CONOVER GIVES FACULTY LECTURE

Citing the scientific, technological, and industrial revolutions of today, Dr. C. Eugene Conover, dean of the chapel and professor of philosophy and religion at Lindenwood asked, "Is the new scientific and industrial revolution good or evil?" in the first annual Lindenwood College faculty lecture Nov. 18 at the chapel.

"Thoughtful men are divided in their responses to these momentous changes in our knowledge and in our civilization," he said, adding, "All who understand the situation agree that the outcome is uncertain.

"The case for optimism concerning man's future," he declared, "is strong, and evident. Science and technology are cumulative enterprises; progress in knowledge is undeniable. . . . The optimist can point to a future in which many of the hopes and dreams of mankind are within our grasp.

"Yet ours is the age of anxiety, rather than of confident hope," Dr. Conover said.

Discussing the "grounds for the apprehension expressed by so many of our writers and artists, philosophers and theologians, statesmen and scientists, businessmen and labor leaders, and citizens in many lands," the Lindenwood professor explained:

"An important factor is that many of us really prefer the days of the horse and buggy to the urbanized, rapidly changing world of machines and sonic booms. But our anxieties have deeper roots.

"First of all, our scientific and technological revolution increases our power to be inhumane and destructive. Scientist Linus Pauling estimates that the nuclear weapons now in existence in the world total 320,000 megatons. In all of World War II, over a period of six years, six megatons of explosives were used. He writes, "The present nuclear stockpile would permit a six-megaton war, equivalent to the Second World War, to be fought every day, day after day for 146 years." . . . We face the paradoxical situation that the full use of the military powers already in our hands could be suicidal not only for aggressors, but also for defenders."

Dr. Conover explained that the second basic fear "comes from the use of scientific knowledge and technology by totalitarian political movements, which seek to control the thinking and the conduct of human beings."

Additionally, he gave the "age-old fear that man may become less human, more machine-like, and less serene if he uses machines" as another cause for concern.

The fourth major anxiety concerning the future, he said, "is inherent in the automation of offices and factories."

Dr. Conover does not see any "inherent reason for objecting to a society in which knowledge is being acquired, disease and ignorance are being overcome, painful and boring labor is being eliminated, time and money for cultural pursuits are being remarkably increased, travel and communication are bringing the whole world into a tightly knit community, and agriculture and industry are making poverty unnecessary."

Human dignity, he observed, and freedom can be preserved "only if the differences between minds and machines and engineering are kept clear.

"Our implication of this," he said, "is that we must continue to give a great deal of our attention to the problem of the motivation of students. . . . Achievements result when ideal goals are freely accepted, and when self-discipline goes beyond the demands of human society.

"It does not seem likely that we will have great difficulty in distinguishing between machines and human beings for a long time to come. . . . Machines can assist in the process of education; but the probing, questioning, inquiring, inspiring conversations of teachers and students will continue to be the heart of our enterprise," he concluded.

Dr. Conover, as the first lecturer, has been a member of the Lindenwood faculty since 1948. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in philosophy from the University of Cincinnati, his B.D. from Union Theological Seminary, and his A.B. from the College of Wooster. He is the author of Moral Education in Family, School, and Church, published by Westminster Press in 1962, and currently is working on a companion volume in the field of Christian ethics.

Each year a distinguished member of the Lindenwood College faculty is to be chosen on the basis of outstanding scholarship and good teaching to give the lecture.

SUPPORT NEEDED FROM ALUMNAE

The Alice Parker Chair of English Literature, established in 1961 in the name of Dr. Parker, who served the college as professor of English for more than 30 years, 1928-1961, needs additional support from alumnae and friends.

"It is not possible to measure the greatness of her influence as a teacher and as a person. It is possible to take pride in the establishment of this chair as evidence of the gratitude of the Lindenwood community for the strength and honor she brought to this community," President F. L. McCluer has said.

ALUMNAE HAVE ART SHOW

An invitational alumnae art show was presented in Roemer Gallery at Lindenwood during November. Prints, oil paintings, color intaglios, and black and white intaglios were exhibited.

Sandra Schmitt Klabunde '61, Margaret Ahrens '61, and Louise Leak '62 had works displayed.

Mrs. Klabunde has done graduate study at California School of Fine Arts; she is now a candidate for the master of fine arts degree at State University of

MRS. PAUL REITZ PLANS DAY

Dorothy Miller Reitz (Mrs. Paul A.) '40, 847 Garland Pl., St. Louis, has been named general chairman of Alumnae Day, Saturday, May 1.

Plans for the day, which are being formulated will be announced in the next issue of THE BULLETIN.

Class secretaries will be in correspondence with members of each class in an effort to have as perfect an attendance as possible for the day. Gifts from alumnae and friends shortly after Dr. Parker's death in June, 1961, gave a beginning for the endowment of the chair, but the capital funds in that endowment are insufficient to yield a reasonable salary for the occupant of the chair, he said.

Further gifts to this fund will be welcomed from alumnae and friends of Lindenwood College. Such gifts may be mailed to:

Miss Ahrens, the winner of a Lindenwood Fellowship for graduate study, has been awarded her master of fine arts degree in Printmaking at State University of Iowa. She is presently teaching in Centralia, Ill.

plete. Included are the publications: Science, Journal of Clinical Chemistry, and Proceedings of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine.

Marjorie Manger, Apt. 704, 4475 W. Pine Blvd., St. Louis, has made a gift of a high-back upholstered chair of the style used in the Fine Arts Building.

More than 100 high school officials, ranging from superintendents of secondary schools to those holding various responsibilities in counseling and guidance, were on the Lindenwood campus for three days in October attending the Lindenwood College Secondary School Guidance Conference.

Guests came from 18 states: Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

A tour of the campus followed registration. Student hostesses served as guides for the tour. The first session was a speech on the drop-out delivered by the Rev. L. F. Cervantes, S.J., St. Louis University. His book on the drop-out is being published by the University of Michigan Press.

President F. L. McCluer officially welcomed the group Monday morning in McCluer Hall's lounge where all the sessions were held. Prof. Martha May Boyer moderated a panel discussion of four faculty members, Dr. James Hood, Prof. James Feely, Prof. Lynn Dillon Buck, and Prof. Harry Hendren. They discussed the college's program of introducing new ideas into the curriculum.

Two representatives of Educational Testing Service, Mrs. Jean Reiss and Mrs. Alice J. Irby, participated in the program, discussing the area of testing for college admission and predicting academic performance in college.

Joe Jefferson, executive secretary of the Association of College Admissions Counselors, spoke on trends and techniques in identifying, motivating, and assisting students who are overlooked by conventional admissions and financial aid efforts.

College students talked about their outlook on today's society in a "What We Believe" panel. Moderated by Dean of Students Mary F. Lichliter, the five Lindenwood students were: Imogene Elrod, Siloam Springs, Ark.; Havala Henderson, Arkadelphia, Ark.; Vivian Lane, Morrilton, Ark.; Patricia Sharpe, Manitowoc, Wis.; and Bylle Snyder, Scott City, Kans.

President and Mrs. F. L. McCluer gave a dinner in honor of the conference guests in the Garden Room of Cobbs Hall Monday night of the conference. The dinner was followed by Prof. Groff S. Bittner's piano recital in Roemer Hall. Members of the faculty honored the conferees at a reception following the recital.

"Interpreting the Secondary School Program," a panel discussion moderated by Nat Ober, principal, Clayton High School, opened the last day of the conference. Participating were: Justin W. Brierly, coordinator of college and scholarship guidance, Denver Public Schools, Denver, Colo.; Dr. Louise Paine, college and vocational consultant, Glenbrook High Schools, Northbrook, Ill.; Mrs. Dorothy Roudebush, senior girls' advisor, John Burroughs School, St. Louis; and Mrs. Fredda Witherspoon, senior counselor, Northwest High School, St. Louis.

Dr. Edwin Fenton, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., spoke on the enrichment of school and college through advanced placement later that morning. Following luncheon, Dr. Ben Cameron, Jr., vice president of College Entrance Examination Board, gave the concluding address, "Admissions Today and in the Years Ahead."

Guests departed from the campus late in the afternoon of the third day.

FUND DRIVE REPORT

Our Alumnae Annual Giving Program for 1964, planned and prepared during the summer by Fund Chairman Diane Stanley and her battery of class secretaries, was launched Oct. 2. This is the first campaign to be set up and executed under the Alumnae Association's constitutional changes designed to coordinate association activities more closely with the calendar and fiscal year of the college.

Although a final report cannot be given until later, the main thrust of the drive was planned for October through December. We wouldn't be human if we didn't wonder "How are we doing?"

In ten brief weeks we have received gifts amounting to $10,412.00 from 747 loyal LC Alumnae, a figure only slightly below that for all of 1963.

The top classes as of this date, Dec. 10, are:
1932 $613.00 26 Donors
1949 491.00 19 Donors
1928 485.00 21 Donors

"Much credit," said Diane, "is due to the effective and persuasive role played by the new class secretaries which almost all classes now have. I saw many of the letters these secretaries wrote to their classmates, and whether from the class of 1908 to the class of 1964, these notes were personable, uniquely different letters which seem to have convinced our alumnae of the need for contributions. The writing, reproducing and mailing of these letters required a good deal of work on the part of the secretaries and our alumnae office, but I think the results of the campaign show that the effort was well worthwhile," she concluded.

Time has not run out for the 1964 campaign. Alumnae, back your wonderful class secretaries; let's raise participation in every class and let's try for a rousing $15,000 in gifts from individual LC alumnae before a final report appears in a future BULLETIN.

Thank you secretaries and 747 contributors for your support through early December!

PARENTS' DAY BRINGS LARGEST NUMBER TO VISIT CAMPUS

Parents' Day Oct. 10 brought the largest number of Lindenwood parents to campus since the annual events have been held.

The day began with registration in the residence halls and day students' room, followed by coffee in the Garden Room, Cobbs Hall.

Following the convocation at which Dr. Manning M. Pattillo, associate director of the Danforth Foundation, spoke, separate luncheons were held for the mothers and daughters and for the fathers of students.

Academic and administrative offices open house preceded the open house held in the residence halls that afternoon. A smorgasbord dinner completed the day's activities.

No greater tradition in the academic world than that of collegiate education in the arts and sciences in the context of the Christian faith exists, Dr. Manning M. Pattillo, associate director, the Danforth Foundation, told parents and students at Parents' Day Convocation Oct. 10.

"Lindenwood belongs to a great tradition . . . a conception of education which, in its essentials, has stood the test of some 15 centuries," he said. "At its best it is a broad and general education in that it emphasizes the arts of thought and communication and the principles which should govern personal and public affairs.

"It is the most useful kind of education, in the best sense of the word 'useful,' because its value is not restricted to a particular occupation, a particular time or place, a particular stratum of society.

"It is a liberating education. It is the best education for responsible living in a rapidly changing world such as ours, because, soundly conceived, it gives the student an understanding of the values that are most conserving in our heritage and of how they may be the guiding principles of the future. If there is a single word that describes the highest aspiration of liberal arts colleges for their graduates, that word is probably 'wisdom.'

Having asked the question, "What makes a good liberal arts college?" Dr. Pattillo stressed the need for a carefully designed curriculum, an atmosphere of intellectual ferment, and the ultimate effect of a college on its students.

"Not only should there be balance and breadth in the curriculum, so that the student has an opportunity to sample the broad fields of the arts and sciences, but the curriculum should provide for the common body of knowledge and intellectual skills which are essential to the liberally educated person," he declared, in Alumnae whose daughters are currently enrolled at Lindenwood College were invited to meet with Mrs. F. L. McCluer and Mary Jean DuHadway Craig, alumnae association president, in the Garden Room of Cobbs Hall, Saturday, Oct. 10, as a part of the college's Parents' Day.

Among those welcomed by Mrs. McCluer and Mrs. Craig were: Madeline Carr Vasterling '35, and daughter Mary Beth; Charlotte Williams Tower '39, and Kathy; Betty Butler Fitzpatrick '37, and Michele; Dorothy Jeanne Gray Barkley '44, and Karen and Bobbie; Nellie Ruth Don Carlos Anderson '28, and Susan; Mary Louise Wood Brunsman '36, and Barbara; and Phyllis Durbahn Hutchinson '41, and Karen.

discussing the need for a carefully designed curriculum.

Pointing out that the "humanities and the arts, perhaps in imitation of other disciplines, have often been taught in a technical way that made them unsuited to the general student," the speaker, while admitting that many undergraduates have been deprived of experiences "which would enrich their lives," found "happily . . . indications that this is being corrected."

Dr. Pattillo said that "without in any way hampering other studies, the arts are now flourishing on many campuses, and the humanities show signs of revival."

The atmosphere of intellectual ferment, he said, "is manifested in the encouragement of independent study and thought, in the involvement of the faculty and students in the intellectual issues of the day, in freedom of discussion, in the centrality of the library in the academic economy, in the educational aspirations of graduates, and in other ways. Without intellectual excitement liberal education becomes a barren affair."

Discussing the ultimate effect of a college on its students, Dr. Pattillo accentuated the institution's need to contribute to "a vital faith, a framework of fundamental belief, that gives meaning to life. This should be a faith that has something to say about the inescapable realities of life—good and evil, joy and suffering, death, history, God—a faith that will stand the test of time. It should be the student's own in the sense that it is a part of him—he has thought it through—probably not his own in the sense that he invented it."

Dr. Pattillo expressed the belief "that Lindenwood possesses . . . in good measure" these characteristics of a strong liberal arts college.

ON CAMPUS

Lindenwood College began its 138th academic year in September with the largest enrollment in the history of the college. The 705 students enrolled come from 39 states and 10 foreign countries.

The greatest number of students enrolled from one state is from Missouri; Illinois and Texas are second and third, respectively, with numbers in attendance.

Forty-four freshmen were recognized as honor scholars at an honors convocation Sept. 24. Howard F. Streeter, news director of KTVI, Channel 2, St. Louis, was the guest speaker. To be recognized, a freshman either ranked in the upper five per cent of her high school graduating class or had a verbal or mathematics score on College Entrance Examination Board aptitude tests in excess of 700.

Groff S. Bittner, assistant professor of music, presented a piano recital Oct. 12 in Roemer Auditorium. Included in his program were three sonatas by Scarlatti, Haydn's sonata in G Major, Chopin's B Flat Minor Sonata, and Sonata No. 8, opus 85, by Prokofieff.

Arthur L. Kanak, artist in residence at Lindenwood, was presented in a one-man show of his recent work at Art-Mart II Gallery, 9983 Manchester Rd., St. Louis County during October. Twenty-four of his oil paintings were included in the exhibit.

A faculty art show of works by Miss Sandra Munch, Art Kanak, and John Wehmer of the college's art department faculty were exhibited in early October in the Roemer Gallery.

Ethel Winter Dance Company presented a lecturedemonstration at Lindenwood Oct. 7 in Roemer Auditorium. Miss Winter, a soloist for many years with the Martha Graham Company, has toured the United States, Europe, and the Orient. When not on tour with her own dance company, she teaches at the Julliard School of Music and the Martha Graham School. A mother-daughter banquet and style show was held in November in Fellowship Hall by Lindenwood College day students. More than 100 persons, including sponsors, mothers, and special guests were in attendance.

Damie Brownlee, Marshalltown, Ia., was chosen to reign over the fourth annual Lindenwood College Cotillion when the dance was held at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel Nov. 5.

Miss Brownlee was chosen from a slate of eight candidates previously selected to represent each dormitory and the day students. Members of her court were: Patricia Pope, Wentzville; Ann Smith, Webster Groves, Mo.; Barbara Dickgiesser, Woodbridge, Conn.; Joyce Jurgensen, Clinton, Ia.; Anita Pope, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Margaret Duffy, Cleveland Heights, O.; and Irene Ritter, Centerville, Ia.

"The Many Faces of Dance," portraying ballet, jazz, abstract, hula, and comedy, was presented by Orchesis, Lindenwood College's modern dance club, early in November.

Dr. C. Eugene Conover, dean of the chapel and chairman of the department of philosophy and religion at Lindenwood College, has been conducting an adult education course in Christian Ethics in the School for Presbyterians. The school is a joint educational program for the Presbyterian churches in the northern part of St. Louis County and St. Charles.

David Mulbury, assistant professor of music at Lindenwood, gave an organ recital Nov. 29 at the Church of St. Michael and St. George, 6345 Wydown Blvd., Clayton. His recital was the first of four Sunday concerts presented during Advent by the church.

Reah Sadowsky, internationally known pianist, appeared in recital at Lindenwood College Dec. 1. The artist played Bach's "Sheep May Safely Graze," in a transcription dedicated to her by the late Marian Bauer; "Chromatic Fantasie and Fugue," by Bach; "Etude Symphonique," Schumann; and "Pictures at an Exhibition," Moussorgsky.

CINCINNATI

Zeke Curtin
The Cincinnati Lindenwood College Club has been restored to active status under the co-chairmanship of Zeke Curtin and Serita Humphner Inglis.

A pienic luncheon was held at Serita's home Sept. 12 with the following in attendance: Vera Langenbacher Hutcheson, June Burba Mullins, Nancy Jo Van Gundy Shelton, Carolyn Harig, Sandy Young, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Alene Taylin, and Mrs. William Young.

Colored slides and photographs were sent by the college to bring the group up to date with the physical appearance of the campus.

A December dessert is planned for Dec. 29 at the home of Mrs. John Anderson, mother of Judy Anderson Sipple, who will be in Cincinnati from the holidays. Sacramento, Calif., for the holidays. Also attending will be June Tavlin, an admissions counselor for Lindenwood living at Princeton, New Jersey. Special guests for the meeting will be six present students: Barbara Bloss, Pat Gardiner, Carolyn Harig, Nancy Her-riott, Pamela Koehl, and Sandy Young. A newsletter of local and campus events, trying to tell the story of Lin-denwood, is being written and distributed to area alumnae and friends by an unknown personage writing under the name of "Cindy-Lindy." She professes to be no one in particular but all area alums in onc.

Alumnae moving to Cincinnati are urged to make their presence known by calling either Serita, 321-0061, or Zeke, 931-1535, for information concerning the meetings.

GREATER KANSAS CITY Betty Hunter Shannon

Greater Kansas City alumnae began their fall program of meetings with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Paul Thompson Sept. 24. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. William L. Bridges, Jr., Mrs. Robert T. Price, and Mrs. Dan R. Blount.

The October meeting, an evening des-sert session, was held Oct. 22 at the home of Mrs. Arnold Shaw. Mrs. Ed-win L. Zanders and Mrs. Dale Fritson were hostesses.

The home of Mrs. R. Kenneth Elliott was the meeting place for our November luncheon, Nov. 19. Hostesses were Mrs. William M. Clifton, Mrs. Donald E. Kuenzi, and Mrs. Paul Elliott.

Of special interest is the newly formed Lindenwood College Mothers' Club which has as its president, Mrs. Frank S. Gilmore, 6423 Summit. Mrs. Merle E. Maltby, 1825 E. 74th, has been elected secretary. The members were entertained at a coffee Oct. 31 at the ham of Duka Stainback Raston. the home of Dyke Steinbeck Barton.

which was a talk on conditions in India. Using color slides, she told of her experiences as the only woman in a group of eight teachers given a Fulbright grant for three months' study of educational problems in India.

The June meeting, scheduled to be held at the home of Janey Rasdal Kuska with Pep Perry Kaiser, Vine Olcott Coffey, and Mildred Melsheimer Johnson assisting, had to be cancelled because of illness.

The first meeting of this year was held Oct. 24 at the home of Geraldine Hamblin Gobruegge, with her mother, Mrs. Martha Hamblin, Thelma Harpe Ogden, and her mother, Mrs. Jack Harpe, assisting. Nincteen were present and the report of the nominating comand the report of the nominating committee was unanimously approved and officers elected to serve during the coming year.

The program was given by Hubert Ogden and consisted of three more of the delightfully instructive documentary movies made by one of his friends. Because of conflicting holiday dates, the November and December meetings of the club will be combined on Dec. 5 for the annual Christmas party.

TWO SERVE ON ALUMNAE COUNCIL

Two Alumnae Council appointments have been announced by Mary Jean DuHadway Craig, association president.

Louise McGraw Hodgson '47, who served as Alumnae Reunion Chairman in 1961, is the mother of three daughters. She and her husband, a St. Louis orthodontist, live at 7322 Ravinia Dr., St. Louis 63121. She fills an unexpired term ending May, 1966.

Mrs. Hodgson, in addition to her role as homemaker and wife of a busy professional man, finds time for graduate work at Washington University where she is working toward a master's degree in counseling and guidance.

Gloria Bagwell Richardson '59, whose term expires in May, 1967, continued her studies at Southwestern in Memphis, Tenn., after leaving Lindenwood. "It was never the same as my days in St. Charles," she says.

Having served as a teller in a local bank until she met her husband-to-be and gave up ideas of a carcer in New York, she and Charlie were married in December, 1961, after he had opened a west coast plant for his

The Richardsons live in Gilroy, Calif., at 50 South Miller; their daughter, Ashley Brooks, will be two years old next spring. A two-year-old cat, Tristan, completes the Richardson household.

Barbara Miller Webster, 716 Virginia Ter., Santa Paula, Calif., an educator since 1911, died after a brief illness. Mrs. Webster was born in Sparta, Ill. She began her teaching career in 1906; in the early 20's she was appointed principal of a new school which was later named the Barbara Webster School in her honor. Mrs. Webster is credited with organizing the first group of Camp Fire Girls in Santa Paula. She served her community through her church, the Eastern Star, the National Retired Teachers' Assoc., the Soroptimist Club, and was one of the founders of the PTA organization.

Marguerite Urban Krueger (Mrs. A. J.), 229 Kerruish Pl., Webster Groves, is serving as one of three judges in the Greater St. Louis area Search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Mrs. Krueger, in addition to her role as homemaker, has made a career of conservation. She has been recognized for her work with numerous statewide awards.

Our Round Robin came just in time to report on the activities of the Class of '08.

It makes its round about once a year and we all look forward to it. Some of our classmates have not been back at Lindenwood for some time, and we are Lindenwood for some time, and we are hoping we may have a reunion in the near future so that they may come. Each appreciates The Bulletin.

Romaine Whitley Brown (Mrs. Horace M.), 1505 Elm St., Eldorado, Ill., wrote in September that she was leaving for Marion, Ind., to be with a daughter until October at which time she will go to Boston for three months. Her son, who returned from Saigon in Her son, who returned from Saigon in March, is teaching military tactics and military law at North Eastern University in Boston.

Ethel Spencer Craven (Mrs. J. C.), 902 Baileyana Rd., Hillsborough, Calif., has lived there for two years. Mrs. Craven writes that she formerly belonged to a San Francisco Bay Area Lindenwood Club. Following the death of several close friends who were members of the club, Mrs. Craven found keeping up her membership impossible. She writes that she enjoys many activities and visits her sister frequently.

Louise D. Ferguson, 416 N. 3rd, Augusta, Ark. 72006, tells us she enjoys reading, does lots of church work, and occasionally does substitute teaching.

Mary Barton Ferguson (Mrs. D. K.), 25 S. Brunswick, Marshall, Mo., lives alone, her husband having passed away in 1959. Mrs. Ferguson spends part of alone, her husband having passed away in 1959. Mrs. Ferguson spends part of each year in Denver with a daughter and grandchild, a girl of 11 years.

Irene Greason Haworth (Mrs. J. L.), 633 Poplar St., Poplar Bluff, Mo., receives our sincere sympathy on the deaths in her family recently. One, her sister, Lucile Greason '04, lived next door, and is greatly missed. Mrs.

Haworth is thankful for her good health and enjoys reading, T.V., and her Literary Club membership.

Nell Green Houser (Mrs. Hern), 701
N. 15th St., McAllen, Tex., tells us she does church and club work and also runs her husband's business since he has been ill for several years. She is excited about the three-year fellowship which her grandson received in Sep-tember to study at Vanderbilt Univer-sity. He will study Spanish art, literature, and history with plans for receiving his doctorate at the end of the third

From Frances Fales Hough (Mrs. Wm. Haven't seen 'Muffet' in years but know of her continued loyalty; 'Kinks' is one of my dearest friends. I have fond memories of Lindenwood and am overjoyed to read of its progress. Keep it up!"

Cornelia Powel DuHadway (Mrs. F. A.) 304 N. Lafayette Jerseyville, Ill. 18

We wish to extend sincerest sympathy to the family and friends of Hazel Rea Calvert who died Aug. 21, in Turney, Mo. Mrs. W. G. Dickey, Hazel's sister, has written us that she brought her "little sister to Lindenwood and she spoke often of her pleasant campus memories."

Through Louise Paine '36, we have learned of the death of Maude Arveson Sept. 4, 1964. Maude was a guidance counselor in the Glenbrook North High School in Northbrook, Ill. We extend our sympathy to her family and friends, and especially to her sister, Elizabeth Arveson Seidell, (Mrs. Harry) also of the class of '25, whose home is in the Fox Apartments, Merrill, Wisc.

Ruth Wertz Morton (Mrs. T. J., Jr.) Old Stone House—Rt. 1 Newburgh, Indiana

About the time my fund letter was making its way to you, Tom and I were beginning to "do" Europe. The highlight of our trip was a week in October in Northern Scotland shooting grouse. After all the business of the crowded European cities, Scotland in itself is a treat. My husband says "the grouse of Scotland" is the fastest flying bird in the world.

I have heard from two more of us: Faye Elder Lamb (Mrs. J. W.), originally from Chicago, has been living in Newport, N.C., since 1949. She says she remembers me and she thinks she remembers a house which must be ours along the highway near Evansville. Dur-

The second newcomer to the column is Kathryn Porter Allen (Mrs. L. E.) 1407 S.W. 21st St., Miami 45, Fla. Kathryn writes, "We left Illinois in the summer of 1940 and have reared our girls here. Both graduated from Florida State (too far from LC), one a music State (too far from LC), one a music major and the other a home economics major, and both taught in their fields.

The girls are married, have daughters (we are a girl family) and live in the Lakeland-Bartow area. When the girls were young, I worked in scouting and enjoyed it. I have always been busy with church work and lean to working with little ones, four and five years old. For the past three years I have found volun-teer work at Baptist Hospital a very re-warding experience. My husband is with a large cafeteria chain and is kept quite busy. Last summer on a trip to Illinois I couldn't resist driving to Lindenwood. Of course, the campus was quiet, but what a thrill it was to see all the new buildings and changes. I hadn't been back since '35.

"We do have a LC club here, but distances are a problem. Last year Gladys Campbell Billings came down from Palm Beach for a number of our meetings, and I enjoyed seeing and talk-ing with her so much. Then I learned that Carolyn (Sukey) Kelley Fry lives in Pompano Beach, so we drove up to see her and renew another old friend-ship. Hadn't seen her since our fresh-man year in 1924. I am sure that many LC girls come to Miami from time to time, and I would love to see any who come this way. It took me a long time to write, but I've surely made up for

No, it isn't odd, Nancy, that you have found the much-wanted advantages of city life can't match the warm hearts of city life can't match the warm hearts and gentle people of smaller communities. You are so right—this has to be experienced to be realized. You recall the day in April, 1936, when you stopped by my folks' home in Herrin, Ill., with Adele Cote Dayton and Juanita Jones Hafeli to have a look at our new son, George? Well, as of Nov. 16, 1964, he is the father of his third little girl-baby.

Evelyn has been active in all that has concerned her children as they grew up; and now that two of them they grew up; and now that two of them are away from home, she has become active in volunteer hospital work—and baby sitting for that grandson. "My story has been a routine one, I suspect, but our children have been good students and have provided a very happy career." When Evelyn wrote, she and her husband were just getting ready to her husband were just getting ready to leave on a vacation in Hawaii—hope you both had a big time.

Frances Hamacher (Mrs. S. B. Nelson, Jr.) 6504 Vanderbilt, Houston, Tex., 77005: Frances taught for three years after graduating from the University of Missouri. During the war she was with ARC and spent 18 months in England. Following her marriage, Frances stayed home long enough to have two daughters and then returned to teaching in 1958; and she is still teaching music in the elementary schools. Frances' husband has a furniture store and also sells real estate. The Nelsons are members of the First Presbyterian Church where Frances is the pianist of her Sunday School Class. "My hobbies are people, sewing, reading, cooking, and anything musical."

Virginia Wilkerson (Mrs. James McNeil) 1617 W. 7th St., Sedalia, Mo.: Virginia was one of our 1937 grads from LC. She married a banker who has now retired. They have no children, but Virginia keeps busy with her work in the Episcopal Church, the work in the Episcopal Church, the AAUW, and P.E.O. "We travel quite a lot and just returned from New York where we did the Fair and some plays."

Elizabeth Bowen (Mrs. Morgan H. Waller) 147 Boulevard, Shreveport, La.: Elizabeth went on to SMU and LSU after leaving Lindenwood, but says she wishes she had gone back to LC. Her husband is a farmer or planter. They husband is a farmer or planter. They have two children-Melinda, who teach-

Marjorie Pratt: (Mrs. Willard Verba) 1690 Country Club Dr., Marion, Ia.: I stopped in on Marge about a month ago—first time I had seen her since 1936. She lived on third floor Niccolls, you may remember. She did-Niccolls, you may remember. She didn't know it at the time, but this was a great help to her in her future life. Now she and her husband operate a printing company on the third floor of a Cedar Rapids, Ia., building. There is no elevator, so she is still keeping young and in shape by climbing those stairs. I was glad when I got to the top-don't believe I am in quite as good a shape as she is. We all sympathize with Marge in the recent loss of her son-in-law, killed in a plane crash in Okinawa.

To those of you who have sent in Alumnae fund checks—we thank you.
We have a long way to go to get that 100%. We're looking forward to hearing from the rest of you real soon. BBF

Helen Ann Squier Lawson died in Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 2. We extend our sincere sympathy to Lt. Col. Charles F. Lawson, UCA-Ret., Helen's husband, to her son, Charles, Jr., and to her father, R. Harold Squier, who lives in Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Tulsa, Okla. Ruth Pinnell, 109 Roney Ln., Syracuse, N.Y. 13210, tells us that from February to August she was in Europe on a sabbatical leave from her teaching duties at Syracuse University. She spent three months in London studying privately with Maggie Teyte and "hearing all kinds of music." In June Ruth attended an International Congress of Contemporary Music in Hamburg, Germany, along with a master class with Lotte Lehmann in Vienna.

The balance of the time spent in Europe was given to leisurely traveling and attending music festivals all over the continent. Ruth reports that it was particularly gratifying to meet former students and to hear the fine work they are doing.

Virginia Morsey Wheeler (Mrs. A.), an attorney with offices at 3601 Cumberland St., N.W., Washington 8, D.C., brings us up-to-date with news that she resigned from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Develop-ment (World Bank) in 1959 after 12 years as a lawyer in the legal depart-ment to marry Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler (U.S. Army, retired) who was then engineering adviser on the staff of the World Bank.

Since 1959, Virginia has done some private legal practice, including short-term assignments for the United Nations. In the last five years, she and her husband have always traveled as a team, he doing the engineering and she the legal aspects of projects. Assign-ments for the World Bank, the United Nations, or for other clients have taken them around the world four times with several additional trips to the Middle East, the Congo, and Western Canada. "During 1964 we have been in Izmir, Turkey, to visit our daughter, son-in-law, and two granddaughters. (Our son-in-law is in the regular Army and is stationed in Izmir at present. Since I married a widower, I had the pleasure of having all of them as a part of our wedding party.) We also went to Kuwait to advise on a water supply project," she writes, "and to Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, and Viet Nam to inspect proposed projects for development of the Mekong River; and three times to British Columbia, Canada, in con-nection with dams to be built in Canada under the Columbia River treaty be-tween the United States and Canada."

Helen McLane Tobin (Mrs. Morris) writes she was brainwashed two years ago into teaching English and social studies until a permanent teacher was secured. The replacement did not materialize, so she is still teaching and loving every minute of it. She had a wonderful visit last summer in Washington, D.C. with Joan Houghton Williams '42, and her family. Helen's oldest son, John, 19, a junior at Hanover College, was working for a congressman so they stopped by while on an eastern trip. Helen also suggests a 1939-42 reunion some year between June 1 and Sept. 1. Helen's address is

Julia Johnston Stegall, 101 S. Mul-berry, Sallisaw, Okla., has been busy since L.C. days as vocational home economics teacher for hundreds of girls in Sallisaw High School for 17 years. Her most important student is her daughter Becky, who also attended L.C. during the 1961-62 school year. Becky is now a senior at Oklahoma U. majoring in special education. Julia was back once when she went for Becky and remarked on the growth of the school but that the campus still seems the same run to the swings. Miriam Foster Ball (Mrs. Chester W.) 410 West Sixth St., Hays, Kan., writes she thoroughly enjoys THE BUL-LETIN and usually reads it from cover to cover. Her oldest daughter, Margery, is married and has a son and daughter, two and four, respectively. Their other two daughters, Sandra and Can-dace, are a senior and junior in high dace, are a senior and junior in high school. She and her husband are engaged in farming and raising cattle. In addition, he works with the Metropolitan Service Association which sets politan Service Association which sets up a program for rehabilitating paroled prisoners.

Mardell Seeley Finsel (Mrs. Frank L.), 805 South 18th St., Ft. Smith, Ark., is at the University of Arkansas Department of Public Welfare where she has worked for two years. She writes: "My family has scattered in the last two years—one son was in the Navy until September this year, and the other is now in the Navy for a four-year period—leaving my youngest, a daughter, Joan, my husband, and my-self. Frank is now 'holding down the fort' so to speak five days a week in Ft. Smith, while Joan and I have taken up temporary residence in Fayetteville for a few months. She attends the tenth grade at Fayetteville High School and I am in the college of arts and sciences at the University."

Thought I might add a word about the Orths to help fill up our space. Our daughter, Kay Lee, is a sophomore at Kansas University and will be a junior second semester. She attended two sum-mer sessions at S.M.U. in Dallas last summer. She lives at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. Bill, my brother, and my father comprise the Wagner Drilling Co., with offices here in El Dorado. Bill is an avid orchid grower and spends much time with his babies. With our one child gone we stay busy with two poodles and much outside civic and church work.

46 Gence Head Schuhert (Mrs. L. George) 1100 Rose Lane Hobbs, New Mexico

After a busy summer, we have launched an even busier fall and winter here in Hobbs. I am a Brownie leader again, this time for Jennifer and 14 other seven-year-olds. With my five years previous experience in Brownies and Cubs, I feel that I am practically a professional. Also, the Junior Service League has started its annual toy workshop for needy children and this is most time consuming, but very rewarding.

News from our class has continued to come in this fall. Betty Kilbury Terry (Mrs. Wm. L.), 4817 Country Club Blvd., Little Rock, Ark., writes of a busy life with three daughters, Susan, 7, Ellen, 13, and Beth, 16. They are active in many civic activities, follow the Razorback football team, and the girls participate in swimming and horseback riding.

Another mother of three daughters is Shannon Dr., Ft. Worth 16, Tex. They are Pam, 16, Sandra, 13, and Lynnda, 9. All are Girl Scouts and Jimmy is the leader from the Senior troop which is working toward a European trip in 1966. She also helps out with a Cadette troop and a junior troop and is neighborhood chairman. Her husband is with Spencer Chemical Company Divi-sion of Gulf Oil Corp.

An exciting trip to New York, Paris, and London with her husband and a and London with her husband and a group of Ford dealers and their wives was reported by Margaret Chace Corbett, (Mrs. Wm. Cyrilka Roseberry Mellor (Mrs. Stanley R.) 2060 Dexter, Denver, Colo. 80207, is "Silky's" new address. She has given me a resume of the last few years to bring her up-to-date. In 1958 she started working part-time for Den-ver Public Schools. This became full time and lasted five years, during which time she completed two years of chemistry and a semester of comparative vertebrate anatomy at the Denver Exten-sion Center of Colorado U. Then came one year of training, like an internship, for medical technology. In May, 1964, she completed 50 weeks of a medical technology course at the Colorado University Medical School. She passed the national registry in July, is registered, and on the job full time at Presbyterian Hospital in the chemistry laboratory. Silky has three children — Mike, 15, Margaret, 13½, and Jenny, 10.

Keep the news coming, along with any pictures you might have. Hope to hear that many of you are already making plans to come back for the alumnae reunion, May 1, 1965. Get a group together and start thinking about it now.

Wish I had as many gals to report on as we had in the last BULLETIN. So take pen in hand, gals, and write to me. Do enclose a picture of yourself or your family. Any good sharp snapshot will do beautifully.

I had a most pleasant surprise when I answered my phone one hot day this summer. Georgia Wanderer Griswold was on the line. She and her family were in from California visiting her parents, and she invited John and me over for the evening. Hadn't seen her since my wedding 14 years ago.

After exchanging the "you-haven't-changed-a-bit" line (and truly, Georgia still looks like a college gal), we settled down to a wonderful evening of reminiscing and catching up on news of mutual friends. "George" and her husband, Dick, who is with General Motors, have two sons and a daughter. I had a most pleasant surprise when had so much time on her hands after the children started school, that she the children started school, that she put her secretarial training to good use as a Girl Friday for a group of doctors in a medical clinic. She finds being a medical secretary very absorbing.

Her. address is 17150 Simonds, Granada Hills, Calif.

Carol Cory Stephens (Mrs. J. P.) of 10565 Le Mans Dr., Dallas, Tex. 75238, is another career-girlie-mother. Carol met her husband. Iim at Oklas.

Carol met her husband, Jim, at Oklahoma State U. and married him in 1947. Along with caring for two boys, Jamie, 10, and Mark Cory, 3, Carol is secretary for her husband, who is with U.S. Borax and Chemical Corp. in agricultural chemical sales. She manages beautifully with one eye on the lively boys and the other on the typewriter.

She went on in her letter to say, "We lived in Cuba from 1953 to 1959 and enjoyed it immensely the first four years. The last two were hair raisers since we were there at the time Fidel was taking over. My husband was kidnapped for seven days, which was quite an experi-

I was exhausted just reading about the activities of the Cadle family. How Doris Fay Cadle does it, I don't know. No one could be busier, but she found time to write me a most interesting letter. Just listen to all this:

Doris, who lives at 202 N. Burton, Springfield, Mo. 65802, has four chil-dren who are usually headed in four different directions at once.

Her oldest, Judith Louise, is a 17year-old high school senior, who has a 3.6 average. Judi was presented last spring at the Junior Assembly by Southwest Missouri Museum Associates of which Doris is a member. Margret Anne is 16 and in her junior year and like her sister maintains high grades like her sister maintains high grades. Math and science are her main interest. Both girls make their own clothes.

James Andrew, 13, who answers to the less formal name of Andy, sounds as if he is following in his sister's footsteps with good grades in school and many extra-curricular accomplishments. He received the Y.M.C.A. athletic award, is a Star Scout, is senior patrol leader, and guite a football player. Then there is Douglas Lee, 10, who Doris says is his mother's child, a dreamer and procrastinator. Doris' busband, Jim, travels for Bauer and Black, and was high man in sales in the U.S. last Spring! She writes that in the U.S. last Spring! She writes that a great deal of her time has been spent with Brownie Scouts, Campfire Girls, and Cub Scouts (three years a den mother and two years training den mothers). She was the first recipient of the scouting "Award of Merit" in her council and may be the only female holder of the award. It reads "in recognition of his devoted and sincere services." Currently Doris is program chairman of her art group and treasurer of man of her art group and treasurer of the Church Guild.

It is back to the changing diapers and making formula routine for Nan Amis Barmueller. A baby daughter, Jill Ann, joined the Barmueller family Oct. 27. Congratulations, Nan. Jill Ann has a sister, Susan, 13, and a brother, Jeffrey, 9. Nan's new address is Mrs. J. R. Barmueller, 1008 Rolling Pass, Glenview, Ill.

That's my news for now. I nominate Doris for the 49er award of this issue.

Doris for the 49er award of this issue, if we had one. Three years a den mother! 1965 will soon be here. Please make a resolution—write to your class secretary. All of these gals who have written say how much they enjoy reading the Class Notes. So keep us posted. We do so enjoy hearing about you and your families. Won't you share your joys of achievements, large or small, with us. Until the next issue then, good wishes to you all for the coming year. And when you get that 1965 calendar circle the date May 1. That's Reunion Day. I'll be there and I hope many of you will, too.—MKB.

Kansas City 18, Missouri Three wonderful letters to begin the revival of the Class of 1951! My fondest wish is to share the entire contents with all, but we must leave some space for the other classes.

How is this for a beginning? Martha Caroline arrived Aug. 19 to join Anne Reid, 11, Robert, 10, John, 5, and Frederick, 3. Don has been in his new office, which he and his partners in general practice built, a year now.

The climate and scenery and flowers and beaches are fabulous. We've bought a house just three doors from the beach and we have a sunfish we launch through the surf so we really enjoy the water." Mary Ann has three girls — Leslie, 9½, in the fourth grade at Punchou School in Honolulu, Kelly, 3½, in a French nursery school, and Ann, 2, at home.

Her outside activities include studying sculpture working with the church-

ing sculpture, working with the church-women of the Episcopal Church, and the Outdoor Circle—a group largely responsible for keeping Hawaii physically

Another letter from Hawaii tells about Bertha Chun Wong (Mrs. Richard), 2043-B Makiki St., Honolulu, Hawaii 96822. Bertha's three children Debbie, eighth grade, Michael, 10, fifth grade, Marybeth, 7, second grade, are enrolled in Punahou School. Dick, whom Bertha dated while at L.C., is in private practice and the deputy medical examiner for the 50th state.

Bertha writes, "I will be looking forward to the next issue of The BULLETIN to see what the other members of our class are doing."

Bettye Thompson Signer (Mrs. John), Arcadia, Mo., writes, "It doesn't seem possible that 10 years have elapsed since those wonderful days. I always have good intentions of writing those I knew, but you know how that goes. You asked what I was doing. To compare myself with those who have really accomplished something, I feel a little insignificant.
John and I have two wonderful children, Janis Gay, eight, and in the third grade, and John Keven, five, who tells me what he wants. John is quite busy me what he wants. John is quite busy in Rotary, civic organizations and his business of retailing. As for me, I'm trying to organize a Brownie group. Our PTA is an active organization and I'm publicity chairman. Besides this I'm a golfer, bridge player, and at present am antiquing a piece of furniture and knitting a suit."

Gloria Stribling Pettijohn (Mrs. James) 5222 N. Wayne, Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I'll bring you up to date on my life since leaving Lindenwood. I completed my education at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, Mo. My major was elementary education and I taught the following four years in the North Kansas City, Mo., school district. During my last year of teaching, I married Jim who is a pilot with Trans World Airlines. Jim and I are both active in church projects. We have two children Douglas, 7, and Laurie, 5. I find myself becoming involved in school affairs. This year I'm on the PTA executive board serving as membership chairman. I'm also a room mother for Doug's class." Gloria said that she hopes to attend an alumnae meeting in Kansas City and to revisit the campus.

I was interested in how Gloria's and Bettye's activities sounded much like my own. Vern and I have three children, Lawrence, 7, and in the second grade, Susan, 3½, and in Central Preschool, and Sarah, 2, my helper! Vern and I are both active at Central Presbyterian Church, he serving on the session and I on the St. Louis Presbyterial Board and cochairman. I'm also terial Board and co-chairman. I'm also vice-president of my PEO chapter and Vern is master of his Masonic Lodge. Alice Walthall Taylor (Mrs. W. Z.)

Received a long newsy letter from Alice Vignocchi Demichelis (Mrs. Robert). They are now living at 1088 Griffith, Lake Forest, Ill. Alice and Bob were married in 1956 and have four children. Their eldest, Deanna (named after Deanna "Dinky" Isenberg —LC 53) is 9, Robert, Jr., 8, Stephen, 6, and Julia, 5. Bob is a lawyer and does a great deal of traveling and Alice says occasionally she goes along too. Last year they were in New York City where they spent an evening with Dinky and Aaron Marcus. Last summer the family took a camping trip to California and on their way home stopped to see George and Romaine Gibson (53) Morgan. Also the Demichelis family stopped on campus, and though no one was around, Alice enjoyed showing her family her school. Bob is a director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Alice is active on the Junior board of scholarship and guidance, a Red Feather Agency.

The Nowlin family was passing through Burlington, Ia., last August and I had hoped to see Mary Davis Reed (Mrs. George) '54 but unfortunately missed her. I did receive a nice letter from her, and the Reeds have three boys. George is manager for a Savings and Loan Co. They live on West Ave. Mary reports the family spent some time with sister Jan (Davis Hancock) and her family last summer. The Robert Hancocks live at 2 Linbergh Rd., Wakefield, Mass. Mary told of Jan's lovely summer home in New Hampshire where they spend their summers. May 1 may sound like a LONG way off, but really it's a lot closer than we realize and it's our TENTH reunion. Doesn't seem possible, but I hope we will all put forth a little effort and try to make this re-union. Get in contact with old friends, and if you need addresses, let me know and I'll send them to you; but let's really make this a BIG ONE. Keep those wonderful letters coming. Thank you.

Your response to our class BULLETIN news has been terrific, and I have been so delighted to receive so many personal letters from you. It is encouraging to know that the Class of 1960 still has the strong enthusiasm for Lindenwood that we had while attending L.C. Now is a good time for all of us to start making plans to attend our Fifth Anniversary Reunion May 1, 1965. I hope each one of us can make an effort to attend. I'll see you in May on campus.

A few of our class members have been "lost." If any of you should know the whereabouts of the following, please let me know:

The snow has begun to fall again. By the looks of my mail several of our class have had quite a busy fall.

I received a wedding announcement from Marcelle Colette Dubois. Colette was an exchange student from France, 1959-1960. She became the bride of Robert Norten Van Den Berg on October 10, 1964, at the "Nederlandse Protes-tanten Bond" Church in Hardinxveld-giessendam, Holland. Their new ad-dress: Pensionarisstraat 112, Gorinchem, Holland.

An interesting letter from Linda Spradlin tells of her varied and re-warding experiences in the Peace Corps. After having taught fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students in a small tribal school and seventh and eighth grade math to in-service teachers, Linda says, "I transferred to the capital and only real city of Monrovia, where I am presently working in the Liberian Department of Education.

"My job is to compile information and teaching aids to be sent to teachers 'in the bush,' many of whom have no more than eighth grade education. The lack of educated teachers is a problem in it-self; but this, coupled with the inade-quate supply of textbooks and other teaching materials, causes one to understand why the literacy rate is only be-tween 10 and 20 per cent of the total population.

"My hopeful plans following my Peace Corps service in July of next year are to attend school in England and work toward a master's degree in

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE ALUMNAE TOUR

Beginning Sept. 15, 1965

Three Weeks in Europe

Total Cost: $749

Three exciting weeks in Europe—all the highlights of the Grand Tour plus savings made possible by the new 21-day Jet Excursion Fares, New York to New York, truly a remarkable trip at an economy price. If you've always wanted to see Europe and thought you couldn't afford it, this is the tour for you in 1965. The total tour price of only $749 includes roundtrip JET Economy Class air fare, New York to New York, twin-bedded rooms in superior tourist class hotels, all with hot and cold running water, some with private baths; all transportation in Europe as shown on itinerary; three meals each day except in London where only breakfast will be provided and in Paris and Rome where only breakfast and dinner will be furnished; all transfers; all sightseeing and excursions as outlined in itinerary; the services of a Guide-Courier from arrival until departure, all tips and taxes; the free transfer of two pieces of luggage not exceeding 44 pounds in weight; plus special entertainment shown on the complete itinerary.

EARLY BOOK NECESSARY

Because of the volume of Trans-Atlantic travelers anticipated for 1965, reservations must be made as soon as possible. A deposit of only $100 will assure your place on the tour. This deposit is returnable in full if for any reason you find that you cannot make the trip and so advise the Lindenwood College Alumnae Office four weeks prior to departure. Take the entire family along. Special rates available for children, ages two to twelve.
