LINDENWOOD STUDENTS LISTED IN 'WHO'S WHO'

The names and biographies of 22 students at Lindenwood this semester will be published soon in the 1983 edition of Who's Who among Students in American Universities & Colleges, an annual directory listing some of the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Scheduled for publication next spring, the Tuscaloosa, AL-based national directory will contain the names of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign countries. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual director since it was published first in 1934.

Current Lindenwood students include Marie A. Anandel of Kirkwood; Denise A. Begrowica of Wheeling, IL; Elizabeth Boschert of St. Charles; Lawanna G. Brown of Fredericktown; Roger R. Chantal of O'Fallon; Stephanie A. Church of Chesterfield; Margaret Cook of Florissant; Christine Goedeker of St. Louis; Pauline M. Hammen (LCIE assistant to the director) of St. Charles; Earlene J. Hill of St. Louis; Mary Holmes of Ferguson; Dianne Holloway of St. Louis; Jane M. Hughes of Manchester; Theodore Ingram of Ballwin; Marilyn J. Kruse of St. Charles; Mark Linneman of Creve Coeur; Thomas Meurer of St. Ann; Robert E. Noe of St. Charles; Teresa Peerman of St. Charles; Robin L. Ragsdale of St. Charles; J. Daniel Roberts of Edwardsville, IL; and Marilyn J. Schoolman of Manchester.

The names of the 22 students were submitted by college officials and faculty members. Students selected for publication in the directory were chosen by editors of the publication. The selection is based upon the student's academic achievement, service to the community, future potential and leadership in extracurricular activities.

PRESIDENT-ELECT TO ADDRESS AREA ALUMNI

James I. Spainhower, Ph.D., president-elect of the Lindenwood Colleges, will discuss future development plans for the institution when he addresses members of the St. Charles and St. Louis Lindenwood Alumni clubs, January 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Arts Building Parlor. Dr. Spainhower's presentation is open to all area alumni as well faculty members, administrative employees and students. He will become the 18th president of Lindenwood when he officially assumes the office on January 1st.

ADMISSIONS PUBLICATION PREMIERES NATIONALLY

Nearly 3,000 prospective students in high schools throughout the country soon will be receiving "The Lindenwood Letter," a new quarterly publication by the Admissions Office. Edited by Jerry Hastings, admissions counselor, the newsletter eventually will be circulated to selected high school counselors throughout the United States. Containing news about Lindenwood activities and events, the publication is one of several expanded projects being implemented by the Admissions Office.

CHIEF OF CAMPUS SECURITY NAMED

Duane K. France has been appointed chief of campus security, replacing Howard Mohrlock. A member of the Lindenwood administrative staff for nearly three years, France formerly served as security chief from January, 1980, until June, 1981. He directs a security force of seven full-time and three part-time employees.

CAREER PROGRAMS OFFERED IN PSYCHOLOGY

As a means of serving the area's educational needs, Lindenwood will offer two career-oriented programs for psychology majors who want to prepare for special occupational roles at the undergraduate level. Beginning with the spring semester on January 15, programs will be offered in Human Resources Administration (HRA) and an Associate of Arts degree in applied psychology.

A joint effort of the Business Administration and Psychology departments, the HRA program is designed to prepare students for the growing and increasingly technical field of personnel administration. This emphasis may be completed as part of either a B.A. or a B.S. degree program, and it is available to daytime students as well as those in the Evening College.

In addition to completing the institution's all-college requirements, students with a concentration in the HRA program will take a number of specialized courses in psychology and business administration as well as related courses in social science statistics and macroeconomics, said James Evans, Ph.D., chairman of the Psychology Department.

The HRA program is comprehensive enough to prepare students for almost any phase in personnel administration as well as for various roles in other areas of business and industry. Another advantage for students who graduate with an emphasis in HRA is that they are equipped to pursue graduate work in either business administration or psychology if they so choose, Dr. Evans said.

The associate degree program in applied psychology is available only in the Evening College and is designed specifically for persons who are interested in serving as volunteers, lay counselors or psychiatric assistants. It is not intended to qualify individuals as professional counselors but rather as support personnel who would render paraprofessional services under the supervision of licensed practitioners or agency directors.

Evening College students may pursue the associate degree program by completing a minimum of 66 semester hours in the appropriate areas of study. These include general college course requirements, various courses in psychology and related courses such as basic concepts of sociology and social science statistics.

Lindenwood provides educational and career counseling services for those interested in enrolling in either the HRA or the Associate of Arts programs. Both will provide students with opportunities to combine vocational objectives with a liberal arts education. For further information on the spring semester offerings, contact Dr. Evans at extension #239.

FACULTY COUNCIL APPOINTMENT

Edith E. Graber, Ph.D., chairman of the Sociology Department, has been elected to the Faculty Council. She replaces James H. Feely, chairman of the English Department, who will be on a sabbatical leave for the spring semester.

KCLC ADDS NEW DIMENSION WITH STEREO

More than a year of planning becomes a reality today when Lindenwood's KCLC-FM begins stereo broadcasting to serve an estimated 50,000 listeners in Missouri and Illinois.

With underground cable and stereo equipment installation completed earlier this month, the 1,500-watt station launched into stereo broadcasting at 6 a.m. today. Following approval earlier this year by the Federal Communications Commission, KCLC-FM sponsored several community fund-raising events to finance the switch to stereo. The most significant was the "Auction '82" in April which raised more than $7,000 for new equipment and installation.

In this week's first in stereo broadcasts, the station plans to introduce several expanded programs and new formats in its regular programming. Throughout the week, several congratulatory messages from campus and community leaders will be aired, including those from James I. Spainhower, Ph.D., president-elect of the Lindenwood Colleges; Board of Directors Chairman Robert F. Hyland, general manager of KMOX Radio in St. Louis and regional vice-president of CBS, Inc.; and St. Charles Mayor Douglas F. Boschert.

The station will premiere expanded news broadcasts this week, featuring more local news coverage and increased utilization of network and live segments. "The new format will provide greater coverage for KCLC listeners in the two-state area and will enable more student activity in radio programming," said Emil Wilde, faculty member and general manager of the Lindenwood station.

During the week of activities, a special tribute will be payed to Martha M. Boyer of Farmington, MO, professor emeritus of communications arts. Miss Boyer, a member of the Lindenwood faculty from 1946 until her retirement in 1972, is credited as the founder of KCLC for her instrumental and guiding roles in changing the radio station from a 10-watt college facility to a 1,500-watt community station in the late-1960s.

This week, the popular series, "In Focus," will be expanded when it airs Monday through Friday during the 5 p.m. news broadcasts. Area service organizations, community groups, volunteer agencies and health care associations are explored in the series to find the important roles they play within the community.

"We are very excited about our switch to stereo," said Wilde, an announcer with KMOX. "There have been so many delays in recent months, and we are glad that today finally has arrived. This week of celebration will be our holiday gift to the community as a way of showing our gratitude for the support we have received from our listeners throughout the year," he added.

Since it began operations as a community radio station in 1968, KCLC-FM has grown to become one of the main radio stations in St. Charles County. It not only plays a monumental role in education and training for Lindenwood students, but it also provides an important aspect in community affairs. The station, 89.1 khz on the dial, broadcasts educational, cultural and community service programs as well as bluegrass, jazz and rock music - and now in stereo!

NO 'COMMUNIQUE' NEXT WEEK

Because of the institution's closing December 23-24 and 30-31 for the upcoming holidays, editorial and production schedules prohibit the publication of "Communique" next week. Publication will revert to normal when the weekly newsletter again appears each Monday morning, beginning January 3rd.

CONTINUOUS HOLIDAY MUSIC TO BE AIRED

This Friday evening after you have missed an episode of "Dallas," got the children finally asleep in their beds and hung those Christmas stockings with care, sit down and relax and turn your radio to 89.1 khz on the FM dial. Lindenwood's KCLC-FM Radio will broadcast continuous holiday music from noon on Christmas Eve until midnight on December 25th. Beginning at 6 p.m., the Christmas Eve programming will be interrupted occasionally to broadcast the tracking of Santa Claus' journey from the North Pole to the bi-state area.

From and to the Lindenwood community . . . may your holiday season be especially happy, healthy and harmonious . . .
