationships to our own. The club has informal meetings to discuss topics chosen by the group. A traditional banquet closes the yearly activities.

POETRY SOCIETY

A closely cooperative group of students and faculty members, the Poetry Society holds informal discussion meetings each month. Often original poetry is contributed by students and some of the faculty for discussion, although other activities provide some variety in the programs. This year a combined meeting with the Student Artists Guild gave students a chance to become more acquainted with contemporary trends in both fields.

YEARBOOK

Appointed in the spring of 1962, the Linden Leaves Staff began work toward the present annual. From snapping informal shots around campus to approaching the businessmen of St. Charles for advertisements, the students work faithfully throughout the year. A misplaced picture, a perplexed professor unhappy with his smile for the photographer, running out of copy sheets, no heat in the quonset hut, and final exams provided obstacles and anxious moments in the completion of the task.

Editors Irene Ritter and Meredith Kasten.

LINDEN BARK

The Linden Bark staff issued eleven newspapers during the 1962-63 school year. Staff members busied themselves with reporting stories, writing copy, editing and proofreading copy and galleys, drawing cartoons, taking and developing pictures. Extensive staff reorganization took place at the beginning of the first semester, during which semester Dr. Agnes Sibley served as faculty advisor to the Bark.

THE GRIFFIN

The literary editing class, working under the emblem of the mythological guardian of sacred treasure, selects outstanding pieces of student writing for publication in the literary annual. The class, led by Mr. Simpson, sponsors a freshman writing contest, collects creative writing from upperclassmen, discusses all the contributions, and prepares the best manuscripts for the press. Traditionally, the Dean presents the Griffin to the college on Honors Day.

CHOIR

The regular function of the Choir, under the direction of Mr. Franklin Perkins, is to provide music for Sunday evening vesper services. Occasionally special programs are presented by the choir during the school year, such as this year's traditional English Christmas candlelight service of nine lessons and nine carols, and the performance of a jazz setting of the Episcopal Mass. The spring tour is an honored tradition.

CHORALAIRES

The members of this select ensemble are chosen by audition from the college choir. They learn the methods and literature of ensemble singing. Under the direction of Mr. Franklin Perkins, the Choralaires represent the college in performances throughout the area and present special musical programs on campus.

MU PHI EPSILON

Phi Theta Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority, chooses its members for musician-ship, academic achievement, and personality. During the year, the sorority has given a Founder's Day tea, a vesper concert, several programs, and has sponsored some faculty recitals. Faculty sponsor is Miss Gertrude Isidor.

MENC

Lindenwood's chapter of the Music Educators National Conference serves students working toward a degree in Music Education. M.E.N.C. gives its members opportunities to meet socially and professionally with other music educators. This year all of the members attended the Southwestern Division M.E.N.C. and Missouri Music Educators Association Convention held in St. Louis in January. The chapter also sponsored a trip to the Wicks Organ Factory for its members and guests.

SCA OFFICERS

The Student Christian Association membership includes nearly all of the student body. Its purpose of contributing to the spiritual and social life of the campus is carried out through various permanent committees working both on and off campus. Some activities include play reading, World University Service, and helping with the Salvation Army, Boys' Club, and mentally retarded children. SCA is affiliated with the National Student YWCA and the World Student Christian Federation.

S.C.A. JR. CABINET

Junior Student Christian Association is an organization in which freshmen learn what leadership and responsibility are and through which they receive a new outlook on religion. This year the freshmen have been very active; a brunch for information about summer service jobs, sponsoring "Toys for Tots," planning and presenting the Universal Day of Prayer, have busied the members. They hope to work again at Caroline Mission in St. Louis and also at the Kansas City Weekend Work Camp.

KCLC

In the spring of 1962 the CBS network in New York gave KCLC a control board which was remodeled to fit Lindenwood's radio station. In order to install the new board, broadcasts were postponed until February. Programs have been planned this year so as to offer the greatest possible variety. During the thirteen and a half hours each week of broadcast time, students hear music ranging from jazz to classical, book reviews with faculty members participating, interviews, panel discussions and women's shows, not to mention the newscasts and editorials, which were emphasized this year.

ALPHA EPSILON RHO

Three major events comprised the activities of Alpha Epsilon Rho this year. Four members and pledges from Lindenwood's Tau-Chapter attended the regional convention at Stephen's College in Columbia, Missouri. This national honorary society for radio and television students initiated new members in February, many of whom attended the annual national convention held this year in Kansas City.

PI MU EPSILON

Pi Mu Epsilon is an honorary mathematics fraternity. During the year 1961-62 the mathematics department at Lindenwood was invited to become affiliated with the Missouri Gamma Chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon at St. Louis University. Members are superior mathematics students of Junior or Senior rank. In addition to four seniors of 1962, two seniors this year were initiated, Joan Leiper and Judy Ross. S. L. Beasley, Jeanne Huesemann, and Churl S. Kim are members from the faculty of Lindenwood.

TRIANGLE

Triangle Club honors students in math, biology, and chemistry who achieve high scholastic standing. This year the membership grew to thirty-six students and nine honorary faculty members. A "cook's tour" through the new St. Louis Planetarium, and sponsorship of several all-school teas for visiting mathematicians and scientists constituted the major activities of the year. The club also started an Alumnae file, listing current locations and positions of former members.

IRC

The purpose of the International Relations Club, which is registered with the Collegiate Council of the United Nations, is to understand and to work toward solving the problems facing the nation today. The 1963 delegation to the Midwest Model United Nations acquainted the members with the international and internal difficulties of Syria. In the spring, I.R.C., under the sponsorship of Dr. James F. Hood, presented a smorgasbord dinner based on an "around the world" theme.

S.E.A. OFFICERS

The Student Education Association is a professional organization for future teachers and those interested in education. The organization provides opportunities for personal and professional growth, development of leadership skills, and participation in professional activities at local, state, and national levels. This year the group has been challenged by such speakers as Dr. Franc L. McCluer, Dr. Bernard De Wulf, Dr. Gwendolyn Drew of Washington University, and Mr. Leo A. Eason, also of Washington University.

COLHECON

Colhecon, the College Home Economics Club, is associated nationally with the American Home Economics Association. The organization consists of students interested in the field, and presents programs in various areas of Home Economics including personal appearance, food, education, and gift and decoration ideas.

KAPPA OMICRON PHI

Kappa Omicron Phi is a national, professional home economics honorary fraternity. The sponsor of the Lindenwood Chapter is Miss Sophie Payne Alston. Activities this year included an open meeting with guest speaker Mrs. Marie Davis Huff, State Director of Home Economics; a bake sale and pledge service in the fall, and a pledge service and initiation in the spring.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

The Women's Recreation Association, better known as the W.R.A., has been organized to give leadership to the recreational activities of the girls on campus. Its main purpose is that of sponsoring intramural sports activities between the dormitories. This year, to get away from the competitive side of sports and give greater emphasis to the fun and pleasure side, a participation trophy was awarded to the dorm having the greatest number of girls participating. W.R.A. also sponsors Sports Days, Conventions, and Camping Trips.

ORCHESIS

The purpose of Orchesis is to extend to all members experience in the dance beyond that available in regular classwork, to exert constructive leadership in interesting others in dance as an art form, to study the dance with its accompanying arts, and to present demonstrations, recitals, and other educational programs.

BETA CHI

Beta Chi is the campus organization which promotes good horsemanship. It strives to encourage sportsmanship through learning the development and recent trends in equitation. Members of Beta Chi produce, direct, and participate in the annual horse show and style show.

BASKETBALL TEAM

"You play roving forward, I'll play roving guard." Yes, something new has been added to the game of basketball this year and Lindenwood's extramural team was out to meet the challenge. The sixteen members of this year's team played games with Washington U., Monticello, Principia, and S.U.I. The team played a total of six games, three at home and three away.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

As a reward for high scholastic achievement, Alpha Lambda Delta taps freshmen who attain a 3.5 grade average. New students are introduced to this national academic fraternity at a tea during the first month of school. Alpha Lambda Delta honors its graduating seniors with a steak fry in May.

LINDEN SCROLL

Linden Scroll is a senior service organization. Students are tapped for membership based on excellence in leadership, citizenship, scholarship and loyalty. The sale of calendars and address books enabled Scroll to raise money for the scholarships given this year to an outstanding sophomore and junior. This year Linden Scroll sponsored discussion groups in preparation for the college visitor and lecturer Arnold Toynbee.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The main event of the Young Republicans' calendar for 1962-63 was the Midwest College Convention in St. Louis in April. The organization on campus has enjoyed the visits of Mrs. Stanley Ginn, Missouri's Republican National Committeewoman, and Mr. John Stormer, a campaign manager for Senatorial candidate Crosby Kemper. Through such activities, the members strive to acquaint themselves and others with the party and its functions.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The Young Democrats participated in various activities and programs which began with a campaign for Mr. Simpson, sponsor of the Young Democrats, who ran for St. Louis City Alderman. This experience enabled members to learn about campaign politics and strategies. Following this were programs varying from movies to speakers and panel discussions.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters has been especially active this year in starting a St. Charles County League of Women Voters, with the help and cooperation of the Missouri State League and Mrs. James Hood. An annual duty of the campus League is helping the Student Council conduct campus elections. The sponsor has been one of the new faculty members, Mr. Walker Edwards.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, honors the director of each play by concluding the production with parties for the cast, technical crew, and guests. Pledging and initiation ceremonies were held in the spring. Officers this year were Freda Grace Miller, president; Juliann Bottorff, vice president succeeded by Judy Letson for second semester; Martha McDonald, secretary, and John Dinkmeyer, treasurer.

PRESS CLUB

The Press Club, made up of those active in the staffs of the Linden Bark, Griffin, and radio station KCLC, was an inactive organization during 1962-63. Press Club's main function is the annual presentation of Gridiron.

STUDENT COUNSELORS

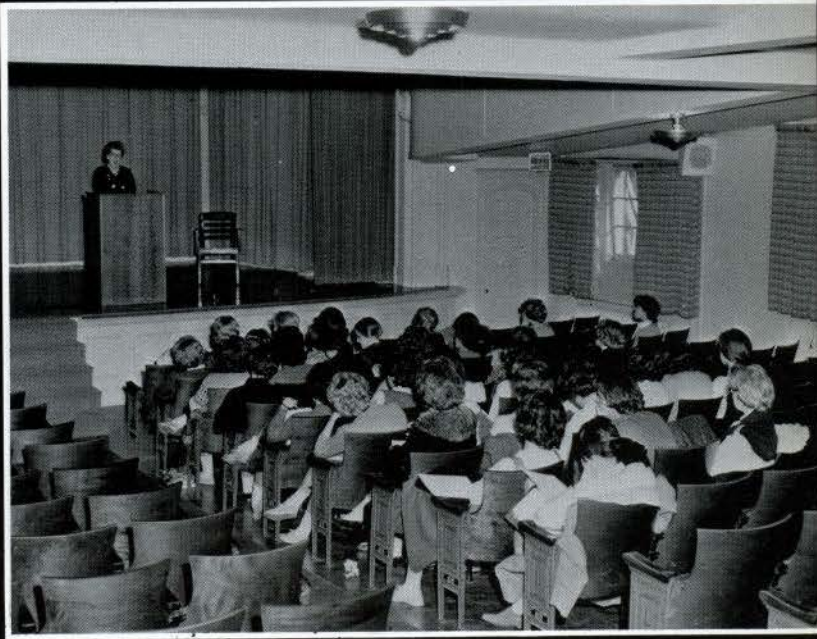

The Freshman Counseling Program was organized this year to let each counselor and all her counselees be in the same dormitory. The twenty-two counselors met each week with the chairman, Judy Ross, during the first nine weeks of school. After this, the counselors met once a month. The counselors are responsible for summer correspondence with new freshmen and for helping to plan Orientation Week. During the school year, the counselors advise their counselees on any problems that arise. Miss Lichliter is in charge of the program.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Working on the plan for student fund-raising was the main project of the Association on Human Rights for the first semester. Two members worked with the Student Council in drawing up and passing the plan. The Jazz-Arts Festival featuring poetry readings, dance, paintings, and music on April 6, raised money for the American Friends Service Committee. The Friends work in many areas including distributing food to the Algerians, fighting for civil rights for all peoples, and sponsoring a lecture series for colleges and universities.

ACTIVITIES

ALUMNAE WEEKEND

The October Alumnae Weekend provided an exciting bustle of activity for Lindenwood graduates and students alike. The Day Students Organization won the Dorm Decoration competition. Students and Alumnae were honored by having Dr. Franc L. McCluer as their speaker at the Founder's Day convocation. During the special dinner at Fellowship Hall, members of the class of 1963 were welcomed into the Alumnae Association and invited to enjoy the annual occasion.

RELIGION-IN-LIFE WEEK

Canon Standrod T. Carmichael, leader of this year's Religion-in-Life Week, presented the student body with a series of lectures formed around book reviews containing religious issues. The rigorous schedule also included a musical blackout revue with a religious motif, For Heaven's Sake, and evening lectures on contemporary art forms given by Gyo Obata, noted architect; Siegfried Reinhardt, distinguished St. Louis painter; and Robert Harmon of the St. Louis stained glass house. The new approach to religion through the arts held the attention of the students and was received with wide enthusiasm.

PLAY PRODUCTIONS

The Lindenwood College Players opened their full schedule in October with A. A. Milne's Mr. Pim Passes By. Directed by Freda Grace Miller, the play introduced the new male scholarship students, Karl Slinkard and Dennis Deal. In December Juliann Bottorff directed the production of The Diary of Anne Frank, by Frances Goodrick and Albert Hackett.

The Beginning Acting Class Project formed a program in March of four one-act plays directed by Judith Hale, Patricia Merrill, and Martha McDonald. Presented in the program were Overtones by Alice Gerstenberg, Summer Fury by James Broughton, The Old Lady Shows Her Medals by Sir James Barrie, and Early Frost by Douglass Parkhurst. The final production of the school year was the Alpha Psi Omega presentation, directed by Robert Douglas Hume, Director of Theatre.

DAY STUDENTS

The Day Student Organization is comprised of approximately one hundred non-resident students. Activities during the year include a mother-daughter dinner and style show, the capturing of the first prize in the dorm-decorating contest for Alumnae Weekend, and a party in the spring. A day student team participates in all intramurals. Meetings are bi-monthly over which presides Mary Jean Burger, president of the Day Student Organization.

Head Resident, Mrs. Loving, and House President, Joanne Haldeman.
