INTRODUCTION

Lindenwood College II is beginning its third year of operation with the 1971-1972 academic year. Its creation as a private liberal arts college was sponsored by Lindenwood College for Women three years ago as a means of broadening the Lindenwood community to include men students. Lindenwood II shares the faculty of the parent college and leases residence halls and other facilities. Because it had the backing of the older college and its financial and academic resources, it was able to begin its life as a going concern. Over the years, it will build a more completely separate image as it gathers its own resources and determines directions of its own which may differ in purpose and organization from Lindenwood College for Women.

ORGANIZING FOR COMMUNITY GOVERNMENT

Trustees

Legally, the college is the Board of Trustees, for this body is entrusted with the property and operation of the college as a corporation. This authority and responsibility cannot be abrogated. Trustees do have a role that is broader than the traditional one. They participate in the life of the college as people who wish to be familiar with the problems of the college, and who wish to listen to students and faculty as well as to act. The trustees of Lindenwood College II are part of the vital life of the college.

Administrative Officers

The traditional responsibility for day-to-day decision-making, and for the long range mission of the college resides in the President, who receives his legal status from the Board of Trustees. Other administrative officers derive their authority from the President, who appoints them after consultation with faculty, students, and trustees. Among these, the Dean of the College is the one most closely related to and responsible for the academic program of the college.

Faculty

The faculty has responsibility for and authority over the fundamental areas of curriculum, subject matter, methods of instructing, grading, research, faculty status, and those aspects of student life that relate directly to the educational program.

The faculty joins with students in planning and promoting educational change and innovation in Lindenwood II. The chief vehicle of this effort is the Lindenwood College II Curriculum Committee. Consisting of six faculty members and six students, chaired by the Dean, the committee continuously reviews the academic program, proposes changes, and promotes these changes before the Educational Policies Committee and the faculty meeting. During the last year, the principal accomplishment of this committee was the Contract Term option which is described in the catalog. Any student or faculty member may ask to meet this Committee to present a proposal, or may ask any member of the committee to carry a proposal to it.

The Community Manager

The Community Manager is a student chosen from among his peers. He shares an office complex with the Dean of the College, Young 203. His responsibilities are varied, but he is primarily responsible for coordinating the various forms of student participation that are necessary to make the community work. Election of a new Community Manager will be held late in the Spring Term.

PLANNING AND DECISION-MAKING COUNCILS

In addition to the several meetings of the Board of Trustees each year community government moves primarily through three kinds of planning-decision-making organizations.

Student Life Committee

The chairmen of the major student standing committees jointly comprise the Student Life Committee which acts as a student senate between meetings of the Town Hall. This group may make appointments to vacant offices between elections, make proposals to Town Hall, and in general act to promote participation and interest in student activities of Lindenwood II. The members serve as Lindenwood II representatives on the Appropriations Board which each fall apportions the student activity funds among various student activities.

Residence Hall Council

The Hall Council has been given the responsibility for governing life in the residence halls. Consisting of one representative from each floor of the hall, the Hall Council can be an important link between the student and the Community Government. The primary interest of the Hall Council is in maintaining a life style in each hall in accordance with the decisions of the residents of each floor and each hall. In cooperation with the Dorm Manager, the Hall Council has an interest in maintaining the physical appearance of the building. The Hall Council also has a responsibility for the welfare of the residents of each hall. The Hall Council seeks to aid the residents of each hall in every aspect of student life.

Town Hall Meetings

At regular intervals, usually once a month, the entire Lindenwood II community has a chance to meet in open forum for a general discussion. At these meetings students, faculty, and administrators may raise any issue of importance to him and others. The Community Manager and the Dean will carefully note the issues that come before Town Meetings so that action can be taken to follow up questions and requests. Announcements of time and place of Town Hall meetings will be made in advance so that anyone may attend who wishes to do so.

GUIDELINES FOR STUDENT LIFE

The rules governing life and conduct in the residence halls are those of common sense and consideration for others. A college residence hall is not a "general purpose" dwelling but one in which the atmosphere necessary for study and work can be maintained. This does not mean that the residence hall need be at all repressive or unduly restricted, but those who live there must allow others to further their studies. Virtually all the internal rules in Ayres and Irwin Halls will be made by the residents themselves through the Hall Councils.

In each hall there is a Hall Manager who is responsible to the college for the maintenance of the property. He will also issue linens to those who rent them.

RESIDENCE HALL INFORMATION

Property

The College is not responsible for personal belongings in student rooms.

Please do not keep amounts of money in the room. Deposit your money in the student bank where it is always available. For your own protection, please lock the door of your room when you are out.

Students will be charged for damage to rooms, furniture, or walls. If there is willful, unnecessary damage to public areas of the residence hall, and there is no knowledge of the vandals, the cost of that damage will be prorated among the residents of the hall at the end of the year.

The electrical system in the residence halls is not adequate to supply current for such appliances as irons, TV's, hot plates, and sun lamps, and students are asked not to use such appliances in their rooms. An ironing and laundry area, a kitchenette, and a public lounge for television are provided.

Please refrain from the following:

1. nails in the room walls.
2. painting of any kind.
3. candles or cooking in the rooms.
4. mattresses on the floor.
The beds provided must be used. They are not to be dismantled. Mattresses may not be suspended between bureaus.
- 5.. padlocks on doors.
6. defacing or altering furniture

Please do not move items of furniture from lounges to private rooms.

Because of their size and excessive weight, water beds are not allowed in the residence halls.

For maintenance purposes, all student rooms are inspected at least twice yearly. Student rooms that are habitually in disorder may be inspected more frequently.

Students may have overnight guests in their own rooms without extra charge. There are rollaway beds available from your Hall Manager. There are guest rooms also available, for which a small charge is made. All guests must be registered with the Hall Manager. Guest rooms must be reserved in the Dean's Office. Students who sponsor guests in the residence hall are entirely responsible for them and guests are expected to observe all the normal rules of the College. Guests will be expected to pay for all meals taken in the cafeteria. Your meal charges do not cover them, even if you do not eat those meals yourself. Former students of the College who have been suspended for academic or disciplinary reasons may not be guests in the residence halls. The College reserves the right to refuse admittance of any guest or to request guests to leave. In any case, no guest may remain on campus for more than three consecutive nights.

Last year, several students gave guest status to drifting young men whom they did not know. In several cases, the guests stole property from their hosts and from others in the hall. Please do not sponsor guests in the hall unless you know them and can vouch for them. You owe that consideration to your fellow residents.

Room Changes

Unless there are unusual circumstances, roommate changes will not be made until after the first three weeks of school. Any desire for room change must be made known to the Hall Manager.

Alcoholic Beverages

Lindenwood students may not have or use alcoholic beverages on the campus or in the residence halls. Lindenwood supports in full the State of Missouri's laws pertaining to the purchase or possession of any intoxicating liquor or non-intoxicating beer by persons under the age of 21. Infraction is designated as a misdemeanor and the offender is liable to fine or arrest. "It is also a misdemeanor for any person to give, lend, or sell, or otherwise provide any person between the ages of 17 and 21 with any falsified identification, or the identification of another person for the purpose of establishing the age of such a person as being 21 years of age or older. It is also a misdemeanor for a student to procure for, sell, give away, or otherwise supply intoxicating liquor to any person under the age of 21 years. Drinking on public roads is prohibited in the State of Missouri!" Violators of these regulations may be suspended.

Drugs

The possession or use of legally prohibited drugs on the campus will subject students to suspension or expulsion. Drug cases will be handled by the college administration and not through the student judicial process.

GENERAL CAMPUS REGULATIONS

Student Automobiles

All students under 21 who wish to have a car on the campus must file written permission from their parents or guardian with the Office of the Dean of the College, acknowledging full responsibility which includes insurance coverage and the permission to allow or not to allow another student to drive a car. No student may register another student's car in his name.

All cars, residents and non-residents, must have Lindenwood College parking sticker prominently displayed on the lower lefthand corner of the windshield. Stickers may be obtained with the payment of a $5 parking permit to the Business Office. Students who fail to observe parking regulations will lose their car privilege and/or have the car towed away. The student will cover towing charges.

Students may park in the large lot behind Irwin and Cobbs Hall, the back campus parking lot adjacent to the tennis courts, and the Chapel parking lot. On weekends, students may also park in the Roemer Hall Memorial Arts Building parking lots.

Cars should be parked in the lots on campus. No parking is allowed in the streets within the boundaries of the campus.

Students on financial aid are not permitted to have a car on campus without permission of the Financial Aid Secretary.

Dress Guidelines

Dress guidelines are those dictated by good taste and common sense. For health reasons, students are not permitted in the dining room in bare feet.

Identification Card

You will be issued a photo ID card which you may use to charge library books, eat in the cafeteria, and the like. You are responsible that only you use this card. If it is lost or stolen, notify the Business Office at once. You are responsible for library books charged on your card unless you report it missing.

Requirements for Attendance at Convocations.

Assemblies, lectures, concerts, plays, and related cultural activities are important extensions of course study and, as such, are an essential part of the educational program of The Lindenwood Colleges. Two types of convocations are provided: all-college convocations and regular convocations. All-college convocations are those at which speakers or programs of primary importance are presented at Lindenwood. The student is required to attend two of these during each of the long terms. Regular convocations are those programs developed by student and faculty members and designated by the Convocation Committee. Students are required to attend three of these during each of the long terms. Credits may be earned during the January Term and be applied to either the Fall or Spring Term requirements. For each of the long terms in which a student does not meet his convocation requirements he will be required to take an additional 1/4 course, such course to be considered part of his graduation requirements.

THE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

Hours: 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
Monday through Friday
Registered Nurse on duty
Doctor's hours: 1:30 p.m. Mon., Tues.,

the Health Center.

Medical services are available to resident students at the Health Center which is located on the campus. It will operate as a day clinic with no overnight facilities.

Medical care after hours and on weekends: Students who need emergency treatment after hours and on weekends should notify the Hall Manager, Hall Council member, or Security. Security will then take the student to the Emergency Room at St. Joseph Hospital in St. Charles in the Security car. Treatment after hours and on week-ends will be the responsibility of the individual student.

What does it cost you?

In ordinary cases, there is no fee for treatment at the Health Center. However, there is a charge for any prescription drugs (antibiotics) and Ace bandages.

The college physician may refer a student for diagnostic tests or consultation with a specialist in the area. Students may seek a referral from the Health Center when desiring attention, such as a dentist or an oculist. These expenses must be borne by the student.

In cases of serious illness, requiring special attention of the college physician, hospitalization, or surgery, the student must bear the expense.

To insure the greatest protection while at the College, the incoming student is required to submit a Lindenwood Health Form before coming to the college. This report is filed at the Health Center. It is an important reference in case the student becomes ill or injured.

The Colleges reserve the right to request the withdrawal of a student whose continuance in college is felt to endanger the student's own health or that of others. Students for whom a psychiatric evaluation is needed, may be referred by the College Physician or by the counseling services for such attention.

Please refer to the brochure on the Student Health Insurance for benefits covered under this program.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE LINDENWOOD COLLEGES

Because we believe in the integrity of the individual, and the rights and honor of the group, we have established as a basis of community life a code of responsibility.

A student entering The Lindenwood Colleges is made aware of his responsibility and his presence on the campus is testimony to the fact that he is in agreement with its principles.

The responsibility for maintaining academic honesty rests with the individual. Failure by any one student to uphold the following regulations undermines the academic standing of the whole college and is counter to the standards of the Academic Responsibility for The Lindenwood Colleges.

1. ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

A. You are responsible not to cheat.

Cheating includes:

1. Giving or receiving aid on examinations or quizzes
2. Turning in another student's work as your own.
3. Using or possessing any test without authorization by the professor.
4. Writing a test in any place which is not specified.
5. Altering an exam after it has been turned in, or any records of any sort.
6. Giving or receiving any aid in a laboratory or classroom not authorized by the professor.
7. Assisting a second party to any of the above.

Note: The student is responsible not only to refrain from cheating, but also to avoid the appearance of cheating.

- B. You are responsible not to plagiarize or to employ methods of preparation which are not approved by the instructor. Plagiarism shall be defined as: The dishonest use of the work of others....since the plagiarist offers, as his own, for credit, the language or information or thoughts for which he deserves no credit.¹

Plagiarism falls into two general categories:

1. The use of exact words, phrases or sentences of another person's work without quotation marks and proper documentation.
2. The use of opinions and ideas of others in one's own words, but without proper documentation.

Note: Students are responsible for any typist's mistakes or omissions which constitute plagiarism.

- C. You are responsible to uphold library regulations:

1. Reference books and periodicals, except under unusual circumstances when specific permission is granted by one of the librarians, are never to be taken from the library proper. (Library assistant cannot grant the necessary permission.)
2. Reserve books are not to be removed from the reserve shelves without process of signature.
3. Books and periodicals must not be mutilated in any way.

¹Newman Birk and Genevieve Birk, Understanding and Using English, Third Edition. (New York: 1958) p. 696

4. No books are to be taken out of the library without process of signature.

II. INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

- A. Every student while at The Lindenwood Colleges is responsible for:
 1. Reporting to the professor upon violations of any of the regulations concerning Academic Responsibility.
 2. Going directly to the student who has broken any regulations and urging him to report within 24 hours to the professor. The student is not obligated to report another student who is believed to have cheated.
 3. Revealing to no one except to the professor, a member of the Appeals Board or the student who committed the violation, when one has knowledge of a violation.

III. VIOLATIONS OF ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

It is believed that any suspicion of violation or covert violation of Academic Responsibility should be a confidential matter between the professor and the accused student. If guilt is admitted by the student, the professor is free to fix the penalty within reasonable limits for the violation. In such a case as cheating on a test or exam, a reasonable penalty may be a failure mark. And in the instance of repeated violation that course. In cases of plagiarism, a professor may wish to make the student re-write the paper, and other repeated violations of this kind warrant a failure on the paper or in the course. In a situation in which a professor is unable to determine decisively if a student has cheated, he can choose to dismiss the incident or bring it before the Appeals Board. The Appeals Board will then attempt to establish guilt or innocence. But the professor will be allowed to fix the penalty if guilt is established. The student may also appeal a professor's penalty to the Appeals Board if he feels it is excessively harsh, such as barring him from class on the first suspicion of cheating. The Appeals Board if in agreement with the student, has the power to lessen the penalty.

It is to be understood, however, that the initiative in handling a suspected or affirmed violation of Academic Responsibility lies with the student and the professor. The Appeals Board is merely an appeal body to handle difficult cases only after agreement cannot be reached between student and professor.

IV. APPEALS BOARD HEARINGS

An Appeals Board hearing shall proceed according to the following rules of due processes:

1. Each party (the student and professor) shall be informed in writing--of the date and subject (whether to decide guilt or innocence or to question a penalty) of the hearing.
2. The student has the right to assistance in defense from

- another student or faculty member.
3. The burden of proof lies with those bringing the charges.
 4. The student and professor should have the opportunity to testify, present evidence and call witnesses. A student should be able to hear and question adverse witnesses.
 5. All evidence must be introduced at the hearing and the decision will be based only on the presented evidence. Seven out of eight votes is the consensus necessary to sustain the charge.
 6. A written record will be kept of every proceeding.
 7. The decision of this board is final and binding on both parties.

Procedures for establishing the Appeals Board:

1. The Appeals Board shall consist of eight members: four faculty members and two students from Lindenwood College for Women and two students from Lindenwood College II. The Dean of the College is allowed access to a hearing, but has no voting power.
2. The four faculty members shall be elected or appointed to the Appeals Board each spring by members of the faculty.
3. Elections for student members of the Appeals Board will be held when a vacancy occurs. Each student elected to the Appeals Board will serve in his position as he remains a student at The Lindenwood Colleges or until he resigns. A student must have at least a 2.0 cumulative average.

4. A secretary (a faculty member or a student) will be elected by members of the Appeals Board from their ranks to handle the written notifications and minutes of the hearings.
5. In the event that all of the student members of the Appeals Board are absent from the campus when a case arises, such as the end of the academic year, the four faculty members are authorized to hear an appeal.
6. All the members of the Appeals Board are responsible for knowing the procedures concerning hearings so that any one of them may begin the necessary action should he be approached by either student or professor.
