MANHATTAN MOODS

Thine Alone Hugo

Early Morning in New York

Pre-dawn, the heavy mist which blankets the city at night, buffeted by the air currents, swirling down the streets bound by tall buildings. The mist disappears over the ocean as the sun comes into its full glory, day breaks, and the city stirs.

*Marian Stoerker, Suzanne Brooks, Pat Miller, Ruth Mead

Incident in Jazz Kenton

Downtown New York

A small-town girl making her first visit to a large city, is amazed by the tall buildings, and frightened by the number of strange people surrounding her. She tries to escape from the frenzy of the crowd, but gives it up as a vain attempt.

*Marian Marshall, Mary Lillian Cook, Julie Karstan, Janice Gordon, Sally Lakin

Conflict Kenton

The Museum of Modern Art

The weirdness of modern art leaves us in a state of wonder and confusion. We are, indeed, mystified and troubled as to what the artist is trying to convey through his works. Can you imagine what happens in a museum when the lights are dimmed and the doors are closed to the public.

Solist—*Kathy Kolocotronis

Ebbtide Maxwell

Ocean Fantasy

The faint call of the flamingos and Neptune's soft, prismatic kingdom seems to become a sparkling nymph who beckons them from their brief struggle for reality.

*Sally Lakin, Mary Lillian Cook, Marian Marshall

Carmen Bizet

Dinner Date

The waiters and roving violinist of a French restaurant await customers. A young couple come in to dine and listen to the music of the violin.

*Janice Gordon, Pat Miller, Suzanne Brooks, Marian Stoerker, Mary Lillian Cook, Julie Karstan
