STUDENT COUNCIL

First row: Platt, McGraw, Bass, Janet Brown
 Second row: Garvin, Odom, Kern, M. A. Smith, Heldt

Training in upholding the ideals of justice and democracy through individual responsibility is essential to the woman of tomorrow. The Lindenwood girl serves such an apprenticeship in the Student Government Association which is administered by the Student Council.

Major activities of this year's Council included sponsoring the Harvest Ball and the crowning of the Harvest Queen; presenting a Vesper program on the subject "Community Living"; giving Christmas gifts to the Lindenwood family; supervising an instruction course for future student-counselors; sponsoring a spring dance; and affiliating Lindenwood with the Mid-Western Student Government Conference and the National Student Organization.

Through the guidance of the Student Council, the Lindenwood girl is urged to accept the full responsibilities of college community living.

RESIDENCE COUNCIL

The welfare and living conditions of the Lindenwood resident students are the concern of the Residence Council. This group, elected by the students of each hall, maintains quiet during study hours and helps improve the general living conditions. Unknown to most students, the Residence Council provides us with the many little things that make our life here more enjoyable—books and magazines in the parlor, clean recreation rooms, and attractive Christmas decorations. This year those students who entered second semester were welcomed and entertained by the Residence Council. The whole school enjoyed the Council's St. Patrick's Day Dance. The 1947 Popularity Queen received her crown at this dance.

Dormitory life is a testing ground for success in community living after graduation. The Residence Council guides and governs us in our efforts to learn to live together on the campus.

SENIOR CLASS

Hunter, Bass, Hardy, Liebermann

The history of the class of 1947 has been marked by a unity and loyalty which we have maintained from the time of our Halloween Court as freshmen. That same year we attended a baseball game between the Giants and the Cardinals. In our sophomore year, we upheld the Christmas caroling tradition at Lindenwood, went to a formal dance at Scott Field, and entertained our sister class, the seniors, at a theater party. Our junior year brought a song title masquerade for the freshmen. The high point of that year was our revival of the Junior-Senior Prom, which furnished many wonderful memories.

As seniors, our class had much that was precious upon which to build the climax, and we began the year by a surprise entrance into the dining room to model our new white sweaters and caps with yellow emblems. During the holiday season we gave a dance, and later entertained our sister class, now sophomores, at a dessert-bridge. On Skip Day, our class left by special bus for St. Louis where we had breakfast together and enjoyed fulfilling the plans which had accumulated through three other years. "Old South" was the theme of the May Fete. The conclusion of our work and play as a group came with the commencement in June.

We, the class of 1947, have lived our college life through troubled times. An awareness of the world heightened the maturity with which we approached college training, and that same outlook we now carry forth to the homes and careers to which we aspire.

JUNIOR CLASS

Kern, Ritter, Sebastian, Schatzmann

The juniors hold one of the most desirable spots in the lineup of college classes—considered upper-classmen, and yet unprepared to leave. We have accomplished much in our three years at Lindenwood, and we have created many worthwhile memories. This year has been an especially fulfilling one. At the beginning we treated our sister class, the freshmen, to a movie, "Faithful in My Fashion." In the spring, the freshmen reciprocated by escorting us to a movie. Unquestionably, the high point of the year was the Junior-Senior prom, the second postwar prom at Lindenwood. Held in early May, the dance was one that we shall not soon forget.

Behind us are three happy, work-filled years. Ahead of us lies our senior year. After that, who knows? But the junior class, strong within itself, feels that it can face the future adequately prepared by Lindenwood.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Frank, Martin, O'Flynn

"Wise fools!" Perhaps that's what we have been this year. But what a wonderful year! At last, no longer bound by freshman restrictions, we have enjoyed a new sense of freedom and maturity. But if we thought we were too intelligent, the sophomore culture tests put us in our proper place.

Already Lindenwood holds countless memories for us—memories we shall keep as we step into the future—the traditional sophomore Christmas carolling, which brought real Yuletide spirit to the campus; the Winter Wonderland dance in January with snowflakes glittering, and sentimental music filling the air. Then came the fun and laughter of the dessert party given for us by the seniors, and of the party we gave in return. And we'll never forget holding the daisy chain as honor guard for the May Queen.

As we leave the campus in June, we go remembering two happy years at Lindenwood and looking forward to two more.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Holden, Walters, J. Reed, Ching

Looking into the future, we made our entrance applications at Lindenwood and became members of the freshman class. We arrived in September to begin our orientation week—"college gals" at last. With the help of our big sisters and faculty counselors, we were able to adjust ourselves quickly to campus living.

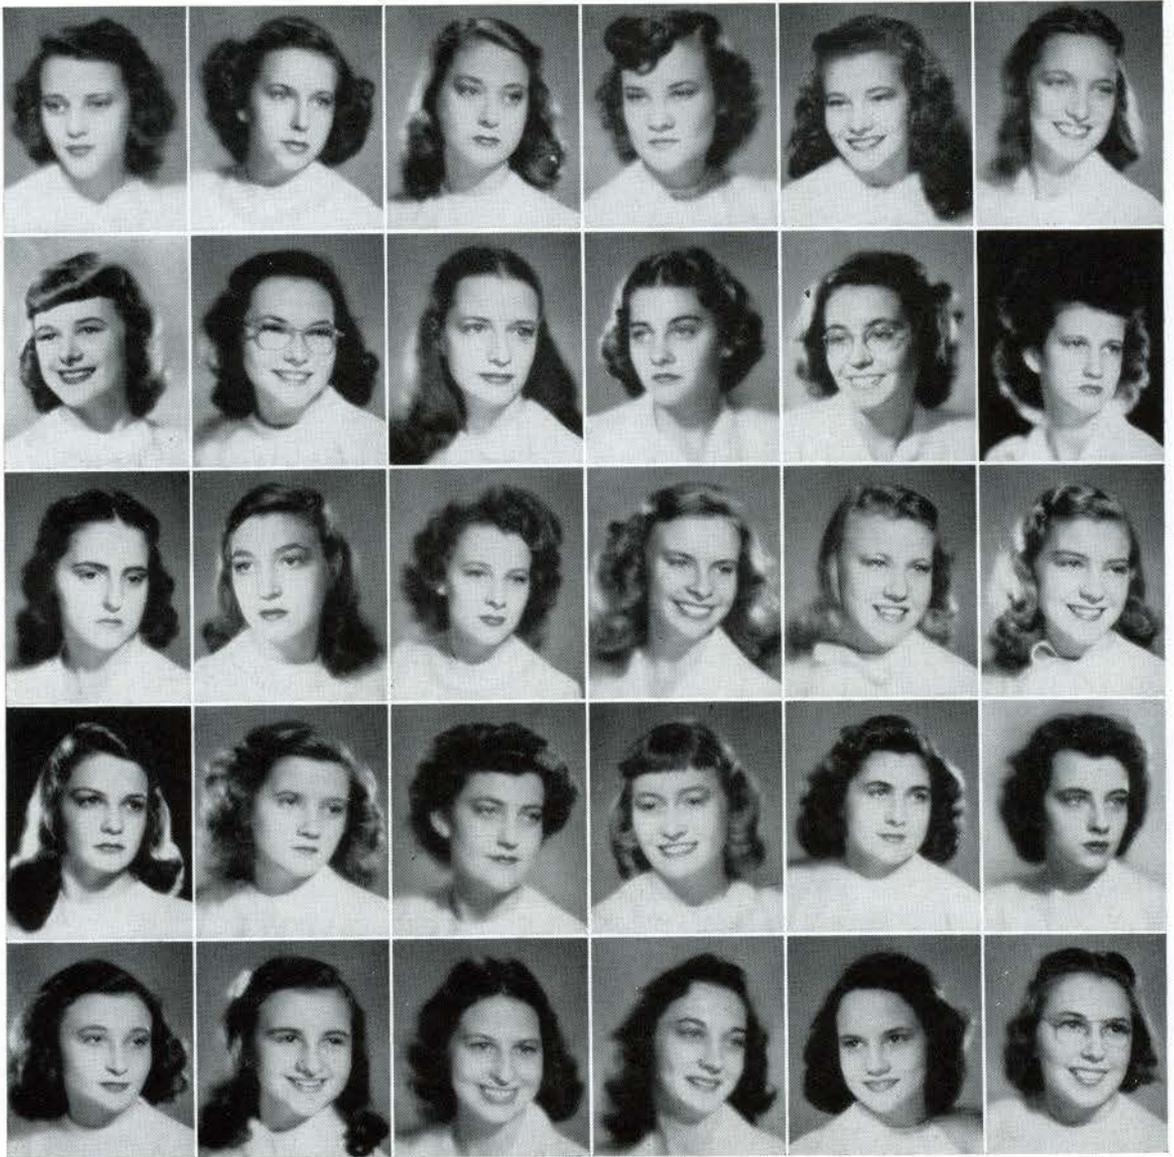

In October, we chose thirteen of our prettiest girls to be in the court at the Harvest Ball. Joan Hierholzer was crowned queen, with Joyce Nelson and Nancy Fanshier as her attendants. At our Halloween party, the queen and her court presented a style show.

January passed, and we survived the finals we had worried so much about. Then came second semester with its additional privileges. Our class invited the entire school to the Valentine Sweetheart Swirl, a colorful dance held February 15. Later in the year, to show our appreciation of our sister class, we entertained the juniors at the movies. To conclude our year's activities, we went on a hayride.

Now, with our first year of college behind us, and with increased confidence in ourselves, we look eagerly ahead.

WHO'S WHO

Selected on the basis of character, scholarship, and leadership in extra-curricular activities, the students listed in Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities exemplify the traits indicative of success in society.

Who's Who, sponsored by 600 American colleges and universities, is a national publication which annually gives gratifying recognition to the most outstanding citizens of various schools.

The 1946-47 edition will include the following nine Lindenwood seniors who received this honor: Deana Bass, vice-president, Student Council; Helen Horvath, editor, Linden Leaves; Colleen Johnson, president, Mu Phi Epsilon; Margaret Kendall, president, Alpha Sigma Tau; Keltah Long, president, Residence Council; Margaret Marshall, business manager, Linden Leaves; Louise McGraw, president, Student Council; Margaret McKinney, president, Pi Gamma Mu; Marian Pendarvis, organization editor, Linden Leaves.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

The members of Alpha Psi Omega are chosen for their good work either as actors, directors or technicians in college dramatics. The club tries to create a lasting interest in the theater, as well as a greater understanding of it. By this appreciation members develop a lifelong interest in playgoing and are capable of organizing and participating in community theater projects.

The club's chief activity during the year was the play presented by the members in the spring. Plays sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega are popular campus events and the college dramatic productions are always enthusiastically received. This is regarded as the outstanding play of the year.

ALPHA SIGMA TAU

Students who have had three consecutive semesters of superior work and who have in general supported the ideals of the school are eligible for membership in Alpha Sigma Tau, the scholastic honor society. The club tries not only to maintain high scholastic standards, but also to encourage good moral and social character. Alpha Sigma Tau hopes to develop leadership that will help its members to take an active part in community life and to give them a continuing interest in knowledge.

Members of Alpha Sigma Tau conducted a panel discussion before the student body on current marriage problems. Each year a scholarship contribution is sent to the School of the Ozarks. Alpha Sigma Tau entertained graduating seniors with a Baccalaureate Tea, an annual event.

BETA PI THETA

Theta Xi is the Lindenwood chapter of Beta Pi Theta, the national French honorary fraternity. To enter, a student must fulfill requirements illustrating her proficiency in the French language.

At their meetings, the members participate in games, songs, and talks. This year's events included attending French films in St. Louis, a tea for all the French students of the college with Mrs. Dalton Schreiber, former Lindenwood student, as the speaker, and the lecturer, Jacques Donvez of Paris, France, who addressed the entire student body on French music. This society awards a medal to a freshman student who shows progress in French, gives help to a school in France, and helps support a French orphan.

Membership in this society gives students practice in understanding and speaking French outside the classroom, and helps them to become acquainted with the art, literature, and music of France. It also develops a greater understanding of the French and an appreciation of their contributions to world civilization.

DELTA PHI DELTA

Delta Phi Delta is an honorary music sorority organized to foster a greater love and appreciation of music. It also encourages active participation in civic music affairs. One of the main social events this year was the tea given jointly with Mu Phi Epsilon for all music majors. Other activities included the carol singing at Christmas and the student recital presented late in the winter. Membership is open to all public school music majors as well as freshmen and sophomores who are applied music majors.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

Der Deutsche Verein was organized to complement classroom German studies, allowing opportunity for learning new German songs, and encouraging conversation in a social atmosphere. A grade of S or better in class-room work is necessary for admittance. The society strives for academic pride in a humanistic field, and an appreciation for a distinct culture. Important for any college graduate is the development of civic leadership and an appreciation of the diversity and oneness of world culture worthy of transmission to the next generation, and this group develops such qualities through its student traditions.

For the meetings, the group uses games encouraging the use of a second language. Dr. Betz and Dr. Terhune were our outstanding speakers this year. Members attend German opera and musical programs, and their gay Christmas party has become a welcome tradition of the Lindenwood campus.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL

"Como esta usted?" "Muy bien, y usted?" . . . Thus El Circulo Espanol encourages the speaking of Spanish outside the classroom and fosters a greater knowledge and appreciation of the language and the people who speak it. The requirement for membership is a grade of S or above in Spanish. This year's program included talks by speakers who have lived in Latin America. One of them, Mrs. Luis Morales, a former Lindenwood student, told of her life in Puerto Rico. At their parties and meetings, the girls have fun singing in Spanish and playing records of popular South American songs. In this way the club encourages a feeling of friendship and understanding for all Spanish-speaking peoples.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The students majoring in Home Economics have banded together in a common interest group to further their knowledge of their chosen field. Meetings deal with new developments in the department of home economics. This year they have heard lectures on such topics as the use and psychology of color, a report on Swift products, and the story of old silver. The Christmas breakfast, Easter egg dye, and the faculty tea are traditions of the Home Economics Club eagerly anticipated by members and their guests. These students also provided a Thanksgiving basket for a needy St. Charles family and sent money to French children.

Of the many careers for women, home economics is perhaps the most universally useful, and these girls are successfully preparing for work either as homemakers, dieticians, designers, or instructors in home management.

KAPPA PI

Future artists, designers, and art teachers comprise the membership of Kappa Pi, national honorary art fraternity. This organization stimulates a greater appreciation of art and a more professional attitude in those who intend to carve their careers in that field. A primary aim of Kappa Pi is to make the student body more art-conscious. Toward this end, the members give an exhibition of their work each spring, and sponsor two play days each year at which students and faculty exercise creative talents.

To be eligible for membership in Kappa Pi, a student must have taken two art courses and received an S grade in each, and maintain an M average in all other courses. She must also submit satisfactory art work to the organization.

At monthly meetings current art problems and events are discussed. Whenever possible, the members visit exhibitions in St. Louis and interview practicing artists for practical advice. Kappa Pi thus has a two-fold function: fostering an interest in art within an immediate environment and extending its influence to others.

MU PHI EPSILON

Lindenwood gives recognition to its talented music students by election to membership in Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity. Candidates must have a high scholastic standing, musical ability, and a character recommendation from the music faculty. Members of this society give a Vesper program and entertain at teas, thus providing other Lindenwood students with an opportunity to hear and enjoy good music. Many guest artists—among them Ruth Posselt, Leonard Pennario, and Frances Greer—have been entertained at receptions given by Mu Phi Epsilon.

Since this is a national music society, alumnae meetings are held frequently, permitting the members to keep in contact with others of similar interest. In this way alumnae never lose touch with the music that became one of their main interests during their college days.

PI ALPHA DELTA

Pi Alpha Delta, honorary classical society at Lindenwood, attempts to arouse an interest in classical studies and bring students of these subjects closer together. Membership is open to all those who have completed three hours of S work in Latin or five hours of S work in other classical courses.

During the first semester, students in the classical department met the members of the society at a party. Later in the year a tea was held for the members and their friends.

At the regular meetings the members discuss mythology, the Latin language, and classical literature. They try in this way to gain the knowledge of the classics which is such a necessary background for an understanding of modern literature and the fine arts.

PI GAMMA MU

The national honorary social science society, Pi Gamma Mu, seeks to encourage both scholarship and social idealism. The members are taught to apply scientific thinking to social questions and to maintain an interest in social problems throughout their lives. The individual's responsibility for participation in civic affairs is stressed. Membership is limited to those girls having superior work in twenty hours of social sciences and at least average work in all other courses.

During the year, the club featured talks by leading sociologists of this area and panel discussions by members on current problems. Pi Gamma Mu also sponsored field trips and held an open house by which it hoped to interest other students in the organization and its work.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

Kappa Beta is the Lindenwood chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the national English fraternity. This organization sponsors a spirit of good fellowship among the English students on campus, encourages creative writing, and strives to bring into common knowledge all that is fine in literature. Candidates for membership must have at least one thousand words published, and must be majoring or minoring in English. Sophomores and juniors must have an S average in English and a standing in the upper third of the class, and seniors, a general average of M.

This year's program was focused on a study of world literature. Activities included a party for upperclassmen majoring or minoring in English, a tea for the freshman and sophomore honor students, and the freshman literary contest. The society hopes that its sponsorship of active interest in good literature will become a permanent asset to its members.

TRIANGLE CLUB

Triangle Club prepares its students for understanding of scientific advances in modern civilization. Members of this club have maintained an S in three courses in the science department and are either majoring or minoring in biological science, physical science, or mathematics. The Triangle Club brings together those students with scientific interests and gives them an opportunity to extend their knowledge to other fields.

This year the members have studied the effects of atomic radiations on living substance, and have heard several reports from students who have already begun their work in hospitals or industrial chemical laboratories. Each year the club sends several student delegates to the Missouri Academy of Science to which papers of individual research done by the students of Lindenwood are often contributed.

ARMY AND NAVY BRATS

Bound together by a common background and interest, the "Army and Navy Brats" add a martial touch to the Lindenwood campus. This organization reminds us that for many, the war is yet a practical reality, for the fathers of these girls serve with the occupation forces.

The informal meetings and panels largely consist of discussions upon the post-war world, the problems of the occupational force, the possible army-navy merger, and the developments of peace conferences.

Looking toward the future, the "Army and Navy Brats" have begun the rehabilitation program within their own organization. Converting from war to peace, this club has exchanged the tales and war stories of Dad's campaigns for the problems of the post-war world and the future.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

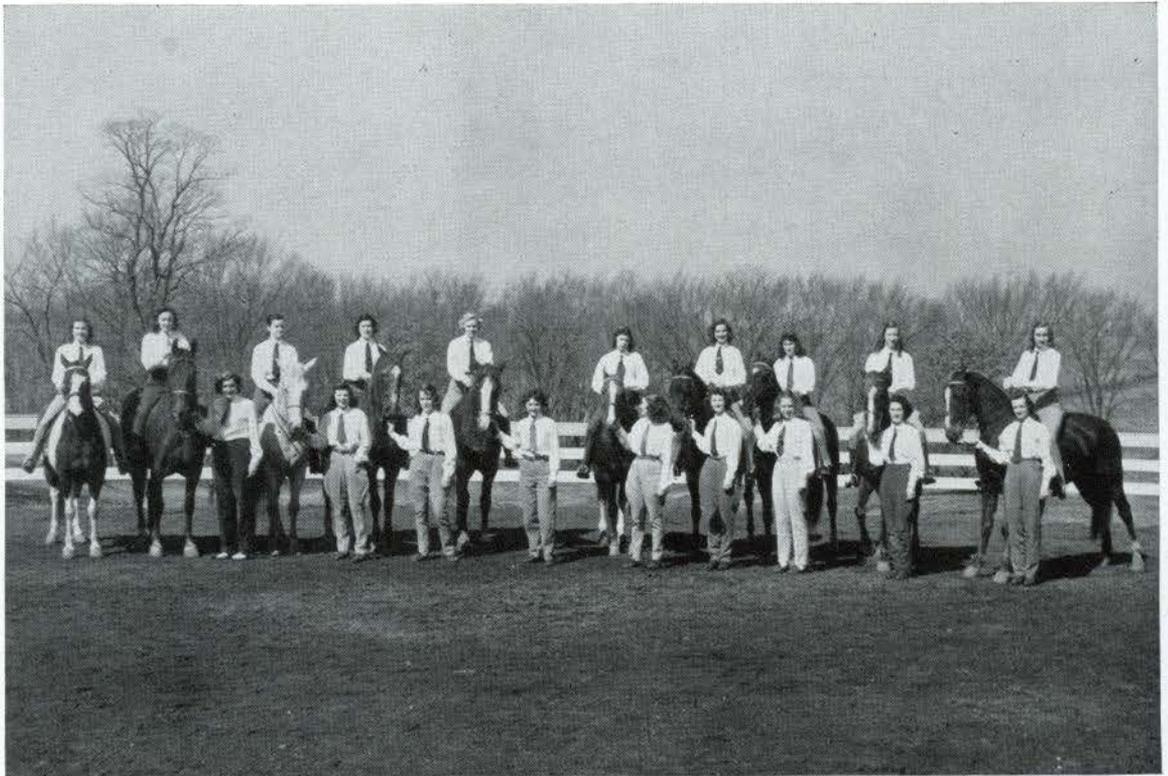

The Athletic Association was a vital part of the lives of most of the students at Lindenwood this year. Besides the hundred active members, an increasing number of girls took part in the association-sponsored intramural and recreational activities program.

Candidates for membership spent two hours practicing each of three sports and passed the beginners' tests in them. Throughout the year they competed in such intramural activities as hockey, basketball, tennis, table-tennis, swimming, softball, archery, and riding. The program included a freshman open-house, a hayride, an all-college barn dance, a play-day with neighboring colleges, interschool hockey and basketball games, and an award banquet.

In perhaps no other organization is there such an opportunity for the development of sportsmanship and fair play. The sports and games learned through participation in the Athletic Association will provide wholesome, worthwhile, leisure-time activities for today's students and tomorrow's women.

BETA CHI

In Beta Chi, Lindenwood girls have an organization which not only encourages better horsemanship and a knowledge of the development and trends of equitation, but provides for all-out fun with the horses.

To become members of Beta Chi, the girls must be able to perform certain riding skills, as well as prove that they are familiar with horses and riding equipment. Upon passing these requirements, the L. C. girls find themselves spending most of their time either in the ring, or on cross-country jaunts (ending with the inevitable "feast").

To promote interest, Beta Chi sponsors the annual horse show, riding-meets with other colleges, the Lindenwood riding team, and, in cooperation with the Athletic Association, intramural riding.

THE LINDENWOOD THEATER OF THE AIR

The promotion of interest in radio is the basic purpose of the Lindenwood Theater of the Air. Its bi-weekly production of children's plays over the local station KFJO constitutes a practical study of the influence of radio as an experimentation in techniques. Skits and plays, written by the group, are presented as programs for other campus organizations.

This year the group enjoyed a tour of the studios of KMOX and gained insight into the complex behind-the-scenes activities of a larger broadcasting establishment. In the fall the organization held an open house for the faculty. The Lindenwood Theater of the Air attended the Missouri Radio Education Conference in St. Louis in February. In the spring, the group invited representatives from other colleges to an area-wide radio conference which featured many important speakers from professional radio.

Competence gained through the activities of this group encourages participation in civic affairs after graduation. For those who look forward to a career in radio work, the pre-professional experience secured in this organization proves valuable.

CHOIR

The Lindenwood Vesper Choir of sixty-one members adds lyric enjoyment to life on the campus. Under the direction of Mr. Milton Rehg, the choir arranges anthems for the pleasure of the campus audiences. It conducts and leads the devotional music for Sunday night Vespers.

At the annual Christmas concert the choir presented a program of Bach's Christmas Oratorio and traditional carols. Lindenwood is known for the quality of its choir, and this year the group was called upon to perform at Kiel Auditorium and in several of the St. Louis churches.

The ability to sight-read songs of medium difficulty and a good singing voice are the requirements for membership in the choir. Good training is received for future choir work and the organization of civic music groups.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club has as its purpose the establishment and promotion of business ability. It furnishes the members with an insight into the industrial world. A girl must be taking two commercial subjects and must be interested in the business world to be eligible for membership.

The club's social calendar for this year was launched by a meeting for the purpose of getting acquainted with new members. This was successfully followed by a theater party, a St. Patrick's Day tea for the faculty and administration, and the annual picnic at the ovens. The club was addressed by several speakers, among them Miss Reecie Hodgson, an expert demonstrator of shorthand and typing, who helped the members with office techniques. Several students made trips into St. Louis where they visited functioning offices.

DAY STUDENTS

The non-resident students of Lindenwood have banded together to form the Day Students' Club to enable them to participate as a unit in college life. This organization corresponds to the halls which in resident students live. The club competes with residence halls in intramural activities, and joins them in giving programs.

The Christmas banquet at the Duquette, a spring picnic, and the theatre party comprised the main social events of the year. Well-known to all students is the Day Student lounge, located on the first floor of Roemer Hall. Resident students often drop in to this popular rendezvous to participate in the discussions concerning campus and world events.

ENCORE CLUB

Lindenwood's Encore Club was organized in 1940. Membership is unlimited, and the only entrance requirement is that some member of a girl's family must have been a former Lindenwood student.

Members of the Encore Club welcome new students on campus, carry on the traditions of Lindenwood, and help to keep her history alive. Encore Club donates annually a basket of food to a needy family at Thanksgiving and sends candy to the School of the Ozarks for their Christmas party. On Founder's day, the members act as hostesses to the visitors on campus. In February, the club sponsored a Valentine party for members and guests. The members of Encore Club hope to establish Lindenwood as a tradition in the families of the students.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

All students interested in teaching as a career are eligible for membership in the Future Teachers of America. This organization develops interest in teaching as a profession and gives members a better understanding of the problems of present-day education. The great importance of education in society and the responsibilities of the teaching profession are stressed. Working with others of similar inclinations, these future teachers endeavor to increase interest in the great necessity for education in the modern world.

During American Education Week the club sponsored a convocation dealing with the present crisis in education, and later gave a tea honoring the public school teachers of the city.

INSTRUMENTAL ASSOCIATION

To promote the enjoyment and understanding of music, forty students and several faculty members who can play music of moderate difficulty join one or more divisions of the Instrumental Association. The symphonic band presented four concerts during this year with outstanding piano and voice students as soloists. The swing band was heard several times at parties, and the many small ensembles were in constant demand at campus gatherings. Using "Showboat" as its theme, the association sponsored an all-school mixer in November.

For the students who plan to make music their career, the ensemble training is invaluable, but even for those to whom music will remain a hobby, the regular practice is worth a great deal. Successful members will participate in the various musical activities of their communities.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The International Relations Club is a college organization whose aim is to encourage participation in civic affairs; create an intelligent interest in international relationships; train the student in group action, and introduce the student to the best sources of information on current diplomatic conditions.

Through faculty and outside speakers the International Relations Club plans to awaken the student's realization of the importance of world affairs. The Club has presented such programs as "The Education of German War Prisoners" by Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz; "Labor in the World Today" by Dr. Homer Clevenger; "The Diplomatic Significance of the Atomic Bomb" by Mr. J. Walter Grundhauser; and "Post War Britain" by W. M. Guthrie, British Vice-Consul stationed in St. Louis.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Membership in the League of Women Voters is open to all students, and this year the organization had one hundred members. It is especially concerned with creating a realization of the individual's responsibility in state and national affairs, and in arousing interest in political developments. The group tries to encourage intelligent, well-informed, interested voters. The work of this organization has caused many alumnae to join the senior League of Women Voters and to continue an interest in political affairs.

Members attended senior league conferences and discussions during the year as special activities. The program of one meeting concerned instruction in the voting methods of various states. In the spring, the annual National Citizenship Day was held to recognize those students who have reached the age of 21 and have become voters.

LINDEN LEAVES BOARD

The Linden Leaves staff proudly presents to you, the 1947 yearbook.

Held within these pages is your life at Lindenwood—your fellow classmates and professors, the campus clubs and organizations, extracurricular honors and activities, fun parties and dances—the traditions of your alma mater and college life.

In March, the Linden Leaves staff again sponsored the contest for the popularity queen of the student body. Jan Miller was elected to reign at the St. Patrick's Day dance, with Jeane Sebastian and Joanne Shroder as first and second maids.

The staff wishes to express its appreciation for the assistance of Mr. Fred Bassman of the Mid-State Printing Company, Mr. George McClarey of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, and of the photographers, Mr. Albert Kister, Carlos' representatives, and Piaget Studios. Our appreciation is also extended to our faculty advisors, Dr. Alice Gipson, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Elizabeth Isaacs, and Miss Grace Albrecht.

With the theme of looking to the future, we have tried to emphasize the importance of American college women in the changing world affairs at home and abroad. We have illustrated the necessity for the college woman's playing a leading role in the home, in the office, in the church, and in civic, national, and international affairs.

To you, we dedicate the Linden Leaves of 1947, a promising beacon for the future.

LINDEN BARK

The Linden Bark presents campus and world events to the students. A member of the Missouri College Newspaper Association, with first class rating in the Associated Collegiate Press, the Bark holds a high position among college papers. Supervised by the journalism department, the Bark upholds the journalists creed, striving toward clear thinking and clear statement, accuracy and fairness as fundamentals to good journalism.

With editorials and special features—the Bark Barometer, Mollie Freshman, About Campus, and All Bark and No Bite—the newspaper furnishes a record of campus activities and opinions. The Romeo contest in the spring introduced the Lindenwood pin-up man, chosen by the popular film star, Lizabeth Scott. The famous April Fool's issue gave the human touch to the faculty members.

By obtaining a knowledge of journalistic techniques and skill in applying them, the Bark staff of '46-'47 has maintained its standing as a vital phase of campus life.

MISSOURI STATE SOCIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

In our present world, it is the duty of all citizens to know the facts about living conditions. The Lindenwood chapter of the Missouri State Sociological Association attempts to interest the students in today's problems. There are no entrance requirements. The group stresses the importance of sociology to the individual, and interests students in welfare work. Furthering this aim, the club sent out the Missouri Sociological pamphlets at the beginning of the year. In later meetings papers prepared by those students taking Post-War Peace Problems were read, and the members were addressed by a leading St. Louis sociologist.

POETRY SOCIETY

Students and faculty members who enjoy verse writing and criticism may belong to the Poetry Society. As an organization, it stimulates interest in poetry and brings together socially people of similar literary tastes.

Members are chosen in the fall from the students submitting original poems in the annual contest. This year, Alice Baber's prize poem, "Give Me the Purple-Shadowed Moon," won her an honorary membership.

At the meetings, the poetry of members is read and discussed, and talks on poetry are given. The society sponsors poets and lecturers who meet with groups and individual writers. An additional activity of the organization in the past has been the publication of two books of poetry.

Membership in Poetry Society promotes continued reading and writing of verse and later association with literary groups.

PRESS CLUB

The journalistic interests of the campus are organized in the Press Club. With a membership comprising the combined staffs of the Linden Leaves and the Linden Bark, the club performs both social and academic functions.

Annually, the Press Club sponsors the Gridiron Dinner, a program of skits in which campus celebrities are "put on the gridiron." This year the second edition of the "March of Slime" was presented with the slogan, "Slime Slides On," and a broadcast from television station LCFS-FM. The Press Club traveled off campus on two field trips: an instructive tour of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and an equally interesting reporters' introduction to a St. Louis police station and Radio Station KMOX. The Press Club presents an award each year for the best writing in a campus publication.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASS'N

The Student Christian Association is an all-student organization on the Lindenwood campus. Its purpose is "to aid the individual student in realizing a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God; to have a part in making this life possible for all people; and to seek to understand Jesus, as well as to follow Him."

Through the regular meetings and outside activities, the SCA hopes to build a concrete foundation for Christian living by making the students conscious of the basic religious principles without prejudice; by a daily practicing of Christian brotherhood; and by enabling all of the students to lead a fuller, more well-rounded life.

The SCA sponsors various campus activities throughout the year: the annual Thanksgiving tea; Christmas gifts for Markham Memorial; the World Student Fund; Religious Emphasis Week; and the street supper in the spring.

Representative of the entire student body, the Student Christian Association is Lindenwood itself: Lindenwood's hopes for the present and the future, the hope of world-wide Christian living.

TAU SIGMA

Tau Sigma, the honorary dance fraternity, is organized to study dance with its accompanying arts of music, drama, and design. Candidates for membership are judged on their dancing abilities by members of Tau Sigma, and then practice with the fraternity for a semester, taking part in one public performance before being initiated.

In their February recital, the members presented a dance-drama adaptation of the fairy tale, "The Little Match-Girl." Several dances to music from the musical comedy, Oklahoma, were also included in the program. Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider, dance instructor at Normandy High School, was the choreographer for this recital. The organization's other public appearance was May Day when members danced for the queen and her court.

Student members of Tau Sigma learn grace and coordination and are prepared to take part in civic programs and community benefit shows.

TERRAPIN

Terrapin, honorary swimming organization of Lindenwood, provides a pleasant form of exercise for Lindenwood students, by holding open pool twice a week. During open pool any student, non-swimmer or expert, may swim in the college pool under the watchful eyes of these trained lifeguards. Members of Terrapin encourage non-swimmers to try the water and develop the swimming skills of more advanced students. Besides actual interest in swimming, the group provides valuable training in water-safety skills. To join Terrapin, students must have a grade average of M and be able to pass active tests. The group sponsors swimming intramurals, and each year entertains the student body with a water pageant.

Do You Know a Better Way TO PRODUCE YEARBOOKS?

IN MOST CASES the yearbook staff is entirely new to the work ahead of it. Yet the part-time editorial and business staff has a more technical and complicated task than most full-time publication organizations.

To meet this problem, can you think of a better way to aid a yearbook staff in its work than by our service program, as outlined below?

- (1) Let the staff take the leadership and give full play to its own ideas, thus developing journalistic and business initiative.
- (2) Provide the necessary technical advice on printing and binding (and secondarily on photography and engraving).
- (3) Give guidance on planning and maintaining a budget, and on editorial policy and practice.
- (4) Provide a forthright informational service for faculty and student committee, including frequent personal conferences.
- (5) Let the staff benefit from our experience of more than a quarter of a century of printing, binding, and production of college yearbooks.

GIVE YOUR YEARBOOK the advantage of our services.

Many of the same individuals who handled the yearbooks of your fathers' and mothers' college years are still here to give your book the benefit of their experience. Above all, however, we appreciate the importance of keeping "out in front" of the trends and developments of the present.
