HOWARD I. YOUNG

March 20, 1889 - December 14, 1965

The Lindenwood community mourns the passing of a great leader in the death of Howard I. Young, a member of the Board of Directors of the College since 1942 and President of this Board since 1957.

To know Mr. Young as a colleague and a friend was to respect and honor him for his achievement and his integrity, and to love him for his kindness and genuine concern for others. "With an eye made quiet by the power of harmony and the deep power of joy" he gave his strength to great tasks selflessly and constantly.

The true measure of the greatness of a life is the loyalty of that life to its highest vision and deepest faith. In his life there was no wavering in this loyalty. His enthusiasm for meaningful life was matched with unbounded energy, his personal dignity with true democratic feelings, his intellectual strength with spiritual fervor, and his faith in God with courage to face facts. He could exclaim with Browning, "Oh, our manhood's prime vigor, no spirit feels waste."

Mr. Young believed that the higher education of women is as important and significant as that of men. He felt that this education must stand for respect for the integrity of the human mind, the dignity of the individual human being, and the trustworthiness of Christian character. His contribution to the character and growth of Lindenwood College is beyond measure. As we thank God that Lindenwood College has been blessed with Mr. Young's leadership in years that are passed, we give thanks, too, for the knowledge that this great and good life will continue to be a source of strength in years to come.

Dr. Mary Talbot, Professor of Biological Science, Writes of her Research in the Field

Long ago my young nephew stopped in the midst of helping me dig an ant colony to say, "The boys keep asking why we dig ants." I replied, "It's too hard to explain. Don't try." He dug silently for a while and then said, "By the way, why do we?" I am not sure that I can explain to the alumnae why I have spent much of my vacation periods studying ants. But I shall try to recount some aspects of ant research which have interested many biologists.

Ants are social animals and as such have a certain fascination for man. Social organization has not evolved many times; man among the vertebrates, and the ants, bees, wasps and termites among the insects, are usually considered to be the only truly social forms. Furthermore the insect societies have reached a perfection which seems far in the future for man. We are constantly plagued by anti-social individuals who steal, kill and park near fire hydrants while ants constantly act for the benefit of the whole group. But social insects have a great head start on man—some 50 to 70 million years.

Ants' non-social ancestors were undoubtedly solitary wasps with a short life span, who laid eggs but never saw their offspring. In some groups the life span became longer and females began to stay with the young, feeding them and providing shelter. Thus a family developed. Next the offspring began staying together after they were mature and certain morphological changes occurred by which some developed wings and remained typical male and female while others failed to develop wings, lost their reproductive powers and became the worker caste. Workers took over the tasks of building the nest, foraging for food and caring for the young (eggs, larvae and pupae). Now the family had become a true society in which individuals stayed together, each contributed something to the whole group and in turn each was dependent upon the group.

Dr. Talbot has been on the faculty at Lindenwood College since 1936. During the summers she has carried on research at the Stone Biological Laboratory, the Michigan Biological Laboratory, and the Edwin S. George Reserve. Over the years, Dr. Talbot has published frequent papers and is presently at work on another.

Wingless worker ants were in the beginning terrestrial carnivores. Being carnivores, they had to search for living food. Being bound to the earth by the lack of wings they were constantly meeting a new environment head on. This led to a versatility of action not developed elsewhere among the insects. In fact, ants are often considered to represent the culmination of invertebrate evolution.

Primitive ant societies had to be small because available living food was limited. More advanced ants have taken three main pathways toward getting more food and thus forming larger colonies. First, the driver ants are still carnivorous, but they get abundant food by keeping on the move into new habitats. These are the famous ants of the tropics which pour through a house leaving it free of all "vermin." One species of this type comes as far north as St. Charles, but in a mild form which generally confines its activities to raiding other ants species.

Second, groups of ants enlarged their colonies by becoming herbivores. Many of these flourish on the prairies where they are harvesters of seeds of grain plants. Such seed may be stored in underground chambers to be used in time of scarcity. Some herbivores are so highly specialized that they eat tiny mushrooms formed on certain kinds of fungi which they grow underground on beds of leaves collected from nearby trees. These workers make a charming sight as they travel toward home, each with a green leaf held up like a banner.

Many ants have taken a third course to become omnivorous. These fill an important niche by helping keep the earth surface clear of litter. Almost any dead animals-insects, spiders, worms-are found almost immediately and are carried away as food. In addition some colonies gather seeds and flowers as they come into season and collect secretions from aphids and scale insects. Often several species can live in the same habitat and eat the same type of food without competing seriously because they patrol the ground at different times of day. One summer I followed the activities of three such species and found that the time spacing is brought about by the ants' reaction to temperature. Lasius neoniger Emery foraged mainly at night and early morning at temperatures between 50° and 60° F. Myrmica americana Weber became abundant above ground later in the morning when temperatures were between 60° and 80° F., while at hot midday Formica pallidefulva nitidiventris Emery was the conspicuous ant.

Since ants are primarily earth bound they have developed no stereotype form of nest, such as bees have, but are wonderfully versatile in adapting to a great variety of possible nesting sites. There is hardly a habitat not occupied by some species. They build nests in tree limbs and trunks, under bark, in decaying logs, in stems of small plants, in galls and acorns, and in soil. In fields, soil is the one constant habitat, and ants use it in many different ways. In St. Charles the ant Prenolepis imparis Say digs a main shaft straight down as much as four feet into solid clay. From the shaft, smooth domed chambers extend out to house the brood.

Population studies are most easily carried out on soil-dwelling ants for nest limits are usually clearly defined and capturing the total population is fairly easy. Ecologists are at present much interested in population studies because many are working on "food chains" and "energy cycles." For this study one must measure how much of the sun's energy is trapped in plants, how much is used by plant-eating animals and how much is passed along to other animals who eat the first. I am involved in such a project on an "old field" on the Edwin S. George Reserve which is maintained by the University of Michigan. Here "old" means cutover, cultivated, then abandoned. This field of 15 acres has been studied by Dr. Francis Evans and his students for many years so that probably more is known about this field than about any similar plot on earth. It contains 17 species of ants, of which seven are abundant and typical. There are approximately 11 colonies of ants per square yard on the field.

One species, F. pallidefulva nitidiventris, averages only one colony each 60 square yards, yet in the field

there are a calculated 1320 colonies comprising three million individuals, of which one million are workers. Another species, Aphaenogaster treatae Forel has a calculated 1584 colonies comprising approximately two million individuals. If we can collect similar information for the other species, we can begin to get an idea of the impact of ants on the soil, vegetation and other animals of the field.

In ants, the colony, or expanded family, is the social unit. It begins when a fertilized female breaks off her wings, seeks shelter and begins to lay eggs. She feeds the first larvae sparsely on regurgitated food, and they emerge as stunted adult workers. These workers enlarge the nest, bring in food and care for all subsequent young. A colony then consists of a queen mother, her worker daughters and young ants (eggs, larvae, and pupae). As the colony increases in size over several years, it becomes mature. At this stage it can afford to rear young males and females who will in no way contribute to the life of the colony but will fly away to form new colonies. From this time on, the colony produces a quota of males and females each year, providing new colonies while still maintaining its own identity.

Flights of males and females from the parent nests offer excellent material for studies of variations in behavior patterns between species. Beginning in 1961, I received a three-year grant from the National Science Foundation which provided funds for a concentrated study in this field. The University of Michigan had for many years supplied lodging and a twosquare-mile working area at the Edwin S. George Reserve so the studies were well under way at this time. For a flight males and females come from inside the nests over a large area at a specific time. (This coming into the light is a startling reversal of behavior, for before this the winged ants had always been in darkness and had moved away quickly from any light.) Once out, individual ants begin climbing plants above the nest, fluttering their wings, and at last fly off high into the air. Mating usually takes place in the air.

Mating flights of different species of ants occur at various times of year, at different times of day and under different environmental conditions. Each year the ant Prenolepis imparis on the Lindenwood campus begins its flights on the first day of spring when the temperature reaches 70° F. This is as much a harbinger of spring as is the opening of plum and pear blossoms with which it usually coincides. After this, a flight occurs each favorable day until all of the winged ants have left the nest.

Species which fly in the early morning seem primarily dependent on rising temperatures to trigger flights. Worker and winged ants of Dolichoderus mariae, a beautiful red and black ant, begin coming out on the top of the igloo-shaped nest at 56° to 57° F. This is often at gray dawn. As soon as they become warm enough to move freely, they climb grasses, flutter wings and begin flying (at 59° to 60° F.) At 63° to 68° F., the dome of the nest is covered with ants and a constant stream of individuals are flying off. As the nest warms, fewer come out and flying stops at about 74° F. Eighteen flights watched at one nest varied little in temperature but greatly in time. They began as early as 5:28 a.m. and as late as 9:23 a.m. At least 15,000 flew in the 18 flights and even then the nest had not been greatly depleted. A number of other morning-flying species were found to fly at slightly higher temperatures, and a flight began each day when the trigger temperature was reached unless barred by rain, heavy dew or dense overcast.

Flights taking place at other times of day are apt to be more complex in their environmental requirements. Species flying in the late afternoon seem to be responding primarily to diminishing light and dropping temperature. However, other factors complicate the picture. For some, such as Lasius neoniger, the high humidity and low barometric pressure preceding a storm favor an abundant flight. Some, like Lasius minutus Emery, will retreat in mass down grass blades everytime they are shaken by the slightest breeze. Acanthomyops interjectus (Mayr) has interesting late afternoon flights. This species lives totally underground with no opening to the surface until flight time. After a rain in June, workers will make a series of large exits and each afternoon when shade extends over the nest, black males will try to push up past a rim of yellow workers which nudge, pull or even bite them to keep them back. When conditions become favorable, the urge to climb becomes so strong that the winged ants push out past the guards, begin to climb grasses and soon fill the air with ants flying toward the setting sun. A prodigious number of males and females may be produced by such a colony. A record was established when an estimated 55,200 flew in one two-hour period. However, conditions are usually not this favorable and often flights are sparse, are cut short or are prevented entirely. Actually the ants have a rather narrow margin of time for flight because light may dim too much while temperature remains high, or temperature may drop too low while light is still bright. To this must be added the hazards of rain and wind. One colony, at which records were kept for 47 days, had 22 flight days and 25 days which were unfavorable for flights.

Ants which fly during mid-day have even more varied requirements. Two field-dwelling species at the Reserve offer a sharp contrast though both fly near mid-day at high temperature. One, Polyergus lucidus Mayr, will fly only if the day is warm and clear-a cloud over the nest will delay or stop flight completely. The other, Aphaenogaster treatae Forel, flies when temperatures are too high for them to be above ground at all-unless a cloud comes by. As soon as a cloud dims light and lowers temperature a few degrees, winged ants emerge quickly, climb grasses rapidly and fly promptly. A seven-minute cloud can provide enough shade for a brief flight. Then, as it moves over, the ants descend abruptly below the surface to wait for the next cloud (and I am left sitting in the hot field!).

DR. TALBOT TALLIES SLAVE-MAKERS ON A RAID.

Along with these aspects of ant behavior, I have been especially interested in the activities of slave-making species. These are the ants which raid colonies of other species, carrying off their larvae and pupae. Some of the captured young are used as food, but others emerge as adults in the new nest, forming a mixed colony of slave-holders and slaves. Actually the slaves act just as they would in their home colony;

they excavate the nest, care for the young and forage for food. For the past two summers I have been studying the "shining slave maker," Polyergus lucidus, which is an obligatory slave-maker in that it is completely dependent on the slave species Formica pollidefulva nitidiventris. Workers of Polyergus will starve to death without trying to feed themselves. However, they have perfected a beautifully precise raiding technique and daily raids take place over most of the summer. First, nests to be raided must be found by scout ants moving alone. When an ant finds one such nest, she evidently lays down an odor trail which can be followed by the raiding party. Then, after the heat of mid-day, when the Polyergus nest surface becomes cool enough to be walked on, a large group of workers pour out, mill around, find the odor trail and start off through the grass in a group about five inches across and a foot long. They travel rapidly, often a vard a minute, and usually go straight to the designated nest, even though it seems completely concealed. Then begins a frenzied digging to find entrances, since ants which are subject to raiding often plug their nest openings. As soon as openings are cleared, Polygerus workers rush in and within a minute or two emerge with larvae or pupae. In the meantime an occasional F. pallidefulva nitidiventris may run or be pulled out, but there is no general fighting. The homeward bound ants travel in a long, straggling line retracing the route by which they came. Sometimes, after depositing their loot in the home nest, they reassemble on the surface to organize a second raid to another colony. The colonies studied raided on 21 of the 50 days when records were kept, making 33 raids on these days.

Plundered nests could be near or far away. One afternoon the ants traveled over a grassy hill, across a valley and up a slope to stop exactly at a nest 213 feet away. This long raid took an hour and 42 minutes to complete and was only moderately successful because the 266 workers involved brought back only 90 young ants. The number of ants on a raiding party varied from 118 to 536 and the number of captured ants brought back ranged from 7 to 480.

These are only a few aspects of ant studies. They are important in the larger picture of research, for they contribute to such general studies as those of populations, adaptations to environments, interspecies competition for food and shelter, territoriality, food habits, energy utilization, and social organization. And, besides, to some of us, they are fascinating in themselves.

EMPTY WAIT

A night that swings Like a nightmare. Why does melancholy enwrap me If I am sitting alone?

For whom are you waiting?
No, none will come ever here.
Has winter not arrived?
Will ever the sky be free from clouds?

This sound outside! May be the dry leaves falling. Who is to come here, In this dark dreary night?

Sound of foot-steps I have heard. Oh, the deception of your ears. Perhaps some lonely pedestrian Finding his way to somewhere else! Who is to come here and why?

I hear the knocking at the door. No, none is there. Is it not the wind blowing so fast? Perhaps its bluster, Through the slit of the door! Who is to come here now?

Lo! Somebody is there.
There is none,
Except the falling of snow;
Snow-drifts from window appear
Like some one standing.

But why do you stop, Again and again, O heart? Take care, lest your beats stop. Let me wait for someone.

But this Christmas is not for you. None will come for you. Shut your lightless, lifeless doors. None will enter, none will come, Ever here.

Wilma White, '49, and Beth Glebe Houchin, '55, Are Engaged Professionally in Different Fields

Lindenwood alumnae who have had the valuable experience of superior teaching in the sciences at the undergraduate level have gone on into advanced study and specialized fields of scientific work. Two of these alumnae are featured with pride in this issue of The Bulletin—Elizabeth Glebe Houchin, who graduated in 1955, and Wilma L. White, of the class of '49.

Cytology—the scientific study of body cells—is the field in which Beth Houchin is engaged. Specifically, she is examining smears for cancer detection in the pathology laboratory of St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Appleton, Wis. Beth joined that staff as cytologist in October shortly after completing a year's course in cytotechnology at the School of Cancer Cytology at the University of Wisconsin Medical Center in Madison. She is now, under the direct supervision of the pathologist, screening all smears submitted to the laboratory for cytologic study. The department is prepared especially to examine "Pap" smears for the detection of uterine cancer. (The cytologic technique which was developed originally by Dr. George Papanocolaou now has wide acceptance as an aid to early diagnosis.) New techniques are making it possible to process a greatly increased number of patients per day at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Of her present occupation, Beth writes: "As one of the newer paramedical fields, cytology is an interesting endeavor. It would appeal to the biology student who is willing to work by herself and do patient and sustained work at the microscope for long periods of time." She points out that there are grants available for study from the American Cancer Society and the federal Public Health Service. During her 12-month course she received a $2700 grant from the federal agency.

Beth has been engaged in some paramedical field ever since she was graduated from Lindenwood with a B. A. degree. As a major in the biologic sciences, she worked with Dr. Mary Talbot and Dr. J. Walter Grundhauser.

After graduation, Beth took a one-year course in medical technology at St. Louis County Hospital in Clayton, and then went to work at Children's Hospital in Washington, D. C., for three years. She had been a Washington Semester student, she explains, and was anxious to get back to the capital. She met her husband, Donald N. Houchin, a biochemist, in Washington where he was in service, and they were married in 1959 at Walter Reed Chapel. They subsequently moved to New Jersey and Beth worked as a medical technologist at American Cyanamid

Company in Bound Brook for three years. Then they returned to Washington and Beth went to work as a research assistant at Walter Reed Army Research Institute at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Here she had an introduction to cytology as the laboratory was "screening peripheral blood concentrations for megakaryocytes." During this interval, Beth served as secretary of the Washington, D. C., Lindenwood Alumnae Club. Shortly after a move to Appleton, Beth decided to take the cytology course at Madison. This decision, she says, required the co-operation of a "very understanding" husband, as it meant that she stayed in Madison during the week and came home only on week-ends.

Getting around is actually no problem for the Houchins, for they fly their own Cessna 175 light plane. Don learned to fly about three years ago, and Beth is taking lessons. She soloed in October. She says they are "mainly week-end flyers and run out to the airport on the slightest excuse" to fly their plane. When she completed her cytology course in September, they flew 350 miles northwest for a fishing vacation in northern Minnesota.

The winter issue of The Bulletin carried a notice that Wilma L. White, class of 1949, was the coauthor of a new "Chemistry for Medical Technologists" describing techniques for chemical analysis of fluids in hospital laboratories. Remarkable as this accomplishment is, it is rather like what shows of the iceberg, for Wilma White has been making significant contributions in her field for more than ten years at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Wilma White is the supervisor of the clinical chemistry laboratory at the Barnes Medical Center an important feature of which is the experimental, or pilot, laboratory. A staff of 20 in clinical chemistry works under the direction of Miss White, Miss Marilyn Erickson and Miss Nancy McAdam. Due to the rapid growth of the laboratory, the chemistry department is extending up and down corridors, branching off other offices, flowering into suites and going around corners on the second floor of the Service Building at the Center. Wilma's domain is so spread out yet well-concealed that she kindly provided this interviewer a personal escort from the lobby desk.

Machines as well as technicians populate the laboratories—machines that pulse and tick and whirr and breathe—forever running tests on patients' body fluids to aid in diagnosis. For certain tests, the Barnes clinic has been automated since 1958—one of the first laboratories in the country to automate—and has added more and more machines to keep up with advances in automation and with the increasing volume of clinical laboratory tests. Wilma called attention to a large wall chart showing that the number of tests run in the laboratory had jumped from 232,-677 in 1961 to a high of 298,052 last year.

A new machine soon to be installed at a cost of $30,000 will do 12 or 13 different tests at the rate of 1000 a day. Wilma told enthusiastically of the great assistance that this new equipment would be for doctors as well as patients. With faster diagnosis, the patient can be better served in less time and therefore at less expense. All admissions to the Medical Center are to be screened for a nominal fee.

Wilma White's latest "first" was the subject of an article in the January issue of the Barnes Hospital Bulletin. It had to do with a new technique in automation of endocrine analysis. In the pilot lab, Wilma, working with Dr. Sue Stevens of Jewish Hospital, developed a procedure whereby all tests being done to determine 17-ketosteroids may be run on the auto analyser, a fully automated machine. Because they had to use the machine when it was not needed for tests, Wilma and her colleague worked at night and on the week-ends, as if the project were a hobby.

Just a year ago, Wilma White was featured also in the Barnes Hospital newspaper. That time it was for developing a way to use the auto-analyser to determine protein-bound iodines in blood plasma. This test measures the thyroid function and metabolism of the body, without the use of the mask which may alarm children, old people and mental patients.

This rapidly expanding field of automated testing is moving closer to bio-physics than to bio-chemistry, Wilma explained, yet a person must know basic chemistry and technology to utilize automation. She pointed out that work in an automated chemistry laboratory puts great demands on technicians. She insists that a student know the manual methods first. It takes a technologist two to two-and-a-half years to be trained, so the laboratory cannot afford transients. Yet it is possible to qualify for Wilma White's "team" without a college degree. Two high school senior girls, honor students, were at work as we made our rounds.

Wilma holds a B. A. degree from Lindenwood, her major having been chemistry and psychology. Dr. Mary Lear, now professor emeritus of chemistry, was a strong influence in her choice of vocation. Immediately after graduation Wilma went to work in the testing laboratory of Falstaff Brewing Company in St. Louis. And from there to Barnes.

While it was college that brought out her scientific interests, her interest in things mechanical began early. During World War II, before she entered college, she took a job, much to her family's distress, as master mechanic in a defense plant.

FUND DRIVE

As the progress reports of the '65 Fund Campaign come to me weekly, I am more and more heartened at the response from the Lindenwood Alumnae. Insofar as exceeding previous year's contributions, this drive is a smashing success. To date we have received $14,406.55 from 869 Angels. However, we have quite a way to go to raise our embarrassingly low percentage, as compared with other colleges.

Forty-three Angels are charter members of the Linden Leaf Society, a very auspicious beginning for this new society. Three classes are vying for top honors:— 1949 $817 27 Angels

1949 $817 27 Angels 1932 $763 28 Angels

1927 $745 19 Angels

Our campaign is planned to run from the first of October through December; but if you have delayed in applying for "angelhood," all is not lost. Our final tally for this the 1965 Alumnae Fund Campaign will not be until mid-June. You can still be counted! Help YOUR class reach its $1,000 goal. My sincerest thanks to all you Angels, and to the Class Secretaries who wrote those many, many postcards to their classmates, to the City Chairman and their phoners who worked so diligently to make "Tel-Alum" Week a success, and to the Alumnae Council who gave their wholehearted support.

More Angels are wanted!

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

HALL OF SCIENCE OPENS

The first classes are being held in the Howard I. Young Hall of Science, with other departments of the Division of the Natural Sciences and Mathematics scheduled to move as areas are completed. Dr. Marion Dawson Rechtern of the biology department was the trail-blazer: she began meeting her classes in cultivated plants at the start of second semester in the ground floor horticultural laboratory. The new greenhouse, which is her special domain, will not be ready to receive plant materials until warmer weather. Other classes in the biology department moved to the new building the end of February.

Dedication of the million-and-a-half dollar Hall of Science is to be held on Saturday, May 14.

Hundreds of contributions toward financing the science center have come to the College in memory of the late Howard I. Young. Others had made gifts in his honor in the fall after the announcement that the building would bear his name. A list of these benefactors to date appears in this issue of The Bulletin, beginning on page 16.

Contributions for specific facilities in the building have been received from a number of foundations. The Vanneck Foundation and the Frank and Marie Louise Bailey Foundation are providing the memorial lounge on the first floor. The Ruth and Vernon Taylor Foundation is donating a lecture room on the third floor. Mrs. Earl M. Johnston, who made a substantial gift last year designating a lecture room and biology laboratory in memory of her father, Dr. Frederick Eno Woodruff, noted opthalmologist of St. Louis, has in addition provided furniture and equipment for the areas. The chemistry laboratories have been designated by the Board to honor Dr. Mary E. Lear, for many years professor of chemistry at Lindenwood, now emeritus.

RELIGION WEEK

"A New Look at Theology" was the theme of the annual Religion-in-Life Week at the College from February 6 through 9. Leader for the program was the Rev. Beverly Asbury, pastor to the College of Wooster and minister of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Wooster, O. Mr. Asbury served for three years as minister of South Webster Presbyterian Church and had been chaplain at Westminster College at Fulton before going to Wooster.

During the week Mr. Asbury gave four talks and held personal and group conferences with students. At the opening session at Sunday Vespers, Mr. Asbury spoke on "Time Makes Ancient Good Uncouth." He called for a theological revolution to meet the needs of modern living and a secular mood. He said that "old answers do not fit our experience" and that "any Christian doctrine we accept must be substantiated by our own experience." The subjects of his chapel talks on the three succeeding days were: "A Functional Approach to God," "Jesus as 'the Finger of God'", and "The Eschatological Itch."

A feature of the week was a symposium on the issues of Vietnam with Mr. Asbury, Dr. Bernard H. Baumrin, assistant professor of philosophy at Washington University, and the Rev. Daniel Lyons, S. J., of Gonzaga University at Spokane, participating. Dr. Richard F. Tombaugh, acting chaplain at the College, served as moderator.

A committee of students. faculty and administration planned the program. Donna Wittenborn, a junior who is vice-president of the day students and a member of the Student Council, was the chairman. Students serving with her were: Havala Henderson, president, Student Council; Catherine Linhart, president, Student Christian Association; Rebecca Trammell, Honor Board chairman; and Barbara Macy, social chairman. The committee included President McCluer, and Dr. Esther L. Johnson, Dr. William W. Thomas and Dr. Tombaugh, of the department of religion and philosophy; David Mulbury, assistant professor of music; and Miss Juliet McCrory, associate professor of speech.

A special display of art was hung in Roemer Gallery for Religion-in-Life Week. It included paintings from the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis, supplemented by works of two St. Louis artists, Joan Rosen and Lee Wallas.

BOARD PRESIDENT

John M. Black of St. Louis has been elected president of the Board of Directors of the College. He became a member of the Board and its vice-president last June after having served on the advisory board since 1963.

Mr. Black retired in 1965 as executive vice-president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. He came to St. Louis in 1951 after many years with the Pacific Telephone Company. Among the community organizations with which he has been associated as a board member or officer are the St. Louis Metropolitan YMCA, the St. Louis Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce, the Salvation Army, the St. Louis Academy of Science, the Museum of Transport, and the Health and Welfare Council of Metropolitan St. Louis. He is president of the trustees of Second Presbyterian Church in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Black reside at 20 Bellerive Country Club Grounds in St. Louis County.

THOMAS TO NEW POST

Announcement has been made that Glenn G. Thomas has resigned as vice-president for development at Lindenwood to go to the College of Charleston (South Carolina) as professor of political science. He will also have administrative duties as chairman of admissions. The appointment is effective June 4.

Mr. Thomas will be returning to a familiar part of the country, for he is a native South Carolinian who grew up about 60 miles from Charleston. The family will make the move early in June—Mrs. Thomas (the former Helen Young, daughter of Mrs. Howard I. Young and the late Mr. Young), and the three sons all of whom are in secondary school at present.

Holding degrees from Furman University, at Greenville, S. C., and the University of Wisconsin, Glenn Thomas will receive his Ph.D. in political science in June from St. Louis University. He came to Lindenwood three years ago, serving first as director of admissions and last year as dean of admissions.

Founded in 1770, the college to which he is going is a privately-supported, co-educational, four-year college with an enrollment of 450 students. It offers the B.A. and the B.S. degree. Its new president, who took over on March 2, is Walter Raleigh Coppedge.

SINGER WINS AUDITION

Miss Aidyl Grim, who joined the Lindenwood faculty in the fall as instructor in voice, was among the four winners of auditions held in January by the St. Louis District of the Metropolitan Opera National Council. Miss Grim is a mezzo-soprano.

The winners were presented by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on Sunday afternoon, February 13, at a special operatic concert conducted by Edward Murphy, the associate conductor. Post-Dispatch Station KSD-TV awarded each of the district winners a $50 prize and presented each singer on the station's Noon Show.

Miss Grim won third place in the regional competition held in February at Kansas City, receiving an award of $100.

The Lindenwood community had an opportunity to hear the singer in recital in Roemer Auditorium on Sunday evening, March 6.

ORGANIST IN CONCERT

David G. Mulbury, assistant professor of music, will give an organ recital on Sunday, March 20, at 3:30 p.m. in Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis. Mr. Mulbury is being presented by the Artist's Presentation Society which honored him with an award last spring.

He will play works by Liszt, Mozart, Bach, Sweelinck, and Kurt Hessenberg, a contemporary German composer. The Hessenberg work which Mr. Mulbury will play has not before been performed in this country.

DR. CONOVER ON LEAVE

The Rev. Dr. C. Eugene Conover, dean of the chapel and chairman of the department of philosophy and religion, is on sabbatical leave this second semester to complete a book for Westminster Press. Tentatively entitled "Personal Morality in an Impersonal World," it will be addressed to the general reader and will discuss the moral problems of the individual and both Christian and philosophical ethics as they bear upon these problems. The ethics of the relations between the sexes as well as questions concerning honesty and personal integrity is among the subjects to be presented. This work will be published in the spring of 1967. Dr. Conover's earlier book, "Moral Education in Family, School and Church," described the present moral and religious situation in American colleges and universities.

The Rev. Richard F. Tombaugh, Th. D., of the department of philosophy and religion, is acting chapplain for this semester.

GRIFFIN OUT IN MAY

The Griffin, Lindenwood's literary magazine, will be published in May and distributed to all students enrolled in the College. Alumnae who wish to purchase copies may do so by writing to the Alumnae Office or returning the following order blank. The cost is $1.00 per copy.

The magazine includes the best imaginative writing done on the campus during the year, or sent in by former students or faculty. Manuscripts are selected for publication by a student staff directed by Dr. Agnes Sibley. The editor this year is Cheryl Ogden.

The staff believes that the 1966 issue will be one of the best in recent years, as much more poetry has been written by students than ever before—the increased interest in poetry writing being largely due to the presence of Miss May Sarton on the campus as Poet-in-Residence during the first semester.

The forthcoming issue will also include, for the first time, four pages of prints done by students in the art department.

LANGUAGE AIDES

The international group on campus has been enhanced by the arrival of two young women to assist in the modern language program. They are Maria Luisa Ortega of Monterrey, Mexico, and Michelle France Gernet of Strengelbach, Switzerland. Both are here under the National Foreign Language Teacher Aide Program operated by Amity Institute at Eau Claire, Wisc.

The program, which is now in its third year, brings German-, Spanish- and French-speaking men and women to colleges in this country to teach without salary for limited periods. Miss Ortega and Miss Gernet are looking forward to staying through the second semester at Lindenwood, which is the first assignment for both. The young women are assisting for at least 15 hours a week, Miss Ortega working in the language laboratory with students of Spanish, and Miss Gernet assisting French students in the laboratory and German students twice a week in the classroom.

In addition to providing room and board for the visitors, the college admits them to classes. Maria is continuing her study of French, and Michelle is taking the course in world literature in order to advance in her English.

Michelle would like to stay in the United States to teach German and French. She holds a license as a teacher from the college at Aarau, Switzerland, and has been teaching elementary school for more than three years.

Maria, however, intends to return to work in the high school chemistry laboratory of the Instituto Tecnologico at Monterrey. She holds a B. A. degree, with a major in industrial chemistry, from the Labastida University in Monterrey.

A Reader's Digest Foundation Scholarship Fund has been created at Lindenwood College with the presentation of a check for $2500 from the foundation. The interest from these funds is to be used for scholarships each year, for needy and worthy students. In expressing appreciation of this gift, President McCluer pointed out that Lindenwood's aid program includes self-help opportunities, and loans, as well as scholarship grants. He also noted that those who receive grants must file confidential financial statements with the College Scholarship Service at Princeton, N. J., to establish need for financial aid.

The Esso Education Foundation has made an unrestricted grant of $2500 to Lindenwood College, under a program to spend $2,348,000 in support of more than 300 colleges and universities for 1965-66. The Foundation is supported by Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and several of its affiliates including Humble Oil and Refining Company, Esso Research and Engineering Company, Esso Production Research Company and Humble Pipe Line Company. The grant was made with the suggestion that it be set aside as a small presidential contingency fund to meet the cost of an unbudgeted educational project.

OUTSTANDING ALUMNA DIES

Mrs. Arthur J. Krueger of Webster Groves died of heart disease at St. Joseph's Hospital in Kirkwood on January 9. She had been active until she entered the hospital a few days before.

Marguerite Urban Krueger attended Lindenwood College in 1905 and 1906 when it was a two-year college and remained always a loyal alumna. She began the club work for which she was to win wide recognition by serving in 1930 as president of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association (then a member of the Eighth District, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs). She later was president of the St. Louis Lindenwood College Club.

For her services to college and community, Mrs. Krueger received the Alumnae Certificate of Merit at the College in October of 1962. The St. Louis Lindenwood Cub awarded her a similar certificate the following May.

Marguerite Krueger made an enviable place for herself in the area as president of the Eighth District, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs. She was keenly interested in the conservation of natural resources in the state, an interest out of which grew the Marguerite Krueger Conservation Club. In her honor, 5000 pine seedlings were planted at Rock woods Reservation, now a towering forest bearing her name. During World War II, Mrs. Krueger gave more than 5000 hours of work each to civil defense and the USO. Through her efforts, rationing certificates for sugar and shortening were made available to women's clubs to bake cookies for servicemen. Mrs. Krueger and her husband gave a great deal of time over 20 years to the Volunteer Films Association, Inc., and were together active in the restoration of the Henry Shaw home as an historical point of interest in the Missouri Botanical Gardens.

For her wide-ranging community service, she was named a Globe-Democrat Woman of Achievement in 1959.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Marcrander of St. Louis, a grandson, William Marcrander, and three sisters—Mrs. Lillian Urban Straszer of Orlando, Fla. (Lindenwood '08), Mrs. Edna Ward of Palm Springs, Calif., and Mrs. Karl Erd of Chicago.

MEMORIAL GIFTS RECEIVED

A memorial gift has been received from the St. Louis Lindenwood College Club in memory of Marguerite Urban Krueger, '06, who died January 9.

A memorial gift has been received from Dorothee Meyers Walling in memory of her husband, Robert M. Walling, who died September 25.

A gift has been received from Mrs. Herbert Levy (Barbara Wexner, class of '47) in memory of Peter O. Fleet, father of Joyce Fleet Silver (Mrs. Maurice J. Silver, 310 Chapel Bell, Houston, Tex. 77024). Joyce graduated from Lindenwood in 1952.

Additional gifts to the Peggy Proctor Larkin memorial student loan fund have come from:

Betty Gray Proctor (Peggy's sister)

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hutchins (Phyllis Verplocg

Jerry Oppenheimer Hoxton (Mrs. Kenneth) '45 Mrs. Robert D. Neubecker

1946 1956

North, South, East and West—all former Lindenwood students — come and join us, Alumnae Reunion Day, May 7, 1966.

Just looking at the picture of Lindenwood the last 19 years we see our theme, "Stairway to the Stars." It is our privilege to honor Dr. and Mrs. McCluer for their "lovingly administered leadership and unprecedented progress at Lindenwood."

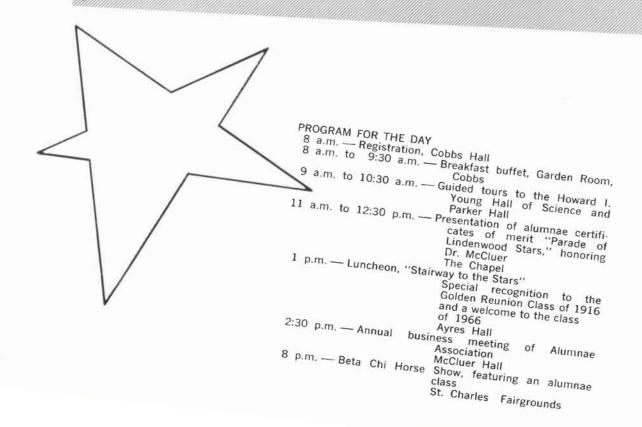

Activities will begin with a registration breakfast in Cobbs Hall. Each returning alumna will receive a surprise gift presented by the Kansas City club. Hester Hayes Crawford is chairman of this project. Lindenwood College students will escort you through Parker Hall and the Howard I. Young Hall of Science.

At 11:00 a.m. the Alumnac Certificate of Merit Awards will be presented in the chapel followed by a "Parade of our Lindenwood Stars" to perform for you. You must see the new addition to the dining room in Ayres Hall. Here we will enjoy a colorful luncheon and honor the special reunion classes. After the Alumnac Association meeting in McCluer Hall, let's stroll on the campus, chat with old friends and view the Senior Art Exhibit in Roemer Hall. Don't forget the Beta Chi Horse Show Saturday night. Come on, enter the special class for Lindenwood Alumnac. Who will take home the first trophy given by the Alumnae Association???

Won't you contact your friends and make your plans? This year is a "must" to return to the campus. We hope to see every alumnae club represented this year.

A program and reservation form will be mailed in April. Reunion Day fee is 5.00. It will be a lovely, wonderful day. See — Hear — "The Stairway to the Stars."

Hope you'll be with us. Rosanna Veach Bruere, '40 Alumnac Reunion Chairman, 1966

CINCINNATI

Zilpha Curtin The Cincinnati Lindenwood College Club met on Saturday, December 18, for a Christmas Brunch. Pictured at the table are Zeke Curtin, '55, and Scrita Humphner Inglis, '54, who are serving as co-chairmen of the club.

Hostesses were Mrs. Paul Herriott, Ir., and her LC sophomore daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. William Jackson with her freshman daughter, Chris. Among the 27 guests in attendance were two girls, Mary Lee Block and Susan Cotabish, who are registered as freshman students in September, and their mothers, Mrs. David Spritz Jr. and Mrs. John Cotabish. Sandy Young McKee deserved the prize for the one who came the farthest, from Columbus, Ohio, to attend. The guest speaker was Miss Jane Wainright, then Alumnae Secretary, who spoke to the group concerning "Lindenwood Today." 'Cindy-Lindy'' awarded a door prize, won by popping red and green balloons. A Christmas gift was presented to each Current student in attendance.

Last October, Edwin Saye, Area Admissions

Counselor, met with Lisa

Leonard

Baldwin, Zeke Curtin, Pat Gardiner, Vera Langenbacher Hutcheson, Serita Humphner Inglis, and June Burba Mullins, to discuss ways in which the area alumnae can best serve the admissions staff.

Present plans are for a dinner April 4 in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer. Invited guests will include husbands of the alumnae, high school guidance counselors, prospective students who have made formal applications to the college, and their parents.

DALLAS

The Dallas Club held its annual Christmas reception, December 29 at the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan in Preston Center. Dr. and Mrs. McCluer were our guests of honor. Among the invited were prospective students, their parents, and alums and students already attending Lindenwood who acted as hostesses along with the officers of the local club. Mrs. Maxine Brown was present to chat with the interested students and their parents.

Officers present were: Mrs. H. R. Sherrow (Kay Fryfogle, '59), president; Miss Mary Rankin ('59), first vice-president; Miss Ferol Finch ('59), second vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Jones (Margaret Burton, '48), recording secretary; and Mrs. William Townsend (Doris Gwin, '45), treasurer. The Lindenwood hostesses were: Miss and Miss Ellen Epstein. New officers will be elected at the spring meeting.

KANSAS CITY Betty Hunter Shannon (Mrs. W. E.) Publicity Chairman

Members and invited guests of the Kansas City Lindenwood Alumnae Club, the Mothers' Club and students from the college attended a Christmas brunch at the home of Mrs. John H. Collett (Arlene Herwig) on December 18. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. George Arbuthnot nostesses were Mrs. George Arbuthnot (Dorothy Heimrod), Mrs. Dan Blount (Wilma Gladish), Mrs. Arthur Jones (Nell Henninger), Mrs. John Tomcak (Jacqueline Brickey) and Mrs. William Weeks (Frances Metzger). Miss Elizabeth Clinton, harpist, gave a program.

OKLAHOMA CITY

The Oklahoma City Lindenwood College Club held its annual holiday brunch on December 29 at the Quail Creek Country Club. Forty-four were present for the brunch. This included 26 alumnae and 17 guests, among them the girls now attending Lindenwood and prospective students. Mrs. Mildred Alexander, our area representative, was introduced by Mrs. Rex E. Morton (Margaret Doumany), our president. We are all looking forward to Dr. and Mrs. McCluer's visit in February. At this time we will have a tasting luncheon in the home of Mrs. G. R. Zachritz (Jerry Chandler).

> ST. CHARLES Donna Drury Hafer Correspondent

The St. Charles club in September heard Fred Baue speak on the restoration of the first capitol building of St. Charles. We enjoyed a dinner meeting at Fellowship Hall on the campus in October. William Bauer of McDonnell Aircraft spoke on the space program. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. McCluer, Dr. Clevenger, and Dr. Conover.

The club held a card party in January at which $336.27 was cleared. This will go toward the scholarship fund at the college. Chairman was Pat Prinster Nolle and co-chairman was Kathleen Stafford Raiche. On the committee were Sally Siemssen Schaefer and Maisie Ahrens Keeser. We do want to thank the College for allowing us to use Fellowship Hall. Not only did the Lindenwood alumnae support the party in grand style, but so did St. Charles. For the February meeting, Louise Thomson gave a marvelous book review and the Lindenwood student movie was shown. Hostesses were Lessley Colson, Helen Culbertson Beste, Carol Linhart Westerfield, and Florence Bloebaum Null.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
The Pan American Room at the Statler-Hilton Hotel was the scene of a brunch that the Washington area alumnae sponsored in mid-January for Dr. and Mrs. McCluer. Nearly two dozen high school counselors in the area attended. They had been invited by Mrs. Dorothy Farrell, Lindenwood's east coast representative, who had galloped down in her Mustang from Princeton, N.J., for the occasion. As is usual with the Washington group, states and the District were represented. Coming perhaps the greatest distance, from Virginia, was Marilyn Mitchell Thoren who lives in Annandale. And from Beltsville, Md., fully 20 miles from the District, came Margaret Lu Tso, who brought Mrs. McCluer a lovely gardenia corsage grown in her home.

Dr. McCluer described various innovations in curriculum and new buildings either under construction or recently completed. Alumnae and counselors had an opportunity to ask questions which Dr. McCluer and Mrs. Farrell answered.

Patsy Price Bailey closed the brunch with a few words about Dr. McCluer's presidency and our appreciation of his visits with alumnae in the Washington area. We can only hope that his reply -that he and Mrs. McCluer will visit us after retirement—will come true.

Alumnae present were: Margaret Lu Tso, Joyce Kayarian Duke, Marilyn Mitchell Thoren, Nancy McDaniel Schneck, Barbara Mogg, Janet Bergelin, Patsy Price Bailey, Katherine Jacoby, Eleanor Mauze Bray, Cora Lee Critchfield Gillilland, Diane Stanley and Sara Jefferson Stukenbroeker.

ST. LOUIS

David G. Mulbury, assistant professor of organ and director of choral music at Lindenwood, gave a magnificent organ recital of classical and romantic music for the club and guests on January 17 at Ladue Chapel. A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Mulbury followed. Hospitality chairman, Janet Holl Bruns, was assisted by Patricia Arnold Wood, Ester Middendorf Kredell, and Harriette Hudson Ritter.

We are saddened by the death on January 9 of our loyal club member, Mrs. Arthur J. Krueger (Marguerite Urban, '06), who so faithfully attended our meetings and also served as a president of our club. Folsta Bailey Gibbons, club president, announced that a gift had been sent to the College in her memory.

We are looking forward to our meeting March 21 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bruns (Janet Holl). Election and installation of officers will be held. We shall be honoring all past presidents of our club, with our most honored guests—Dr. and Mrs. McCluer.

The final cultural program of the year will feature Arthur L. Kanak, artist-in-residence at Lindenwood, who will show a selection of his work at the Painters Gallery, 3806 North Euclid ave., May 16 at 1 p.m. Alumnae in the area are invited to attend and bring their friends.

Congratulations are in order to Mrs. Sidney A. McClanahan (Nancy Alvis, '56) of Kirkwood on her appointment as Alumnae Secretary of Lindenwood.

Dr. and Mrs. McCluer were honored at meetings of four alumnae clubs during February.

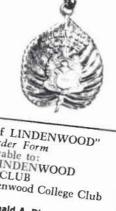

The Tulsa Club entertained them at a dinner meeting February 11 with a narrative skit written by Sally Dearmont Hovis and Helen Boyd Ostroff. They were guests of honor at a tasting luncheon sponsored by the Oklahoma Folsta Bailey Gibbons, Miss May Sarton, and Mrs. Betty Brown of the St. Louis County Library accepting the autographed book of Miss Sarton's poetry, presented November 15.

City Club at the home of Jerry Chandler Zachritz on February 12. The San Francisco area alumnae held a luncheon for them February 19 at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. Later that day they were guests of honor at a dinner meeting of the Southern California Club in San Francisco.

They will visit the Cincinnati Club April 5 for a dinner meeting. The final visit on their schedule will be with the Kansas City Club on May 12.

NEW ALUMNAE SECRETARY

Nancy Alvis McClanahan, class of 1956, took over as Alumnae Secretary on February 1. Miss Jane Wainright, who had been since fall conducting the alumnae office at the same time that she was director of the News Bureau for the College, asked that she be relieved of this double responsibility.

Nancy McClanahan and her husband, Sidney, who is sales representative for a tobacco company, live in Kirkwood with their six-year-old Bill.

Lindenwood College has been a favorite activity for Nancy: she served for two years as secretary of the St. Louis Lindenwood Alumnae Club and was chairman of Alumnae Reunion Day in 1964.

As an undergraduate, Nancy was active on campus.

She was vice-president of Student Council, an officer of the Student Christian Association, on the Social Council, and on the hockey team for two years. She was a psychology major.

After graduation, and marriage the next December, Nancy worked as a librarian in the radiology department of Washington University Medical School. She and her husband had a happy year at Williamsburg, Va., while he was stationed with the U. S. Army at nearby Ft. Eustis and she worked for Colonial Williamsburg at the Williamsburg Lodge.

Nancy has been active in the Methodist Church as a Sunday School teacher and as a circle chairman of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. 06

The class extends its sympathy to the family and friends of Marguerite Urban Krueger (Mrs. Arthur J.), 229 Kerruish pl., St. Louis, Mo., who died Jan. 9 after a short illness. Special notice about Mrs. Krueger appears on page 13 in this issue of The Bulletin.

Pearl Finger Stewart (Mrs. William C.) has recently moved into Tower Grove Manor, St. Louis. She writes: "We are delighted to be here with no more moving and welcome our Linden-wood friends." Their address there is 2710 So. Grand blvd., Apt. 402.

Her two daughters are married, one living in Latham, N.Y., and one in San Antonio, Tex. Her mother is still living in Joplin, Mo. Carol asked about several of our former classmates. Among them were three we have no addresses for: Thelma McCov Pearce, Christine Young Flinn and Mary Margaret Ransom Simpson. If any of you have any knowledge of these girls please let us know. Carol also said she ran into Lillian Hubert Rushford several years ago and she recognized her. This is rather good for our group. Not too many years ago Fayetta Wright Crookham appeared at my door and for the life of me I could not have named her and we have sent yearly Christmas cards ever since 1923. Fayetta is still teaching. Carol's address is 18 N. 17th st., Fort Smith, Ark.

Ruth Harbaugh Chapin (Mrs. W. Luke) sends word that "We moved into a new home this year after living in an old large home we had remodeled for 17 years. Luke and I adopted two boys (brothers, aged 1 and 3 years) after being married 18 years. They are now 12 and 14 years old and I am quite busy with them, also PTA, church and civic activities. Luke is an attorney and has two offices. It would be nice to see some of the girls who were at Lindenwood." Ruth's address is Box 148, Medicine Lodge, Kans.

Eloise Worthington Calvert (Mrs. E. Preston) writes that she married soon after leaving Lindenwood — Sept. 7, 1935. Her husband, E. Preston Calvert, is Vice-president Public Relations, Pullman Standard Division of Pullman, Inc. The family lives in Michigan City, Ind., but Mr. Calvert commutes daily to his work in Chicago. Eloise writes: "I am a homemaker at heart I guess for I have been primarily interested in my home and family. I have, however, always found time for church work, fund raising drives, etc. Having put in my time and held offices in the active chapters

I am now a member of the Associate Chapter of Kappa, Kappa, Kappa (Indiana sorority) and a Sustaining member of the Service League of Michigan City. I also served on the Board of Directors for the Women's Symphony and am a member of the St. Anthony's Hospital Guild." There are two daughters in the family: Nancy, 26, graduated from Lindenwood in 1961. She has recently moved to St. Louis after teaching in Michigan City since graduation. Jane, 18, is now a junior at Lindenwood. Eloise and her husband reside at 916 Pine st., Michigan City.

The class extends sympathy to Mary Coulter Bell (Mrs. Harold E.) on the death of her husband who was killed in an automobile accident in May of 1965. 25th REUNION May 7

The class extends sympathy to Elizaboth Parrish Van Hoose on the death of her husband, Max, who had a fatal heart attack on Dec. 7. Besides Betty, he is survived by three children. Betty received a Certificate in Costume Design in 1939, and at one time was president of the Tulsa Lindenwood Club. She helped plan the first big Alumnae Weekend with Sally Dearmont Hovis, '44, and she and her husband were both here for the occasion. Betty lives at 4724 S. Madison, Tulsa, Okla. 74105.

Miriam Wedeking Gilmore (Mrs. Richard P.) writes "I wish I could see the campus again-it must have changed tremendously since we were there. When we moved to California ten years ago we stopped for a while and I was so glad for my husband to see Lindenwood. Since our marriage we lived in Europe, then three years in Havana, Cuba, three years in Caracas, Venezuela, and for the past ten years we have been in Menlo Park, Calif. We have two boys, Terence and Gregory. Terence is a senior this year and Gregory, a sopho-more. I do enjoy reading about old friends in the Lindenwood news." Joyce Burge Waters (Mrs. A. C.) writes that after many years as a career girl (secretary to Vice-President, Sales, for TWA and then Admissions Office head secretary for Pomona College), she married Art, and now has two children, Diane, 5, and George, 4. Art is a talented tenor who spent ten years in "show biz" in New York before returning to his native California, where he tried his hand at a chicken (egg) ranch. As a consequence, they live in the country in a lovely oak-andsycamore-filled canyon. Art has given up the chicken raising, however, and turned to social work, and Joyce is thinking of launching into some outside activity herself. She misses the business world! The Waters' reside at 4931 Webb Canyon rd., Claremont, Calif.

A Christmas card brought a note from Dixie Smith Ferry (Mrs. Hugh A.) a classmate who had been lost and who found through the good offices of Maurita Estes Stueck. Dixie says she is glad to be found and is still more than interested in Lindenwood. Dixie's husband, also a retirce from military service (Air Force), is a tax consultant. Dixie teaches piano five afternoons each week. Their older daughter, De Ette, was married last summer, but they have 11-year-old Merridy to keep things lively at home.

Dixie is still singing-in her very active church choir, which presents a major work every month. Dixie's address is 8614 Cushman pl., Alexandria, Va. 22308.

Elaine Anderson Fellowes' John E.) three children are all in college. Peter is a senior at Colgate, Jamie is a sophomore at Denison, and Mary is a freshman at Wellesley. She says she leads a "typical but delightful life" in the suburbs. Now that the children are grown, she and her husband do more of the things they enjoy. This includes golf on Sunday afternoons and attending the symphony in Chicago, where they happened to meet Rita Stiefel Kaufman (Mrs. Maxwell E.), and her husband, Rita lives at 9307 N. Springfield, Evanston, Ill. Elaine and her husband are at home at 827 N. West st., Wheaton, Ill. 60187.

Becky and Byron Mann

Peggy Lindsay Mann (Mrs. D. M.) taught Spanish and English for a couple of years after graduation, then married Mouzon while he was a chaplain in the Navy. After the War they lived in Little Rock and in Warren, Ark. For five years now, her husband has been District Superintendent of the Arkadelphia District of the Methodist Church. Peggy says Arkadelphia is "Utopia," a college town with excellent schools for their adopted children Becky, 11, and Byron, 8. They live in a beautiful wooded area, "complete with ravine, birds, and squirrels." Peggy says she is a typical mama: Den mother, home-room chairman, children's choir sponsor. As a minister's wife, she also has quite a bit of entertaining to do, but finds time for her hobbies: reading, bridge, and nature study with the children. The Manns' address: P. O. Box 528, Arkadelphia, Ark. 71923.

Janey Rasdal Kuska (Mrs. Milton) writes: "We're very college-minded in the family this year. Our son David is a freshman at Cal State at Long Beach. We see him very often. I myself have almost completed a course in proto-history at UCLA; the lecturers have been a series of renowned archeologists and historians and they have made each session thrilling." Janey's address is 7708 Cowan ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

We have a new address for Marianne Fauber Clarke (Mrs. Douglas P., Jr.) 7319 Hohman ave., Hammond, Ind. 46324.

Walter Heilman III

Marilyn Mangum Heilman (Mrs. Walter, Jr.) sent me a note at Christmas with this picture of her handsome son, 16-year-old Walter III. Her husband, Walter, is acting head of the romance language department at the University of Tennessee. She is active in many Art Education Associations, plus starting on her M.A. at East Tennessee State U. this past summer. She is teaching art and American history, and is an alternate on the Democratic precinct committee. Here is a direct quote from her letter: "I hope the class of '47 is 100% in its donations to L. C. (the amount isn't as important as the participation.) If we don't back our College, who else is going to?—I urge all of us not to wait until we are millionaires, but send something now, even if it is only a dollar! That counts, too." Marilyn's address is 5609 Pinellas dr., N. W., Knoxville, Tenn. 37919. So all of Marilyn's buddies get busy and write

I would like news from the rest of the '47ers! And by the way, don't forget that May 7 is Alumnae Reunion Day.

Marie Koch Brundige (Mrs. John C.) 535 N. Edgewood ave. LaGrange Park, Ill. 60528 Our ever faithful "pen pal" Casey

Our ever faithful "pen pal" Casey Jones Ancker keeps us posted on her doings in Europe with this note—"The pace gets faster and I get slower. We had a delightful ten days in England in June—London Bridge to cricket, polo and veal and kidney pie. Stayed with a British military friend so really had a ball. Have been to Rothenberg and Nürnberg this fall to see fairs and yearly programs that date back 300 and 400 years." Casey still has that monumental address of c/o Lt. Col. Jack P. Ancker, 037217, Log. Div., Hq. USAREUR, N. Y. 09403.

These charming children with their mother's vivacious smile belong to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fairchild. I doubt if there is anyone who was on campus from '45 to '47 who doesn't remember gay, fun-loving Linda Fee Fairchild. The Fairchilds' address is 11024 Greenbay dr., Houston, Tex. 77024.

Received a letter from Shirley Williams with some happy news and some sad news; but, alas, no new address. I had been in touch with Shirley via her most thoughtful and conscientious mother, and I was so saddened to learn she had passed away. Our sincerest sympathy to Shirley. At the time Mrs. Williams and I had our delightful correspondence, Shirley was recovering from open heart surgery and was a busy executive director of the Rockland County Heart Assoc. A short time later she was married. Our very best wishes to vou and your husband, Shirley. Until I hear from her giving me a new address, you can write to Shirley Williams Murphy at Riverhouse, N. Broadway, Upper Nyack, N. Y. 10960.

Broadway, Upper Nyack, N. Y. 10960.
Among the many Christmas cards came one from Evelyn Sanders Baily (Mrs. Walter) with a new address. It is now 1917 Daugherty dr., Shawnee, Okla. 74801.

I was delighted to hear from Billie McDonald McGuire after many, many years. She writes, "Upon leaving Lindenwood in '47, I worked in Kansas City for two years, first for Nelly Don and then Mid-Continent Airlines. Lou and I were married in '49. He is a livestock feed salesman. A good business in this part of the country. Fortunately, as we are blessed with six children, three of each. Pat is 15 and a freshman, Colleen, 13, twin girls Julie and Jane, 11, Kurt, 8, and Bart, 6. The highlight this year was moving into our new home. I have had my scrapbook out from Dr. Dawson's Cultivated Plants course, making plans for the yard come springtime." Billie's address is Mrs. Louis P. McGuire, Wisner, Neb.

Received a brief note from Mary Alice Sanders sending praises (thank you) and promises to write. We are patiently waiting for the letter, Mary Alice. She is a career gal in Washington. Her address is Wiltshire Crescent Apts., 3801 Connecticut ave., N. W., Wash., D.C.

A change of address is in order for Doris Fay Cadle (Mrs. James). It is now Route 3, Box 414, Springfield, Mo. 65804. We reported on Doris and her busy family about a year ago. Well, they are busicr than ever. Jim, her husband, who traveled for Bauer & Black, now owns and operates a wholesale business in Springfield. He handles operations and Doris manages the office. Our condolence to Doris who lost her father a year ago.

Do you know that one of our '49er's is president of that lively St. Louis Alumnae Club? I suspect it is all the livelier with Folsta Bailey Gibbons at its helm. Folsta is Mrs. Michael Gibbons of 106 N. Fillmore, Kirkwood, Mo. 63122.

So nice to hear again from Peggy Vilbig Landtroop. Peg has ten more units to go to finish her Master's. She went to Hawaii last summer. Said she enjoyed it immensely, but it would have been much better if all those tourists hadn't been there at the same time. Then she and her two sons, Joe, 12, and Steve, 10, went back to Texas for a visit and to see the fabulous Houston Astrodome. Peg's address is 14367 San Esteban dr., La Mirada, Calif. 90638.

Joe and Steve Landtroop

Ann Ball Haymes had a busy '65 moving to a new home. From northerners they became southerners. Sperry Rand offered Ruth Ann's husband a transfer to their new Space Support Division. They have had great fun remodeling their new home which is high on forested Monte Sano in Alabama. Among other things they moved the kitchen—lock, stock, and sink from the upper to the lower level of their split foyer home. Now that takes a little doing! Their new address is 3513 Maedr., S. E., Huntsville, Ala. 35801. The Haymes have three children—Christi-anna, 19 months old, Lee, 31/2, and Mark, a second-grader.

I get such enjoyment from having a going correspondence with my many old faithfuls, but when my persistence pays off and I hear from some of the delinquents, I am really delighted. "I have put off writing you in hopes something simply stupendous would happen, but nothing ever does; so perhaps had just better check in to say hi!", writes Jo Anne Sagaser Harkins. (Get the hint, gals?) "The children are now 12, 6, and 5-two boys and one femaletwo in and one out of school. I indulge in all the necessities of their respective ages—scouts, camps, dancing classes, etc." Housekeeping occupies most of Joan's time. However, she belongs to an art group, is vice president of a garden club. (Gardening is a real challenge, she says, in the up and down terrain of West Virginia.) She is in the process of illustrating a volume of verse for a local poet and doing various types of art work for friends. Her husband, Robert, is vice president of production in a company he helped found five years ago. It has been a challenge and an opportunity to bring employment and industry to an underdeveloped area. The Harkins' address is Forest Hills, Fairmont, W. Va. "I still hear from a lot of my friends from Lindenwood, but over the years have lost track of so many that I would love to see and hear from them again."

St. Louis, Mo. 63124 Carolyn White Finke and husband, Wesley, have moved into a new home at 8884 Woodpark Drive, St. Louis, Mo. 63127.

Jean Knox Barklage (Mrs. Marlin) writes: "I recently resigned my position as Assistant to the Director of Riveredge Hospital, a private psychiatric hospital, to take a part-time job as a psychiatric case worker with the local county court. In May we are expecting a baby. My husband, Marlin, better known as Min to our L.C. friends, who was Lindenwood's first full-time male student back in '55-'56, is Director of Personnel at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital. He was recently elected president of the Chicago Hospitals' Personnel Managers Assn." The Barklages live at 329 Scott ave., Glen Ellyn, Ill. 60137. Charlotte Vandrell Collier (Mrs. Joe E.), 1293 Fifield pl., Commonwealth Terrace, St. Paul, Minn. 55108, writes, "After graduating from Missouri Univ., I taught vocational homemaking for nine years taking time out to marry in 1955 and to do a few hours of graduate work along with husband, Joe, at Iowa State U. at Ames. Then we had our family all at once! Jerry 4, John 2, and Sally, 1, take my full undivided attention now. Joe is back in school—this time at Minn. Univ. working toward his Ph.D. in entomology. He plans to do college teaching upon completion in one or two years. It truly would be fun to get together sometime, but I'm afraid that is impossible for me for a four that is impossible for me for a few years. In the meantime, I enjoy the Lindenwood Bulletin and keep my old yearbooks convenient to identify a name with a face."

Found one lost letter from "Pete" Eavey Moore (Mrs. Billy) dated Dec. 1, '64. Sorry, Pete. She writes, "It would be wonderful to see some L.C. girls again. We moved into a new house last spring.

"My husband being a contractor, we haven't quite completed it yet. This job comes last. But we are very happy with it. The children, Georgiann, 12, and Jocy, 5, like it, too. I'm just a housewife, but I like it that way. I paint a lot and hope to have some classes in another year. Also play a lot of bridge and do the usual P.T.A. club work." The Moores' new address is 1001 Highland dr., Harrisonville, Mo.

Camilla B. McCluer, 307 Jay, Denver, Colo. 80226, writes, "I have been teaching art in the Jefferson County School District here in Denver for the past six years. I have two elementary schools. This is a very fine system, outstanding in Colorado and known across the nation. I love Colorado but tore myself away in the summer of '64 for two months when I went to Italy and spent seven weeks in Florence studying Italian and art and wearing out shoes trodding over the stones of that historic, art-filled city. For those who have been there who could forget the Petti Palace, the Piazzall Michelangelo, the River Arno at sunset,—well I could go on and on but that's enough."

LET'S PLAN TO HAVE A GOOD TURN OUT FROM THE CLASS OF '53 AT ALUMNAE DAY, MAY 7, TO HONOR DR. AND MRS. McCLUER.

54 The class extends sympathy to Yu Chen Li Lin (Mrs. Tien H.), 767 Dunwoody dr., Springfield, Pa., whose husband died suddenly on Dec. 8.

Had a news-filled letter from Sally Thielbar Quinnelly (Mrs. Charles). Sally and her husband spent several years in Alabama while her husband finished law school at the university and Sally worked at the Alabama State Hospital. There he practiced law for two years and she had her own kindergarten in the beautiful Tennessee Valley. They are now in their home state at Starkville, Miss., where Charles is teaching at Mississippi State University. Sally is working for the head of the Dept. of Petroleum Engineering and working on her M.A. in psychology—(she received her B.A. in same from Washington Univ. in 1954). They have three children: Ray Allison, 9, Charles Thielbar, 7, and Edward Hilpert, 1. Sally is interested in organizing an alumnae group in her area, so please contact her if you live near Starkville. Her address is 307 Louisville st., Starkville.

Marian Toosic Stoerker sent a letter instead of Christmas cards from Jerusalem where she is spending the year studying. After a three-months' course in spoken Hebrew, she is now concentrating on the Hebrew language itself and on Aramaic and Biblical archaeology and has begun course work in English at the American Institute. With about 10 other students she lives together with the director of the school in the heart of Jerusalem, making many field trips to excavated sites.

May 7 Keep the letters coming and I'm expecting to see all of you come May 7,—Alumnae Reunion Day—It's our 10th year, gals, so let's come back to the campus in full force and honor Dr. McCluer.—He retires in August, Sure hate to see him leave. Start making your plans now so you'll be sure and be here! Marilyn Mitchell Thoren, husband Gunnar, and their two children are now living at 3810 Pleasant Ridge rd., Annandale, Va. Gunnar is vice-president of a bank there. Jennelle Todsen Robertson, who lives at 3507 Indian Lane, Doraville, Ga. 33340, was in Washington, D.C., for Thanksgiving and spent an evening with Marilyn and Gunnar. Would like to have been with them-Marilyn, Jennelle and I went from the 6th grade all the way through college together.

Janet Lewis Bornstein (Mrs. David) is most anxious to be active in an alumnae group in the upper New York state area. Interested alums may contact Janet at 7 Prospect Drive, Sidney, N.Y.

Jane Lacy Ard (Mrs. Owen Samuel) writes "How I do look forward to reading the Lindenwood Bulletin! Wish I could be on campus and visit with those friends and faculty I remember so fondly! However, four little ones prevent my going very far out of sight for the time being anyway. Since graduation I have worked off and on at my vocation, physical therapy. My husband, Sam, and I are both active in our church and I have a Campfire group. Besides his many civic responsibilities, Sam is learning to fly. But most of our time is taken happily in raising Anne, 9, Sarah, 7, Sam, Jr., 4, and James Carl, 15 months. I'd be so happy to hear from any L.C. alums whose husbands might be stationed at Fort Sill." Jane's address is 713 N. 36th St., Lawton, Okla. 73501.

Carol FitzRoy Saum sends word that she and her family have returned to the St. Louis area where her husband, George, has taken a position as a scientist in the electro-optics laboratory at McDonnell Aircraft. Their three children are: George FitzRoy, 7, Suzanne Elizabeth, 5, and Allen Windsor, 4. The Saums reside at 1315 Saint Bernadette In., Florissant, Mo. 63031.

Ann Carlisle Boltz writes, "After spending many hours the past six years as a Girl Scout and community volunteer I have retired and am enjoying doing just what I want for a season or two. I enjoy our church circle and Lawyers' Wives Association. Outside of these activities my time is spent caring for my husband, Dick, the boys and our plump dachshund, Trina." Ann's three boys are Paul, 5, Tom, 4, and John, 2. They reside at 242 Floral, Green Bay, Wisc.
Jeanie Rule Evans, former class sec-

Jeanie Rule Evans, former class secretary, has forwarded a letter received from Janet Lee Brooks. Janet and her husband reside at 3025 Dale Ann dr., Louisville, Ky. 40220, and have three children: Michael David, 6, Jane Ellen, 4, and Stephen Herbert, 8 months. Janet's husband is in the insurance business. They are both very active in business. They are both very active in their Temple.

Sue Parker Burgdorf sends word that she has gone back to school. She is working on her Master's and a teaching certificate at the University of Missouri at Kansas City. In addition to being a student, a minister's wife, mother of three children—Erik, 9, Dirk, 5, and Rachel,-Sue and her husband, Larry, are confirmed campers. Last summer they camped through Colorado, Wyoming and the Black Hills. Next summer they hope to go to Canada. The Burgdorfs reside at 13500 Spring ave.,

Grandview, Mo.
Nancy Barkwell Elmer has a new address: 864 Lookout Point dr., Worthington, O. 43085. Nancy and Neil have a new home in the country and just love it. If any of you gals in the Columbus area are interested in getting a Lindenwood Alumnae Club started, please contact Nancy. She has been looking for some LC alums.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Goodman (Beverly Harrington) of 560 Warburton ave., Yonkers, N. Y. 10701, announce the arrival of Jennifer Sue on Dec. 28, 1965. She joins 21/2 year old Jonathan and I year old Lizbeth. Jennifer was born in Normandy, Mo. while the Goodmans' were on an extended Christmas visit with Mrs. Goodman's parents in St. Charles.

Dot Thomas Essick writes that she and husband Ed have three children: Chuck, 9, Ted, 7, and Susan, 4. Their address is 600 Crestview dr., Johnson City, Tenn. Dot sends word that our classmate Carolyn Crouch is married to a dentist and lives in Bristol, Tenn. She has two boys.

Ann Smith Downs of Route 5, Box 359, Magnolia, Ark., writes "I am an avid reader of the L.C. Bulletin. I keep meaning to write and get lazy. I have four children now: Richard, 10, Cathy, 8, Will, 6, and Patrick, 3. I didn't have enough to do so enrolled in our local college to finish my education. I love it, but haven't a minute to call my own. I'll get my B.S. in elementary education next January. I'd sure love to be at L.C. next May."

Had a note from Barbara Hiebert Foley! She and her husband have two children—Paul, 4, and Ann, 1½. They reside at 317 Hampton rd., Wichita, Kans.

A welcome letter arrived from Ann Thomas Munroe who with her husband, Dr. Ogden N. Munroc, resides at No. 11 Fairview, Springfield, Ill. 62707. They are proud parents of Thomas Kelly, born Nov. 29. Thomas was premature, weighing only 3 lbs. 14 oz., but he is getting along beautifully. Ann and her husband moved into their new home on Lake Springfield last June.

Word comes from Nancy McDaniel Schneck that she and her husband, Mary, had a glorious three-weeks vaca-tion last fall visiting Istanbul, cruising through the Greek islands, sightseeing in Athens and Delphi and winding up in Paris. Nancy and Marv reside at 6714 Persimmon Tree rd., Bethesda, Liz Schnurr Schwartz writes that she and Lou are finally permanent residents at 5571 Bellevue, La Jolla, Calif. She says, "The shingle is out and we are still cating. We've bought a big old Spanish house with great charm and in need of repair, but we're enjoying working on it." Ann Ashcraft Whiting's four children.

Ann Ashcraft Whiting, 2810 Spindle Lane, Bowie, Md. 20715, writes: "I've covered a lot of ground since I left LC as I married a career officer in the Army, We had a wonderful experience from June 1959 to June 1964 when we were stationed in Europe. First we were in Poitiers, France, and in August of 1962 we moved to Heidelberg, Germany. Since we've been back in the states, Lew has been stationed at 2nd Army Headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md. We have four children—Luanne, 9, Lisa, 7, Lizbeth, 4½, and finally a son, Mike, 1. I must say that I have my hands full. My sister Keni Beall, is at LC this year-a junior transfer from Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. She's my sister, but also my adoptive daughter. We adopted her six years ago and she spent two-and-a-half years in Europe with us. I would love hearing from old classmates and would also like to get in touch with the Alumnae Association in the Washington, D.C. area."

Don't forget to mail your check for the Alumnae Fund Drive. It's still not too late. See you in May. Nancy

Carol Gardner Transou (Mrs. Bedford T., Jr.) 2707 Citico ave. Chattanooga, Tenn. 37406

First, a note from me. Several of you who have written have asked what I was doing besides being class secretary! I am still in education—but working this year as a resource teacher for the Chattanooga Public Schools. I am responsible for the selection of materialsbooks, movies, filmstrips, etc., that relate to the curriculum. Last summer, because of my experience in teaching in a desegregated school here, I was asked to speak at two Institutes of Desegregation at the Univ. of Mississippi. Late in the summer, I was one of five persons involved in the writing of a pamphlet for Phi Delta Kappa on teaching in a desegregated class. My husband, Bedford, was ordained to the Methodist ministry in July after completing the required three years of service. He is continuing to serve as Campus Minister at the University of Chattanooga.

Now a word to you-I know there is plenty of news, so send it on! We would be happy to have pictures—sharp black and white snapshots are fine. Let's keep each other informed!

A pre-Christmas note from Barbara Hollabaugh Gustafson revealed that her children-3-year-old Mark and 11/2year-old Lynn-were anxiously awaiting Christmas. Barbara, too, was enjoying the holidays especially since her twin brother, Bobby, and his wife had come from Alaska to be with them in California. Barbara's address is No. 6 La Bolsita Way, Orinda, Calif. 94563. Shirley Noland Turner included much news in her annual and greatly-anticipated Christmas letter. They are living at 5607 Roberts dr., Dunwoody, Ga., near Atlanta. Shirley works for an advertising agency and her husband, Charles, at an automobile agency in Atlanta. Charles is an Aston Martin owner and enthusiast—and Shirley sounds just as enthusiastic about the antiques she collects.

Marcia Jones was married to Robert A. Currie on Feb. 12. The Curries reside at 2107 Meadow dr., Lindenhurst, Ill. 60046. After receiving her B.A. at Lindenwood, Marcia received an M. S. in psychiatric social work from the U. of Missouri, She worked two years at Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center in St. Louis, and then for two years at Dingleton Hospital, Melrose, Scotland. She has been for the past year on the staff of the Mental Health Center in Springfield, Ill. Robert is a native of Scotland, but is now a consultant to Basic Electronics in Grayslake, Ill. After receiving a note from Marcia, I telephoned her-she was my former suitemate at Cobbs-and found out they had met in Scotland.

A newly-engaged member of our class is Sydney McFarland. Sydney's engagement to William D. Hunter was announced in January by her parents. They have already purchased a home in Rolla, Mo., where Sydney owns and manages a knit shop.

Peggy Anne Achelpohl was married to Frank A. Brown on July 24 in St. Charles. Peggy Anne received her B.S. and M.A. from Kirksville State Teachers College, Kirksville, Mo. 45225 Mrs. Richard Berry (Sue Potter), American Embassy, Baghdad, Iraq

Finally, I wish we could publish all of Ann Stewart Posner's Christmas letter from Japan. Ann and Alan, the head of the department of anesthesia at the largest Air Force hospital in the Pacific, and their two children, Debbie, 31/2, and David, 11/2, have already been there a year and are certainly en-joying it. They've traveled all over Japan and have also been to Okinawa and Korea. Before returning to the states in August, they plan to visit Southeast Asia and climb Mt. Fuji. Ann has taken lessons in Japanese, painting, and flower arranging-and of course, she mentions the wonderful shopping and the sheer joy of living in Japan. Their mailing address is USAF Hospital Tachikawa, Tachikawa Air Base, APO 323, San Francisco, Calif.

Julie Orr Van Woert (Mrs. Edwin D.) 265 Graemere lane

The Warren boys

Betty Layton Warren writes that she and her husband are still enjoying the Ozarks, "Roy is geophysicist for Hanna Mining Co. We never know about moving, but will be here some time I expect. I couldn't resist sending this pic-ture of our two boys." The Warrens' address is Rt. 1, The Boulders, Ironton, Mo.

Wonder why there's not news of more of your classmates? It's because they haven't written!! Maybe they'll be on campus May 7 for Alumnae Reunion

Day??????

Kay Dunham Wilkinson (Mrs. Maurice L.) 416 Panhandle st. Denton, Tex. 76201

All your letters and cards at Christmas were a joy. I hope to get them all answered soon. A friend from Chicago on assignment in Tokyo has had several opportunities to visit with Hiroko Fujiwara Egawa (Mrs. Hiroshi Egawa), 60 Sanyacho Meguroku, Tokyo, Japan, and writes that Hiroko's husband and two children are delightful. Hiroko is teaching her children English as well as Japanese, and they have accomplished some nursery rhymes and songs.

The next news deadline for the sum-mer Bulletin is May 9 and I am expecting to hear from many of you.

Lily Trautwein Crocker (Mrs. John C.), 2452 Chaucer, St. Louis, Mo. 63114, is now working at Countryside Montessori School as an apprentice and plans to open her own Montessori School next fall. She hopes to take courses in Italy next summer.

The Litterers

Marilyn Wilson Litterer (Mrs. Charles Litterer) received a delightful Christ-mas present a little early. "Thomas Ed-ward was born Dec. 9. Charles has accepted a call to a challenging field in Kentucky. He will serve two mission churches, one in Henderson, where we will live at 507 N. Elm st., 42420, and one in Owensboro, which is about 30 miles away." The proud Litterer family is pictured.

Kelly Burke

It was good to hear from M. Charlyne Grogan Burke, 10225 Earl dr., St. Louis, Mo. 63136. "I'm teaching art and arts and crafts at the junior high level in the Riverview Gardens School District. Teaching is a wonderful challenge and I'm enjoying it tremendously. I'm taking additional education courses at the Normandy Branch of Missouri University. Being so busy, I can't guarantee prompt answers to letters from class members, but would love to hear from any who have the time and inclination to drop a line.

The Christmas greeting from Barrie Bowen Shinn (Mrs. Lyle Shinn), 872 N. Merrill, Park Ridge, Ill., contained a picture of the Shinn children, Bonnie and Billy.

Laura Jean, the second daughter of Linda Winegarner Worth (Mrs. Roger P. Worth), arrived in February. The Worths live at 1720 Gresham rd., Louisville, Ky. 40205.

Barbara Larson Shouse (Mrs. Robert Shouse) writes: "Bob is still working long hours (weekends, too), but he thrives on this work. David is rapidly recovering from a tonsillectomy.

plan to have a good Christmas here with Dad, then we'll fly to Missouri for a week or so in January." The Larsons' residence is 2551 Circle dr., Painesville,

O. 44077

Sally Miller Perdue (Mrs. Jack Perdue, III) recently wrote to announce the arrival of the Perdues' second daughter, Rosemond Russel, born Jan. 15. The Perdues reside at 1205 W. 36th, Pine Bluff, Ark.

Peggy Roberts Moore (Mrs. James D. Moore) recently wrote: "Jim has two more years at Campbell's Clinic. Jimmy and Donna keep me on the go constantly. We are going to an orthopedic convention in Chicago in January." The Moores reside at 1424 Timothy ave., Whitehaven, Tenn.

Betty Owens MacGregory (Mrs. Donald MacGregory) and her husband have been residing at 437 Homestead ave., Metairie, La. 70005, and had a busy 1965, especially during the time of Hurricane Betsy. "We had very little damage, just some tiles and slates on the roof and our banana tree, which was sprouting again in a few weeks. We tried to spend time in the worst hit area cleaning up and distributing cleaning materials. One of our churches still hasn't been found."

Planning a new home has kept Sally Brasher Lowther (Mrs. Edward J. Lowther) quite busy. "We moved into our own home in September. It is a delight and definitely an experience. I got to a point that blue looked like green—red looked like pink, etc. But now that we're finally in and unpacked, life is almost too normal." The Lowthers' address is 609 67th st., Downers Grove,

III. 60515.

Linda Cotton Jennings (Mrs. Stephen O. Jennings) is once again a resident of Texas, residing at 1703 Springwell, Houston, Tex. 77043. "Humble has transferred Steve back to Houston, and we're delighted. We've bought a house, so I suppose I'll be very busy for the next few months with curtains and gardening."

"Since the arrival of Chuck in June, things are really jumping around here, writes Carol Durham Henderson (Mrs. Monroe Henderson). "We moved into a larger house and immediately filled it up. Donna is in school this year, so we're all slaves to the clock. With tail feathers, I could pass for a road run-ner." P. O. Box 523, Jacksboro, Tex., is the Hendersons' current address. Shirley Lee Fitzgerald (Mrs. David Fitzgerald) writes that on December 15, one minute after midnight, Katherine Ann arrived. "In his new job as flight engineer in the testing department of United Airlines, Bill had flown to Seattle that morning, but made it back about 45 minutes before Katie was born. Our boys are quite impressed with their new sister even though Patrick insists that Katie is his brother. David at 41/2 is quite the grown-up helper. Patrick will dute the grown-up helper. Patrick will be 3 in February and is a walking accident." Shirley's address is 2641 Holland st., San Mateo, Calif. 94403. Susanne Combe Doty (Mrs. Charles R. Doty) of 3014 St. John Court, Col-umbus, O. 43202, recently advised: "In June my husband and I moved from Benton, Ill., to Columbus. Our move was due to the fact Chuck received a Federal Research Grant to work on his doctorate at Ohio State University. We wish to announce the arrival of an adopted daughter, Jennifer Ann, on Dec. 14. We love being back in a university town and find Columbus an interesting place to live. While in Benton I taught the first and second grades for five years. I began substitute teaching in Columbus, but stopped when Jennifer arrived.

A long letter recently came from Meg Lewis Cardella (Mrs. Ronald Cardella), in which she brought us up to date on the happenings in her household. November, 1964, we purchased our first home in a suburb of Omaha. Mary Margaret was born December 25, 1964. Thomas Lewis will be 4 on Feb. 28. After moving into our new home, we were unexpectedly transferred in July, 1965, to Ft. Dodge, Ia. Ron returns to the Omaha office in January, and we follow February 15, when our home is once again available to us, at which time our address will be 8229 Castelar, Omaha, Nebr. Ron is employed by the largest mechanical contractors in the world, Natkin and Co. My spare time is taken up with sewing, bridge playing and philanthropic organizations. However, I give all of the above up to spend the summer months on the golf course."

Judith Crispell Damerval (Mrs. Frank Damerval) writes: "We've been in Sacramento almost five years. Frank is with Aerojet working on the NERVA project. Stacy, 6, and Laurence, 15 months keep me busy. Since San Francisco and Lake Tahoe are 100 miles away (on either side), we certainly are enjoying the area." The Damervals reside at 5812 Eastridge dr., North Highlands Colif lands, Calif.

"We flew to Salt Lake City over the Thanksgiving holidays to visit old friends," writes Sarah Loden Buffum (Mrs. Robert Buffum), "It snowed three of the four days we were there and Bob was able to ski one day. Michelle dearly loves the snow." Sarah and her family reside at 2227 Greenbriar dr., Phoenix, Ariz. 85023.

Mary Margaret McLeod Brown (Mrs. Alex Brown) attended L.C.'s Vesper Service before Christmas, which made her very nostalgic, remembering all the fun we had while students. The Browns' residence is 267 Elm ave., St. Louis, Mo. 63122.

Sandra Hairston Brown (Mrs. Bill G.) is working for the Oklahoma State Welfare Department, and wrote at Christmas that "Bill is busy, busy, busy. Diane's main concern at present is the number of packages under the Christmas tree. I'm taking two weeks of my vacation the first of January and we plan to take Bill's parents back to Arizona and we hope to get to Las Vegas for a few days." The Browns' address is Box 589, Nowata, Okla. ADDRESS CHANGES:

June Tavlin Lake Forest College Lake Forest, Ill. 60045 5th REUNION

May 7 Helen Rank Huntley and husband, Bill, took a group of college students to Switzerland last summer on The Experiment in International Living. They spent time along Lake Zurich, hiked in the Alps and then ended their stay in Berlin where they felt face to face with the cold war. Bill is chaplain at Westminster College (Fulton, Mo.) and Helen is taking graduate work. Their address is 323 West Sixth st., Fulton,

New addresses: Peggi Hite Kercheval (Mrs. John), C-103, 3838 Pontchartrain dr., Slidell, La. 70458, and Linda Markuly Szilvasy, 2107 Lloyd st., Bellewick No. 1026 69005 vue, Neb. 68005.

Wanda Wear Woolen wrote on her Christmas card, "I plan to go to LC in May for Alum weekend—Will you be there?" I hope so. Wanda lives at 3860 Donaldson dr., Chamblee, Ga.

I received a most happy snapshot of Tracy Anne, daughter of Bill and Kay Worth Howwing (born Oct. 29, 1961)

Worth Hoewing (born Oct. 29, 1961), Kay says that Tracy should be called "Willina" because she looks so much like Bill. Bill has established practice as a general practitioner in Sutherland, Neb. The Hoewings reside in Suther-land, Neb. 69165.

Cleaning out a magazine rack caused news to come from 644 Ponderosa, Hurst, Tex. 76053. Sara Cook Lewis writes of a daughter, Saundra Carol, born Aug. 25. Sara tells proudly of her husband, Jim, who is a radar controller specialist with Federal Aviation Agency. In 1965 Jim was named "Controller of the Year" for the Ft. Worth-Dallas area and won a merit award for sustained superior performance.

Seventeen performances of "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves" kept Gay Pauly Bryant busy during December. That along with being on the board of the Alton Children's Theater, in charge of the church bazaar, and buying a new house have slightly delayed her hopes of forming an alum club for the area. She still hopes to get one started-any volunteers? Gay's address is 2804 Ridgedale dr., Godfrey, Ill. 62035.

A note from Sue Allender McCullah. She and Don are still in Akron temporarily (after 3½ years) where he works for Goodyear. They have a daughter, Sara, born Nov. 15, 1964. Sue's ad-dress is 1135 Saxe ave., Cuyahoga Falls, O.

From Peru comes word of Diana Macurda Warren whose husband, Bob, and his brother have a ranch 90 miles south of Lima. They went to Peru after a year at the American Institute of Foreign Trade in Phoenix. Diana and Bob were "stateside" in November and were proudly showing off their son, Robert Mitchell, who was born May 29. Diana's address is Apartado 7, San Vicente de Canvete, Peru, South America.

A newly built farmhouse, a large garden and a lovely wee valley are home for Margie Faeth Frankenbach. She works as an extension home economist for the University of Missouri and has clients ranging from illiterate Negro women to television audiences. Her husband, Wendell, is a dairy farmer, an organist, and a crop enumerator with USDA. Their address is Route 2, Palmyra, Mo. 63461.

Carol Elam Green has been quite busy since her last correspondence. She adopted her husband's two children, David (5) and Susan (4). Then on Sept. 24 she had a baby boy, Steven Robert. Carol hopes to attend reunion (remember it's our fifth) and see lots of '61ers. She and Bill live at 10311 N. Sun Swept, Creve Coeur, Mo. 63141.

I did get to see Stevie Harms Smith (Mrs. Alfred H., Jr.), 4229 Via Valmonte, Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., while I was in California. We quickly discovered that LC friendships can weather the time and distance.

Now, how does one tell her own news sensibly? I am engaged to be married (in late August) to Stanley Dean! He works for the YMCA in California, so California here I come.

June P. Tavlin (Miss for now)

Sally Sicks Hart (Mrs. Ronald E.) 382 Church st. Apt. D-5 Smyrna, Ga. 30080

The response to my postcards has been wonderful, and I hope the same has been true with the alum fund drive. Every day I learn more about our class of 1962 when another letter arrives. Our girls have been very busy these past few years and several have done a lot of traveling. Please keep your grand letters coming so our news in the Bulletin can always be as interesting as it is for this issue.

The Harts have been busy with Ron going to school parttime and Sally working parttime during the Christmas holidays for one of the department stores in Atlanta. Karen Hart is now 101/2 months old and running all over the house keeping her parents on their toes. I have a few new addresses:

Patricia Ann Crosier is now Mrs. Pa-tricia Crosier Johnson, 945 18th st., Des Moines, Ia.

Miss Caroline Drane is now living at 5110 Skyline dr., Mission, Kans. 66205.

Mary M. Warnecke was married to Craig Hull on July 23, 1965, in a private ceremony. They are now living at 1549 Meredith, Cincinnati 31, Ohio.

Hermina Lambrechtse Wood (Mrs. Harry A.) with her two sons, on a recent visit to the campus.

Mary Hughes McCue was married Dec. 27, in the Chapel of the First Christian Church of Amarillo, Tex. Her husband is Maurice S. Brookhart and they reside at 22846 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, Calif. She is now teaching at Santa Monica High School.

Sally Davis and John Kozup were married in the summer of '65 and are now living at 7601a Hazelcrest, Hazelwood, Mo. 63042.

Carolyn Jurgensen was married Dec. 26 to Raymond E. Bohlmann of St. Louis. Ray graduated in 1961 from the University of Missouri in Rolla with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. He is now employed at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. as a Strength Engineer and is currently working on his Masters Degree in Engineering Mcchanics. Carolyn is teaching fifth grade in the Fer-guson-Florissant School District. Carolyn and Ray are living at 8880 Torch Walk, Apt. B, St. Louis, Mo. 63136. Loene Zuber Bowlin (Mrs. Robert) writes that she and Bob have just moved into their new home at 4001 Tamworth rd., Fort Worth, Tex. In addition to doing substitute teaching, Loene is also a student at Texas Christian University in order to get a Texas certificate.

Sue Thurman Scott (Mrs. Richard) is a computer analyst for Control Data and travels a great deal, according to word received from Loene Zuber Bow-lin, who visited Sue last spring. Rich is also in computer research. The Scotts reside at 5928 Corning avc., Los Angeles, Calif. 90056.

The big news from Maryjane Austin is that she became the bride of Richard E. Messmer, Jr. on May 1, 1965. "Dick is a systems analyst with one of the country's largest banks and is also energetically finishing some schooling. My career as a professional field adviser with the Girl Scouts of Philadelphia could not be more exciting, challenging, or stimulating." Prior to scouting, Maryjane was Assistant to the Director of the Reading-in-Industry Program at Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia. Maryjane's address is The Westbury, Apt. 1406, 271 S. 15th st., Philadelphia, Pa.

I received a very interesting letter from Betty Tyree Osiek (Mrs. E. H.) the other day. Betty is presently writing her dissertation at Washington University which is titled "A Stylistic Study of the Poetry of José Asunción Silva." Betty will receive her Ph.D. in romance languages in June. She has applied to six area schools as instructor or assistant professor.

"This past summer we left St. Charles around July 13 with our main destination as Colombia. I wanted to soak in some of the atmosphere of Bogotá, the native city of Silva and to do some work in the National Library there. We were going by car all the way if possible. We were able to visit Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, and Costa Rica by car, spending a few days in each country and visiting the capitals . . . We spent a week in Panama . . . then flew on to Colombia and spent ten days there. Although my work in the library was profitable it was quite uncomfortable since the library was built in the 1700s and had no central heating of any kind . . . We arrived back in St. Charles on Labor Day after spending another week in Mexico." Betty's address in St. Charles is 2534 Sibley.

Ginny Vanice Hahn (Mrs. David A.) writes that there is a new member in their family. Christian Martin Hahn was born June 4, 1965. "With mixed emotions, we are awaiting the day when he and the cat will tear around the house together." The Hahns live in Richfield, Minn. which is a suburb of Minneapolis. "David is working for an engineering service firm and still plugging away at night school." Ginny would like to hear from any LC alums in her area. Her address is 6637 Sheridan ave.,

So. Richfield, Minn.

Jerry Pat Miller (Jerry Harrison)

writes that her husband, Bert, is in marketing and she is teaching speech in a new junior high school in Midland, Mich. This past summer the Millers traveled thru Europe visiting friends and sightseeing. In Munich they ran into a former LC girl, Judy Hale. Their favorite countries were Denmark and Austria, and they want to return there again some day. The Millers reside at 502 Eastlawn, Midland, Mich. 48642. Mari Ryan Dysart writes that her girls are really growing up. Patty is 19 months old and "turning into a real talker which she comes by naturally. Joanie is 8 months old and what Mari calls "our fat, happy blue-eyed baby." "Bedtime is quite humorous. Joe and I sit in the living room quite amused at the 'conversation' and banging of cribs but they (amazingly enough) fall a-sleep quite quickly." Mari's address is 1340 N. Main st., Apt. C-10, Wheaton, III.

Sandra Allen has reported to me about her activities since graduation. "I have taught Home Ec. here at Princeville for the past three years. This year I am guidance counselor at the school and serve as head of the Home Ec. de-partment. I am still teaching a senior level Family Living course which falls under the Home Ec. department." Sandra received her M.A. degree in guidance and counseling this past August from the University of Denver. She hopes to start on her Ph.D. in guidance and counseling in September

"While teaching Home Ec. I became quite active in the Section Future Homemakers of America. I have served as Section Adviser to the girls in that group. This year I was elected as chairman of the Home Ec. Teachers of this section. As a result of that job I am also on the Board of Directors for the Ill. Vocational Homemaking Teachers Assn." She is also very active in the III. Ed. Assn. She says "I think Mr. Van was perfectly right in getting us interested in SEA in college for it does carry over when you become a professional. You may write to Sandra at Princeville

High School, Princeville, Ill. 61559. Barbara Boland writes that after graduating from Oklahoma State in 1962, she worked in Tulsa. During the summer of 1963, she took a European tour which was very interesting and fun. Barbara then worked as a secretary for Phillips Petroleum Co. until the fall of 1964, when she enrolled in the University of New Mexico and secured a teaching certificate. At the present time she is a counselor for the New Mexico Security Commission. Barbara's address is 956 C Louisiana NE, Albuquerque, N.M.

Shelby and Lucy Hammond (Lucy Schweickhart) are both very busy these days going to Southern Illinois Univer-Edwardsville campus, part time working on their Master's degrees. Shelby is taking his work in administration and Lucy hopes to graduate in June with a M.S. in education, "I work part time —about 20 hours per week—as a Fundamentals Instructor at Belleville Jr. College Dept. of Nursing." Lucy closed by saying "I do so enjoy the Bulletin by saying "I do so enjoy the Bulletin and eagerly look for its arrival." The Hammonds reside at 117 N. 32nd st., Belleville, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stephens (Judy Sutera) are the proud parents of Jeffery Douglas born October 10. Judy writes that she is kept very busy with Jeffery. Their address is 6856 So. Cook Way, Littleton, Colo. 80120.

Mrs. Gary Hays (Sharon Niedner)

and her husband who is a captain in the Air Force are the parents of a second boy, Jonathan, born September 7. Jonathan joins at the Hays' home, Greg who is four years old now. The Hays' have been stationed at Beale AFB near Sacramento since August, 1964. Sharon would like to hear from any LC girls that live in the area. The Hays address is 3404 Delmar dr., Beale AFB, Mary Gibson Dodson (Mrs. Richard) writes that they have been transferred to Fontainebleau, France, from their former home in Leghorn, Italy. "Fontainebleau is only about an hour outside of Paris so we plan some trips to see that grand ol' city. The town right here is so interesting and full of historical things and places to visit that it might take us a while to see everything.' The stork will be visiting the Dodsons right around Christmas. Mary says 'Linda has twice the energy her mother has but is a pretty good child and lots of fun." Their address is c/o Lt. R. M. Dodson, 293rd Sig. Co., APO, New York 09011.

Linda Lowry Conley (Mrs. Allen) writes "we are buying land in Ballwin in St. Louis County with the hope of building our own home in two or three years." Linda is keeping busy these days with two children, Larica, 21/2, and Drew, 1. She is also helping initiate a new kindergarten program in the Rockwood District. The Conleys visited her former roommate, Pam Brooks Jennings ('63) this past summer in her home at Dulce, N. M. Linda's address is 1231 Field ave., Ellisville, Mo. 63024.

Mary Moehlenkamp reports she is "still on the 'bachelor-girl' list." She is working at Deaconess Hospital in St. Louis as Obstetrical Supervisor on the Maternity Ward. "Was pleasantly surprised to meet Mary Lou Reed Roussel there having her second baby in October." From the reports from the rest of our class, I'm surprised she hasn't run into more of the former LC girls.

Mary's new address is 8519-D Titch-field ct., St. Louis, Mo. 63123.

Franc and Nancy Buhler (Nancy Lou Baker) moved to 2927 Grinstead dr., Louisville 6, Ky., this fall. Franc is going to Baptist Theological Seminary and Nancy is teaching 4th grade in a private school. In August they went to Bloomfield, Conn., to visit Bev (Bohne) and Carter Rogers and their baby boy, Steve. Bev and Carter had just moved into their new home.

A long letter was received recently from Lou Thomas who is now Mrs. Barry L. Kelley, 330 W. Brambleton ave., No. 1505 Norfolk 10, Va. Lou says that she was graduated from the Univ. of Houston and while there she did a children's program on KPRC-TV. She then moved to Dallas and did free lance TV and some modeling before returning to Houston in 1963. There she was a secretary for an independent oil operator.
