

CONCERT AT LIN- DENWOOD TO-NIGHT.

The concert at Lindenwood to-night by the pupils of the vocal department of that institution promises to be unusually good. An exceptionally fine program has been arranged; and when this is said it means a good deal, as Lindenwood is famous for its music. There will be a small admission charged tonight, but the public is invited. This is an event that music lovers and friends and well-wishers of the college can not afford to miss.
