

Linden World

Special Summer Edition

Lindenwood College

July 1992

What's new at the 'Wood

Campus Renovations

Walk into almost any building on the Lindenwood campus this summer, and you will hear a cacophony of noises: Hammers are banging, electric saws are singing, and drills are whirring all over campus.

They're the sounds of progress.

This fall, Irwin Hall is going to have more space for students than it ever had before.

Over the summer, the attic space is being renovated into a fourth floor to house 28 men.

"We discovered blueprints for Irwin that indicate the attic was originally intended to be used as a living area for students," said Dennis Spellmann, president of Lindenwood College. "With the large increase of residential students at Lindenwood, we found it necessary to go ahead and finish off that area.

Other campus improvements include:

- complete renovation of the interior of Irwin Hall, including all new furniture in each room
- a new roof over Ayres Dining Hall
- repairs to the roofs of McCluer and Young Halls and Butler Library
- new tile for the 2nd floor of Roemer Hall
- a new parking lot between Irwin and Parker Halls

Workers also put the finishing touches on the College's baseball and softball fields this summer, and the old horse stables are being enclosed to create a half-acre weight room, indoor track and combination dance/wrestling floor. The fitness equipment currently in Butler Hall and the weight machines in the field house will be moved to this new building, to centralize the fitness activities for use by all students.

What's Inside...

Talent Program for Students.....	p. 2
Performing Arts Expands.....	p. 2
Sports Previews.....	p. 3
Who's Coaching Who.....	p. 3
Lions Home Openers.....	p. 4
Goin' Greek.....	p. 4

Record Residential Enrollment

Lindenwood has grown by leaps and bounds over the past few years. Right now, it looks like the College will boast a record number of residential students. Approximately 920 men and women will live on campus during the 1992-93 academic year. There's still time to refer a friend to join you in becoming a part of the best year ever at Lindenwood! Call the Admissions Office at (314) 949-4949.

Cleaning Contests

Lindenwood staff and students are helping the housekeeping staff get the dorms ready for your arrival in August. Once a week, staff and students team up to clean, wash windows, and paint the rooms.

It all started on July 14 -- Bastille Day -- when the teams "stormed the dorms" with mops, brooms, buckets and paintbrushes. The crews spent the entire day cleaning Cobbs Hall, making sure it was in top shape for the students. It took a lot of elbow grease and dedication from everyone involved.

"We make it fun," said Joane Lumma, LC housing director. "We hold contests: neatest job, most enthusiastic team, which team gets the most work done, and so forth. Afterwards, we have a pool party and dinner. It's hard work, but the results are definitely worth it." ♦

New Faculty Members add to Lindenwood Class

Lindenwood has a reputation for attracting the best and brightest--not only students, but faculty members as well.

"We're very excited about the calibre of teaching professionals we have hired this summer," said Dr. David Williams, dean of the college. "We received more than 400 applications for the faculty positions we advertised, and we are happy to say that we have hired the cream of the crop. These are the type of professors who will help give LC students the best education possible."

Education

Dr. Larry Doyle is highly respected in the local community for his work with several school districts and Dr. Doyle will be expanding the teacher education graduate program and setting up teacher ed classes in outlying areas. He will also be working to set up programs in which high school juniors and seniors can receive high school and college credit for certain classes.

Dr. Kathleen Schandl will teach special education classes at Lindenwood. She was formerly the executive director of the St. Louis Easter Seal Society, and has taught at Gallaudet University in Washington, D.C.

Workers renovating the 4th floor of Irwin Hall. The new floor will house 28 male students. Photo by Paul Butts ('79)

Dr. Sue Ward is the new head of the College's growing Physical Education department. She is currently designing a new curriculum, one which will be designed for both teaching and non-teaching p.e. majors.

Dr. John Ward will teach Phys Ed. He will also coach baseball and be assistant coach for football.

Criminal Justice

Rick Steinmann, J.D., is the new assistant professor in criminal justice. He has taught criminal justice and criminology in colleges all over the U.S.

Counseling

Dr. Marilyn Miller Patterson joins the LCIE graduate program as assistant professor of counseling. She was the chairperson of the Gerontology Department at California University of Pennsylvania

Management

Dr. Rita Mayer is taking over the old fashion continued on page four ♦

TAP your way to success!

Lindenwood students are going to be at the cutting edge of a new trend in higher education.

The College is implementing a new program designed to help students identify and showcase their talents, skills and aptitudes.

It's called the "Talent Accomplishment Program," or "TAP". According to TAP founder and campus life coordinator Ed Watkins, the program is designed to assist students prepare for the work force while they're still in college.

Each semester, students will establish academic, personal and vocational goals with a TAP advisor. Off-campus activities, such as practicums, internships and volunteer work, will be included. These goals, skills, talents and accomplishments will be summarized in a "talent transcript".

"When a student graduates from Lindenwood, they will receive not only an academic transcript, but a copy of their talent transcript as well," said Watkins. "Then, graduates can go to employers with a resume of what they've learned and what they can do."

"We are in an international marketplace and through TAP, we are helping our graduates develop a competitive edge to be successful in that marketplace.

"It amazes me what our students have already accomplished by the time they come to Lindenwood. What we plan to do with the TAP program is encourage those talents and skills to help our students develop into marketable qualities that will give them the edge in the workplace. It all fits in with Lindenwood's mission of educating the whole person," Watkins said.

According to Watkins, TAP will be a nationwide program in five years. "We're encouraging every student to get involved with TAP and get a head start on their future."

If you're interested in how TAP can work for you, contact Sheryl Guffey, director of TAP, at (314) 949-4979, or Brian Watkins, director of TAP advising at 949-4976. The TAP Center is located on the first floor of the Butler Student Center. ♦

New Dance/Cheerleader Parent Association Forming

The Lindenwood Cheer and Dance Association (LCDA) is currently forming a booster group for the Lion Line and the Cheerleading Squad.

The LCDA is made up of parents who are working with the Lindenwood College Office of Development to bring bigger crowds to the College's athletic events. This group will raise funds for the cheerleaders and Lion Line dancers, so the squads can cheer on the Lions Football team at the Metrodome in Minneapolis in November. (see related story on page three)

For more information on the Lindenwood Cheer and Dance Association, call Judy at (314) 429-5370. ♦

Performing Arts Expands

Fine arts are not just alive and well at Lindenwood; they are thriving! Not only does the 92-93 season showcase spectacular entertainment, but there will be ample opportunity for you to get involved as well!

'92-93 Theatre Season Spotlight

The Jelkyl Theatre Mainstage will feature four diverse productions during the upcoming year. Brighton Beach Memoirs by Neil Simon, America's foremost comedic writer, will mark open the '92-'93 season, running October 1, 2, 3, and 8, 9, 10.

A wildly warm-hearted Broadway musical, The Mystery of Edwin Drood, is the Mainstage's second production. Based on Charles Dickens' last, unfinished novel, the Tony Award winner by Rupert Holmes will run December 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, and 12. Special matinees will be held December 5, 6, 12, and 13 at 2:00 p.m.

Next, the Mainstage presents the gripping story of John Merrick, in Bernard Pomerance's The Elephant Man. This fascinating exploration of the intricate relationship between physical and spiritual beauty will be presented February 25, 26, 27, and March 4, 5, and 6.

The finale of the Mainstage's '92-'93 season will be a special program called Dance Alive: A Dance Concert. The production will mark the Mainstage debut of the Lindenwood College Dancers in a celebration of modern and jazz dance. Dance Alive will run April 15, 16, 17, and 22, 23, 24.

Lindenwood students receive two free tickets per production.

Stretch your talent -- Dance!

Do you want to add some pizzazz to your dance moves? Are you a secret living room dancer? Have you always dreamed of being more coordinated? More flexible? Stronger? More creative?

Then Lindenwood dance classes are for you! It doesn't matter what your major is -- Lindenwood offers dance classes for everyone--and there's room for more!

From modern dance to jazz to ballet, Lindenwood's dance program is designed for beginners as well as experienced dancers. Not only will you learn moves and techniques, you'll learn theory and dance history as well.

Lindenwood's dance program offers many performance opportunities, and our new dance minor welcomes students who see dance as part of their professional futures or as a life-long hobby. Gotta dance? Call today at (314) 949-4949.

New name reflects new campus spirit

The Student Life Department at Lindenwood College no longer exists. At least, not under that title. Student Life has now become Campus Life, a title the administration feels is a more accurate description of the department's functions. "We feel the term 'Campus Life' shows that the people here serve every student -- whether he or she is a resident or commuter, undergraduate or graduate, age 20 or 50, said John Creer, LC dean of students. We want every Lindenwood student to know that we service the entire student body." ♦

Marching Band Takes The Field

Come September, Lindenwood's marching musicians will make local history. When they take the field for the Lion's first home football game, Saturday, September 19, they will be part of the only collegiate marching band in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

"Lindenwood's music programs have just boomed over the past few years," says Bob Carter, music professor and band director at the college. "We pride ourselves on programs, not only for students who wish to major in music, but for those who enjoy playing music as an extracurricular activity as well."

The marching band is the latest addition to Lindenwood's growing band program, which includes a Symphonic Band, Jazz Band, and Pep Band. Smaller ensembles include a Jazz Combo, Woodwind Quintet, Saxophone Quartet, Brass Ensemble, Woodwind Trio, and Percussion Ensemble. Graduate Assistant Greg Koets will help Carter get the marching band in motion.

The Lindenwood band programs are open to any student, majors and non-majors. If you're interested in helping to establish a "sounds-sational" new Lindenwood tradition, contact Carter at (314) 949-4859 or the Office of Admissions at 949-4949. There's always room for more!

Singing your Song in '92

What's your preference in vocal music?

How about choir? How about musical theatre?? How about classic German Art Song?

Lindenwood College's music programs aim to accommodate all of these tastes -- and to offer you many singing opportunities besides! The choral and vocal music traditions at Lindenwood are more than 150 years old, and are hale and hearty today.

The Choral Ensemble is a touring choir, performing the classics as well as contemporary music. Last year, the Ensemble performed its annual Christmas concert at the Adams Mark Hotel and toured the Chicago metropolitan area.

Vocal opportunities at Lindenwood are not limited to the Choral Ensemble. Voice Class is open to beginning singers, and private lessons for more advanced singers are available. For musical theatre buffs, the popular course, "Singing for Musical Theatre" will be offered in the Spring on Friday afternoons.

There's still time to sign up for a music or voice class. For more information, call (314) 949-4949. ♦

Sounds like Team Spirit!

The Lindenwood
Lion

Okay Lindenwood Lions fans, it's time to get your cheering voices into shape! In just a few more weeks, student-athletes playing fall sports will be arriving on campus to kick their pre-season training into high gear. Football, men's and women's soccer, cross country, and volleyball athletes will be getting ready for another explosive season of Lions competition.

"All summer long, we've been getting great publicity on our coaches, players and on our season in general," said Steve Crotz, Lindenwood athletic director. "We have a fantastic group of new recruits coming in -- for every sport-- and we are really pleased about the number of returning players. I think Lindenwood fans -- and the whole surrounding community -- are going to see an exceptional year in college competition, right here in St. Charles."

So grab your black and gold t-shirts and sweatshirts, and get ready to roar the Lions onto victory in the fall season! With 14 sports to choose from, sports fans should have no trouble finding one they like. The only problem may be deciding which sport they like best! ♦

Lions Athletics in National Spotlight

With 14 men's and women's intercollegiate sports, there's always something exciting going on at Lindenwood College.

And this year, Lion student-athletes and student-fans have a lot to look forward to in the coming years. Just take a look at some of the ways the Lions will be making national sports headlines:

Football Lions to play at Metrodome

This fall, the Lions football team is going the way of past Super Bowl, World Series and NCAA Final Four teams.

The Lions will play in the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in November. They'll be taking on the University of Minnesota-Morris Cougars in the 1992 NSIC/Metrodome Football Classic.

"We are so excited that we've been invited to play in this bowl classic," said Jeff Driskill, head coach of the Lions. "We're facing an extremely tough schedule, and this will be a great way to wrap up the 1992 season."

The football Lions are playing five home games and five away games in the fall. "We faced five of the teams last season, and we played Iowa Wesleyan in 1990. I think our third varsity season will be exciting for the players and the fans," said Driskill.

The Athletic Department and Campus Life are organizing a "Spirit Bus" to transport students and other fans to Minneapolis for the November 14 game. The package will include transportation and lodging. More details will be available when the fall semester begins. Plan to go--it's a great way to support your friends and your school!

LC to host National Soccer Championships

Lindenwood College has been selected as the host for the 1993 NAIA Women's Soccer National Championship.

"Getting the tourney is a great honor and we're really excited about it," said Debbie Washburn, head soccer coach for the Lady Lions. "It's a big responsibility, financially and otherwise, and a lot of people [at the College] have worked hard to bring it all together."

The 10th annual women's national championship features a six-team field. It will be held November 22-26, 1993 at the St. Louis Soccer Park in Fenton..

"The NAIA is extremely pleased to have Lindenwood College serve as the host," Steve Veal, NAIA vice president of championships. "We think the people from Lindenwood College and St. Louis will provide tremendous support to insure that those individuals associated with this national championship will have a quality experience."

The Lady Lions have made three recent trips to nationals. Last season, they finished 11-6.

"Lindenwood is extremely ecstatic about having this opportunity," Steve Crotz, LC athletic director, said. "We are looking forward to staging an outstanding event for Lindenwood College and the NAIA. Lindenwood women's soccer has been a consistent power and has advanced to the national tournament three of the past six years, including two third-place finishes." ♦

Yahng takes over Sports Information

Chuck Yahng is all over the Lindenwood College campus these days: in his office next to Steve Crotz in Butler Hall, the field house, and in the Public Relations Office in Roemer Hall.

Chuck is the new sports information director for the Lindenwood Lions. He will be working with coaches, players and the media to publicize the teams' achievements, as well as the accomplishments of individual players. Chuck is also the Show-Me Collegiate Conference information director, and has coordinated media activities for six conference schools.

Chuck is a graduate of Wash. U., and is now working on his MBA at Lindenwood. ♦

Who's Coaching Who

Not only does Lindenwood College want to be the best, it wants to have the best--and that includes coaches. Athletic Director Steve Crotz has hired some top-notch new coaches to join the already outstanding coaching staff. Together, they'll help lead the Lions and Lady Lions to another great year in sports!

Here's a look at the coaches and their sports:

Football	Jeff Driskill Hank Barerre, asst. Jerry Driskill, asst. Steve Miller, asst. Dale Schallert, asst. John Ward, asst.
Women's Soccer	Deborah Washburn Bill Goggin, asst.
Men's Soccer	Thom Champion Dennis Baez, JV
Cross Country	Gary White
Volleyball	Laura Kassen
Wrestling	Dale Schallert
Women's Basketball	Steve Crotz Harry Connoyer, asst.
Men's Basketball	Tommy Collins
Track	Gary White
Softball	Michelle Krassinger
Baseball	John Ward Tommy Collins, asst.
Golf	Art Siebels

The 1992 Fall Sports Home Openers Schedule is on page four ♦

Lions ROAR Into Action!

Home Openers

Fall 1992

Day	Date	Opponent	Time
Football
Sat	Sept 19	Southwest State University	1:30 pm
Volleyball
Wed	Sept 9	Missouri Valley College	6:00 pm
		Culver Stockton College	8:00 pm
Men's JV Soccer
Wed	Sept 9	Missouri Valley College	4:00 pm
Men's Soccer
Tues	Sept 22	Missouri Baptist College	4:00 pm
Women's Soccer
Thurs	Sept 3	Lynn College	4:00 pm
Cross Country
Sat	Sept 5	Lions' Invitational	11:00 am

*Lindenwood College Homecoming is set for October 3.
Lions Fans will receive a fall season athletic card with the complete sports schedules at Fall orientation/registration.*

Goin' Greek

This fall, residential and commuter students at Lindenwood will have the opportunity to get involved with some new organizations at the College.

Lindenwood is establishing two sororities and three fraternities on campus. The colonization of these societies is largely due to a year-long effort on the part of seniors Jamie Dirnbeck and Tim Wilson. The two made countless phone calls, did research and collected information to present to students, administrators, board members and alumni.

"The traditional student base of Lindenwood has grown so much, we thought this would be one way to bring students with similar interests and goals together in a setting," said Dirnbeck. "The students will have more opportunity to network -- with students in other schools across the country and with alums of their fraternity or sorority," she said.

Lindenwood's new sororities are: Delta Zeta and Alpha Sigma Alpha. Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Tau Gamma are the fraternities. For more information, contact Campus Life at (314) 949-4985. ♦

Time is running out...

- Have you completed and returned your admissions, financial aid, and housing forms? Have you registered for fall classes? If not, contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions TODAY at (314) 949-4949
- And remember, New Student Orientation is set for Sunday, August 30.
- Registration for LCIE & MBA fall quarters is set to start September 1. Call Graduate and Evening Admissions at (314) 949-4933 for more information
- The next MAP fall I term starts Saturday, August 29. Call (314) 949-4933 for more information ♦

New Faculty Members

(cont'd from page 1)

marketing program and expanding it into LC's new retail marketing program. Mayer established and directed the associate of arts in fashion merchandising degree at St. Louis Community College -- Florissant Valley.

Dr. Gayle Hoover, CPA, comes to LC from St. Francis College in Joliet, Ill., where she taught courses in accounting, economics and finance.

Humanities

Grant Hargate joins the Art Department as a full-time assistant professor. He has taught as an adjunct instructor in art at LC since 1983.

Dr. George Hickenlooper is a new associate professor of English. He has taught English, drama, German and speech for various colleges all over the St. Louis metro area.

Currently, faculty candidates are being interviewed for positions in the humanities. ♦

For more information...

If you need any more information about Lindenwood's programs, departments or policies, here's a quick reference of which department to call:

Admissions & Program Information
Undergraduate	949-4949
Graduate	949-4933
Financial Aid & Scholarships	949-4923
Business Office	949-4967
Athletics/Sports Information	949-4981
Registrar's Office	949-4954
Campus Life & Activities	949-4985
Housing	949-4984
TAP Program	949-4976
Public Relations	949-4913

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE

209 S. Kingshighway
St. Charles, MO 63301-1695

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage
Paid
Permit No. 84
St. Charles, Mo.