John Gunther, in his famous "Inside" books, omitted an important part of American culture, Lindenwood College. To fill that gap your Linden Leaves staff has stepped in where he left off. It's all here somewhere, if you hunt around you'll find a little bit of everything that means "Inside L. C."—from the moment you stepped on campus, eagerly, shyly, to the day you left, a sophisticated woman of the world—with tears streaming down your face.

Nineteen hundred and forty-eight has been an exciting year. We inaugurated a new president whose friendliness and interest inspired the campus. This year saw the rise of active student government and many other improvements in our life here. The Linden Leaves staff has tried to record this—not all of it, of course, but enough so that in later years you could flip through the annual and catch the pervading spirit of Lindenwood.

We've made mistakes—forgive us some and laugh at the others. We've had fun recording the things you did during the year—we hope you have fun reliving that year between our covers.

LINDENWOOD
- COLLEGE -
LIBRARY

There are few students who have never known the utter relief of transferring a knotty problem to Miss Cook, and standing by, awestricken while she produced an orchestra or a senior hat out of nowhere. All institutions need someone to keep books, keep house, and keep calm. We've been luckier than most; for a quarter of a century Miss Cook has been in her office to oil the machinery of Lindenwood.

It seems logical that a book revealing the,inside doings of Lindenwood should be dedicated to her. In spite of all the larger financial matters under Miss Cook's jurisdiction, nothing that concerns us, from a new curtain rod to the Junior-Senior Prom, has been too small for her attention and assistance.

This book can picture only one year of her service—but her magic touch has been behind the dances, receptions, and teas (she has been known to give a tea for two hundred on as little as $13.50) that you see on these pages—but it is representative of the many years she has given. To our Miss Cook, who has contributed constantly of her patience and ingenuity, we dedicate this volume of the Linden Leaves.

MISS ETHEL B. COOK
Bursar

A year—in twenty-five pages. We bring you the campus visitors, dances, parties, convos, and all the silly fun things you did. Maybe that girl getting her face snow-washed isn't you, but it could have been. It's been an eventful year—from the first get-acquainted parties through hectic mid-year exams and end-of-the-year picnics—a year well-worth remembering. Your campus is here too—in its Sunday clothes. Naturally we don't picture those gray December days, but remember the way it looked the morning after the first snowfall? And when spring finally came and every tree and bush on campus sprang into life? This is the “inside look” at students and campus.

Parade

September and school both beginning . . . Comparative calm, upperclass counselors straggle in, sparsely populated dining room, glad cries of, "I didn't know you were coming back!" . . . Bags, trunks, boxes, and freshmen storm the campus. Faculty and punch welcome at M.A.B. . . . Fevered freshmen flourish fountain pens for faculty. Counselors tow charges about campus . . . Testing program. "Bring two well-sharpened pencils." . . . White apron jamboree—ragtime rhythm from four-piece band, hot dogs served a la McCluer . . . Faculty counselors meet students to plan year's work . . . physical examinations . . . jeans, music, and healthy appetites at A. A. Street Supper, as crowds eat and dance . . . homesick freshmen finally make friends—join the group . . .

Classes begin, big thrill for freshmen, upperclassmen say, "They'll learn!" . . . Encore Club dishes out dessert . . . "Come As You Are" party in the gym . . . and they certainly did! Faculty and students vie for honors at bridge and ping pong . . . Freshman fast become acclimated—learn the joys of bubble gum and bunk beds—make new friends, lose that "lost look." Time for sunbathing and letters between classes . . . some cling to their first loves—an antiquated teddy bear . . . Niccollsites prance on sun-spattered lawns . . . proud freshmen pose for parents under stacks of books . . . "But, Mom, I am studying hard!" . . . Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes bring cameras into evidence, and an active shutter-bug catches a group in front of Ayres.

Leaves begin to fall, and October descends . . . Hamlet and Veiled Prophet's Parade claim attention . . . Student Christian Association gets under way with theme "Our Christian Heritage" . . . Dean Sidney E. Sweet speaks at Vespers . . . Beta Chi formal initiation, roses and congratulations . . . dessert party for freshmen, "What did you say your name was?" . . . lazy October days spent loafing in the sun . . . tennis and hiking are still popular as the hockey season begins, and even Patty Parkinson answers the challenge and comes to play on the Quonset Hut team . . . picnickers sprawl on the golf course . . . fun and frolic mark the fall months.

We inaugurate a new president . . . dignitaries from everywhere attend . . . academic gowns and newspapermen fill the campus . . . Dr. Snively and Dr. Russell speak . . . Jeane Sebastian extends a welcome for Dr. McCluer from the student body . . . a welcome seconded by every student . . . Favorite feature—the receptions given for all students by Dr. and Mrs. McCluer . . . evenings spent wandering through the newly-decorated home . . . “ohs” and “ahs” of appreciation murmured as students praise Mrs. McClure’s skill in creating a lovely home . . . chats with the President and his wife in home and office . . . coveted invitations to eat at the President’s table . . . a growing conviction that Lindenwood has been blessed with a grand president . . .

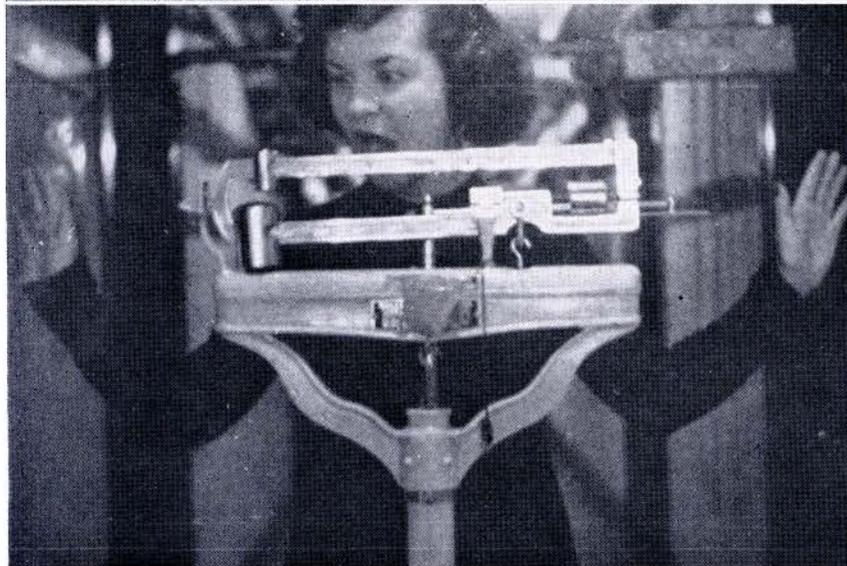

Witches' Caldron, Dr. Betz's ghost story, singing apples, Mrs. Sibley's ghost returns to a damp campus . . . telephone talks as rumor flies . . . Convocation, Seumas MacManus, Irish poet, fairy tales . . . The Wild West comes to Lindenwood with Instrumental Association party, fine program includes faculty version of "Hoosier Hotshots," faculty skit, swing band, root beer . . . Juniors entertain sister freshmen with hot dogs, red handkerchiefs, and laughs at their hobo picnic . . . Poetry Society, poetesses in embryonic stage admitted to the inner sanctum . . . May Sarton, poetess, spends several days at Lindenwood, lectures, confers with aspiring authors . . . Connie Kane reigns over Harvest Ball . . . some blind dates are really blind, eh, Janie?

Feature of the Fall months—the Beta Chi barnwarming . . . cider, doughnuts, and horses clamor for attention . . . we thrill with pride as friends canter around the ring . . . prelude for blue ribbons to come . . . A. A. Mock initiation, blue jeans, “wipe away that smile,” and “make like a scrambled egg,” bruised knees, names, names, names . . . Dr. James W. Clarke, President of the Board of Directors, speaks at Vespers . . . Tau Sigma holds weekly meeting in gym, members can’t walk for three days after strenuous exercise . . . Press Club initiation, blindfold, cokes, business for the year begun . . . “Let’s Read” convocation by Richard Corson, Dramatic Artist . . . weekends on campus spent loafing in jeans . . . Lindenwoodites visit friends, go in for “feminine sports” . . .

Mid-November and we look back on with pleasure on the League of Women Voters tea . . . the freshmen birthday dinner, honoring their officers . . . Lindenwood triumphs at hockey . . . long rides on song-filled buses . . . a prize pair rounds the ring to take riding honors . . . Hagedorn Book Fair in Library Club Room, wistful looks and flat pocketbooks . . . Fall play "The Cassilis Engagement" . . . Lucky television actors eat turkey in their broadcast . . . Madame Lyolene and "New Look" arrive on campus . . . Thanksgiving offering for Markham Memorial . . . Seniors treat sophs to movie and fish pond . . . Nine weeks' exams take heavy toll, glum, glum, glum—Thanksgiving . . . and the month ends with four days of Heaven . . .

A week needed to recuperate, students drag wearily to class, animated only in discussions of Turkey Day activities, love-lorn looks . . . purse strings tighten as pre-Christmas gift planning begins . . . Press Club journeys to St. Louis for spaghetti and a peek at the Globe-Democrat . . . Days shorten and cold sets in . . . trips to the "Tea Hole" with coke bottle clutched in mittened fingers . . . Tau Sigma presents their annual recital "Christmas Cards" as students marvel at grace and agility of dancers . . . Senior Christmas dance begins the round of Christmas parties . . . last minute diets result from a horrified trip to the scale . . . Christmas activities pile up and classes lose interest as we dream one dream—Home!

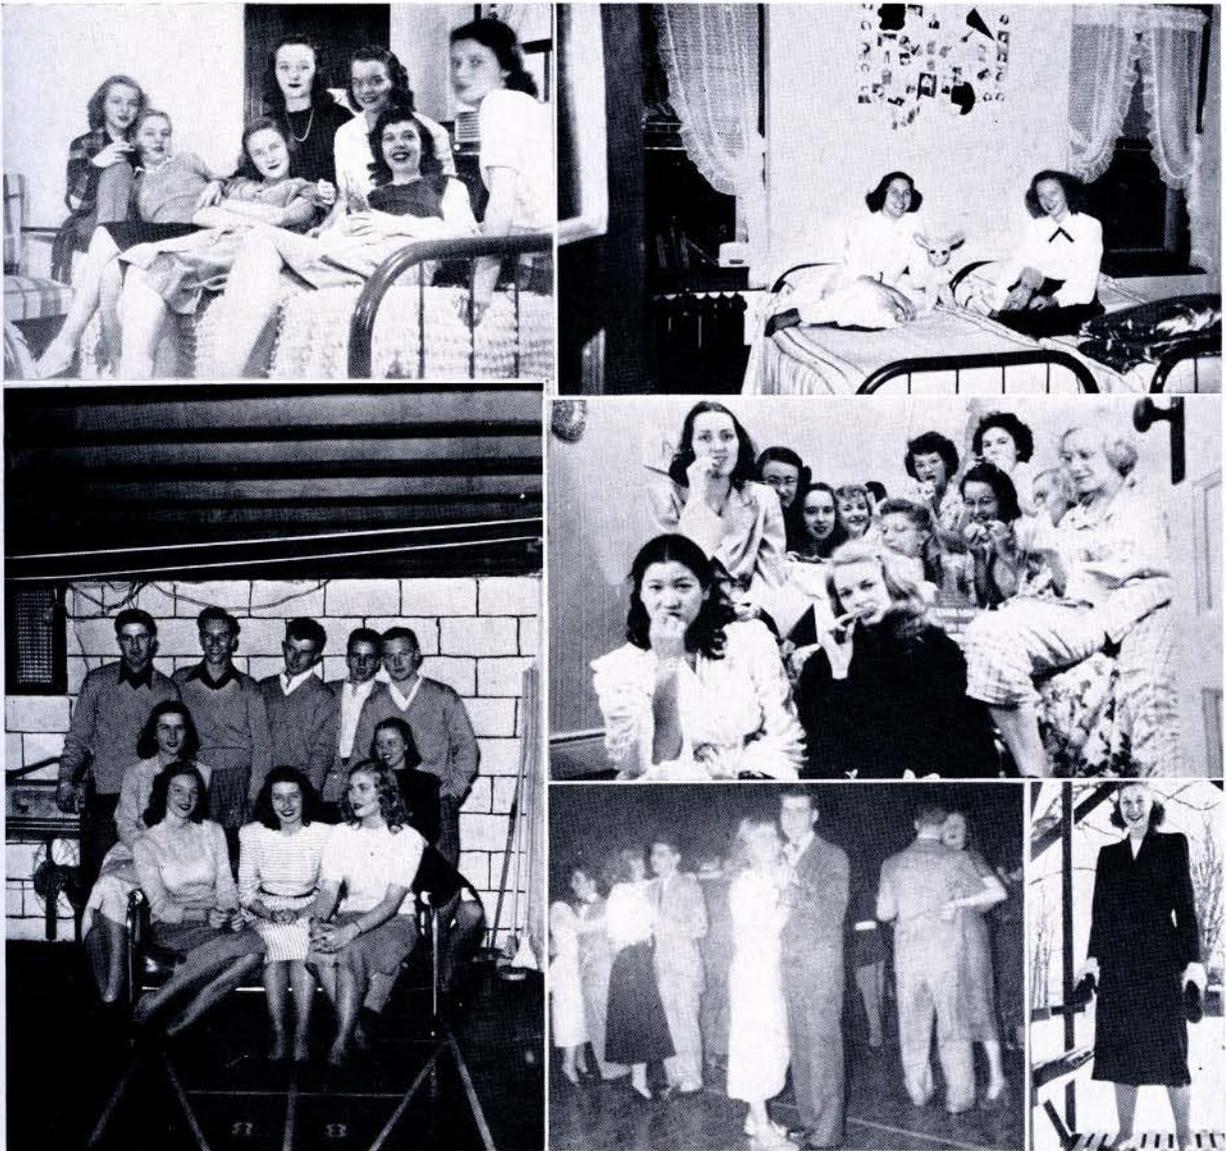

Christmas comes to Lindenwood with a bang when the big tree on front campus is covered with lights and a star shines brightly from its tip . . . remember the first night? How we gathered around to sing Christmas carols after the choir program of Christmas music? . . . a glittering tree comes to every parlor surrounded by our gifts for Markham Memorial . . . rosy-cheeked sophomores bring "Silent Night" to all the campus . . . family Christmas dinner complete with Santa (your pillow is showing) Claus and gifts for all . . . dorm parties with gift exchange, carolling . . . Finally the last good wishes have been expressed, and the inhabitants of Lindenwood, luggage-laden, realize that dream and head for home!

“Did you have a good time?” Everyone shouts the same answer: “Oh, you just don’t know!” The new year begins with diamonds flashing here and there. (The man came through on Christmas!) . . . There are dorm parties with food from home; trips to the zoo with favorite people and all sorts of wonderful things to begin the new year . . . snowstorms catch the administration and students unaware . . . A. A. party, a rootin’, tootin’ barn dance with much hay, cutting up and so on . . . we play, but soon term papers are due; ibid., op. cit., aspirin and midnight oil are overworked . . . Lindenwood develops a new crop of coffee, coke and raisin addicts . . . “Carlotta” appears again and woe is written on the faces of all freshmen . . .

The seniors pull a slick trick, and slip away the week after Christmas . . . a jouncing bus ride in the gray gloom of early morn (the poet who wrote about sunrise hadn't been up until two, packing and avoiding friends) breakfast at the Statler with orange-juice toasts to our absent friends . . . a day spent visiting the stores and theatres . . . an evening spent visiting pink and green elephants . . . records broken by this year's class for the early occurrence of skip day—pictures in the Globe-Democrat—huge stacks of collect telegrams . . . delicious food and the splurge of our lives as we receive the cumulative reward of four years at Lindenwood . . . a reluctant return to the rat-race, full of hilarious memories . . .

Classes and books grow dull . . . club meetings and evenings spent studying . . . we live for the week-ends . . . some gather on one bed for ye olde bulle session . . . life, love and locomotives hashed and rehashed . . . two Niccollsites clean house, then pose on a well-made bed . . . house parties are a welcome release from any college, especially when dates are included . . . boxes from home call for midnight feeds as L. C. lassies absorb a fabulous amount of weird concoctions . . . The sophomores sponsor the Starlight Swing, first informal dance of the year . . . music and men . . . snow continues to clutter up the landscape as we eagerly await finals . . . upperclassmen proffer advice and sympathy to frighten freshmen, no one really worries . . .

Alice Marble lectures at convo . . . autographs and resolutions to practice our backhand stroke . . . advice concerning ten hours of sleep seems ironic on eve of finals . . . Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, famous theologian, speaks at convocation . . . final exams finally arrive . . . blue jeans . . . blue books . . . blue circles under eyes . . . tests relieved with cocoa and bridge in the Library Club Room . . . students experiment with study methods . . . endeavor to discover position most conducive to concentration—some sprawl, some curl up, some sit like ladies at their little desks . . . everyone gets through somehow . . . sighs of relief after that last exam . . . grades anxiously awaited . . . worries are over for one semester . . . off for a few days of home and peace . . .

Snowy interlude—we discover the delights of the golf course. Sleds reappear from under Sibley's porch, ski's are rounded up, and the college bundles up for winter sports . . . frosted noses and toes become the "New Look" as snowball fights and face-washings become more popular . . . papers, tests, important duties are forgotten and worry is tossed gleefully aside as we revel in snow, snow and more snow.

“Dear Mom, please send my ice skates special delivery.” . . . eager students deluge parents with requests for skates when Dr. McCluer announces that the tennis courts will be flooded for skating and we discover that Martin’s pond is within walking distance . . . we sweep and shovel to clear the ice . . . some good skaters amaze us with their skill and ability . . . others spill happily . . . winter is here and we love it . . .

New courses, new students, and welcome changes usher in the Valentine Month . . . Old-timers struggle to arrange schedules avoiding eight o'clocks, afternoon labs, or just classes in general . . . forty guinea pigs sigh and rename their one-hour course Expensive Books after putting out $7.50 for the text . . . freshmen date their junior sisters for a movie in St. Charles with refreshments afterward . . . Skiers try the fold course hill while less ambitious take a ride in the "one horse open sleigh" . . . The snow is right for snowmen, too . . . Dr. and Mrs. McCluer pose with the giant which guarded the campus . . . Religious Emphasis Week brings Dr. Raymond I. Lindquist, of Orange, New Jersey, to Lindenwood . . . Special chapels, convocations, and conferences with the theme, "Now to Live" increase interest in religion and help worried students solve problems . . .

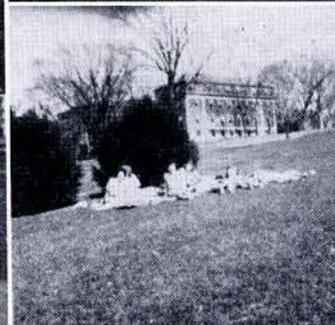

Mrs. Mildred Carpenter, St. Louis artist leads informal discussions . . . Mary DeVries is soloist at orchestra winter concert . . . John Scott, Chief of European Staff, Time Magazine, brings student body up to date on world conditions . . . Freshman class sponsors gay Leap Year Dance . . . Bark staff entertains Greater St. Louis Intercollegiate Press Association . . . Formal initiation brings new members into Athletic Association, likewise every campus honorary . . . Joiners find faces frozen permanently into best social smiles . . . Jeane Sebastian, a three-year member of the Popularity Court becomes the 1948 Queen at annual dinner—JoAnn O'Flynn, and Willie Viertel are her maids . . . Roemer resounds with music as Westminster Glee Club and Lindenwood Choir present joint concert . . . Maryville and Lindenwood play basketball . . . tennis enthusiasts try snow-covered court . . .

German band plays warmup music at World Student Service Fund rally . . . Auctioneer Wilma White sells faculty and student donations for enormous prices . . . "Aunt Lizzie" Dawson tells stories at faculty stunt night, which with a bean soup supper and a Vespers offering brought total collection to $1300 . . . Alpha Psi Omega performs Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" for capacity audience . . . hilarious comedy draws cheers and laughter . . . Irish wear green as March 17 comes . . . Residence Council celebrates with St. Patrick's Day dance . . . Press Club sizzles ears of faculty and students alike at fifth annual Gridiron Dinner . . . March of Slime reveals that the "new look" has at last come to the college's professors, while the season's accumulation of gripes is aired in "Life at Lindenwood, or, Sent Up For Four Years" . . . Junior and diploma recitals begin . . . Pat Underwood chosen as Lindenwood's candidate for queen of St. Louis Flower Show . . . As Linden Leaves deadline draws near staff assembles to paste calendar snapshots . . . March weather proves unpredictable as always . . . Animal-lovers wear fur coats to visit zoo, while warm days bring out spring dresses . . . Shoppers trek to city in search of Easter Bonnets . . . Saturday classes make possible extra day of vacation . . .

March and April—tea months at Lindenwood get into full swing as we don dresses and polite looks to chat over tea cups . . . day students lounge in their room—a favorite spot for all students . . . Lindenwood goes all out for politics as we prepare for the big political convention . . . Democrats rally round their standards with songs of Dixie and yells for Truman . . . township and counties elect delegates to the convention . . . Republicans plan a clever campaign and work on a well-thought-out platform . . . Last year Lindenwood went in for appendectomies, this year it's been broken and dislocated limbs . . . crutches and wheel chairs become the new style . . . false Spring brings students out into the open . . . cameras reappear . . .

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

SENATOR JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY

One of the most memorable events of the year was our mock political convention . . . inspired by Dr. McCluer, carried out by the students with the aid and assistance of Dr. Clevenger, Mr. Colson, and Mr. Motley . . . hats off to Linda Blakey and Audrey Mount, national party chairman . . . keynote speakers Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat from Wyoming and Senator Robert Taft, Republican from Ohio draw big crowds . . . delegates from many colleges crowd the campus . . . platforms presented, battled over, and accepted . . . nominations for candidates for President and Vice-president, with Truman and Arnall winning in the Democratic rally, Vandenberg and Stassen in the Republican . . . Lindenwood students receive training for participation in politics and learn the real issues of this year campaign . . . prove their worth in speech-making and plank work . . .

Even the thermometer admits that spring has come to stay . . . Lindenwood entertains Sigma Chi and Kappa Alpha at informal dances . . . Terrapin members cavort and dive in their annual water pageant—"Stars in the Sea"—ingenious costumes and water ballets . . . tennis . . . archery . . . A. A. Play Day, strained muscles for the uninitiated . . . Clyde Tull, famous creative writing teacher, gives us some literary pointers at convocation . . . field trips, and we fish for elusive water animals . . . the long awaited Junior-Senior Prom proves a smashing success as we swing and sway "Up in Central Park" to the music of Russ David and his orchestra . . . Dr. Scherer shares views with us at Vespers . . . guests gather for the Radio Conference.

May, the month devoted to seniors and their activities, comes again and hikes, sun-bathing—anything that will keep us outside—become popular . . . news from home—Mom and Dad will be here May Day . . . Biology classes spend a perfect day at Pere Marquette . . . chapel and classes seem dull as trees turn green and buds come popping . . . the annual is put to bed, likewise the editor . . . style show presents Lindenwood costume designs, beautiful fabrics, clever work, pretty models, all with a musical background . . . elections as next year's seniors prepare to take over . . . "in the spring a young man's fancy"—young women's too . . . last minute rehearsals for the dormitory sing as the halls present their new songs . . .

May Day is celebrated with a large round of activities, and proud parents look on with great happiness . . . beautiful Queen and attendants . . . festivities on the green lawns . . . dancing in the street . . . Seniors pin the juniors . . . "Remember" . . . will cherished items to cherished friends and make prophecies for the next ten years . . . A. A. Banquet, awards given to those who worked, officers announced for the coming year . . . Honors Day Convo, and we thrill with pride as friends receive offices, prizes . . . Seniors take their last exams . . . Baccalaureate and Alpha Sigma Tau tea . . . Graduation, the first to be broadcast . . . lumps in our throats, plans for next year and future reunions . . . the end of a perfect year.

ROEMER HALL

We're from Roemer
We're from Roemer
A great hall through and through
Reading freshman themes and Homer,
We are never blue-hoo-hoo-hoo.

We're from Roemer
We're from Roemer
A great hall through and through
We are the fac-ul-tee
Of Lin-den-woo-oo-ood.

FINE ARTS BUILDING

LIBRARY

AYRES HALL

We are the Ayres Hall fighters
Out to win some fame.
We'll make the girls of L. C.
Proud to say our name.
Carry the torch for Ayres
And for the gold and white.
One, two, three,
Let's shout our name
A-Y-R-E-S
Ayres!

BUTLER HALL

Come on along, come on along, let us take you by the hand
Up to the hall, up to the hall, that's the bestest hall of all.
It beats Ayres, Niccolls, Sibley, and Irwin too;
It's the best for me and the best for you;
It's just the bestest hall that am—my honey lamb. So—

Come on along, come on along, let us teach you how to live
In Butler Hall, in Butler Hall, where we take, and where we give;
And if you're looking for the gals that have that L. C. Spirit,
Well here we are, well here we are; we're the girls from Butler Hall.

IRWIN HALL

Oh, every Irwin girl is hard to beat
For everything she does is really neat
She has the smile, the style, the winning way
And when you look at her, you'll recognize her and you'll say
Now there's a girl I'd like to know
She has that good old fashioned pep and go
Just to look at her is quite a treat;
It's hard to beat an Irwin girl.

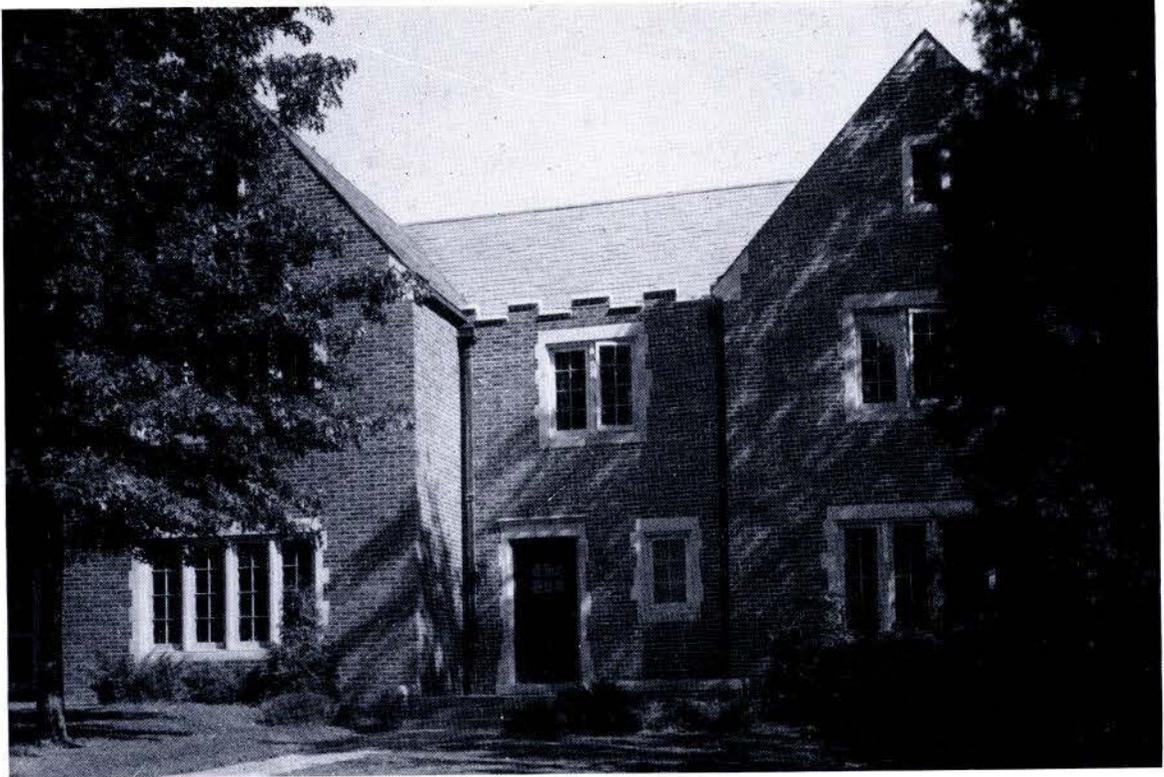

NICCOLLS HALL

Nicolls Hall, we're for you, Nicolls Hall.
Nicolls Hall, we're for you, one and all.
You can be the best,
Soar above the rest,
If you'll only stand and
Give a cheer for Nicolls Hall.

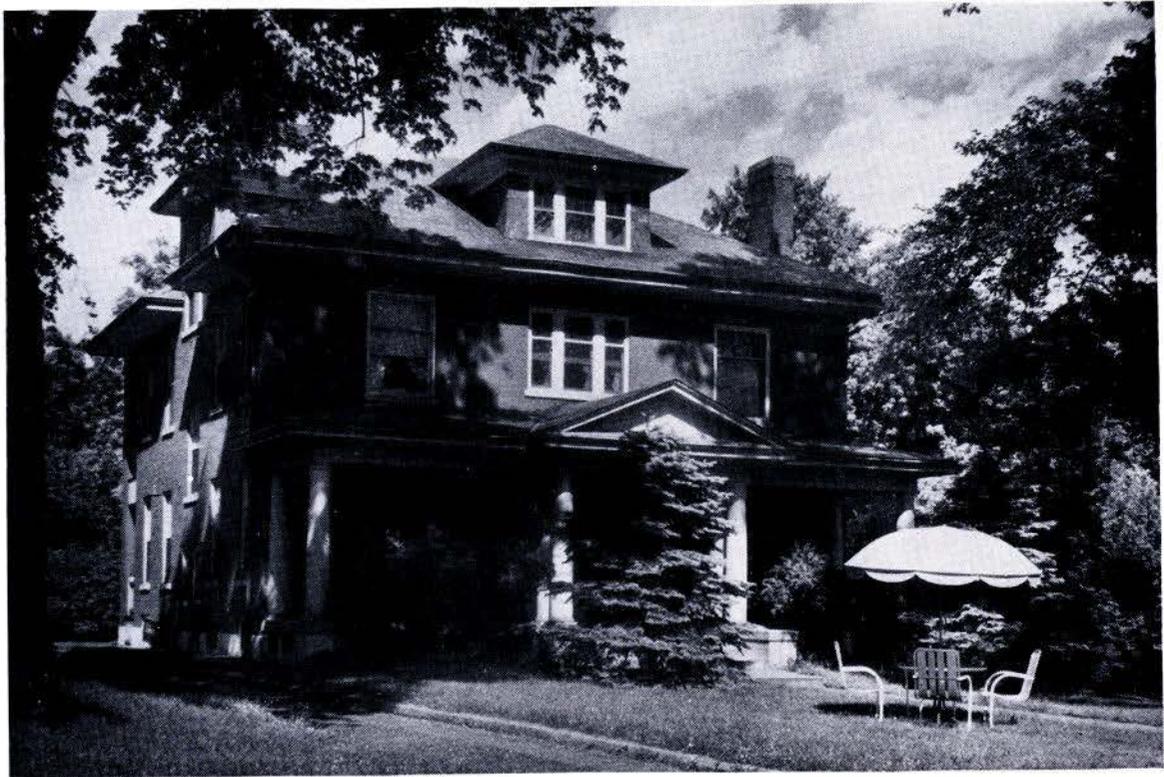

SIBLEY HALL

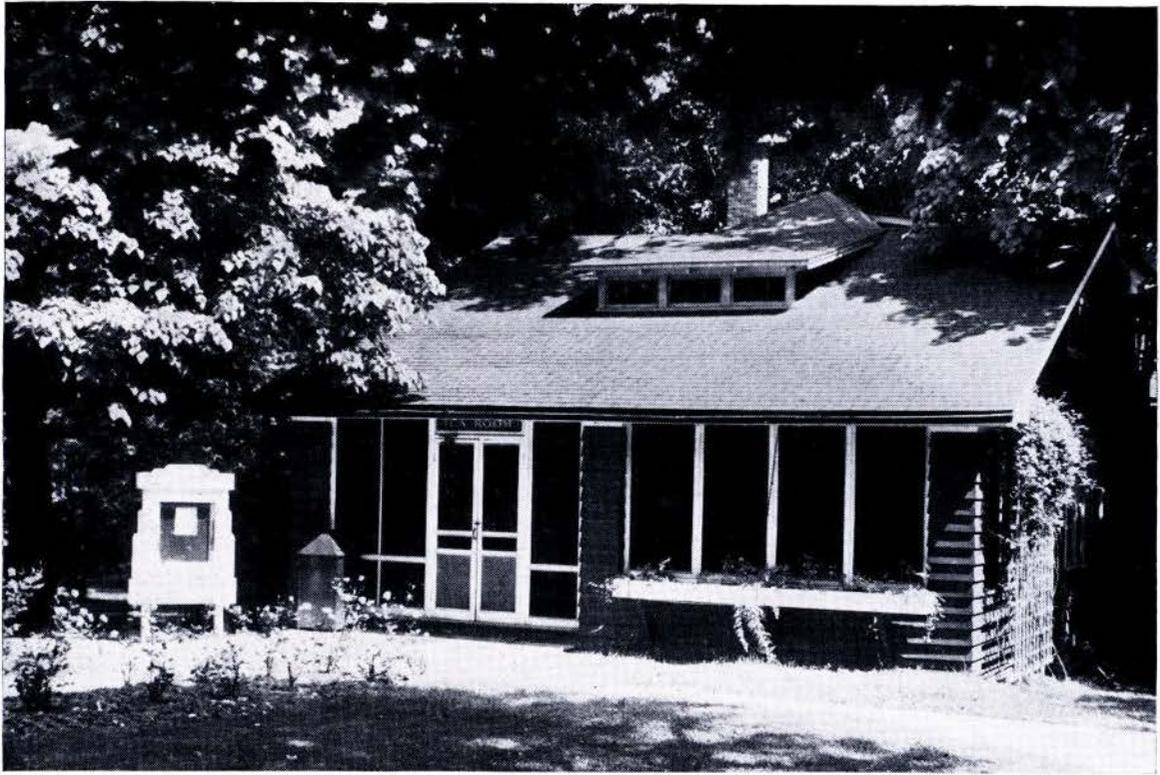

We're from Sibley.
Sibley are we.
We never lose our pepability
Rah, Rah, Rah,
We do our best to help the rest,
We are the Sibley girls.

TEA ROOM

THE GABLES

No mere camera could attempt to catch the beauty of Lindenwood on a sunny spring day or portray effectively the snowy winter scenery, but we have found for you a few reminders of our campus—and a few snaps of St. Charles, our temporary “home town.”

“There will be a meeting . . .” how often we’ve heard that phrase in student chapel and wondered what was up for tonight. Here we have your clubs, honorary and fun alike. Remember the initiation—how proud you were—and the time, when you reluctantly volunteered for the food’s committee and the coffee boiled over . . . the teas and the picnics. Your courts are here, too—Harvest, Popularity and May Day, the queens you chose to represent you. This is the inside information on organizations and clubs at L. C.

Student Council

This year's student council has promoted college spirit in all college activities, as well as making recommendations to solve campus problems which arise throughout the year. Thus the Student Council has become a strong link between the desires of the students and the actual goals attained.

From the council's schedule: mass migration to the library for the book sales at semesters . . . the often quoted suggestion box in the tea room, place for gripes and good ideas . . . formals and corsages at the dance held early in the year . . . Sigma Chi and et cetera fraternities invited to tea dances on campus . . . exciting and informative student chapels . . . student government in action . . . jobs well done and democratic support to make our college life happy and memorable.

Residence Council

What brightened those dark hours commonly called "exam week"—what gave us encouragement to face life despite F's? Well, other than the thought that soon all would be over and vacation would be here, it was the chance for relaxation at the fun hours held in the library club rooms. The people responsible for aiding us in keeping our sanity compose the Residence Council.

This group, elected by the students of each hall, guides and governs us in our efforts to live together on the campus, which is one of the most important benefits to be gained from a college education. The welfare and living conditions of every student at Lindenwood are a direct concern of the Residence Council. This year they inaugurated the honor system in dormitories to help students practice mature living.

Student Christian Association

The SCA is an all-student organization on campus. Through the regular meetings and outside activities, Student Christian hopes to build a firm foundation for Christian living by making the students conscious of the basic religious principles without prejudice, by a daily practicing of Christian brotherhood; and by enabling all of the students to lead a fuller, more well-rounded life.

Occasions worth quoting: parties at Thanksgiving and at Christmas coupled with excitement of going home . . . cuddly teddy bears and fairyland people sent to Markham Memorial . . . translating letters from girls in Germany and Holland, and sharing their ideas . . . fireside discussion groups in all the dorms during Religious Emphasis Week . . . the auctioneer's chant at Roemer for contributions to the World Student Fund Drive . . . an army diet of beans, and Miss Walker singing "Temptation" at the faculty stunt night . . . guest speakers from the International Fellowship Mission during Race Week . . . a tempering of prejudices that inwardly made you feel as though you had a right to be called a college student.

Who's Who

Lindenwood honors seniors whose scholastic average, character, and leadership abilities have contributed to the welfare of the school with election to the national publication, "Who's Who Among Student's in College and Universities." This year nine seniors will appear in the 1948 edition, sponsored by 600 schools.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Every college has an honorary organization to compensate for the burning of midnight oil. At Lindenwood, it's Alpha Sigma Tau. Students are allowed to join after three consecutive semesters of superior work with a constant supporting of the ideals of L. C.

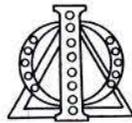

Memories worth E's: a trip back to Lindenwood in 1840, guided by Dr. Gregg . . . a picture of court life and the experiences of a district attorney drawn by Mr. Crete Stumberg . . . ants on her mind, and in the speech by Dr. Talbot . . . February initiation of new honor students . . . money for a scholarship contribution to the School of the Ozarks . . . good-bys and final visits with graduating seniors at the Baccalaureate Tea.

Alpha Psi Omega

We point with pride to our dramatic organization, Alpha Psi Omega, that has furnished us with entertainment in an aura of real theater. Those who have fulfilled its requirements enter the inner sanctum of the drama enthusiasts of Lindenwood, where students continue to prove their originality and resourcefulness in acting . . . where fine direction bears fruit in fine performance.

Behind the scenes: initiates trembling with first-nighter shakes before the annual formal initiation . . . curtain going up on the yearly Alpha Psi play, and on aspiring Katherine Cornells of Lindenwood . . . empty stage and memories of the hot footlights . . . interest aroused in playgoing that will last a lifetime.

Beta Pi Theta

Theta Xi, the Lindenwood chapter of Beta Pi Theta, is the national honorary French fraternity on campus, to which a student may be admitted if she fulfills the requirements illustrating her proficiency in the language.

Memorez-vous? chartered buses, note books, teeth-clenched pencils, and nasalized accents for trips into St. Louis to study the heritage "français" of Lindenwood's neighbor city . . . Christmas trees and French carols just before vacation started . . . "parlez-vous"—ing over cups of tea . . . an essence of Paris and the Arch of Triumph brought by Theta Xi's guest speaker . . . movies in St. Louis, where all the characters spoke too rapidly to be understood anyhow . . . serious times when packages were sent to orphans abroad, and when a little from here meant so much over there . . . Award Day, and the presentation of the medal for the outstanding freshman student of the French Department . . . final meetings and friendships—how does the Frenchman say it—ah, yes "toujours!"

Der Deutsche Verein

Organized to complement German classroom studies, Der Deutsche Verein provides students with an opportunity to exercise their new-found language. Membership is composed of those students with an "S" or above in any German language course.

Fascinating memories: meeting times spent conversing in German . . . memorizing German songs and discussing German folklore and legend . . . the gay Christmas party, now a welcome tradition among the L. C. faculty . . . spring picnics and parties . . . realization of the practical value of a foreign language.

El Circulo Espanol

Certainly there has been no more urgent need for mutual understanding among nations than in this past year. Through El Circulo Espanol, Lindenwood's Spanish honorary society for students having an "S" or an "E" average in this language, a better concept of our Latin American neighbors—their customs, ideals, accomplishments—is gained.

Perhaps you recall red roses pinned on this year's new members . . . Pan American day, the tea, and imaginary handclasps with our friends south of the border . . . the four hundredth anniversary of Cervantes' birthday, with his immortal Don Quixote and Sancha Panza still battling against the windmills . . . Dr. Terhune and her memorable stories of Spain (pre-Franco, that is!) . . . a whole year of meetings somehow passing in the twinkling of an eye, or should we say in an "abrir y cerrar de ojos."

Kappa Pi

Members of the campus national art fraternity, Kappa Pi, have added color to life at Lindenwood with their artistic touches. Those completing two full year courses in art, with a minimum grade of "S" and an average of "M" in other subjects are eligible for membership after the completion of a special project.

Dabs from the palate: the two annual Play Days, when students and faculty mingle in paints and crayons and proudly exhibit their talents . . . teas, informal meetings, and always art discussions . . . rainy Saturdays seemingly made for a trip to the museum in St. Louis . . . the sun warm on your back and a sketch book in your lap . . . and dreams, always dreams, of the future years when your masterpieces will be exhibited.

Home Economics Club

The tempting odors of baking cookies or broiling steaks that fill the halls of Roemer come from the Home Economics Association, and it is open only to majors in this field.

From the home-makers' scrapbook: glow of candlelight at the fall initiatory ceremony . . . Irish pipes and shamrocks at the St. Pat's party . . . living models from Mademoiselle at the spring fashion show . . . dyed fingers and Easter egg for Markham Memorial . . . dresses and pies, at last finished, on display for all Lindenwood to see.

Mu Phi Epsilon

With visions of C.B.S. and the Met in their heads, music majors join Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority in the professional field. Elections to the club are based on scholarship, musicianship, character, and faculty approval.

Worth encores: teas and monthly meetings, where faculty and students exchange ideas . . . inspection and approval by a national officer, Mildred Christian . . . February supper and honors to the patrons of Mu Phi . . . Sunday night and a musical Vesper program . . . campus artists on tour and receptions at Fine Arts afterwards . . . "ars, gratia artis."

Delta Phi Delta

The "do, re, me" that can be heard coming from the grade schools of St. Charles is actually the result of hard work and teaching on the part of Lindenwood's Public School Music majors. Delta Phi Delta is the campus sorority for these students, as well as for all underclassmen who are majoring in music.

In the scale of events: musical numbers by Lindenwood students and tea in early October . . . spring, and dinner at the Rathskeller before music sublime at the Symphony Concert . . . traditional Sibley Chapel, place of the annual one hour recital . . . the St. Charles Park, and the customary roasting of hot dogs for a picnic . . . "pre-performance" quakes, the privilege of any artist at the last appearances for the year.

Pi Alpha Delta

Members of Pi Alpha Delta prove that Latin is not dead, and that Homer still rides the steed of poetry. Honorary organization for those students in the Classical Languages Department, Pi Alpha Delta lends Latin-Greek atmosphere to the campus.

Do you remember: the first department frolic and ice cream sundaes in the library club rooms . . . tea for fellow classmates, and things classical served along with the lemon slices and lumps of sugar . . . Miss Hankins and her ability to make past civilizations live again . . . the ruins of Parthenon, and a certain ache in your heart for the loss of sublime grandeur?

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, a rumpusing family of social scientists, fills the Club Room with big questions, weighty with words and knitted brows. Coffee grows cold, and the air grows blue while they reeducate the agressor, restrain the communist, and lay upon labor its due responsibilities. Everybody speaks her mind, and what a jig-saw puzzle of wisdom!

Can you forget the inspiring talks made by guest speakers—Judge Michael Scott of the St. Louis Juvenile Court; Leo Bishop, head of the Conference of Christians and Jews; Fred McKinney, Director of Health of the University of Missouri; Judge Randolph Schaper of Washington, Mo., and our own Miss Ilse Nelson, of the Department of Sociology?

And did you leave L. C. and Pi Gamma Mu with a firm resolve to set things right?

Sigma Tau Delta

Lindenwood's honorary English organization for the promotion of fine writing and reading is this Kappa Beta Chapter, founded on campus in 1928. It is a part of the national organization of Sigma Tau Delta, first started in 1925. It furnishes an impetus for literary appreciation.

Calendar memories: the fall and spring initiations, with candlelight and black and red ribbons . . . the myriads of manuscripts entered in the annual freshman contest . . . Christmas wreaths and tea for the honor students in English . . . the joint meeting with Alpha Psi Omega, and the multi-personalities of Richard Corson . . . the invitation from the Poetry Society to hear of hope and dreams by Mae Sarton . . . the inspiration of Clyde and Jewell Tull to create more and more perfectly . . . the fellowship of meetings and the friendships that remained.

Triangle Club

"Oh, I wonder if I'll make Triangle," breathe would-be science majors and minors as they eagerly await the verdict of their grades, for an "S" average in three science or math courses is necessary to become eligible for membership. Programs are varied and interesting. Who would have guessed that Dr. Betz knew so much about the weather—why it rains, and how weather is predicted! Coy Payne told of the progress made by her golden hamsters, the well-known pets of the biology department. Can you forget Sandra Chandler's demonstration of what goes into the making of corsages? (How you yearned to inform the current heartthrob!) And remember how proud you were of the students who went as delegates to the Missouri Academy of Science? New ambition fired your dreams of scientific research as you heard other students and teachers tell of their achievements.

Athletic Association

Bruises, skinned knees, blacked eyes, and creaking muscles are the familiar badges worn by the energetic members of A. A.—but, oh, the glory of it all! Remember how everyone hit that ball a little harder, or ran a little faster when she thought of the coveted plaque? And the hay-ride! How you shuddered every time a cloud loomed in sight—and finally gave in to the idiosyncrasies of Missouri weather? Yet the all-school barn dance was even more fun—it wasn't hard to act like a bunch of hicks! The all-college Play Day, with competition in riding, tennis, and 'most everything else rounded out a good year of sports—and how beautiful those hard-earned letters looked on your sweaters!

"Twist your hip a little more and point your toe!" No, it isn't a Swedish masseu but the director of a practice of Tau Sigma, national honorary dance fraternity. In December, the club gave its yearly recital, "Christmas Cards," in which scenes from four Christmas cards were represented, the "Madonna," "Christmas Day," "Winter Frost," and the "Dance of the Toys."

"Pas de Tenx": taking a master dance lesson from Charles Wiedman, renowned expert of modern dance technique . . . dashing into St. Louis to see the ballet . . . attending Charles Wiedman's own dance recital . . . planning costumes for dance routines . . . limbering up for the big night, and finally the moment that has demanded hours of practice arrives and the curtain parts.

Beta Chi

"Whoa, Scarlet!—Please whoa!—Well, she did it again!" fence riders comment sadly as they watch another rider bite the dust (or rather, cinders) during tryouts for Beta Chi. But shucks! There isn't a good rider alive who hasn't been tossed at one time or another. Remember the fun you had riding Scarlet and Helen in pairs—and the excitement of getting ready for an inter-school riding meet. It wasn't just luck that L. C. won most of the ribbons either! What fun you had riding on Saturday mornings—and on the cross-country jaunts in the spring (ending in the big "feed")—And then how proud everyone was of your annual spring horse show! Being a Beta Chi that day was being something extra-special.

Terrapin

Have you noted a reversal of the beauty parlor technique as glamour girls enter Butler Hall to emerge about an hour later free of make-up and with hair straight and dripping down their necks? You have probably seen members of Terrapin, the honorary aquatic society on campus. In the spring they find that all their trials and hours of hard practice are worthwhile when they have their annual water-pageant. What a picture they make in their gleaming black suits as they glide through the water in perfect rhythm!

"Splashes" this year: guarding at "open pool" while beginners insist on learning to drown in "one easy lesson" . . . trying out a new "absolutely water-proof" lipstick . . . polishing up strokes for the pageant . . . pushing back dessert so that new black suit won't bulge . . . waiting in the shower room for the big event to begin . . . at last moving smoothly through the water, a part of a musical pattern.

Children's Theatre of the Air

"Hey, Jean! It's time for the Children's Theatre. Switch it on won't you?" You may hear this in any one of the dorms on Saturday mornings because Lindenwood students are as ardent listeners as the many more youthful fans. Who would miss the adventures of such a charming chap as Herman, the honeybee who performs over station KFUO? All the programs are planned by L. C. radio students who learn to write scripts and produce them, handling sound effects and characterization.

Air-wave moments: Scrambling to get scripts finished by deadline . . . struggling to get a certain tone of voice typical of a rabbit . . . figuring out sound effects to mimic a turtle running for dear life . . . the sweet voice of the Story Lady who tells of animals and dolls that act in the most amazing way, almost like humans . . . the thrill that comes when the red light snaps on, the theme song begins, and the Children's Theatre of the Air is on the waves once more.

Choir

"Tone down the alto section." "If it weren't for the sopranoes we might have a good choir!" "Can't you keep on key?" Mr. Rehg banters as the choir rehearses for one of its numerous programs. Tired throats, and shattered nerves always precede a big concert, but when the big day arrives—halos perch on the head of every singer. Remember what fun you had practicing for the Christmas program, the Easter program and the big festival at Kiel! And the thrill it was to sing in some of the city churches! Real professionals couldn't be more apprehensive than you as you climbed the bus and headed for St. Louis—or more pleased with a job well done!

Commerical Club

The clacking of the typewriters to the strains of "Stars and Stripes Forever" reminds you of the Commercial Club, organized for those students who are taking a minimum of two subjects in the Secretarial Science Department.

From the file: ideas from business meetings and guest speakers sufficient to fill a whole ream of paper . . . green, green, green everywhere at the St. Patrick's Day tea . . . near frustration from watching the Gregg Shorthand expert . . . vacation time, even for future secretaries, and a picnic for a last get-together . . . summer time, school ending, and the beginning of a career.

Day Students

"Say, did Susie get her ticket?"—"Where will we meet?" "Was anyone forgotten?" are frantic questions that buzz throughout the day students lounge as the girls make last minute plans to go to the American Theater. The air is almost as full of excitement when they throw a Christmas party, or spring picnic, because a day student is bound to have at least thirty things on her mind at once. The non-resident students of Lindenwood are small in number but mighty in activity. They're keen competition during intramurals for any dorm, and are vitally interested in all campus activities. The day students' lounge is a popular gathering place for between-class "gab sessions." And here these girls and their resident-student friends find many things to discuss concerning campus and world events.

Encore Club

“So you’re an encore too! Who belongs to you?” exclaim new students as they eagerly sign the registration book on the first day of school. Girls proudly announce mother, grandmothers, sisters, cousins, and even great-grandmothers.

Remember how you smiled smugly when the Encore Club was mentioned so fondly on Founder’s Day? Even Mrs. Sibley’s ghost seemed more real to you. After all, didn’t your kinswoman know her too? Can you ever forget the ridiculous time you had at the school party, or the fun you had selecting the food to go into the Thanksgiving basket? Being an encore means really “belonging.”

Future Teachers of America, as its name implies, is composed of all students interested in teaching as a profession. It is a nationally affiliated organization and all members keep in touch with NEA and MSTA through their publication.

The year begins "on the bell" . . . a day spent browsing among the booths at the State Teachers Convention and listening to inspirational talks . . . dinner for the alumni in the Statler . . . panel discussions and guest speakers at club meetings. Spring brought the annual tea for St. Charles teachers . . . a day hostessing alumni who are teaching . . . finals . . . and the worm turns as students suddenly become teachers and think about life from the other side of the desk!

League of Women Voters

"Where is Robert's Rules of Order!" is a cry often heard during one of the League meetings so that perfect parliamentary procedure may be maintained at all times. The main event of the year for the League of Women Voters was the sponsoring of the student political conventions held April first, second, and third on the campus. The keynote speakers were Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming who addressed student representatives from thirty-three colleges and universities from Minnesota to Texas.

From the League minutes: the Missouri Constitutional Convention discussed by Dr. McCluer . . . the housing problem explored by a panel . . . the inner workings of the city council, the police court, and the school board investigated by members . . . Dr. Clevenger explained parliamentary procedure . . . the problem of racial minorities intrigued members . . . all students who had reached the age of twenty-one were honored by the League in May on "Citizenship Day" when the oath of citizenship was administered to them.

International Relations

Lindenwood keeps posted with world events through the International Relations Club. All students who are interested in the future of their world are eligible for membership. The theme of the club for this year was a study of American foreign policy.

Headline events: boxes of old clothes for suffering people in France . . . arguments and cigarette smoke filling the air at monthly meetings . . . Pan American Day, and an all-school reception . . . fellow students of foreign countries bringing their views to discussions . . . springtime, and a final fling at the end-of-the-year party.

Poetry Society

A budding poet chews thoughtfully on her pencil as she tries to think of a phrase that will improve her latest attempt at poetry writing. The supposedly finished masterpiece is read before the club, criticized, and improved. Faculty members and students heatedly contest the virtues of favorite poets.

Remember how you enjoyed talking with May Sarton and Semaus MacManus when they were the guests of your group? And remember the contest in the fall? Jean Kiralfy's poem, "Christmas Eve," won her an honorary membership. More and better verse was collected all year by the club for future publication. Remember how pleased you were when one of your poems was considered good? It was worth all the trouble of rewriting!

Linden Bark

Lindenwood's news service, the Linden Bark, has kept us up to date on the momentous happenings around campus. The paper is put out by the members of the journalism class with the aid of other students interested in writing.

Headline events: Special Thanksgiving and Christmas papers in colored ink . . . gossip and editorial columns . . . the literary supplement, containing the works of Lindenwoods' budding authoresses . . . the Romeo contest, judged by a Hollywood star, Veronica Lake . . . the memorable April Fool surprise sheet when the faculty turned reporter . . . the thrill of covering the political convention on campus . . . last-minute write-ups . . . type lice . . . deadlines . . . and, at the year's end, the realization of the great truth in the old adage about printer's ink getting in your veins.

Press Club

One of Lindenwood's most energetic organizations, the Press Club is noted for its novel entertainment. Any one on the Linden Bark and Linden Leaves staffs is eligible for membership in this club.

Printer's points: the fall trip through the Globe-Democrat with a spaghetti and spumoni dinner . . . long range plans for the Gridiron Dinner and frantic last-minute preparations . . . startling imitations of eminent campus figures . . . barbed wit . . . a spring visit to the police station and morgue, where the more daring poked into dark nooks . . . the picnic with its uncensored paper . . . memories of an eventful, "newsy" year.

This picture was posed—you can't put out a yearbook and stay dressed up in the process. It's been a busy year—one with many happy memories. Remember the candlelight presentation of the Popularity Court? And our selling campaign with posters of "Linda" Leaves suddenly blossoming forth on campus. Yes, Linda's been active this year—but she had fun, too.

The editor wants to extend thanks to all who worked, the staff, who poured forth ideas and manual labor to get things out on time—the sponsors, Miss Isaacs, Miss Watts, and Miss Albrecht who contributed time and thought, our photographers, Bizelli, Kister and Carlos, Mr. McClary of Jahn & Ollier Engravers, Mr. Bassman of Mid-State Printing, our advertisers, and to you, the students, who added your snapshots to the collection and bought the book.

Ten years from now when you wonder about that girl who lived across the hall, look in this section, she'll be here, and with her all the others—the girls you met for that three o'clock coke, your best friends, and all the big and little shots on campus. The girls are a little glamorous, but if you dig through that makeup you'll recognize your roommate (even though you usually saw her with her hair up in socks!) Your faculty and administration are here too, from your freshman E. Comp. teacher through the college president. We've tried to catch them in their natural habitats; so that you could see them again as you remembered them—across a desk, clustered around an easel, or peering into a microscope—"Inside Lindenwood."

Seniors

The members of the class of '48 have many pleasant memories of happy times spent at Lindenwood, which started 'way back, four years ago, when they went as the freshmen class to see the Ice Capades in St. Louis. Louise Kerr was the president then, and they had the traditional dances, Halloween Court, and sister party for the juniors. Many hectic shopping days were spent in St. Louis. As sophomores, with Jeane Sebastian as their president, they sponsored a Snowball Dance, caroled at Christmas, and formed an honor guard for the May Queen. The sophomores held a sister party for the seniors.

Under Jeane Sebastian's leadership their junior year, the class members held a sister party for the freshmen, and participated in the dread Junior English Exam. Their Junior-Senior Prom's theme was "The Circus," and Ayres was the scene of a gay banquet. A merry-go-round, and even a band-stand made the atmosphere fairly breathe with tinsel and sawdust. That weekend the campus belonged to the seniors. And at last they were seniors! Three years had quickly flown by, and the fourth was started with Dottigail Roberts as president.

They gave a sister party for the sophomores—a movie in St. Charles with refreshments afterwards in the library club room, where they played bridge and won little prizes in the fish pond. During the gay pre-Christmas activities, the seniors sponsored an all-school formal dance with the theme of "Candy Canes." Butler Gym was decorated splendidly with enormous candy canes and a large Christmas tree.

Seniors

Senior Skip Day, a deep, dark secret to the rest of the school until it happens, started at six a.m. one fine morning with breakfast at the Statler, then the students went their various ways for a day of unrestricted fun—milk cocktails, ballet . . . Dr. and Mrs. McCluer invited the whole class to dinner in March, and the students enjoyed the evening playing bridge, watching card tricks, and participating in conversation games. At the Senior Party for the faculty much fun was had while playing charades, bridge, singing and enjoying delicious refreshments.

May Day weekend was a hey-day in the lives of the seniors. The activities started with a street supper and carnival Friday night. Saturday night the May Queen, Carolyn Coons, was crowned, followed by an all-school dance in the street and the gym. Music was amplified by the loud speaker for the open air dancers. Sunday afternoon a tea was given for the students and parents who had come to witness the ceremony. Pin Day the seniors wore their caps and gowns for the first time. The juniors wore white dresses and were pinned by the seniors with new Lindenwood pins, thus becoming seniors. The seniors then sang "Remember" to the juniors, who returned the song.

During Class Day the will and prophecy of the seniors were read—the old hand-me-downs of the seniors were passed on to underclassmen. "Custer's Last Stand," a picture which belongs to one senior every year, was passed on to another Butlerite. Suddenly it was Commencement, and each senior, four stars in her crown of higher education, received with pride the degree she had worked so long to attain. Four years gone—swept away into the mists of experience, but never to be forgotten in the minds of the seniors of 1948.

Juniors

The weatherman was against the juniors' first attempt for fun this year, and the Hobo Picnic for the freshmen was rained out and held in the library club room. Lunches were wrapped in red and blue bandana handkerchiefs to be tied on sticks. Many juniors enjoyed week-ends at the Coronado in St. Louis. Highlight of the junior year was the Junior-Senior Prom—dinner in Ayres, and dancing to Russ David's orchestra. The theme of the banquet was "Up in Central Park." The gym was decorated as a park, with swings, old band stand, picket fence, and trellises twined with ivy. A date dinner for the juniors and seniors and their beaux was the main event of the Sunday after the Ayres Prom. Taking off for a good time by themselves, the juniors had a weiner roast at Blanchette Park. However, the year was not all for fun; the Junior English Exam caused blue looks for a while—one has to pass it to graduate.

Sophomore Class

Under Jean Shelton's able leadership, the sophomores started their year's activities with Starlight Swing, the first informal dance of the year, held in January. On a crisp, cold night just before Christmas vacation, this class went caroling and sang to all the dorms. Frozen fingers were thawed in the library club room afterwards, and hot chocolate, doughnuts and good cheer prevailed. The sophomores sponsored an Open House for their sister class, the seniors, in April.

The Sophomore Culture Tests were an eight-hour hurdle to jump that few of the sophomores will soon forget. Black mechanical pencils and little squares to be marked in will probably arouse violent emotions in these girls for years to come. During May Day week-end, the sophomores did their part by holding a tea for the parents, entertaining royally all the families who had come down for the gala occasion.

Freshmen Class

The Harvest Ball in October, at which the Harvest Queen, Connie Kane and her court were presented, was the first freshmen-sponsored activity of the year. This was soon followed by a formal all-school birthday dinner, something new on campus with credit going entirely to the freshmen. The officers and sponsor of the freshman class were presented and Nancy Kern was introduced as the head of the freshman counseling program.

All juniors were treated to the movies with refreshment afterwards by their obliging freshmen "dates," according to an old Lindenwood tradition of sister classes. The poor males didn't have a chance when the youngest class declared open war at the Leap Year Dance in February. Deciding that some things are more important than fun, the class willingly gave up one of its parties and used the money to adopt a child in Europe. Soon the year was over, and the freshmen, full of memories, could look forward to another college year.

YOUR BADGE IS A THING OF BEAUTY AND SHOULD BE A JOY FOREVER!

The traditions of a century-old school cannot be erased by time, and the beauty of your Lambda Chi Badge is as enduring as the traditions of your school. Your Lambda Chi Badge is wrought entirely of gold and set with only genuine perfectly matched Oriental whole pearls—a badge in keeping with all of the fine things that Lindenwood College stands for.

Do You Know a Better Way TO PRODUCE YEARBOOKS?

IN MOST CASES the yearbook staff is entirely new to the work ahead of it. Yet the part-time editorial and business staff has a relatively more technical and complicated task than most full-time publication organizations.

To meet this problem, can you think of a better way to aid a college yearbook staff in its work than by our service program, as outlined below?

- (1) Let the staff take the leadership and give full play to its own ideas, thus developing journalistic and business initiative.
- (2) Provide the necessary technical advice on printing and binding (and secondarily on photography and engraving).
- (3) Offer guidance on planning and maintaining a budget, and on editorial policy and practice.
- (4) Provide a forthright informational service for faculty and student committee, including frequent personal conferences.
- (5) Let the staff benefit from our experience of more than thirty years of printing, binding, and production of college yearbooks.

GIVE YOUR YEARBOOK the advantage of our services. Many of the same individuals who produced the yearbooks of your fathers' and mothers' college years are still here to give your book the benefit of their experience. Above all, however, we appreciate the importance of keeping "out in front" of the trends and developments of the present.

We apologize—the Linden Leaves has neglected (how could it, oh shame) a most eminent, invaluable senior, Florella Sue Mackintosh, beloved of faculty and students alike. She, who is responsible for the noise after midnight, the rain on dance nights, the ink on term papers; casseroles, lost books, missing notes and all the other delightful things about school, has been left out of the senior pages. We apologize, forgive us, Florella Sue and all you readers!
