BULLETIN

Seventy-eight students received recognition for scholarship when the dean's list was announced for first semester by Acting Dean Homer Clevenger.

Fifteen students earned a four-point average: freshmen—Freda Dangler, Margaret Duffy, Ann Emerick, Havala Henderson, Katherine Renick, Lynn Rhoads, and Constance Stewart; sophomores—Glenda Gerred; juniors—Sue Snyder, Barbara Katterjohn, and Susan Miller; and seniors — Patricia Bringer, Joan Nixon, Mary Tansey, and Freda Miller.

In addition, 17 freshmen recorded 3.50 to 3.99 averages as did 12 sophomores, 18 juniors, and 16 seniors.

Alpha Lambda Delta, national academic fraternity for freshman women with 3.5 average or above, initiated 24 students March 20.

Mrs. Thomas Cobbs Dies

The late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Cobbs at the dedication ceremonies of Thomas H. Cobbs Hall on Founder's Day, Nov. 21, 1949.

Mrs. Thomas H. Cobbs, widow of the former Lindenwood board of directors member for whom Cobbs Hall was named, died at her home Friday, Feb. 15, following an extended illness.

Funeral services, conducted by Dr. W. Sherman Skinner, Mrs. Cobb's pastor and minister at Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, were held from Lupton Chapel, St. Louis. Entombment was at Oak Grove Mausoleum.

Mrs. Cobbs is survived by her sister, Cora J. Orr, and the following nieces and nephews: Lucie May Sharon Burkhardt '29, Joseph A. Sharon, Leontine Sharon Stead '18, John J. Sharon, Meda Putnam, Norman P. Jones, and James P. Orr.

Presentation of President's Scholarships and the President's Scholarship Trophy were made at student assembly Tuesday, Feb. 26. Normally, five scholarships are given to each class, but this year's freshman class produced seven 4-point averages and consequently received seven scholarships.

Freshman awards are based on the highest grade point averages for the previous semester, and sophomore and junior scholarships are for the first five in each class with the highest grade point averages for the previous two semesters.

Scholarships are applied on the tuition accounts of the students for next year, 1962-63.

Junior scholarships are valued at $300 each; sophomores, $250 each; and freshmen, $200 each. A day student receives one-half the amount.

President F. L. McCluer announced the following winners:

Junior Class: Sue Snyder, 4.00; Mary Jean Burger, 3.84; Anne Brightwell, 3.83; Sally Snyder, 3.81; and Judith Huntington, 3.81. Sue and Sally Snyder are twins.

Sophomore Class: Imogene Elrod, 3.90; Glenda Gerred, 3.90; Charlene Wisdom, 3.83; Jonis Agee, 3.70; and Sheila Reynolds, 3.60.

Freshman Class: Freda Dangler, 4.00; Margaret Duffy, 4.00; Ann Emerick, 4.00; Havala Henderson, 4.00; Katherine Renick, 4.00; Lynn Rhoads, 4.00; and Constance Stewart, 4.00.

Sibley Hall, with a grade point average of 2.87, won the President's Scholarship Trophy. Day students, whose average was 2.77, received a certificate of recognition. Any dormitory, or the day students, winning the trophy three years in succession keeps it permanently and a new trophy is purchased.

Professor Hume's Article Published

"Scholarships for Men in a College for Women," is the title of an article appearing in the 1962 annual publication, The Playbill, of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity, with Prof. Robert Douglas Hume of Lindenwood as its author.

Professor Hume tells of Lindenwood's decision during the academic year 1955-56 to offer competitive scholarships in theater for men. Since 1956 Lindenwood has had from one to five men as scholarship students in the department, and the program has "worked remarkably well," he says.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

The Rev. Theodore A. Gill, Th.D., D.D., president of San Francisco Theological Seminary, will be speaker at Lindenwood's baccalaureate Friday, May 24, at 7:30 P.M.

Dr. Harold Taylor, Ph.D., former president of Sarah Lawrence College, will speak at commencement Saturday, May 25, at 10:30 A.M. His subject will be "The Crisis in Education."

ON THE COVER

Lindenwood at play during the winter season is highlighted on our front cover. Thirty-one students made the second annual college ski trip to Galena, Ill., early in February. The group was entertained by a show on Saturday night of the trip, with instructors and members of the ski patrol carrying lighted flares as they traversed the slopes. A dance, at which men from the University of Dubuque, Dubuque, Ia., served as escorts, was held in the Chestnut Hills Ski Lodge at the conclusion of the show.

Students Comment Favorably On Change of Pace in Week

"This year's Religion-in-Life Week was a vital and interesting experience for Lindenwood students, a departure from the previous series of convocations," says the Linden Bark in its Feb. 14 issue.

The student bulletin board was filled with student comment, favorably endorsing the series of varied and diverse programs which explored "the function the arts perform in assisting modern religion and modern culture to confront and address each other seriously."

The works of five authors, William Golding, John Steinbeck, Arthur Miller, Robert Penn Warren, and J. D. Salinger, were discussed by Canon Standrod T. Carmichael, warden and program director, Thompson Retreat and Conference Center, St. Louis County.

In addition to the book discussions, Canon Carmichael produced, directed, and acted in "For Heaven's Sake," a religious musical revue presented in a series of blackout skits. Later in the month, the same group presented the revue at the closing luncheon of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education meeting.

Gyo Obata, designer for a St. Louis architectural firm; Siegfried Reinhardt, St. Louis painter; and Robert Harmon, designer-craftsman with a St. Louis stained glass house, assisted in the exploration of religious and human values which contemporary art forms express.

In addition to the five book discussions which he led, Canon Carmichael was on campus for personal conversations, talk-back sessions, and quiet time, a period for reading of poetry by Charles Peguy.

Prof. Peter L. Simpson, assistant professor of English at Lindenwood, read and discussed poetry, including some of his own work, during one afternoon session.

Commented Marilyn J. Lewis, editor of the Linden Bark, "Religion-in-Life Week had a new slant this year. Students noticed it — they attended non-required lectures. Others noticed it, too."

News From Your Alumnae Office

By Bea Clark, Executive Secretary

Lindenwood students and faculty members joined students and faculties in 38 other countries late in February to contribute to the global program of the World University Service. Proceeds from an auction at Lindenwood were sent to help meet the basic material needs of university communities throughout the free world.

Your alumnae association participated in the auction by donating dinner for four Lindenwood students at the new Three Flags restaurant in its beautiful dining room overlooking the Missouri River. Association President Dyke Steinbeck Barton expressed our appreciation for "the opportunity to participate in the important education program which WUS supports."

Last month marked the first meeting of the calendar year for your new alumnae executive committee of the council. Sessions were held on campus with college officials in attendance. Work began as a result of the meeting on this year's program which includes reunion plans, policies, and the annual alumnae fund drive. More details about these items later.

Every day brings more evidence that foundations and corporations interested in higher education to the extent of making grants want to see more participating and interest on the part of the college's alumnae.

In February, President McCluer received a gift from a national corporation "as evidence of its (the corporation's) continuing interest in the support and encouragement of higher education in the United States. In order that the grant may be employed most effectively in meeting the needs of your program, no restrictions are placed upon its use."

Approximately 675 schools participated in the 1962 distribution from this particular corporation, and the interesting part is the last sentence of the letter which accompanied the gift:

"These funds are distributed in accordance with a formula designed to promote a balanced educational program in each school and to encourage increased financial support by its alumni." (Italics ours.)

Alumnae support, financially and otherwise, becomes more and more important. Corporations and foundations ask when requests are made, "How much support do you receive from your alumnae?"

Lindenwood is proud of its continuing increases and is counting heavily on enthusiasm and support in the years ahead.

a short history

By Richard Armour

of education

Little is known about higher education during the Stone Age, which is perhaps just as well.

Because of a weakness in the liberal arts, the B.A. was not offered, and there was only the B.S., or Bachelor of Stones. Laboratory facilities were meager, owing to a lack of government contracts and support from private industry, but the stars were readily available, on clear nights, for those interested in astronomy. (Scholars, who went around without much on, looked at the stars with the naked eye.)

Prehistoric students, being before history, failed to comprehend the fundamentals of the subject, such as its being divided into Ancient, Medieval, and Modern.

There were no College Boards. This was fortunate, because without saw or plane, boards were rough.

Nor were there any fraternities. The only clubs on the campus were those carried by the students or, in self-defense, by members of the faculty.

Alumni organizations were in their infancy, where some of them have remained. The alumni secretary occupied a small cave, left behind when the director of development moved to a larger one. While waiting for contributions to come in, he idly doodled on the wall, completely unaware that art critics would someday mistake his drawings of certain members of the board of trustees for dinosaurs and saber-toothed tigers.

The Alumni Quarterly came out every quarter of a century, and was as eagerly awaited as it is today.

The Classical Period

In ancient Athens everyone knew Greek, and in ancient Rome everyone knew Latin, even small children—which those who have taken Elementary Greek or Elementary Latin will find hard to believe. Universities wishing to teach a language which had little practical use but was good for mental discipline could have offered English if they had thought of it.

Buildings were all in the classical style, and what looked like genuine marble was genuine marble. However, philosophy classes were sometimes held on the steps, the students being so eager to learn that they couldn't wait to get inside.

The Peripatetic School was a college where the professors kept moving from town to town, closely followed by students and creditors. Sometimes lectures were held in the Groves of Academe, where students could munch apples and olives and occasionally cast an anxious eye at birds in the branches overhead.

CLASSICAL PERIOD . . . "a spirited chariot race between the chairman of the funds drive and the tax collector, each trying to get to a good prospect first."

Editor's Note: Richard Armour, professor of English and dean of the faculty at Scripps College, is the author of 22 books of humor and satire. He has written this article (spoofing much that is often taken too seriously) for exclusive publications in alumni magazines. Readers who like it will also enjoy It All Started with Eve, Twisted Tales from Shakespeare, The Classics Reclassified, and his newest book, Golf Is a Four-Letter Word. Illustrations for the article are by John Stuart McKenzie.

Under the Caesars, taxation became so burdensome that Romans in the upper brackets found they might as well give money to their Alma Mater instead of letting the State have it. Thus it was that crowds often gathered along the Appian Way to applaud a spirited chariot race between the chairman of the funds drive and the tax collector, each trying to get to a good prospect first.

The word "donor" comes from the Latin donare, to give, and is not to be confused with dunare, to dun, though it frequently is.

When a prominent alumnus was thrown to the lions, customary procedure in the alumni office was to observe a moment of silence, broken only by the sound of munching. Then the secretary, wrapping his toga a little more tightly around him, solemnly declared, "Well, we might as well take him off the cultivation list."

The Middle Ages

In the period known as the Dark Ages or nighthood, everyone was in the dark. Higher education survived only because of illuminated manuscripts, which were discovered during a routine burning of a library. It is interesting to reconstruct a typical classroom scene: a group of dedicated students clustered around a glowing piece of parchment, listening to a lecture in Advanced Monasticism, a ten-year course. If some found it hard to concentrate, it was because they were dreaming about quitting before exams and going off on a crusade.

Some left even sooner, before the end of the lecture, having spied a beautiful damsel being pursued by a dragon who had designs on her. Damsels, who were invariably in distress, wrought havoc on a young man's grade-point average.

Members of the faculty were better off than previously, because they wore coats of armor. Fully accoutered, and with their visors down, they could summon up enough courage to go into the president's office and ask for a promotion even though they had not published a thing.

At this time the alumni council became more aggressive in its fund drives, using such persuasive devices as the thumbscrew, the knout, the rack, and the wheel. A wealthy alumnus would usually donate generously if a sufficient number of alumni, armed with pikestaffs and halberds, could cross his moat and storm his castle walls. A few could be counted on to survive the rain of stones, arrows, and molten lead. Such a group of alumni, known as "the committee", was customarily conducted to the castle by a troubador, who led in the singing of the Alma Mater Song the while.

The Renaissance

During the Renaissance, universities sprang up all over Europe. You could go to bed at night, with not a university around, and the next morning there would be two universities right down the street, each with a faculty, student body, campanile, and need for additional endowment.

The first universities were in Italy, where Dante was required reading. Some students said his "Paradise" and "Purgatory" were bad as "Hell." Boccaccio was not required but was read anyhow, and in the original Italian, so much being lost in translation. Other institutions soon followed, such as Heidelberg, where a popular elective was Duelling 103 a, b, usually taken concurrently with First Aid and the Sorbonne, which never seemed to catch on with tourists as much as the Eiffel Tower, the Folies Bergere, and Napoleon's Tomb. In England there was Oxford, where, by curious coincidence, all of the young instructors were named Don. There was also Cambridge.

The important thing about the Renaissance, which was a time of awakening (even in the classroom), was education of the Whole Man. Previously such vital parts as the elbows and ear lobes had been neglected. The graduate of a university was supposed, above all, to be a Gentleman. This meant that he should know such things as archery, falconry, and fencing (subjects now largely relegated to Physical Education and given only one-half credit per semester), as well as, in the senior year, how to use a knife and fork.

During the Renaissance, the works of Homer, Virgil, and other classical writers were rediscovered, much to the disappointment of students.

Alumni officials concentrated their efforts on securing a patron, someone rich like Lorenzo de' Medici, someone clever like Machiavelli, or (if they wished to get rid of a troublesome member of the administration) someone really useful like Lucrezia Borgia.

Colonial America

The first universities in America were founded by the Puritans. This explains the strict regulations about Late Hours, Compulsory Chapel, No Liquor on the Campus, and Off-Limits to Underclassmen which still exist at many institutions.

COLONIAL AMERICA . . . "The first universities in America were founded by the Puritans. This explains the strict regulations about Late Hours . . ."

Some crafts were taught, but witchcraft was an extracurricular activity. Witch-burning, on the other hand, was the seventeenth century equivalent of hanging a football coach in effigy at the end of a bad season. Though deplored, it was passed off by the authorities as attributable to "youthful exuberance."

Harvard set the example for naming colleges after donors. William and Mary, though making a good try, failed to start a trend for using first names. It was more successful, however, in starting Phi Beta Kappa, a fraternity which permitted no rough stuff in its initiations. At first the Phi Beta Kappa key was worn on the key ring, but the practice went out with the discovery of the watch chain and vest.

During the Colonial Period, alumni officials limited their fund-raising activities to those times when an alumnus was securely fastened, hands and legs, in the stocks. In this position he was completely helpless and gave generously, or could be frisked.

Revolutionary America

Higher education came to a virtual standstill during the Revolution—every able-bodied male having enlisted for the duration. Since the ROTC was not yet established, college men were forced to have other qualifications for a commission, such as money.

General George Washington was given an honorary degree by Harvard, and this helped see him through the difficult winter at Valley Forge. Since he gave no commencement address, it is assumed that he made a substantial contribution to the building fund. Then again, mindful of the reputation he had gained through Parson Weem's spreading of the cherry tree story, he may have established a chair in Ethics.

Unlike the situation during World War I, when colleges and universities abandoned the teaching of German in order to humiliate the Kaiser, the Colonists waged the Revolutionary War successfully without prohibiting the teaching of English. They did, however, force students to substitute such good old American words as "suspenders" for "braces," and themes were marked down when the spelling "tyre" was used for "tire" and "colour" for "color."

The alumni publication, variously called the Alumni Bulletin, the Alumni Quarterly, and the Alumni Newsletter, was probably invented at this time by Benjamin Franklin, who invented almost everything else, including bifocals and kites. The first such publication was probably Poor Alumnus' Almanac, full of such homely sayings as "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise enough to write his Alma Mater into his will."

Contemporary America

In the nineteenth century, denominational colleges were founded in all parts of the country, especially Ohio. In the smaller of these colleges, money was mostly given in small denominations. A few colleges were not named after John Wesley.

State universities came into being at about the same time, and were tax supported. Every taxpayer was therefore a donor, but without getting his name on a building or being invited to dinner by the president. The taxpayer, in short, was in the same class as the Anonymous Giver, but not because he asked that his name be withheld.

About the middle of the nineteenth century, women were admitted to college. This was done (1) to relieve men of having to take women's parts in dramatic productions, (2) to provide cheer leaders with shaplier legs, and (3) to recruit members for the Women's Glee Club, which was not prospering. Women students came to be known as co-eds, meaning that they went along with a man's education, and he could study and date simultaneously. It was not realized, when they were admitted, that women would get most of the high marks, especially from professors who graded on curves.

In the twentieth century, important strides were made, such as the distinction which developed between education and Education. Teachers came to be trained in what were at first called Normal Schools. With the detection of certain abnormalities, the name was changed to Teachers Colleges.

John Dewey introduced Progressive Education, whereby students quickly knew more than their teachers and told them so. Robert Hutchins turned the University of Chicago upside down, thereby necessitating a new building program. At St. John's College everyone studied the Great Books, which were more economical because they did not come out each year in a revised edition. Educational television gave college professors an excuse for owning a television set, which they had previously maintained would destroy the reading habit. This made it possible for them to watch Westerns and old movies without losing status.

Of recent years, an increasing number of students spend their junior year abroad. This enables them to get a glimpse of professors who have been away for several years on Fulbrights and Guggenheims.

Student government has grown apace, students now not only governing themselves but giving valuable suggestions, in the form of ultimatums, to the presidents and deans. In wide use is the Honor System, which makes the professor leave the room during an examination because he is not to be trusted.

Along with these improvements in education has come a subtle change in the American alumnus. No longer interested only in the record of his college's football team, he is likely to appear at his class reunion full of such penetrating questions as "Why is the tuition higher than it was in 1934?" "Is it true that 85% of the members of the faculty are Communists?" and "How can I get my son (or daughter) in?"

Alumni magazines have kept pace with such advancements. The writing has improved, thanks to schools of journalism, until there is excitement and suspense even in the obituary column. Expression has reached such a high point of originality that a request for funds may appear, at first reading, to be a gift offer.

However, if pictorial content continues to increase, it will not be necessary for alumni to know how to read.

This cannot come too soon.

Toynbee's Visit Designated One Of College Year High Points

A lecture, described by President F. L. McCluer "as one of the high points in our college year," by Dr. Arnold J. Toynbee and entitled, "Recurrence and Uniqueness in History," will be held Wednesday night, Apr. 17, in the Lindenwood Chapel.

Dr. and Mrs. Toynbee will come to the campus earlier that afternoon. In addition to the lecture Wednesday night, he will hold a discussion with students the next morning at 11 o'clock; visits with history classes that morning and afternoon are being planned if his schedule permits.

Lindenwood students have been preparing for the visit of Dr. Toynbee with discussion groups meeting in the dormitories. Led by faculty members, subjects discussed have been: "Toynbee and the Philosophy of History," "Toynbee and Civilizations," "Toynbee and Religion," and "Toynbee and the Changing World."

Serving as a visiting lecturer this semester at Grinnell College, Ia., he has made numerous trips to the United States for lectures at colleges and universities, appearances on network radio and television programs, and participation in a series of seminars.

On Campus

Sarah Kline New Council President

Sarah Kline, a junior from Booneville, Mo., was elected new student council president at a rally in Butler Gymnasium in February.

Delegation Attends Model UN

Carole Krahn, Lindenwood senior, headed a delegation from the college at the annual meeting of the Midwest Model United Nations held this year from Mar. 26-30 in the Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

Other delegates from Lindenwood were: Anne Dana, Mary Sue Stockenberg, Mary Pat Tansey, Charlene Wisdom, and alternate Barbara Rhodes. All are members of the International Relations Club.

The Model UN is patterned after the United Nations. Approximately 60 colleges and universities from the midwest each send six representatives. Each school represents one country which is a member of the United Nations. Lindenwood represented Syria this year.

4 One-Act Plays Presented

Four one-act plays were presented earlier this month, Mar. 8 and 9, by the drama department in Fellowship Hall. All of the plays were under the faculty direction of Prof. Robert Douglas Hume.

Included in the presentations were: "Summer Fury," by James Broughton; "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," by Sir James Matthew Barrie; "Early Frost," by Douglass Parkhirst; and "Overtones," by Alice Gertenberg.

Barbara Sell Social Chairman

Barbara Sell, a junior from Bay Village, O., inherited the traditional raccoon coat, deer, and monkey of the office when she received the social chairmanship at the All-School Mixer early in February.

Barbara succeeds Meg Blumers as social chairman. To be appointed to the office, a girl must maintain a certain grade point, want to represent her school in this capacity, and be appointed or suggested by the administration.

Judy Letson Glamour Contestant

Judy Letson, a senior from Atlanta, Ga., is Lindenwood's contestant for Glamour Magazine's ten best dressed college girls in America.

Ten outstanding young women will be featured in the August, 1963, issue of Glamour. The contest is in its seventh year; best dressed winners from hundreds of colleges in the United States and Canada compete for the "Top Ten" listing.

Dates for Parents' Weekend Changed

The unusual crowding of Lindenwood's spring program, occasioned partly by the visit of Arnold Toynbee, has resulted in a change of dates for the annual Parents' Weekend from May 4-5 to Oct. 12-13 next fall.

In making the announcement, President F. L. McCluer wrote Lindenwood parents: "We know that you share our desire that student achievement in the classroom be of the highest order. It is our judgment that the number of special events in the last six weeks of the college year makes it clear that the change in program will provide more satisfactory arrangements for both students and parents."

Parents were invited to visit the campus this spring even though the annual Parents' Weekend would not be held until next fall.

Two Juniors in London for Research

Two Lindenwood College juniors are spending second semester in London, England, doing special research and study at the Independent Television Authority. Judith Leatherby, Glenshaw, Pa., and Carrie Torgerson, Edina, Minn., both majors in speech with emphasis on radio and TV, are undertaking this independent study as a special project in their major field.

The students' work will also take them out to companies which broadcast as regional stations under ITA in various regions of England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland.

Judith is studying television programming in England so that she can compare it with television productions in the United States. Carrie's work will be on the legal aspects of television broadcasting and public opinion of the current legislation now before Parliament regarding the status of commercial television in England.

Arrangements for the study in England were made through Lindenwood's radio and television department, directed by Miss Martha Boyer, professor of speech, and the Independent Television Authority in London.

Missouri College Joint Fund Committee, Inc., completed its 10th year of incorporation December 29, 1962. Contributions for the year amounted to $246,179, bringing an overall total for the decade of $1,288,649. This record of growth and the current annual rate of support indicate the significance of the program of the Missouri College Fund.

Five hundred forty-two donors are listed as having contributed to the association of 14 accredited, four-year, independent liberal arts colleges in Missouri.

Alumnae Clubs

Oklahoma City, Okla., Lindenwood College Club

Carolyn Burton Evans
Correspondent

Honored guests for our Mar. 7 meeting were Dr. and Mrs. F. L. McCluer. The meeting was held in the form of a surprise basket luncheon in the home of Margaret Ringer Howell. Each alumna brought her favorite dish plus 10 copies of the recipe to be exchanged among members for a nominal fee of 10 cents.

We have scheduled our business meeting for May, with the election of officers for next year at that time. Our present arrangement is to have four meetings a year, the business meeting being the final one before summer. The other three meetings each year have been confined primarily to "get-together" meetings.

More news in the May Bulletin will tell about the outcome of our March meeting and about later plans on the upcoming May session.

Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer attended the Wednesday, Mar. 6, meeting of our club at the home of Mercedes Bryan Hawkins (Mrs. Louis Clark).

Each of our meetings is held in the home of a member for a buffet supper and program.

Eleven Lindenwood alumnae from the Washington, D.C., area gathered at the DuPont Plaza Hotel Jan. 9 for a luncheon and a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer.

After the luncheon, Dr. McCluer told us of the many changes that have taken place at Lindenwood in the last few years. Everyone attending the luncheon agreed that we should "rally our forces" and organize a functioning Lindenwood Alumnae Club for Washington, D.C.

For this task we elected Frances E. Wherry, 1960 Certificate of Merit winner, as our president. With the help of Diane Stanley, Patricia Price, and Marilyn Mitchell Thoren, Frances is beginning a survey of the alumnae to find out just how active a club we can establish and how we can best serve Lindenwood.

Others attending the luncheon were: Katherine Jacoby, Virginia Symms Norton, Shirley Gardner Shultz, Elizabeth Glebe Houchin, Barbara Carter Caraway, Chole Wherry Newell, and Edith Ann Harper.

Four Lindenwood students participating in the Washington Semester program of the American University, Washington, D.C., were also present at the luncheon. They were: Barbara Sue Widman, Susan E. Wood, Mary Stockenberg, and Barbara Sell.

Pasadena and the home of Florence Golden was the locale of our club's Jan. 17 meeting. Janey Rasdal Kuska, "Pep" Perry Kaiser, and Helen Merritt Kerner were assisting hostesses. It was a banner day with 28 "girls" present.

We welcomed back Jean Haggenjos Williams, greeted a new member, Jane Crawford McConihay, and were delighted to have as a guest Alma Kinkade's sister, Virden Kinkade Wilson of St. Joseph, Mo. We started a new project of selling stainless steel servers to fatten our treasury—half of the six dozen were disposed of on the spot.

Our program was an hour of folk dances of various nations performed by the intermediate group of the Westchester Lariets which included Janey's daughter, Janet. We had a preview of the same dances they performed on the Art Linkletter House Party program Jan. 22.

Our next meeting was held Feb. 16 at the home of Vine Olcott Coffey in Palos Verdes Estates with Mildred Melzheimer Barnbeck, "Pep" Kaiser, and Janey Kuska as hostesses. The rest of us thought it was an imposition for Pep and Janey to entertain again so soon, but these four have always worked together and they just refused to be separated. There were 24 of us present, including two new members, Jo Anne Swalley Camody and Jean Simpson Johns.

A note from Helen Rakestraw was read, telling us that she was recuperating following major surgery and should be back with us next month and that her niece was a prospective student at Lindenwood next year.

Alma Kinkade and her sister were spending the week-end at Alma's desert home in Joshua Tree—we envied them when we had a chilly, gloomy day. Thelma Harpe Ogden, our president, announced (with her fingers crossed, after many disappointments) that after Friday her address would be 1850 North Whitley, Penthouse Apartment, Hollywood 28, Calif.

The hostesses had arranged for bridge and canasta but we were all so busy visiting that we forgot the cards.

The next meeting was Mar. 16 at the home of Mary Lou Hall Jobe in La Canada, with her mother, Mrs. L. M. Rich. Margaret Downs Brown, and Elizabeth Hitchcock Gardner assisting. Our meetings are always open to all former Lindenwood girls whether they receive a card or not.

On Apr. 20 we will meet at my home with Marjorie Turpin and Sarah Hall Fandey assisting.

Miami, Florida Lindenwood College Club

Miami alums are eager and active! We organized Oct. 13 and found we had 100 plus girls in the state of Florida—and much interest.

While many cities are too far away for girls to attend Miami meetings, we have received lovely notes of interest and are looking forward to meetings possibly in Ft. Lauderdale, West Palm Beach and Hollywood for the future.

As it is, Gladys Campbell Billings of West Palm Beach has attended two of our four affairs (and would have been at the last, had she not had a fall). Also, Constance Bent Brozik drove in from Ft. Lauderdale. And Bess Baird Huff has attended every meeting, coming all the way from Homestead by train, bus, or auto.

As you can see, we Miamians have the LC spirit.

Our second meeting was held Nov. 17 at Betty's Restaurant on Biscayne, Miami. Diane Holloway Penney and Bitsy Thomas Bowman did a terrific job arranging the luncheon-meeting.

In the meantime, Diane had her first child, a girl, born Dec. 11. (Her address is 2337 S. W. 21st, Miami, for any of you who wish to write). And Bitsy, a perfectly darling girl, moved from Miami, because her husband was transferred.

Marguerite Kahl Foster and Bess Baird Huff have been marvelous about getting out post cards for our meetings.

At our Nov. 17 meeting, the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Herbert Levy, Jr., 1745 W. 24th St.—Sunset No. 3, Miami Beach 40, Fla. (Barbara Wexner '47)

Secretary—Mrs. Lawrence E. Allen, 1407 Southwest 21st St., Miami, Fla. (Kathryn Porter, '27)

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Philip H. Sullivan, 6470 S. W. 16th Terrace, Miami, Fla. (Marjorie Hammer, '35)

Treasurer—Mrs. Gilbert E. Broking, 3251 Mary Street, Coconut Grove 33, Fla. (Marguerite Denise, '29)

Sixteen enthusiastic alums attended the luncheon: Bess Baird Huff, Marguerite Kahl Foster, Mary Barrett Jacobs, Marguerite Denise Broking, Dorothy Isbell Perret, Marjorie Hammer Sullivan, Gladys Campbell Billings, Sylvia Knothe George, Kathryn Porter Allen, Constance Bent Brozik, Nell Van Nort McKane, Diane Holloway Penney, Bitsy Thomas Bowman, Lillian Nitcher, your correspondent, and her mother, Helen Wexner from Houston.

At this meeting we decided not to attempt any fund-raising projects for this year, and to concentrate on building a good foundation and go on from there to additional activities next year.

Our third meeting Jan. 19 was also held at Betty's Restaurant. We had two mother-daughter teams: Sylvia Knothe George and daughter, Priscilla George Browne, and Marjorie Hammer Sullivan and daughter, Sandy, a high school sophomore and prospective LC-64. Marjorie Sullivan made it, even though her son broke his wrist prior to the meeting.

Lillian Nitcher, one of the busiest gals in Miami and the club's pride and joy, attended the Jan. meeting briefly before keeping a TV date.

Gladys Campbell Billings drove in from West Palm Beach, Bess Baird Huff from Homestead and Nell Van Nort McKane prefers to walk, and did, to the meeting, some 14 blocks. These girls are the greatest.

The last meeting, our fourth, was held at Nell VanNort McKane's lovely apartment for dessert and coffee (the best pineapple upside down cake, which Nell made) at 1 p.m., Feb. 19. Nell also makes marvelous fancy kleenex boxes, and cocktail picks, which she has offered to let us raffle at a future meeting to raise funds for LC.

Those attending this lovely affair were Marguerite Kahl Foster, Bess Baird Huff, Dorothy Isbell Perret, Kathryn Porter Allen, and myself.

We were sorry to hear of Gladys Campbell Billings' fall and that Elizabeth Rowley Addington was hospitalized but hope both are better now.

Our next affair is planned Saturday, Apr. 27, a dessert and coffee at the home of Marguerite Kahl Foster, 2318 S. W. 62nd Ave., Miami (MO 15765).

Since this will probably be our last meeting of '63, we're planning to entertain any prospective students, so if you know any, please pass the word and bring them along. We're going to bring out the old year books, show new ones—the works. Hope to see many of you.

Rex Davis, KMOX radio, St. Louis, was speaker at the Lindenwood College Club of St. Charles dinner meeting Monday, Mar. 4.

Our February meeting was highlighted by a discussion of stimulating new courses at the college and was presented by students enrolled in these special classes.

Program chairman Jeanne Harmon Huesemann introduced Misses Lois Peterson, Nancy Hamilton, Margaret Duffy, Connie Steward, Susan Miller, and Joan Leiper.

Hostess chairman for the February meeting Enid Patterson Clay and her committee served refreshments.

Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president of Lindenwood, and Mrs. McCluer were our guests Saturday, Mar. 23, for lunchcon at Town and Country Club in St. Paul.

Our February luncheon was held Saturday, Feb. 16, at the home of Mary Kirchherr Shoquist, 7609 Nicollet, Minneapolis.

Since our last arts and crafts exhibit in September was successful, plans are being made to hold another this coming September on Sunday, Sept. 22.

Phyllis Williams McKay '50, chairman of the event, has asked that everyone please think of something to make between now and September. Any type of craft or any kind of art will be accepted gratefully. This is a fund-raising affair, and all proceeds will go to the club to help with our pledge to the McCluer Hall fund.

Our past exhibit included knitted items, terry cloth bibs, crocheted hangers, sewing, paintings, sculpture, mosaics, and pottery. Any item which could sell for between $1 and $5 would be most popular. Phyllis took orders for 13 bibs from this past show and donated the proceeds to the club.

Barbara Cushman Blue '46, who has been president of our club the past year, had to give up her duties for the time being, and our vice-chairman, Carolyn Kinney Cleath '42, has taken over. Barbara spent a great deal of time and effort this past year in working with the club, and we all owe her a debt of gratitude.

Carolyn lives at 6437 Tingdale in Edina. She and her husband, Eugene, moved to Minneapolis a few years ago from Los Angeles where Carolyn was active in the Los Angeles Alumnae Club.

Also new to our roll of officers is Margaret Bailey Maki '60, better known as Bunny, who has been appointed recording secretary.

North County Lindenwood Alumnae met Tuesday, Feb. 5, at Circle R. Stables and the home of LaVerne Oetting.

Miss Karen Tomasovic, our speaker for the meeting, told of her three months experience in Kenya, East Africa, and presented "Operation Crossroads," an informal talk of her impressions and experiences along with slides and souvenirs from her collection.

Metropolitan St. Louis Lindenwood Project

Patsy Eidson Quelch
General Chairman

The Lindenwood College Clubs of St. Charles, St. Louis, and St. Louis North County, in cooperation with Montaldo's presented a fashion showing and luncheon, "Springtime Impressions," at Glen Echo Country Club Mar. 13 at 12:30 p.m. Proceeds were a gift to the college.

Mrs. George Cummins Quelch (Patsy Eidson) was general chairman for the event. Chairmen assisting her were as follows: table decorations, Mrs. Donald Huber (Jacqueline McNulty); ticket sales, Mrs. Robert E. Bruere (Rosanna Zeach); Mrs. Bruce L. McClintock, and Mrs. Joseph Monnig (Janet Neilson); publicity, Mrs. Robert H. Pecha (Nancy Mueller).

Models included: Lois Ann Mayer Boschert, Mary Margaret McLeod Brown, Joan Broeckelmann Brumbaum, Alumnae Executive Secretary Bea Clark, Mary Jean DuHadway Craig, Laverne Rowe Doris, Marjorie Hickman Drozda, Margaret Ahrens Keeser, Verna Weis Krauss, Mildred Blevins Lange, Dean of Students Marv Lichtler, Louise Crider Marshall, Nancy Alvis McClanahan, Betty McClintock, Virginia Ratcliff Trent.

Coiffures were styled by Salon Christa, North St. Louis County.

The table decorations, planned by Mrs. Donald Huber and members of her committee, were yellow and white rose tree centerpieces which were prepared by members of the North County Club at several February meetings held at the homes of Janet Brown Hyman and Sally Dearthmont Hovis.

Class Notes

1897

Word has been received of the death of Emma Simonds Thompson, wife of the late Clarence L. Thompson, in San Francisco Feb. 3, 1963. Mrs. Thompson was a native of Clarksville, Mo. News of her death was sent the Alumnae Office by Ethel Spencer Craven '08 (Mrs. John C.), 237 Elm St., San Mateo, Calif.

1924

Nelle Iler Spriggs and her husband, Walter, spent a leisurely winter vacation in Florida. The Spriggses, whose home is at 56 Otis Ave., St. Paul, Minn., also cruised in the Caribbean.

1927

Marian Robb Roberts, (Mrs. Joseph K.) is living at 25 Sutton Place South, New York 22, N.Y.

1930

Marcia Wallace Kershaw and Chief Warrant Officer William Earl Coffman of the United States Air Force were married in a New Year's Eve wedding at Joplin, Mo. The Coffmans, who spent January in Lake Providence, La., where Bill completed his current assignment with a mobile unit of Detachment 2, Tenth Radar Bomb Scoring Squadron, spent February visiting in California. He expects assignment this month with the Alaskan Air Command.

The Coffmans will maintain a permanent residence at 604 South Madison St., Webb City, Mo., pending his retirement from active service.

Frances Knorp Scholle (Mrs. Herbert), Concordia, Mo., whose daughter, Karen, is a freshman, visited the alumnae office in late January and enjoyed checking the new class files for up-to-date addresses of old friends.

1933

Margaret Endicott, a member of the staff of the judge advocate's office at Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, Okla., is the newly-elected president of the 200-member Oklahoma Association of Women Lawyers. Her big project, she says, will be encouraging women to train and practice as lawyers.

"I think every woman should have a profession. The legal profession is not over-crowded with women, certainly, and women have a great aptitude for understanding and working with details," she says.

In addition to Lindenwood, Miss Endicott attended the University of Oklahoma. She received her law degree from Oklahoma City University.

Miss Endicott is listed in "Who's Who of American Women," will be listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," scheduled to be on the market soon, and will also be listed in the forthcoming World's "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

She is a member of the Oklahoma City Lindenwood College Alumnae Club.

Nancy Montgomery Orr is serving as chairman of the women's division of the Fort Smith Junior College development program. Her division, over 200 strong, recently held its kick-off luncheon at the college.

Fort Smith Junior College is a unique school in that it exists without the aid of taxes. Four distinct divisions of service are offered to the Fort Smith area: first two years of college level studies; two-year terminal education; adult and technical education; and community educational services.

1942

Phyllis Carpenter Gamble (Mrs. Edwin L.), long active in the Lindenwood College Alumnae Club in Tulsa, Okla., has moved to 7539 Overdale Dr., Dallas 30, Tex.

1945

Hellen Boyd Ostroff, following major surgery, is recuperating and vacationing with her mother in Phoenix, Ariz.

Janet Kuska, ten-year-old daughter of Janey Rasdal Kuska, Lindenwood Alumnae Council member from Los Angeles, Calif., was a member of Art Linkletter's children's panel on the House Party program televised coast-to-coast Jan. 22.

Janet has also appeared in a dance history routine with children who belong to a well-known dance group, the Westchester Lariats. The children were guests and entertained at a recent meeting of the Southern California Lindenwood Alumnae Club at the Pasadena home of Florence Golden.

The Kansas City alumnae group will miss Nancy Owen Pappas (Mrs. P. C.) who has moved to 552 Bambury Way, Kirkwood 22, Mo.

Coy Payne Howe (Mrs. John) had an interesting and clever Christmas letter for friends, and the Alumnae Office luckily was included. The letter was "written" by the newest member of the family, Paul Alan, born Nov. 1.

About his mother: "Mother enjoys her work as Conference Secretary of Student Work, an office with the Louisiana Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. It involves contact with Louisiana's college campuses and with Methodist churches all over the state, and, of course, Mother loves that. She divides her time—about 2/3 for me, 2/3 for the rest of the family, and 2/3 for her conference job. It works fine whenever we have 60-day months."

About his father he wrote: "He's not half so bony as Mother—has a nice, solid, padded feel when he holds a fellow. He works in an office daytimes and attends civic and church meetings at night."

Other notes about his "busy and happy" family include:

"Dick (called John by most of the world now) is in 7th grade. He wears glasses and bulky sweaters."

"Dorothy (almost 11) wants to be a nurse or a teacher and spends her time practicing."

"David is lots different. He's quieter and gentler than the others."

Coy added a paragraph to her young son's "letter" to report on their life in Louisiana:

"The work here at MacDonell is interesting, demanding, and worth all one puts into it. As with children's homes all across the country, we have more and more applications from seriously disturbed children. This is the group that needs us, but there is a real lag between the services they need and those we are able to give . . . Some of you have been interested in more about MacDonell, but I hesitate to load down the Christmas mail with extensive writing. We have slides and script as well as a periodic paper called 'Over the Coffee Cups.' Let us know if you want to borrow the slides or want your name added to our Coffee Cups list. That will help you keep up on the project."

Coy's address is Box 270, Houma, La.

Sally Joy Woodson (Mrs. J. B., Jr.) tells of the arrival of a son, John William, Jan. 28. The Woodsons, who live at 16481 Oleander Ave., Los Gatos, Calif., have another son Frederick, 10, and a daughter, Elizabeth, 6.

"The 'new' Bulletin looks fine. We always enjoy it," she writes. "Would it be possible for me to hear from other Lindenwood alumnae in the San Jose, Calif., area?"

Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Cossman, Jr. (Donna Tipton), 5027 Abelia Dr., Baton Rouge, La., announce the birth of a daughter, Kathryn Diane, Dec. 28, 1962. Kathryn has a brother, Douglas Tipton, who is 7. Fred is employed by Dow Chemical Co.

From Jacqueline Meyer Miroux (Mrs. Michel) and her family comes a "Hello" from France and "thanks for the wonderful Lindenwood Bulletin." Jackie and her husband, a doctor, have two children, Richard and Jean Michel. Their address is 21 rue Jules, Auffret, Pantin (Seine), France.

Sharlene Agerter is in print again. This time she is the co-author of an article which appeared in the January issue of "Endeavour," a London scientific journal published by Imperial Chemical Industries. The article is entitled "Anomalous Patterns in Tree Industries," by Dr. W. S. Glock and Sharlene Agerter.

During the last year, LaVerne Ridder Oetting and her husband, Raymond, have added a new avocation with a western theme. They are operating the Circle R Stables, six miles north of St. Charles.

While primarily interested in boarding horses, the Oettings also held a successful western style horse show last September with 400 people and 99 horses participating.

The stable, pictured above, features a swinging stairway which leads to the hip-roofed loft where old-fashioned barn dances may be held by special groups. A stage for the orchestra, concessions area, and red wooden benches and railings decorate the area. While public dances are held the second Saturday of each month, the barn is available for private groups.

The Alumnae Office is working every day to keep its records up to date and correct. However, changing addresses always present problems, and some Alums are "lost."

Here's a story, in letter form, about one we've recently found. The letter was written to Sally Dearmont Hovis in response to her Alumnae Houseparty Weekend reunion letter:

"This will be hard to believe, but it's true," writes Charlotte Buck Cory (Mrs. Floyd W.). "Your cordial invitation, dated Sept. 27, to Lindenwood's Alumnae Houseparty Weekend Oct. 19-20, reached me three days after Christmas. It had been held in the Post Office at Otoe, Neb., all that time, for lack of forwarding address. My family left Otoe shortly after my graduation from Lindenwood in 1925. I'm not really sure now where the Post Office finally got my address, but I'm glad they did.

"We lived in Buffalo, N.Y., for 20 years and I just neglected to send in my change of address and name to the Alumnae Association, for which I'm sorry. I have many fond memories of my year there. I wouldn't have been able to attend the reunion, but I surely would have written you in reply to your very kind letter," she wrote.
