

The LindenWorld

Volume 167, Issue II

Lindenwood College, St. Charles

January 31, 1991

wl

LC Students Hope and Pray for Peace

by Diann DiMaggio
LindenWorld Writer

"Tie a yellow ribbon 'round the old oak tree. . ." Tony Orlando and Dawn just sang about it in the 70's, but Lindenwood staff, faculty and students are doing it in the 90's. They are doing it for world peace.

Yellow ribbons were distributed during a candlelight ceremony and students tied them around the various trees on campus.

The candlelight ceremony was held Thursday evening, January 17, after a Catholic mass at 6:00 p.m. in Young Auditorium. The purpose was to recognize family and friends serving in the Persian Gulf.

The gospel choir sang "Higher, Higher" followed by Diane Parker and Shelley Miller singing "If You Believe."

Presbyterian minister George Love urged the crowd of approximately 60 people to pray for peace. Then, academic advisor Joann McCoy read the names of those loved ones serving in the Gulf as everyone lit their candles.

The ceremony concluded with a closing prayer by student Otis Booty.

Lisa Watkins, senior, called the ceremony touching. Joann McCoy also was touched by the ceremony. She felt that "a feeling of peace was felt among the crowd."

HOPE FOR PEACE: Lindenwood students adorned trees with yellow ribbons to show support for the men and women serving in the Persian Gulf. (Photo by Angie Bone)

War in Gulf Is Felt On-Campus

by Ronda E. Gaines
LindenWorld Editor

There are 500,000 men and women in the Persian Gulf fighting for our country. Many people are effected by this war including Joann McCoy, Resident Director for Nichols.

Joann has two family members over in Saudi Arabia, including a 20 year old brother and a 26 year old sister. She has not heard from either one since they left in late October and early November. Nor does she know of their exact location in the gulf.

Joann's brother and sister are both in the regular active military and her brother is unfortunately on the front line. As for Joann's family she says that, "Everyone is handling this OK, but there is a lot of prayer."

Joann said that, "It's hard to be against the war when you have family members fighting for it." She also stated that although she is not one for violence she finds it hard to protest this war.

Her advice to other people with loved ones in the gulf is, "You can't dwell on, 'What if this or what if that'", she says to, "Take it one day at a time

For those people who are looking for support from others. . .

Support Group Meeting

January 31

All Saints' Church

St. Peters, MO

7:00 p.m.

For more information call 278-1440.

Panel Discusses Gulf War

A panel discussion examining "Perspectives on the Gulf War" will be held Sunday, February 3, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Young Auditorium on-campus.

Featured panelists include retired USAF Colonel Paul Whelan, who holds a doctorate and is the president of St. Louis University's Parks College; William Ramsey, staff coordinator for the St. Louis American Friends Service Committee; Daniel Keck, who holds a doctorate and is vice president of Lindenwood College; John Samuel Tieman, a Vietnam Veteran and Lindenwood professor; and Jack Renard, who holds a doctorate and is a professor of theological and Islamic studies at St. Louis University. Tieman will also act as a moderator for the discussion.

Prayer for Peace Wednesdays

12:00 Noon - 12:15 PM.

Butler Chapel

First Floor, Butler Hall

Everyone is Welcome!

(Prayer for Peace will be the focus of Community Prayer meetings until the war in the Middle East ends)

"Pray without Ceasing"

Submitted by Alan Meyers, Lindenwood Chaplain

Letter From the Editor

As you can see, The LindenWorld looks a lot different and I'm sure you agree a lot better this semester. In order to continue to improve upon the format and content of the newspaper, we need your help. This newspaper is for you, the students, faculty and staff of Lindenwood College; therefore, we would like to reflect you. Please take the time to contribute information, announcements, opinions, suggestions, news or articles to the paper. All clubs and organizations on this campus have secretaries. All they need to do is send us the information and we will keep the campus informed of what your organization has been doing and what they plan to do in the future. This will promote your organization, increase your membership and increase the turnout at your activities.

Editorial

by Jason Quackenbush
LindenWorld columnist

I guess it had to happen sooner or later. When you have a charismatic subversive force like the Black Squirrel, sporadically eloquent, usually creative and always sincere, and for some reason his (or her, or their) message quietly fades as it has, it's logical that someone who identified with the "cause" will pick up the name and revitalize the effort. Monday, January 21 saw such a resurrection. Sort of.

In case you didn't see it, which is doubtful considering the way folks handed out copies left and right, the message was a disjointed poem of sorts that slammed our college president and slammed just about everyone who wears a Lions uniform. The author seems to think that the very existence of a football team at Lindenwood is responsible for a social/academic decline on campus. He or she is entitled to an opinion on how college money should be dispersed. However, just as the student body was not a group of drunken fornicators before Mr. Spellmann became president, neither does it now consist of a contingent of thieving idiots. True, there were problems on campus last year with discipline and with the law, but we are not exactly the same college that we were last year. If anything, there is my bone of contention with the latest Black Squirrel publication: it sounds like it was written quickly a year ago; the complaints are stale and simplistic. We have grown, I hope, and in the process been shown what we should avoid.

However, in spite of the shortcomings, the writer deserves an 'A' for effort. This "new" Black Squirrel is responding to a need within the Lindenwood community, or any community, to question what most take for granted. And if the Wall Street Journal, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the Springfield News-Leader are correct, there may be plenty to question.

Our editors and writers are students just like most of you, so they are busy and they can't be everywhere all the time. Also, being a small college, Lindenwood doesn't have a lot of earth shattering news going on all the time. Informing the newspaper of where we need to be and what you would like us to report on would help tremendously.

Also, being the editor of the newspaper, I hear many opinions and complaints about Lindenwood. If you want your opinions to be heard, acknowledged and perhaps acted upon, there is no better way than to write a letter to the editor which will be read by all students, faculty and staff, including the administration. The First Amendment and freedom of speech and of the press is only your right if you utilize it.

Finally, in case you didn't notice, The LindenWorld is the only forum for communication at Lindenwood College, so please use it.---CMF

February Red Cross Emergency Training Courses

The American Red Cross, St. Louis Bi-State Chapter, regularly offers emergency training courses to help people prevent and respond to emergencies. Last year nearly 40,000 people in the metropolitan St. Louis area received Red Cross emergency training.

The following emergency training courses will be held in St. Charles in February at the Red Cross office, 516 S. Fifth St.:

Adult CPR-9 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Feb. 12
6 p.m. 10 p.m.
Feb. 26

First Aid-8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Feb. 16

For more information, call 946-6884.

Last Chance for Yearbook Pictures
Seniors Feb. 12th
11-4 in MAB Parlor
(Sign up in Niccolls Rm 309)
Underclassmen Feb. 13th
11 -1:15 in Cafe

Wanted: Staff Writers and Photographers for The LindenWorld. Please see Eileen Solomon or Jim Wilson. For fun and experience that looks great on a resume, join us today.

Letters to the Editor

The LindenWorld encourages its readers to react to articles or discuss an important issue through letters. All letters must include the writer's name and telephone number, but names will be withheld upon request. Letters may be edited for length.

Please address letters to the editor to The LindenWorld by on-campus mail in the security office.

The LindenWorld

Editor Cynthia M. Foster
Assistant Editor Ronda Gaines
Photo Editor Angie Bolser
Sports Editor Chad Bolser
Copy Editor Denise Durbin
Columnists Jason Quackenbush,
Lisa Watkins

Writers Bryan S. Audrey,
Diann Dimaggio,
David Rachie,
Charlotte Skoien,
Tim Stouffer,
Rich Weller
Photographers Kathy Hudgins
Cartoonist J. Sean Busking
Advisor Eileen Solomon

The LindenWorld is published by students of Lindenwood College for use by the students, faculty and staff of the school. Opinions expressed here are not necessarily those of the college or the student body.

Address correspondence to: Editor, The LindenWorld, Lindenwood College, 200 College, St. Charles, MO 63301.

Note of Thanks

I would personally like to thank everyone who came out to share in the Memorial Service and would greatly appreciate your continued support in the near future. For those who weren't able to attend this time, please come to one of our upcoming events. You will be happy you did.

Sincerely,
Terri Terrell

Don't Forget Your Sweetheart!
Send Him/Her a Message in
The LindenWorld.
See page 3
for details.

APPLE-A-DAY HEALTH TIPS FROM DENISE

by Denise L. Durbin
LindenWorld Writer

Though the snow outside is frightful, the viruses circulating indoors around campus may be more threatening. One - the cold - is common, miserable and something not to be taken lightly.

David Campbell, M.D., director of Family Medicine at Deaconess Health Services said when people notice symptoms that they associate with a cold are gradually worsening, they may be coming down with something else such as strep throat or bronchitis.

According to Campbell, typical cold symptoms include headache, cough, runny nose, watery eyes, sore or scratchy throat and fatigue.

Getting adequate rest and treating initial symptoms of the cold can prevent it from worsening into something else.

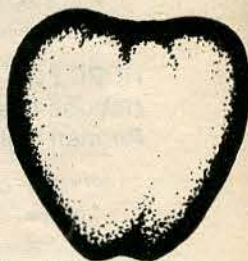

A higher fever with congestion from cold symptoms may lead to blocked drainage in the sinus cavity. This could signify the presence of sinusitis, or infection of the sinus cavity.

Campbell also said that if a sore throat intensifies, along with a high fever and swollen glands, strep throat or pharyngitis may have developed.

Bronchitis is another extension of the cold that may occur. Bronchitis is the chronic inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes. "In addition to the cold's normal symptoms, if a productive cough (one that produces yellow, green, or brown sputum over a five to seven-day period), chances of having bronchitis are relatively high," Campbell added.

Campbell advises drinking a lot of clear liquids to prevent dehydration when fighting the cold.

To avoid a cold turning into something else, Dr. Campbell said one must take precautions. "Do not touch an infected person, his or her objects or drink from his or her unwashed glass. Also, avoid being around an infected person who does not cover the mouth when sneezing or coughing—one can catch cold by inhaling viruses sprayed into the air, too."

The Gospel Choir Gives Honor To Two Kings... The King of Kings & Dr. Martin Luther King

by Terri Terrell
LindenWorld Contributor

On Tuesday, January 15th Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. would have been 62; however, Dr. King's life was shortened by an assassin bullet on April 4, 1968. In the past two weeks, the Gospel Choir of Lindenwood held several events to commemorate Dr. King and to emphasize this special time when all races should strive to unite and help one another.

Tuesday, January 15th Theodore (Teddy) Foster headed a Christian fellowship in the lounge of the Fine Arts Building. His committee provided this fellowship with "sweet spirit". The atmosphere was joyous, and it was an opportune time to unite with the new students on campus. Everyone participated as the entertainment performed really snazzy jazz tunes as well as singing the blues.

Then "Oh, What a Blessing", as the popular hymn states, best describes last Monday nights Memorial Service to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Gospel Choir's Martin Luther King Day Committee had been busily at work since early December planning special programs to commemorate Dr. King's birthday. With a lot of hard work and prayers, the committee put forth a glorious presentation.

The program was kicked off in the Cafe at dinner time with music/theatre major, Shelley Miller along with several members of the choir reciting a brief synopsis of Dr. King's life.

Following the presentation and a rather difficult time trying to have a candlelight walk to Young Auditorium in the inclement weather the Gospel Choir rendered unto a crowd of nearly 100.

The crowd included on- and off-campus guests as well as faculty and staff.

As well as the Gospel Choir ministering through song, Reverend Brinson Stewart from Blackwell Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church (St. Louis/Kansas City District) preached the Word.

He reminded everyone of how significant the contributions of the Africans were and how the African-Americans today need to "reach back into the community and reach up to the Lord's unchanging hand." The theme for this service was: "If I Can Help Somebody".

The choir's director is Derek Mosely, who is a Lindenwood College alumnus. The choir's newly appointed advisor is Professor James Hood.

The Martin Luther King Day Committee consisted of Teddy Foster, chairperson, Regina Barksdale, Clarence (Barry) Coperidge, Dennis Johnson, Kelly Johnson, Erica Martin and Shelley Miller.

Where were you for Super Bowl XXV?

by Rich Weller
LindenWorld Sports

As kick off time approached on Super Bowl Sunday, many fans geared up for the day's festivities.

A lot of fans hosted or attended parties. They were busy stocking up on snacks and beverages and setting up their living rooms so everyone would have an unobstructed view of the television.

Many students gathered on-campus to watch the game together. Others went home to be with family during the Super Bowl. Some students went to local restaurants to see the game on big screen TV.

Jody Scott, 19, sophomore, said, "I don't really care who wins, I'm just watching the game to be with my friends and have fun."

While many had been waiting for this championship game all season, not all students were interested in the Super Bowl hype. Alternate activities planned included studying, doing laundry or going to the mall.

Jennifer Boschert, 21, senior, said, "I don't have any definite plans to watch the game I'm going to the mall and I might find some friends watching the game when I get back."

Although many celebrated the Super Bowl between the Bills and the Giants, the situation in the Persian Gulf has not been completely forgotten.

Dave Beaty, 20, sophomore said, "Although the war is a shock to the nation, I'm glad they went ahead with the Super Bowl game. We all need something positive to temporarily take our minds off all the negative things in the world."

February is Black History Month

by Erica Q. Martin
LindenWorld Contributor

In the past, blacks in the south were known to sing negro spirituals and hymns. These religious songs represented the deeply emotional character of sacred matters with God. Through spirituals, hard work and long time achievements, February has been acknowledged as Black History Month.

To kickoff Black History Month, Lindenwood's Gospel Choir will present a Spiritual Pep Rally on Friday, February 1st in Young Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The rally will be based on the theme from Matthew 6:33 "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God..." Students who feel strongly about the Lord can praise him through scripture, song, prayer and testimony.

There will be a special guest choir, speakers and presentations. And the Lindenwood Gospel Choir will give ministry of the gospel in song.

Rehearsal Starts for Six Characters in Search of An Author

by Bryan S. Audrey
LindenWorld Writer

Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" opens on the mainstage the 21st of February. The LindenWorld interviewed Bryan Reeder, head of Lindenwood's theatre department about the upcoming production.

LW: What is the main theme of this play?

BR: This play is about oh, so many things. Literally hundreds of themes run through the production. One of the main themes that comes out is the difference between illusion and reality, fact and fiction, art and life. Pirandello's main idea is that illusion and fiction are more permanent than life. This is reflected in the plot. The audience sees a group of actors rehearsing a play. Into this rehearsal comes six characters searching for an author to give meaning to their lives. These characters represent a facet of us.

I hope that the audience will develop their own unique idea about what they have seen.

LW: I understand that during intermission the actors will mingle with the audience without dropping character. What is behind this line of thinking?

BR: We will be using some unconventional theatre techniques to create a heightened degree of realism. I want the audience to believe what they are seeing is actually happening.

For example, normally the audience would not hear the sound and light technicians; in this show they will. Also, every night a usher will be chosen to play a part. I hope every one comes out to see the production, because it promises to be one of the most intriguing plays our Mainstage has seen in quite a while.

Student Life Announces New IntraMural Program

by Charlotte Skoien
LindenWorld Writer

Student Life at Lindenwood is offering a variety of intramural sports for both men and women this semester.

There will be new activities added to those from last semester as well as changes in the existing programs.

According to John Mueller, of Student Life, the basketball program that was offered to men last semester was not an ideal situation for those who wanted to participate. Instead, there will be an intramural basketball league on Tuesday nights, the program will be appropriately adjusted so that everyone who wants to participate will be able to.

A bowling league will be added to the list of activities for both men and women. Meetings will take place at Plaza Bowl at a convenient time.

On Thursday nights there will be a men's and women's four on four soccer league. These leagues will not be coed for the time being because John Mueller feels that it would be easier if they were not coed right now.

For those who want to participate in coed activities there will be both a ping pong tournament and a billiards 8 ball tournament. Trophies or plaques will be awarded to the winners of both of these tournaments.

As for those who want to keep in shape, but aren't interested in team sports there will be a fitness and wellness program offered. This program consists of aerobic and resistance training and is offered on an individual basis.

For more information contact John Mueller at Ext. 4981.

Valentine's Day

February 14th

Send your Sweetheart or

Anyone You Love a

Message in

The LindenWorld

It's Fun and It's Free

Declare your love in 15 words or less and drop it off at the LindenWorld box by noon on February 8th and your message will appear in the February 13th issue of

The LindenWorld.

Lions Drop Conference Opener

by Chad Bolser
LindenWorld Sports Editor

The stage was set for an early conference upset for the Lindenwood Lions as they traveled to Missouri Baptist College to face the 4-11 Spartans. The Lions had won three games in a row and six out of their last seven, while the Spartans had lost their last two.

"Although we have played well in these few games after this semester began, the question for this young club is if we can perform well on the road against tough conference opponents," Coach Art Siebels said prior to the contest.

Unfortunately for the Lions, the Spartans' Thomas Moore was ready to play.

Moore led the Spartans with 34 points and at one point had four impressive dunks in a row. The swarming pressing defense of the Spartans was too much for Lindenwood in the second half. With thirteen minutes left to go in the game, the Lions cut the lead to 6 after a basket by Jody Scott. From this point on, the roof fell in on Lindenwood as Missouri Baptist went on a 16-2 run. The Spartans never looked back and won the contest 103-70.

The Lions were led by Jody Scott and Clint Bolser who both scored 14.

Lady Lions Drop Two

by Chad M. Bolser
LindenWorld Sports Editor

The first week of the conference schedule was not a friendly one to the Lindenwood Lady Lions basketball team. They traveled to Missouri Baptist and then came home for a showdown with Harris-Stowe State College. The result of the week was two losses for the Lady Lions and some catching up to do, in the remaining conference games.

On Tuesday night the Lady Lions took an early 11-0 lead at Missouri Baptist and it looked like smooth sailing for Coach Steve Crotz's team. Unfortunately too many turnovers and a rough second half, played havoc for the team which lost the contest 67-54.

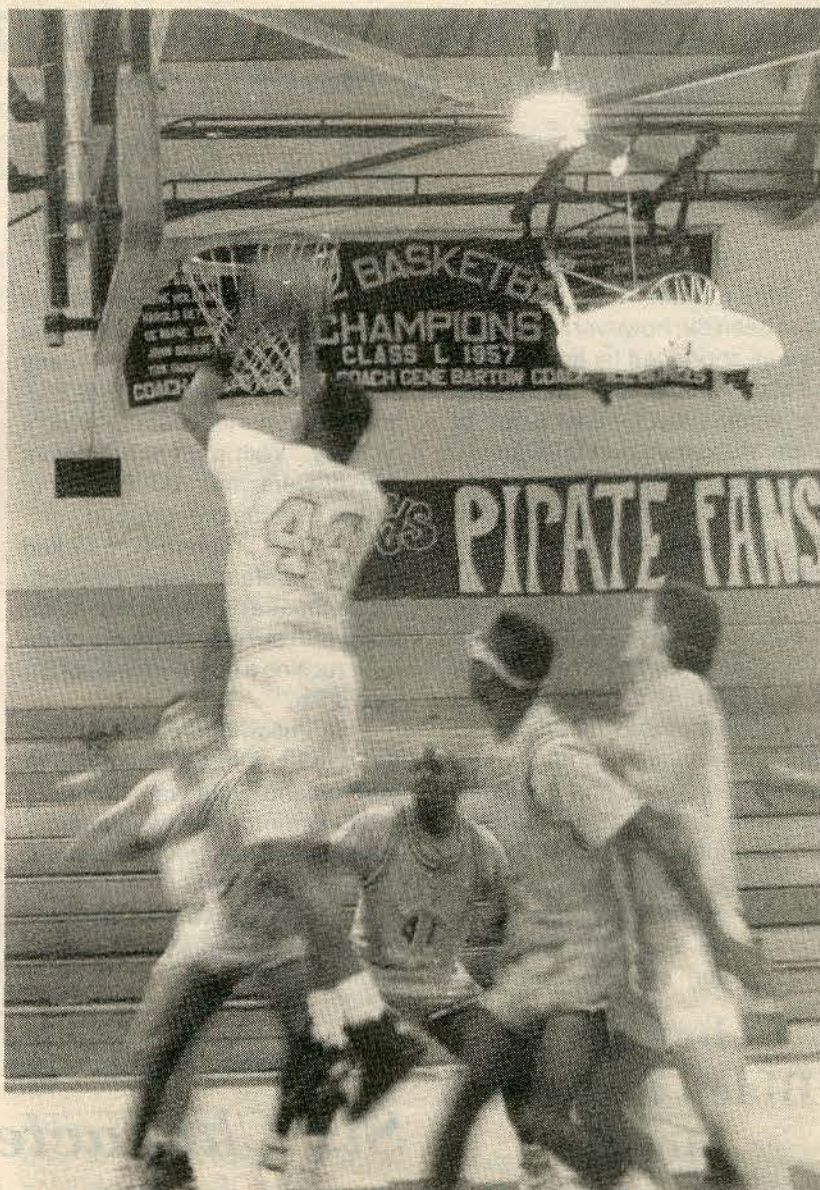

"We just made too many mistakes in the second half to win," Coach Crotz said about the loss.

The Lady Lions were led in scoring by VanParijs who had 22.

Up next for the Lady Lions were the Lady Hornets from Harris-Stowe. This game was at home and Coach Crotz was looking for a better performance on Thursday. Although the Lady Lions played a tough ball game they were plagued once again by too many turnovers and too many fouls and ended up with a 74-57 loss. The Lady Lions were led in scoring once again by their two post players VanParijs and Chantay James who scored 17 and 14 respectively.

"This was the same scenario as Tuesday. We played well, but we commit silly fouls because we reach and don't move our feet," Coach Crotz commented.

Despite the two conference losses, Crotz, who is in his first year at Lindenwood, did not give up hope, "This team never gives up. They are always getting after it and trying extremely hard." This week's games move the teams record to 9-7.

SOARING TO SCORE: Lindenwood sophomore Jody Scott goes up to score in Thursday's game against Harris-Stowe. (Photo by Angie Bone)

Garvin Sparks Lions to Defeat Hornets

by Chad Bolser
LindenWorld Sports Editor

The Lindenwood Lions came back from their defeat by Missouri Baptist by defeating the Harris-Stowe State Hornets by the score of 83-71.

The win by the Lions marked their first conference victory of the season and upped their season mark to 8-5, and 1-1 in the conference. The key of the game came in the first half as Derek Garvin hit four three pointers in as many tries. The long distant shooting by Garvin came at an appropriate time for the Lions. The Lions were 0 for 7 up until that time.

"Some key people hit key shots when we really needed them to come through," Coach Art Siebels said after the victory.

The Lions were able to keep the pesky Hornets at a distance for most of the game and never relinquished the lead after the twelve minute mark in the first half.

The Lions were led in scoring by Garvin, who had 19 points. Lindenwood also had four others in double figures which included; Dave Schilp 17, Jody Scott 13, Clint Bolser and Scott Henke had 10 each.

Coach Siebels takes his crew on the road to face Avila College and number five rated in the district, Park College, which the team defeated in their last meeting 89-80.

CONCENTRATION: Freshman Mookie Holmes prepares to shoot with determination. (Photo by Angie Bone)

Lindenwood Scores

Men's Basketball		Women's Basketball
Lindenwood	70	Lindenwood	54
Mo. Baptist	103	Mo. Baptist	67
Lindenwood	83	Lindenwood	57
Harris-Stowe	71	Harris-Stowe	74