ON THE COVER

New and familiar scenes and faces during fall registration, which began September 14.

President to Retire

Dr. Franc L. McCluer, who is serving his nineteenth year as President of Lindenwood College, has announced that he will retire as of next August. He made the announcement to the faculty at the opening meeting in the fall term and to the students during the first week of college.

Now 69 years of age, Dr. McCluer will have completed 50 years in education when he leaves Lindenwood. He has seen the college grow from a student body of 500 to its present enrollment of 800. Dr. McCluer estimates that he has presented diplomas to more than a thousand graduates at Lindenwood. Under his administration the Chapel has been erected, three new dormitories—Cobbs, McCluer and Parker—have been opened, and the science teaching center is nearing completion.

Dr. McCluer began his teaching career in the high school at Fulton, Mo. Two years later he joined the faculty of Westminster College at Fulton and became its president in 1933, serving in that capacity until 1947. It was during his presidency, in March, 1946, that Sir Winston Churchill visited the college and delivered his famous "Iron Curtain" speech.

Dr. McCluer's A. B. and M. A. degrees are from Westminster, and he holds his Ph. D. from the University of Chicago. Four colleges and universities have conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

While he says he has made no plans for his retirement, Dr. and Mrs. McCluer expect to continue to live in St. Charles.

A committee of the Board of Directors under the chairmanship of Admiral Sidney W. Souers has been named to seek a successor to President McCluer. The other members of the committee are: William H. Armstrong, John M. Black, the Reverend W. Sherman Skinner, D. D., the Reverend George E. Sweazey, D. D., and Mrs. Horton Watkins.

May Sarton

POET - IN - RESIDENCE

"Now I become myself. It's taken
Time, many years and places;
I have been dissolved and shaken,
Worn other people's faces
Run madly as if Time were there,
Terribly old, crying a warning,
'Hurry, you will be dead before—'
(What? Before you reach the morning?
Or the end of the poem is clear?
Or love safe in the walled city?)"

from "Now I Become Myself,"
Cloud, Stone, Sun, Vine,
(W. W. Norton & Company, 1961)

The poet must be himself, transparent and vulnerable, May Sarton, Poet-in-Residence at Lindenwood, believes. Articulate and warm, Miss Sarton is ready to voice her convictions in informal conversations as well as in class. She has come to work with students in creative writing, specifically in the writing of poetry. She herself has published six volumes of verse, a volume of sketches for an autobiography, and nine novels, the most recent of which, "Mrs. Stevens Hears the Mermaids Singing," appeared the week after she came to the campus. Miss Sarton is also an experienced teacher who has taught at Harvard University and at Wellesley College, as well as at the Boulder and Breadloaf writers' conferences. She is equally well known as a lecturer on poetry who has appeared in colleges all over the country.

Being at Lindenwood is not a new experience for May Sarton. She came to the campus first in the forties when the late Dr. Alice Parker was chairman of the English department. In 1962 she again spent several days at Lindenwood on the invitation of Dr. Agnes Sibley with whom she has kept in close touch.

Asked what she hoped to be able to accomplish with her students in ten weeks—she is here only until Christmas—Miss Sarton replied, "I would hope to help them to become more aware, to understand more clearly what they really feel and think (there is more thinking to the writing of poetry than is usually presumed), and to experience at least some of the joy there is to be found in being able to translate thought and feeling, and their marriage, into a work of art."

She believes that, while the poet must open himself to suffering more than other people, as well as to joy, he has the ability to endure excessive emotion because he has in poetry the tool to use his feelings to a great purpose. The writing of poetry actually affords the student the opportunity to integrate thinking and feeling, Miss Sarton went on, unlike most of academic life which requires him to divorce thinking from feeling.

If the young writers find out what they really feel as opposed to what they ought to feel, if they learn about themselves, if they can say with her Wellesley students, "you've taught us to be honest", then Miss Sarton will feel that she has accomplished a great deal. She is not convinced that the student of today is without emotion, as "cool" as he may at first pretend to be. She does not believe that it can ever be said of youth that it is unfeeling. "Of course," she hastened to add, "the students I come to know are the ones who have signed up for a course in the writing of poetry and can never be the unfeeling kind." Still, in her opinion, the detachment of young people, deplored by many who care about them, has gone as they face the Negro problem and Vietnam. They are now willing to become involved.

For Miss Sarton, the writing of verse is not only a way to explore one's feelings, but one of the best ways to examine life. If she could, she would inject poetry like a disease into all young persons, so that they would feel it is a part of life and would read it to their children as her mother read it to her.

"I am only beginning to know what I was taught
As a child about poetry, about life, about myself;
It takes a long time for words to become thought,
For thought, the slow burner, to burn through
Into life where it can scorch the palm of a hand,
When what was merely beautiful or strange
Suffers the metamorphosis, the blood-change,
Looks out of eyes or walks down the street,
All that was abstract become concrete,
And part of you like an eyelash or your hair.
You say 'Poetry' and mean you have been there."

from "After Teaching,"
The Lion and The Rose,
(Rinehart and Co., 1948)

The poet believes that the best way of learning about poetry is to "possess specific poems", and the way to possession is to read them aloud, to one's self, many times. In her classes, poetry is always heard, poems chosen by the students, her work, their own work. She is requiring weekly exercises of the students, but these she is quick to say are not expected to be true poems. The poems will come as a by-product of the assignments, perhaps, if the "little ideas have been fertile enough." "A course in the writing of poetry," according to Miss Sarton's prospectus, "is essentially a course in the art of self-criticism, a course in how to revise almost indefinitely without losing your enthusiasm or the poem in the process." For May Sarton the writing of verse is "the severest discipline." She may work a poem through as many as 60 drafts until "it stands like a rock." Believing that "revision is creation," she has given this title to the last of her class sessions. The preceding subjects are "The Function of Image," "The Challenge of Metaphor," "The Sound of Sense," "Tone and Tone of Voice," "The Place of Meaning," "The Disciplines of Free Verse," "Form as Release," and "Translation, a Means to Isolate Form."

While she is committed to painstaking composition, Miss Sarton does not believe that the poet can be deliberate about willing to make a poem, as the novelist can be about writing a novel. "I can tell you about a novel," said Miss Sarton, "that I am planning to start a series after I leave Lindenwood, that it will have to do with my town of Nelson, New Hampshire, that I expect to spend ten years in writing it, that it will be in five parts. I could never plan to write a poem at a given time or place or about a given subject." No more can the poet say where he will get his ideas, Miss Sarton went on. "The material may come from almost anywhere. From my evening walks here in this lovely town, past the red brick houses, under these wonderful trees, which give me the feeling of the heartland. Ideas come from a peculiar kind of awareness, an intensity, which can come, of course, from being in love. Travel can give this same kind of intensity, because when you are in strange places, you're peeled of certain things." Miss Sarton travels widely, most recently to India, Japan and Greece, a trip which was the inspiration of a new volume of poetry, "A Private Mythology," to be published early in 1966. She sees America with the curiosity and wonder, still, of a European, for while she actually grew up in this country, she is the daughter of an English mother and the distinguished Belgian historian of science, George Sarton.

"Here in the center of America where it is always noon,

On the secure sidewalks of the typical town,
I go alone and a stranger, a haunted walker,
Full of self-questioning and wonder,
Waiting for the speech, for the word
To break the tension like a clap of thunder,
'How can the books be broken to yield the dynamic answer,
And we embody thought in living, as does
the dance, the dancer?'"

from "Campus,"
The Lion and The Rose,
(Rinehart and Co., 1948)

While she is here in "the heartland" does she expect to be able to compose? Miss Sarton was asked. Probably not, because all her imaginative power is going into her students. She finds it next to impossible to teach and write at the same time. For this reason she is willing to teach only part of the year, as she is doing at Lindenwood.

Actually teaching is dangerous for the poet, Miss Sarton believes, because of the temptation, almost the necessity for the teacher to be absolute. And being absolute is, in her view, a denial of the poetic spirit.

"For to be desperate is to discover strength.
We die of comfort and by conflict live,
Who grow in this knowledge till at length
We find it good, find it belief enough
To be anguish alive, creating love."

from "Take Anguish for Companion,"
Cloud, Stone, Sun, Vine,
(W. W. Norton & Company, 1961)

The lecture tour is even more dangerous, she feels, because it robs the poet of the chance to see anything happen to his audiences. She will never "just lecture," but insists on staying for at least three days in order to meet her audiences off the platform. Otherwise, she says, she would become just a showman, as has been the fate of some other contemporary poets. Indeed, she refuses to do anything that does not enrich her own life, because she feels a responsibility to her own talent. "You can only give what you are."

While she is at Lindenwood, Miss Sarton does plan to read and discuss poetry with interested groups outside her class. On Tuesday evening, November 2, at 8 p.m., she will read from her new book, "A Private Mythology," in the lounge of the fine arts building. She has also accepted the invitation of the St. Louis Alumnae Club to speak at the St. Louis County Library on Monday, November 15, at one o'clock.

Miss Sarton cares very much about teaching young women, for she believes in the power of women. They have to center things, she said, they are the roots and rootedness of life. If woman crumbles, the whole edifice collapses. Everything she does is more serious for her, Miss Sarton is convinced, because her mistakes are more devastating to her psyche.

"For it is surely a life time work,
 This learning to be a woman.
 Until at the end what is clear
 Is the marvelous skill to make
 Life grow in all its forms,
 Is knowing where to ask, where to yield,
 Where to sow, where to plough the field,
 Where to kill the heart or let it live;
 To be Eve, the giver of knowledge, the lover;
 To be Mary, the shield, the healer
 and the mother."

from "My Sisters, O My Sisters,"
The Lion and The Rose,
 (Rinehart and Co., 1948)

Miss Sarton works on revision with students.

"ANTIGONE"

A performance of "Antigone", in the version by Jean Anouilh, was presented on October 7 by the Cleveland Play House Touring Unit. The tragedy played to a capacity audience in the auditorium of Roemer Hall. The Greek saga of Oedipus and his doomed family achieved a contemporary relevance in this adaptation and Lewis Galantieri's translation was fresh and colloquial. The company gave a brilliant, moving performance. The Cleveland Play House, of which it is a travelling unit, is an established professional resident theatre, celebrating its 50th anniversary this season.

THE 139th YEAR

Lindenwood College began its 139th academic year in September with an enrollment of 802, almost 100 more students than composed the record enrollment of 1964. Of these, 345 are freshmen on the campus for the first time. The largest number of students come from Missouri, Illinois has the next largest representation, and Arkansas and Texas are tied for third place.

A number of students have come from overseas, some of them United States citizens, but most of them citizens of the countries from which they have come to Lindenwood. On campus are young women from Canada, Canal Zone, Cuba, Greece, India, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Netherlands, Persian Gulf, Puerto Rico, Sweden, and Venezuela—in some cases more than one girl from a country.

Twenty-nine of the freshmen were recognized as honor scholars at a convocation September 23. The students so honored either ranked in the upper five percent of their high school graduating class or scored 700 or above on the verbal or mathematics scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board.

DR. CLEVENGER AS DEAN

Dr. Homer Clevenger, who has been chairman of the Division of the Social Sciences at Lindenwood since 1961, has been appointed vice-president and dean of the college for 1965-66. Dr. Clevenger served as acting dean of the college during 1962-63. He replaces Paul W. Pixler who resigned in June to go to Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia. Holding degrees in education from Central Missouri State College and George Peabody College for Teachers and his doctorate from the University of Missouri, Dr. Clevenger has been a member of the Lindenwood faculty since 1941.

MORE NEW TEACHERS

New faculty members, in addition to those announced in the summer Bulletin, are:

Theodore A. Chandler, who has been named assistant professor in psychology for 1965-66. Mr. Chandler has been psychologist for the United States Armed Forces Dependents Schools at Frankfurt, Germany, for the past two years. He received his B. S. degree from Northwestern University, and an M. A. degree in educational psychology from the University of Chicago.

Miss Jean Fields, who has been appointed as an instructor in the Department of English. Miss Fields has been teaching at Ohio State University at Columbus, where she took her M. A. degree. Her A. B. degree is from Morris Harvey College, Charleston, West Va.

Miss Germaine Kempf, who has become assistant professor in the Department of Modern Languages. Miss Kempf taught in the language laboratory and served as a lecturer in the French department at the University of Keele, Staffordshire, England, last year. She holds degrees from the University of Geneva, Switzerland, and from the University of Nancy, France.

Mrs. Fritz Marti, who has been appointed assistant professor in the Department of Modern Languages to teach French. Mrs. Marti has most recently earned her M. A. degree from Western Reserve University at Cleveland. Her A. B. degree is from the University of Dayton. Educated and experienced in music as well as in languages, Mrs. Marti holds certificates from the Cornish School of Music at Seattle, and the Institut Jacques-Dalcroze at Geneva, Switzerland.

Miss Sandra Peterson, who has been named an instructor in the Department of English. Miss Peterson, a graduate with highest honors from Principia College at Elmhurst, Ill., received her M. A. degree this summer from Northwestern University.

DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

Glenn G. Thomas has been appointed vice-president for development at Lindenwood College. Mr. Thomas has been associated with the college for three years, last year serving as Dean of Admissions.

Holding an A. B. degree from Furman University, Greenville, S. C., and an M. A. from the University of Wisconsin, Mr. Thomas will receive the doctor of philosophy degree in June from St. Louis University. His work in political science and sociology for the doctorate was done at St. Louis University and the University of Colorado.

NEW ORGAN IN SIBLEY

A new two-manual pipe organ, built by the Charles W. McManis Co. of Kansas City, has recently been installed in Sibley Chapel. Replacing the instrument which had been in operation for more than 50 years, the new organ is striking in appearance. The console, of Philippine mahogany in a modern design, controls an organ of nine ranks of pipes (complete sets of pipes). From these nine ranks are derived thirty-six separate "stops" or "voices", including such colors as trumpets, flutes, principals, and mixtures. Stops of ten separate pitches are available to the organist. The Principal 8', of burnished tin, is exposed, forming a display of pipes at the front of the organ case.

The new organ is well adapted to performance of the compositions of classic masters, possessing a clear, fresh, and unforced tone quality. Yet its versatility makes it equally appropriate to music of romantic and contemporary composers.

PARKER HALL

The new dormitory has been named Parker Hall, in memory of Dr. Alice Parker, a member of the faculty at Lindenwood from 1928 until her death in 1961, and chairman of the English Department for many years.

Dr. Parker was always deeply concerned for the welfare of her students and her colleagues and made herself available to them for consultation. As a teacher, she aroused the interests of her students, giving them a real vision of the potentialities of life and scholarship. Her wide interests were revealed in the large number of professional, civic, and philanthropic organizations in which she was active. An annual lecture is given in tribute to Dr. Parker's "devotion to academic freedom, scholarly pursuits, and the life of the mind and spirit."

The residence hall was christened as some 128 students took possession at the start of the fall term. They were not nearly as perturbed as the workmen at the absence of doors and floors. The scarcity of telephones was considered more serious.

Parker Hall is situated between Cobbs and Nicolls and is of a material and style to harmonize with its neighbors. Kenneth E. Wischmeyer and Partners of St. Louis was the architectural firm. Cost of the air-conditioned dormitory was approximately $650,000, exclusive of furniture and furnishings.

This newest dormitory, the first to be erected since McCluer Hall in 1961, brings the number of residences to eight, with accommodations for a total of 700 students. Approximately 100 day students are also enrolled for this academic year.

SIBLEY RENEWED

The interior of the first floor of Sibley Hall was completely redecorated over the summer so that the residence has become again a showplace of the campus. The committee in charge was scrupulous about preserving the tone of the period of construction, that is, just prior to the Civil War. The handsome furnishings which they have assembled include some antique pieces which the oldest alumna would recognize as belonging to Sibley. Other antiques of the period are newly acquired, like the rosewood sofa, a pair of side chairs, and the elaborate gilt-bordered pier mirror. The most distinguished of these is the century-old rosewood piano which was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Steger of St. Louis. Still other pieces are reproductions chosen with care and taste.

For the walls of the hall, the stairwells and the small office, a patterned paper was selected in which blue-grey floral figures with birds appear against a deep ivory background. The paper in the double parlor is soft blue, with an indistinct design suggestive of a Persian rug motif. The sculptured wall-to-wall carpeting is of the same light blue. Draperies are of a more intense blue slubbed fabric, fashioned with a valance of deep swags and edged with a blue and cherry rose fringe. The rose color is picked up from the cherry covers on a number of chairs and on the upholstered seat around the upright support in the larger parlor. The antique gold satin on the twin settees by the fireplace, repeated in a pair of chairs, adds a final touch of richness and color.

The committee which has taken the responsibility for this effective renewal of Sibley included Mrs. Arthur Stockstrom as chairman, Mrs. Horton Watkins, Mrs. Earl Johnston and Mrs. Robert R. Wright (class of 1924).

DR. SIBLEY TO LECTURE

Dr. Agnes Sibley, professor of English and a member of the department since 1943, has been chosen to deliver the annual Lindenwood College Faculty Lecture on Wednesday, November 17, at 8 p.m. in the Chapel. Her subject will be "Paradox and Poetic Truth."

This is the second such Faculty Lecture. The program was initiated in the fall of 1964 to recognize excellent scholarship and good teaching within the faculty of Lindenwood College by choosing a highly distinguished member to give a lecture to the entire college community and interested friends. A committee of faculty and students makes the selection of speaker.

MUSICIANS HONORED

Two members of the Department of Music at Lindenwood College have won outstanding recognition, receiving the only two awards made last spring by the Artists Presentation Society of St. Louis. Groff Stewart Bittner was honored as a pianist and David G. Mulbury as an organist. The award carries with it a public presentation in St. Louis. Mr. Bittner gave a recital at City Art Museum on October 17, and Mr.

ON CAMPUS

Mulbury will appear in an organ program later in the year. This recognition honors not only these two musicians but the Department of Music as well. Both are assistant professors.

STOESSINGER AT VESPERS

United Nations Day will be observed at vesper services Sunday, October 24, the 20th anniversary of the signing of the charter of the world organization.

Dr. John G. Stoessinger, of Columbia University and the City University of New York, is to be the speaker. His subject will be "The United Nations in Crisis." Dr. Stoessinger is a member of the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace and has been since 1963 in charge of the Peace Corps training program in world affairs and American institutions at Columbia University. He is visiting professor of international relations at Columbia and professor of political science at Hunter College. Dr. Stoessinger has published numerous books on international relations, the most recent one entitled "The United Nations and the Superpowers."

SCIENCE CENTER NAMED

The new science building, which is to be ready by second semester, has been named the Howard I. Young Hall of Science, in honor of the president of the Board of Directors of the college. Mr. Young, a member of the Board since 1942, has been its president since 1957. Dr. McCluer, in announcing the designation, stated that "This is a tribute to the great leadership which Mr. Young has given to the Board of Directors and the great service he has given to the college."

A noted industrialist who has achieved distinction in mining administration and public service, Mr. Young is now honorary chairman and director of American Zinc Lead and Smelting Company, of which he was president for more than 30 years. In addition to holding directorships in numerous corporations, Mr. Young is active in many professional associations. He is a director of Washington University in St. Louis, and an elder and trustee of Second Presbyterian Church.

NEW ALUMNAE SECRETARY

Miss Jane Wainwright has become the Alumnae Secretary, by appointment of the President. Miss Wainwright, who has been associated with the college since 1959, will continue her work as director of the Lindenwood College News Bureau. She has replaced Mrs. William H. Clark, who resigned.

PARENTS ON CAMPUS

Parents' Day was held on Saturday, October 16. The program as planned called for registration all day, a convocation at 11 o'clock, luncheons and open house in the dormitory, followed by dinner. A full report with pictures will appear in the December issue of the Bulletin.

ALUMNAE ON THE GO

Rosanna Veach Bruere, '40, has been named chairman of Alumnae Reunion Day, to be held on May 7 next spring.

CINCINNATI Zeke Curtin

The Cincinnati Lindenwood College Club met at the home of Zeke Curtin on the evening of September 8 for an informal farewell gathering for the present students. "Cindy-Lindy" sent each off with a bon voyage gift of an assignment book—to be sure each girl kept on her toes this school year.

Three Cincinnati girls graduated in June: Pat Gardiner is working in Cincinnati and will be an active L.C. and Cincinnati Club supporter; Carolyn Harig is teaching in St. Louis; and Sandy Young, who became Mrs. Richard McKee in June, is now teaching in Columbus, O. Their mothers will continue to be a vital part of our group.

The club was sorry to lose Barbara Goldenberg Soloman to Boston, but is happy to welcome Ann Clevenger Ray to the city. Any alum new to Cincinnati, Hamilton, and surrounding areas, is urged to notify Scruta Humphner Inglis, 321-0061, of her presence.

A Christmas Brunch is scheduled for Saturday, December 18, at the home of Ruth and Nancy Herriott, in Finneytown.

LEXINGTON, KY. AREA Beth Devlin Jett

The alumnae of the Lexington, Ky., area held a luncheon Oct. 2 in Lexington. Mrs. Dorritt Stumberg White, '13, was honored. Glenn G. Thomas, vice president for development and public relations at LC, was guest speaker. He told the 15 alumnae present about the new buildings and activities on campus and urged them to advise the Admissions Office about any outstanding girls in the area.

OKLAHOMA CITY Dorothy Gunter Jorss

The Oklahoma City Lindenwood College Club met September 26 at the home of Mrs. Margaret Ringer Howell. This was a registration tea and the first meeting of the 1965-66 season. Those attending were Gwen Levers Davis, Donna Foutch Myron, Earleen Simon Mills, Margaret Doumany Merton, Barbara Ringer Hamill, Martha Jo Crable Jordon, Jean Brawner Knoop, Norma Camp Pope, Margaret Ringen Howell, and Dorothy Gunter Jorss.

The other three club meetings include a holiday brunch in December, honoring girls now attending LC and prospective students, a college luncheon in February, and election of new officers in April.

ST. LOUIS Madeleine Meyer Hauser

The St. Louis Lindenwood College Club has undertaken something of a "first" for alumnae clubs. Three members of the college's faculty will be presented in a series of programs of enrichment, open to the public.

"Our club's agenda has been revised from a 'social' club to a club with a purpose," officers of the club stated in making the announcement. "We want to introduce these faculty members to the women of the St. Louis area to show the rich sources of talent available at the college."

Mrs. Kenneth Chambers (Pat Zimmermann '56), program chairman, announces the following schedule of fine arts programs:

Miss May Sarton, distinguished poet and novelist, poet-in-residence for the first semester, will give poetry readings November 15 at 1 p.m. at the St. Louis County Library, Lindbergh bl. and Clayton rd.

The second program will feature David G. Mulbury, assistant professor of organ and choral music, who will present an organ recital at Ladue Chapel January 17 at 1 p.m.

Arthur L. Kanak, artist-in-residence, will show a selection of his work at the new Painters Gallery, 3806 North Euclid ave., May 16 at 1 p.m., for the final program in the series.

Alumnae in the area are invited to attend and bring their friends. There is no admission charge.

The first business meeting was held September 20 at the home of Mrs. Robert R. Wright, 19 Clermont lane, Ladue. Following light refreshments, Alumnae Secretary, Miss Jane Wainright, spoke on "Lindenwood Today." President and Mrs. McCluer were special guests.

We will elect our new officers and honor past presidents of the club at our March meeting.

MEMORIAL FUNDS

A student loan fund in memory of Peggy Proctor Larkin has been established by her husband, Dr. W. Bright Larkin of Eau Claire, Wis., and her family and friends. Peggy died on her birthday, July 20, of this year, leaving besides her husband, a son, Patrick Carter Larkin, aged 14, and a daughter, Dolly Edna, aged 12. Her sister, Betty Gray Proctor, of San Antonio, Tex., was graduated from Lindenwood in 1943.

The memorial fund is established to make scholarship help available for third and fourth year students at Lindenwood. Those who have already made contributions to the fund, besides Peggy's husband and sister, are Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Heywood, Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Eyer mann, and Dr. Karl H. Doege.

A contribution in memory of Nicole Johnson who died in 1961 while a student at the college, has been made by her grandmother, Mrs. H. B. Sturtevant.

Judith O. Trauernicht has made a contribution in memory of Dr. Alice Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Levy, Jr., (Barbara Wexner) have made a gift in memory of Emanuel Fihn, Englewood, N. J.

Memorial gifts, acknowledged with notification sent to the family of the deceased, may be sent to the President's Office, Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo. 63301.

The scholarship fund is of utmost importance
For a promising student. Her name could be Hortense.

How to "Be An Angel" without really trying?
And for this you won't have to be dying!
Just get out your cheque-book, get out your pen.
Each class' goal is nine hundred-ninety dollars plus ten!

Angels are wanted!
Will you be counted
As a donor in '65?

An unrestricted cheque is quite permissible.
But if left in your book, it's bound to be missible.
The matching gift, please not to forget,
Doubles your gift-hence the more we beget.
(A remittance from you and your corporation
Would really not cause us any consternation.)
And for those of you who are quite well-heeled,
The new Linden Leaf Society this year is revealed.
Don't overlook it—this we implore—
Membership is contributing one hundred dollars or more.

So for your "Angel" dollars we'll offer our gratitude.
The amount of it affects not our attitude.
A Living Endowment is our obligation.
We all should contribute with no hesitation.
How to "Be An Angel" without really trying?
Our gratitude to you will be undying
If you get out your cheque book, get out your quill.
Putting your dollars to good use,
'tis a promise, we will!

Angels are wanted!
Will you be counted
As a donor in '65?

Confidently: —

Irene Altheide Korte (Mrs. Don W.) 1728 North Alanton dr., Virginia Beach, Va., is a public school music teacher and organist for the Virginia Beach Presbyterian Church. She is listed in "Who's Who of the South and Southwest."

The secretary writer: "Irene and I lived for three years at the top of the stairs on second-floor Ayres, and we had fun reminiscing one day recently when she and her family were our dinner guests. The Kortes have four handsome children: Don, Jr., a freshman this year at William and Mary; Martha, 14; George, 13; and John, 8."

Three members of the class now have daughters at Lindenwood. Shown below are Susan Bell (left) daughter of Betty Jane Kelloway Bell, and the daughter of the class secretary, Ann. Susan is a freshman, and Ann is a sophomore this year. Phyllis Durbahn Hutchinson's daughter, Karen, is a junior.

CLASS NOTES

Daughters of '41

Left, Susan Bell, freshman daughter of Betty Jane Kelloway Bell with Ann Stukenbroecker, daughter of Sara Jefferson Stukenbroecker, a sophomore.

June Coats Rohrs (Mrs. James) writes that her husband has been transferred to the Chicago area. "After eight happy years in California we will be back in the land of cold winters and hot, humid summers." Four of their children—Lisa, 6, Cynthia, 11, and Carl and Jim, twins, 13—will accompany them to their new home. Julie, 22, is remaining in Covina to work on her master's degree.

Betty Jane Kelloway Bell (Mrs. Wm. III) has begun a career as a case worker for the Red Cross at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C.

42 Margaret Ball Gatzweiler
(Mrs. Robert)
P.O. Box 394
St. Charles, Mo. 63302

43 Doris Banta Pree
(Mrs. J. Roe)
3 Cheri Lane
St. Louis, Mo. 63132

Coralee Burchard Ogden (Mrs. E. E. Jr.) visited campus with her daughter, Judy Sue Ogden, August 27. July will graduate from Willow Springs High School, Willow Springs, Mo., in 1966. The Ogdens live at 706 Center st., Willow Springs.

Virginia Rose Wachdorf (Mrs. F. J.) writes that she has moved to 30 King rd., Somerset, N. J. 08873. She formerly lived in Dayton, O.

Jean James Stewart has been teaching in the Tuller Schools which are run by an Episcopal order. Last year she was assigned to a school in Arizona, and she is now at a mission school on an Indian reservation in Wisconsin. She has four children, three boys and a girl. Her daughter, Susan, attends the University of Tulsa. Her mailing address is c/o Tuller Schools, 5870 E. 14th st., Tucson, Ariz.

Maurita Estes Stueck (Mrs. C. F. P.) 73 Webster Woods, St. Louis, Mo. 63119, has four children: Linda, 16, Larry, 14, Katie, 12, and Sarah, 9. The chief hobby of her entire family is scouting. Maurita was a Girl Scout enthusiast in her college days. Her enthusiasm has grown with three daughters to share it. Her husband and son are active in Boy Scouts.

Maurita has completed ten years as a Sunday School teacher, and is active in A.A.U.W. She also finds time to sew for her girls and reports that she makes nearly all of their clothes.

Linda is a junior in high school now and an accomplished cellist. She may be interested in Lindenwood.

News from Helen Kellam Wells (Mrs. William L.), 12073 Natural Bridge rd., Bridgeton, Mo. 63044. Helen's husband is a Colonel in the Army, presently stationed in St. Louis. They have lived in many far countries: Panama, Korea, Hong Kong, Japan, the Philippines, India. However, they are planning to make Missouri their retirement home. They are building a house at Annada, about 75 miles north of St. Louis, and plan to farm and raise livestock. Helen intends to have horses and do a lot of riding. They expect to be settled there about next March, but in the meantime, will continue to live at their present address.

Helen keeps up with oil painting as a hobby. Last year she taught swimming to retarded children at the YMCA, and is planning to do similar volunteer work this winter.

45 Helen B. Bartlett
6372 Beryl rd.
Alexandria, Va. 22312

We extend sympathy to the family and friends of Peggy Proctor Larkin (Mrs. Bright) 506 East Tyler st., Eau Claire, Wis., who died on July 20. A memorial loan fund for third and fourth year students has been established by her family and friends. Anyone interested in making a donation may make the check payable to the Peggy Proctor Larkin Memorial Fund, Lindenwood College, and send it directly to the college.

46 Gence Head Schubert
(Mrs. L. George)
1100 Rose ln.
Hobbs, N. M.

Marian Hardtke Tobias (Mrs. Burt) wrote to Dr. Pearl Walker, professor of music at the college, that she is still a career woman. "I married a top-flight musician and have continued singing—the popular dance-band variety," she reports, "but occasionally do get to use a more classical approach for dinner sessions." She also bought a string bass and has her own trio, with her husband on the trumpet and a fine accordionist. "We free-lance for convention parties, weddings, etc.," her letter stated. She has two girls, Carole who is 5, and Wendy, 10. Her address is 6654 Trumbull, Lincolnwood, Ill. 60645.

Marie Szilagyi Campbell (Mrs. Roy R. Jr.), 307 Kennedy ave., San Antonio, Tex., writes that her husband is president of Campbell Lumber Company. Marie is a member of the board of the Junior League, treasurer and board member of the San Antonio Literacy Council and third vice-president of the Cambridge PTA. Their children are Roy, 12, Elizabeth Anne, 8, Nicholas, 6, and Will, 4. Marie added that it was hard to believe that in 1966 it will have been 20 years since graduation.

When husband Bob was transferred to the Cleveland area of the Space-Nuclear-Propulsion Office (SNPO), Mary Stanton Johnson and their four children happily settled in a new home in Bay Village. The four are Cynthia, a high school junior, Greg, a sophomore, Mark, a seventh grader, and a two-year-old caboose, Steven. Mary says he keeps them "all busy and entertained."

The Johnsons' address is 28030 Lincoln rd., Bay Village, O.

Mary also sent a new address for Elizabeth Rence Stoery (Mrs. A. F. Heise). Liz is now back in the states, after having lived all over the world. Her latest address is 4536 Wagon Wheel dr., Birmingham, Mich.

Elizabeth Runge Garwood (Mrs. Donald M.) 12 Briarwood la., St. Charles, enclosed two pictures with word that "this is what keeps her busy." Betty has also been teaching physical Elizabeth and Thomas Garwood education in St. Louis for four years, attends night classes one night a week and still finds some time to play bridge. Her husband is with Continental Insurance Companies in St. Louis. Betty says she lives just four blocks from L.C. and can see the campus from her living room window. She is looking forward to seeing us in our reunion year, 1966.

After twenty years of silence, Helen Kay Duff Dressback (Mrs. Doyle K.), 2865 Washington ave., Evansville, Ind., writes an eight-page letter to catch up. She has been married since 1947 and since then has lived in Robinson, Ill., Oklahoma City, Denver, Kansas City and now, Evansville, where her husband is in the oil business.

47 Gwen Macy Sorlien

Marie Koch Brundige
(Mrs. John C.)
535 N. Edgewood ave.
LaGrange Park, Ill. 60528

An appeal from the secretary: "All of you 49ers must have been very busy or very lazy this summer. Have only a few gals to report on this time! Help! I can't write class notes unless I hear from all of you out there."

JoAnn O'Flynn Gipe (Mrs. Fred N.) of 1918 Robin rd., Owensboro, Ky., 42301 writes: "My activities are not newsworthy; the usual PTA, Girl Scouts, church, etc. Our children are Patty, who will soon be ten and Tom, who is eight. My sentiments go along with those of Carolyn Glenn Karhu and yours in the classnotes—about the children fighting all the time—ours are normal in that respect, too! For fun the Gipes go boating and swimming in the summer and ice skating in the winter."

"Although Owensboro is not large, I seldom see Jane Foust Gilbert and Joyce Heldt Orrahood. Jane has three children—two girls about seven and nine and a boy about three or four. Joyce, I think, has five children—three boys and two girls."

"I certainly enjoy reading about the '49ers. I'll have to get out the yearbooks to recall some of their faces. It will be twenty years this Fall since we entered L.C. That's a long time and my memory is already showing it."

"Must close now. Thanks for keeping us informed. Maybe I'll make it yet to one of those reunions!"

Janice Overaker Bierman (Mrs. C. C.), of 1521 Noble Ave., Springfield, Ill. 62704, sends word that she was married on July 6 to Cleveland Cantwell Bierman. He has two boys—Jeff, 14, and John, 16—and she has three children—Joe, 5, Sally, 7, and Johnny, 10.

She writes, "We are in the midst of remodeling and redeccorating to suit our enlarged family so it has been a busy summer. We are doing most of the painting ourselves and it takes a lot of time but I enjoy it. It is fun to be in touch with you again. I'm afraid my home responsibilities and community commitments will keep me too involved to attend any reunion very soon, but I do enjoy reading the Bulletin."

Jan "found" a "lost" alum for us—Susie Martin (Mrs. Paul Casey, Jr.). Jan and Susie were presidents of their respective Junior Leagues and renewed their acquaintance at a conference in Colorado. She gave Susie's address as 317 W. Hollyridge Circle, Peoria, Ill.

Congratulations to Wilma L. White, supervisor of Clinical Chemistry Laboratory, Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, whose new chemistry book is just off the press. This information comes from Dr. Mary Lear, professor emeritus of chemistry, who describes the work as follows: "Wilma White's 'Chemistry for Medical Technologists,' published by C. V. Mosby Co., St. Louis, Mo., was written in 1964 in collaboration with Dr. Sam Frankel of the Jewish Hospital and is an impressive-looking book of 429 pages. It contains the details of the newer and more widely used procedures for chemical analysis of body fluids in hospital laboratories. The necessary essentials of chemical theory accompany these techniques to give a helping hand to student technologists."

In case you would like to write to Wilma, her address is 208 E. Robinson st., Carmi, Ill.

There is a change of address for Irene Griewing Dalton (Mrs. Richard). It is now 1128 Longmeadow la., Western Springs, Ill. 60558. She writes that her husband has been transferred to the Chicago office of the industrial and biochemical department of the DuPont Company.

From Carma Haselmire Smith (Mrs. Lawrence D.) comes word that she and her family have been living in Galena, Alaska for the last three years. Mail will reach them at the Federal Aviation Agency, Galena, Alaska 99741. Her husband is area manager for the F.A.A. The Smiths now have seven children, the oldest of whom is 11. "We plan to transfer back to the States sometime within the next two years, somewhere in the West," she wrote.

Barbara Watkins Swift (Mrs. Elmer) and her family were summer visitors in St. Charles, where they visited with Dr. Pearl Walker, professor of music at the college. The Swifts reside at 33 Manor dr., Preakness, N. J.

For those of you who knew Marianne Mohl from Denmark—a freshman our senior year, I visited her this Fall. See '52 Classnotes.

That's it, sorry to say. Letters need not be written on fancy stationery. Most of my correspondence goes out on ghastly yellow-orange starch paper as Jane Wainright, our Alumnae Secretary, will attest, too. Poor penmanship need not be a handicap—I have the world's worst, and have successfully deciphered some real dillys. And if you type and make mistakes, I would blame your typewriter. So you see, you have no excuses. Between now and Nov. 15th, my next deadline, I hope to be swamped with letters. Also, I hope you swamp the Alumnae Office with your checks to the Annual Lindenwood Alumnae Fund Campaign. Let's all be Angels.

Optimistically:—
Marie B.

50

Joan Hake Ruethain
(Mrs. R. B.)
1544 Windridge dr.
St. Louis, Mo. 63131

Virginia Kimmel McKinney (Mrs. James) sent a letter through Marie Koch Brundige. Virginia's husband is an associate professor of Spanish and education at Purdue University, and they have three children—Kimmel, 12, Alma, 9, and Melanie, 6. She writes, "I plan to enroll in piano and Spanish classes at Purdue this fall. We have returned this June from a year in Spain—and what a wonderful year it was. Jim was the director for the Foreign Study Program for Purdue and Indiana University at the University of Madrid." She is very anxious to hear from some of you. Her address is 550 Elston rd., Lafayette, Ind.

And from the secretary: "My husband, Bob, is with McDonnell Aircraft. Our oldest girl, Robin, is 14, and our boy, Ronnie is 13. Roslyn is starting first grade this year with the phonetic alphabet. Mother is having trouble learning to read again. I haven't even mastered the new math yet. And for the last two years the Ruethains have taken up camping in a big way—so look for us. We may be on your doorstep next."

51

Martha Reid Kuenzi
(Mrs. Donald E.)
924 S. Woodland dr.
Kansas City 18, Mo.

Congratulations to Betty Littleton, who has written to the Alumnae Office that she has just published her first novel. "In Sampson's Eye" narrates the middle and late years of Vi Ingelord, who lives through the settling of the plains states, the oil boom in Oklahoma, and both World Wars, but whose life remains basically untouched by these events.

The dust-jacket of the book, published by Athenaeum in August, states that "the action of the novel spans thirty years in Vi's life and focuses on everyday occurrences which make up the reality that Vi cannot manage to reason out. And a life emerges which is significant almost in spite of itself. Not since Willa Cather has an American author created so moving a portrait of a lost lady, or depicted a region with such poetic veracity."

Betty teaches English at Stephens College. Her address is Route 4, Columbia, Mo.

Through Marie Koch Brundige comes news of Marianne Mohl Kahn who is now living on Haas road, Somers, Conn. 06071. Marianne is from Denmark and spent her freshman year at LC, after which she returned to her own country to finish her education and to teach disturbed children. In her letter Marianne said, "Jordon happened to be working in the same banana field as I did, and he sat in the same classroom learning Hebrew. That was in Israel in 1960-61. We were married in Denmark in 1962 and then settled here in the States."

Marianne works part time in a residential treatment center for disturbed children and enjoys painting and carpentry and wood-sawing in her spare time. They have a one-year-old daughter, Lisa. Marie and John Brundige spent a delightful Sunday visiting the Kahns in their secluded cottage on top of a mountain when they were in New York City recently.

Laurie Bowman Zwicky (Mrs. Marlin) has a new address. It is 4 West 11th pl., Houston, Tex. 77005.

Nada Sue Roberson Schneider (Mrs. Vern H.)
16 Linworth la.
St. Louis, Mo. 63124

Joyce Omohundro Miller (Mrs. Ream V.) represented Lindenwood College at the inauguration of Martin B. Dworkis as the first president of the Borough of Manhattan Community College of the City University of New York on Sept. 29. Her address is 211 East 53rd st., Apt. 8-J, New York, N. Y. 10022.

54

We extend sympathy to the family and friends of Mary Pinckney Rymor (Mrs. Rex Dale), 434 N. Adams ave., Lebanon, Mo., who died September 28 after a long and painful illness. Perhaps some of our classmates who knew Mary Kay would like to send their Alumnae Fund gift in her memory. Immediate survivors, in addition to her husband and adopted twins include her brother, Theodore J. Pinckney, and his wife, Marian Marshall Pinckney, '56, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Jane Amsden Keirse (Mrs. Cole) writes that she enjoys receiving the Bulletin. "About ten years after leaving Lindenwood I received my A. B. from Denver U. and have been teaching in an elementary school in Denver. This fall I hope to begin work on my master's in guidance and counseling, if I can work it in with being a teacher, mother and housewife. Husband Cole is with a brokerage firm in Denver and we have one son.

"Summers we relax in our mountain cabin in Grand Lake, Colo. Relax? Ten-year-old Cole challenges me to keep up with him in hiking, swimming and rowing, and my husband, in golf. It is a welcome change from our winter routine, though, and we love mountain living."

Cole Keirse

We have a new address for Marcia Lazarus Spiro (Mrs. Stuart): 2465 Channing rd., University Heights, O. 44118. Marcia writes that they now have two boys, Eliot, who is 2, and Steven, 8 months.

55

Nancy Moe Nowlin (Mrs. Owen W. E. Jr.)
2701 E. 39th ct.
Des Moines, Ia. 50317

Jenny Barton Chase (Mrs. Warren A.) writes that they have moved again and Warren is now a Marine Engineer at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. "He loves his work," writes Jenny, "and once again is using to the maximum his education - from the Naval Academy and his experience as a Lt. Commander in the Navy. We love this new beautiful country. It is considerably different from the southernmost tip of California." Jenny's new address is Rt. 4, Box 2592F, Bremerton, Wash. 98312.

56

Nancy Alvis McClanahan (Mrs. Sidney A.)
818 North Woodlawn ave.
St. Louis, Mo. 63122

An interesting letter came from Starlin Edwards Compton (Mrs. Jack) to Jean Rule Evans, our former class secretary:

"At long last the Comptons are going to leave Japan. We have been here for three years and are anxious to see the wonderful U. S. Our assignment will be to Andrews AFB, Maryland. We shall ship our car to San Francisco and drive across the country. My sister, Joan Edwards, is being married November 6, and we shall be in St. Louis for the wedding. Joanie just graduated from Lindenwood."

Mara Lloyd Compton

Starlin and Jack have one daughter, Mara Lloyd (named for Mara Lloyd Christensen Krueger '56) who is six and in the first grade. During her stay in Japan, Starlin also visited Hawaii and Hong Kong, and had a chance to go to the edge of Red China. "You could just look over barbed wire fence and see the hungry mass of people." Starlin said that she thinks the only thing that she will miss from her stay in Japan is her maid.

Susan Morton Miller (Mrs. Lee D.) has a new address: 11509 Amherst ave., Apt. 3, Wheaton, Md. 20902. She writes that husband Lee finally decided on Catholic University of North America in Washington, D.C., where he is an assistant professor of biology.

Betty Townsend McKee (Mrs. Robert S.), 811 Audubon st., Sac City, Ia., had a serious sinus infection last winter, which caused partial paralysis of her right arm and leg. She reports that she is feeling somewhat better now but still tires very easily. She writes that they have two children, Tracy, who is 8, and Robbie, 5. Her letter continues: "Saw Nancy Moe Nowlin's picture in the paper. She and Owen spent a week at a lake last summer about 11 miles from here, so we got to see them several times, dog and all.

"My brother and I are buying my mother's interest in the family ready-to-wear store, and my husband is managing the three family farms. Really keeps us both busy."

Wedding bells for Jean Elizabeth Gray who was married to Thomas Clinton Hull, Jr., on Sept. 11 at First Presbyterian Church in Oak Park, Ill. They will make their home at 128 Caroline ct., Geneva, Ill.

CLASS NOTES

Kay Kaiser Burtis (Mrs. Buff) writes: "Unfortunately our move to So. Navajo was due to the flooding which occurred June 16 here in Denver. We were flooded and then looted out of 'house and home'. However, we are now settled and will continue our stay in Colorado since Buff is a resident physician at Denver General Hospital. Are there any LC gals out Denver-way? If so, I would love to chat with them!"

Let's have a few letters! And do note our new address . . . a recent move. We now have loads of room (and unbelievable trees, for a change!), so I hope any of you who are ever out Northfield-way (northern Chicago suburb) will feel free to call and drop by.

A few weeks ago you received from me a note about this year's Alumnae Giving program. If you haven't already supported the drive, why not do so now?

Kay Dunham Wilkinson
(Mrs. Maurice L.)
416 Panhandle st.
Denton, Tex. 76201

The secretary writes: "I do want to ask the apologies of all the class. On the postcards you receive for the alumnae fund campaign, my return address will be shown as Dallas, but since I wrote, I have moved to the above address. I do hope each of you will seriously consider contributing to the alumnae fund campaign this year. Lindenwood is growing to keep abreast with the modern age, and each of us can have a part in its growth by contributing to this fund. The Class of '60 made a good showing last year in the fund campaign, having the largest number of donors, but this was only 13% of the total members of our class. Let us all 'Be Angels' this year and contribute to help Lindenwood remain the splendid college it has always been. We are always anxious to hear from each of you, so whenever you have some news for the Bulletin, be sure to drop me a line. Do any of you know a correct current address for the following girls? Phyllis Mark, last address known: 1245 Vine st., Hollywood, Calif.; and Mrs. Marlene Meyer Raine, last address known: 911 Watkins, S.E., Grand Rapids, Mich."

Hana Freeman attended the University of Texas after she studied at Lindenwood. She was married to Don Pomerantz in 1958. They lived in Austin temporarily and then moved to Seguin, Tex., Don's home. The Pomerantzes have three girls, Lauri, 5, Sharyn, 4, and Lisa, 16 months. She writes: "We stay very busy in this very small town. We live on the lake and water ski, swim, fish and play golf all summer, in between taking care of three busy young ladies." Their address is Box 239, McQueeney, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Pope (Norma Camp) announce the arrival of their second child, Carleton Norman, in August. Both Norma and Donald are working on advanced degrees, according to word received from Norma by Prof.

Louise Beasley. The Papes live at 2832 N.W. 20th st., Oklahoma City, Okla. 73107.

Margie McLeod Brown (Mrs. Alex G.) reports her new address as 267 Elm ave., St. Louis, Mo. 63122. "We wish to announce the arrival of our third child, Mary Margaret, born April 7. We have two other children, Carolyn Elizabeth, 4, and James McLeod, 1. There is never a dull moment at our house. Although Carrie, Mac and Meg keep me busy, I find time for some community activities and substitute teaching. Our latest project is the purchase of an older home and I am thoroughly enjoying decorating it and putting my home economics training to the test. I so look forward to each issue of the Bulletin and cannot tell you how much I enjoy reading about LC alums, as well as keeping abreast of the happenings at Lindenwood today."

A very interesting letter has recently been received from Ann Dickking: "Greetings from the 'Rock.' It's hard to believe another school year is coming to a close. This one has been especially exciting for me as it has been spent on Okinawa. Traveling through Southeast Asia has been most exciting this year as well as teaching in a quonset hut. I had a stopover for a short while in Saigon over Christmas, but this is one experience I don't wish upon my friends. I hope the class reunion in May was successful. I certainly was there in spirit."

Mary Sue Jordan is currently residing in Houston: 5310 Beverly Hill No. 32, Houston, Tex. 70027. Mary Sue spent some time in New York and took many side trips to New England.
