Clevenger Acting Dean During Mackenzie's Leave

Dr. Donald M. Mackenzie, dean of Lindenwood, has been granted a leave of absence to assume duties with the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, President F. L. McCluer has announced. Dr. Mackenzie began his work with the foundation November 1.

Dr. Homer Clevenger, chairman of the division of social science and chairman of the department of history and government, will take his place as acting dean.

Dean Mackenzie, at Lindenwood since 1960, will be making a study for the Danforth Foundation on the church related college.

Since coming to the college, Dr. Mackenzie instituted a complete study of the college curriculum with Dr. J. Walter Grundhauser as chairman of the committee. Last year the divisional system of curriculum was instituted and the cut system was revised.

Before coming to Lindenwood, Dean Mackenzie was associate secretary, Commission on Colleges and Universities, North Central Association. The first man to hold the academic deanship at Lindenwood since 1916, he holds degrees from Park College, A.B., and the University of Chicago, M.A. and Ph.D. He has served as director of student personnel and professor at Wesleyan University; registrar, Frances Shimer College; and dean, Blackburn College.

The Mackenzies will continue their residence on the Lindenwood campus, at least through the remainder of this year.

Acting Dean Clevenger has been at Lindenwood since 1941. He is a graduate of Central Missouri State Teachers College, having received his master's degree from Peabody College for Teachers and his Ph.D. from the University of Missouri.

Cobbs Portrait Unveiled

A portrait of Thomas Harper Cobbs, for whom Cobbs Hall was named, was unveiled Sunday afternoon, Nov. 18, with friends of the Cobbs family and members of Lindenwood's board, faculty, and administration present.

Fred Conway, St. Louis artist, was commissioned by Mrs. Cobbs, 4954 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis to paint the portrait of her husband. She gave it to the college in memory of her husband who served on the board of the college from 1917 until his death in 1959. Cobbs Hall was dedicated November 21, 1949.

Dr. McCluer reviewed Mr. Cobbs' interest in and devotion to Lindenwood and its program during his more than 40 years' service on its board. President McCluer quoted Job, "I will hold fast to my righteousness and will not let it go. My heart shall not reproach me as long as I shall live."

"I have often thought that Mr. Cobbs could say with Job, 'My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go. My heart shall not reproach me as long as I live,'" Dr. McCluer said.

William H. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer of Lindenwood's board and a representative of Mrs. Cobbs, presented the portrait to Howard I. Young, president of the board, who in turn gave it to Dr. McCluer for the college.

ON THE COVER

The Roaring Twenties were relived during Lindenwood House Party Weekend Oct. 19-20. And no one enjoyed it more than President F. L. McCluer and Virginia Walton Brooks, Memphis, Tenn. "It was so much fun," Mrs. Brooks wrote after the weekend at the college. She came prepared with authentic 20's costume, as did other alumnae who returned to the campus.

Excellence in

“ . . . We must do what we can to strengthen higher education and to undergird our free society.”

Almost half a century ago Alfred North Whitehead of Harvard observed: “. . . The race that does not value trained intelligence is doomed. Not all your heroism, not all your social charm, not all your wit, not all your victories on land or at sea, can move back the finger of fate. Today we maintain ourselves. Tomorrow science will have moved forward yet one more step, and there will be no appeal from the judgment which will then be pronounced on the uneducated.”

The increasing complexity of our social structure, the inevitable involvement of our society in the world community, and the vast and rapid advances in scientific knowledge demand trained minds with engineering and management competence and humane insights. Dr. Charles N. Kimball, president of Midwest Research Institute, has pointed out that more than one half the annual increase in the gross national production is the result of technical improvements and personal skills. This is to say that brain power is an essential form of capital in our economy. The development of this brain power is the primary responsibility of our colleges and universities. Education is the first line of defense of our society and our civilization.

Preparation for the task before us today requires planning and change as we go. The Long-Range Planning Committee of the Board and the staff of Lindenwood College have projected plans for the future calling for additions to endowment for teaching of three and a quarter million dollars, for aids to teachers of one half million dollars, and for sabbaticals and cultural programs of $650,000. The committee also calls for three and three quarters million dollars for buildings and $160,000 for library and language laboratory. Priority has been given the need for a laboratory building to house the departments of biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics. We need this building now.

A laboratory which would have been adequate for students enrolled in biology or chemistry 12 years ago is inadequate today.

This measure of inadequacy is heightened when one considers that by 1970, 65 per cent more students will be clamoring for entrance to our colleges than sought college educations in 1950. To fulfill its educational obligations, Lindenwood College must prepare for a substantial increase in enrollment of carefully selected students.

Instruction in the natural sciences at Lindenwood is designed to provide the student with a knowledge and understanding of the physical and biological world; to introduce the student to the scientific method as a means of ascertaining truth; to show the student that the entire structure of science is built on a foundation of intellectual honesty; and, finally, to acquaint the student with the fact that the various disciplines within the division of science are not only related to each other, but are interdependent. To achieve these ends requires both sufficient space and adequate modern equipment.

The limitation of space makes the teaching of certain courses both burdensome and inefficient. For instance, at present, introductory science courses require the repetition of lectures several times over by some departments because of wholly inadequate space facilities. With adequate space facilities, faculty time could be saved to be utilized in conducting much needed advanced courses, and also to be devoted to giving additional time to small laboratory and discussion sections in the introductory courses. In addition, much additional space is needed for the storage of materials and equipment convenient to the areas in which they are to be used.

Both sufficient space and adequate modern equipment are important in the teaching of advanced courses in the sciences. To keep pace with the explosion of knowledge in the sciences, our students must have the space and the equipment to explore the use of radiation as a tool in chemistry and biology; the utilization of radioactive trace techniques; paper chromatography (the “fingerprint” technique of chemical identification); electrophoretic methods in blood chemistry; bioelectrical phenomena in biology; conventional and phase microscopy in cytology. The College must build up a collection of electron-microscope (film) slides for study and reference until the day arrives when electron-microscope studies become feasible on the undergraduate level. Offerings in physics—so often a basis for further study in chemistry and biology—must be expanded.

In this day, it is not enough to provide the undergraduate major in the sciences with just formal course work. She must also have the opportunity to develop more fully her critical, analytical, and creative abilities, and this opportunity can come only from carrying out individual research projects.

Implementation of such a program requires adequate science-laboratory space, a library-lounge for students and faculty where current copies of scientific journals would be readily available, room for maintenance and care of experimental animals, a shop in which equipment unavailable by purchase could be constructed, and seminar rooms where students could test their ideas in open discussion with their peers and teachers. At present, space for such activities is either unavailable or unsuitable.

Education

The construction of a building to house lecture rooms and laboratories for science and mathematics is an economical move for the total program of the College. Additional space is now needed for other courses and for faculty offices. The erection of the new science-laboratory building will free valuable floor space in the instructional sections of Roemer Hall for this necessary expansion.

The problems before us are not to be met simply by the expenditure of more money, although the cost of education will continue to rise. We shall need to eliminate all waste; use existing facilities to the utmost; participate in cooperative planning with other institutions; revise curricula and provide independent study programs; and make use of new aids to instruction such as audio-visual aids, language laboratories, and other specialized equipment.

The college will continue to emphasize liberal arts study as the basis of its curriculum. We do not believe that this curriculum needs to be identical with the liberal arts curriculum of 1890. We do believe that some acquaintance with the languages and literatures of the human race and some understanding of philosophy, of psychology, of religion, of the findings of the natural sciences, of the social sciences, of mathematics, and of history, will give an appreciation of the nature and destiny of many that cannot be acquired in any other way. We shall, however, point out the relationship of competencies in a given discipline to occupational opportunities in a definite area, and we shall maintain a partnership with vocational training in some areas such as the education of teachers.

Education must prepare maturing students to make their judgments in the light of reason. It must also lead them to exercise moral responsibility. Lindenwood College seeks to be loyal to its obligation in the charter not to provide teaching from a sectarian viewpoint; but it is proud of its commitment to the Christian faith. Genuine ecumenical spirit does not mean indifference to religion, nor does respect for differences of opinion mean moral neutrality. The college community should be a place where inquiry is free, where commitment is clear and unafraid, and where students will find the library and classroom and community life unmistakable standards of excellence.

For most of us here today Lindenwood College is the point of responsibility for the achievement of a greater excellence in higher education. This is the point at which we must do what we can to strengthen higher education and to undergird our free society.

We acknowledge our debt to this institution. We proclaim our pride in its history and in its achievement. We select guide lines for the future from its past and from the demands of the present. It is not important to find the road before us smooth and easy. It is important to know in what direction we should move—then let us move! Let not our prosperity blind us to the urgency of our need, nor lead us to think that others will provide all the money requisite for our appropriate service. May our devotion to the highest interests of the young women we serve today match that we hold for our college and our memories.

3 Alumnae

Certificates of Merit were presented to three alumnae, Marguerite Urban Krueger, Sarah Dearth Hovis, and Betty Gray Proctor, at Founders' Day Convocation during Alumnae House Party October 20.

Mrs. Krueger was presented by Mrs. Emily Kimball Lilly, a member of Lindenwood's board; Mrs. Hovis by Mrs. Polly Pollock Holway; and Miss Proctor by Prof. Marion Dawson Rechtern.

Invocation for the convocation was given by the Rev. W. Sherman Skinner, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, and a member of the Lindenwood board of directors.

Dr. Donald M. Mackenzie presided and greetings were extended by Dyke Steinbeck Barton, president, Lindenwood College Alumnae Association.

Dr. F. L. McCluer was convocation speaker. His speech appears in this issue of The Bulletin.

The Rev. C. Eugene Conover, dean of the chapel, gave the benediction.

Marguerite Urban Krueger

In presenting Marguerite Urban Krueger for her Certificate of Merit, Mrs. Emily Kimball Lilly said:

"Three years ago Mrs. Krueger received the Woman of Achievement award as an outstanding Good Neighbor in Greater St. Louis. She was quoted then as saying that she was so interested in what she was doing today, tomorrow, and for the next hundred years, that she couldn't recall what she had done in the past. However, others can recall. She has accomplished much since her graduation from Lindenwood.

"This was a two-year college when she was a student. She majored in music, studying piano with Miss Clara Meyer. 'Music has always been a joy in my life,' she says frequently. Marguerite Urban was a vital part of her school life, and she continued her loyal interest after her marriage to Arthur J. Krueger. She became president of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association, which was then a member of the 8th District Missouri Federated Women's Clubs. Later she became president of the entire 8th District.

"It was through her interest in the club projects at that time, that she became a very active participant in the conservation of natural resources of Missouri. Out of this activity there was formed the Marguerite Krueger Conservation Club. Its 80 members are as dedicated today as 20 years ago. 5,000 pine seedlings were planted at Rockwoods Reservation in her honor. Today they are a towering pine forest. She is very modest in accepting credit for this, but among the men in the field of conservation, she is known as 'Mrs. Conservationist'.

"During World War II she was very active on the rationing committee which cooperated with the official rationing board. Because she secured certificates for sugar and shortening to enable women's clubs to bake cookies for servicemen, she earned another nickname — 'Mrs. Cookie.' At that time she also worked tirelessly in civil defense and the U.S.O.

"In the past 17 years Mr. and Mrs. Krueger have been good neighbors as working members of the Volunteer Films Association. Mr. Krueger also joins his wife each year as they act as host and hostess at Shaw House in the Missouri Botanical Garden when the Veiled Prophet Queen greets the St. Louis school children. It was Marguerite Krueger's idea to restore the Henry Shaw home as a historical point of interest. Through her efforts there are club women of the 8th District acting as hostesses there every day of the year.

"Mrs. Krueger's daughter, Dorothy Ann, Mrs. Charles Marcrander, gave her the right to the title of grandmother, whereupon she became a charter member of the Greater St. Louis Grandmother Club.

"Always a staunch admirer of Leonard Hall and his writing, she is now reviewing his book, 'Stars Upstream,' for interested groups.

"Thus the little girl, whose father William Urban, the naturalist, gave her a deep love for the wonders of the world around her, grew to young womanhood here at Lindenwood, beloved and admired by all. And Lindenwood is proud to have had a share in awakening her to her potentials.

"Since then her contribution to society around her and the community at large has made her a worthy candidate for the Alumnae Certificate of Merit.

"She is quoted as saying, 'I think what you do for other people is the rent you pay for the space you occupy on this earth.'

"Dr. McCluer, it is my privilege to commend Marguerite Urban Krueger to you for the Alumnae Certificate of Merit."

Betty Gray Proctor

Dr. Marion D. Rechtern, presenting Betty Gray Proctor, said:

"Dr. McCluer, I have the honor to present to you a former student of mine, Betty Gray Proctor.

"This is indeed a unique privilege that is mine today. I have known Betty since she entered Lindenwood as a freshman in the fall of 1939. She was my counselee, a major in the department of biological science, and a member of the class of 1943 of which I was the sponsor. It may interest our present student body to know that class sponsors in those days were appointed and not elected yearly as our classes do today. Of course, this meant that the class was stuck with its sponsor for four years. I must say, however, that class sponsors then were far more responsible for class activities than our present day sponsors are.

Presented Certificates of Merit

"During her days here at Lindenwood, Betty was active in many phases of campus life. She held many offices such as secretary-treasurer of the junior class, president of the senior class, vice-president of the Y.W.C.A., which is the present S.C.A., and vice-president of the student government with Doris Banta as president. In her senior year she was named to 'Who's Who in American Colleges' and that same year was Popularity Queen. She was intensely interested in the college and her classmates and always stood ready to help.

"It's difficult to measure the love and esteem that was held for her by all of her college friends. The first two years for this class were the usual gay and carefree ones. However, when these girls became juniors, the U.S. was at war and the tenor of activities changed. Then everyone was busy with U.S.O., rationing, selling war bonds, knitting sessions, and a wide variety of wartime classes, including Radio Technique and Engineering Drafting. These girls watched faculty men and women leave their classrooms to enter the armed forces.

"So it was not unusual that as graduation time drew near, many in the class began thinking what they could do to best serve their country in this time of crisis. Betty decided to enlist in the W.A.C.'s. Just a week after her graduation, she reported for Boot Camp in Des Moines. Even then she was hopeful that one day the army would approve her application for entrance into the school of physical therapy. This came just a year later and in 1945, she was commissioned by the Medical Corps as a Physical Therapist.

"I'm sure that this was the beginning of a most gratifying career for Betty Proctor. She found it a great challenge to teach our war casualties how to walk again and to show them that there was some hope for their future happiness. This kind of work took great patience, great devotion, great firmness, and even greater faith. Evidence of her success is indicated in that twice she was called upon by the Army to set up new departments of physical therapy at Army bases in the U.S.; one was in Massachusetts, the other in Texas.

"After World War II, she served on the staff at Jefferson Barracks until she was recalled to active duty during the Korean War. In 1953 after her tour of duty ended, she was asked to establish a new department of physical therapy at the Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio, Texas. This department served chiefly in helping children who were victims of poliomyelitis. Betty was the first chief of staff for this department. Following this she established her own office in physical therapy in San Antonio where she lives today.

"Last week as I was looking over the folder that contains many of Betty's Lindenwood records, I came across a statement set down almost twenty years ago by the late Dr. Kate Gregg. In Betty's day, Dr. Gregg was a much beloved member of the English department. I'd like to read you what Dr. Gregg said about Betty:

"Betty Proctor has great talent for leadership. She has an amiable, sweet disposition, a wonderful attitude toward others and a Christianity that seems to work. I have no doubt but that she will succeed very well in life."

"Isn't it interesting that so many years ago, Dr. Gregg should have said about Betty what her dear alumnae friends are saying today!

"Dr. McCluer, it is a privilege to commend to you a very kind, a very loyal, and a very worthy Lindenwood woman, Betty Gray Proctor, for the Alumnae Certificate of Merit."

Sarah Dearmont Hovis

Presentation of Sarah Dearmont Hovis was made as follows by Mrs. Polly Pollock Holway:

"After graduating from Lindenwood in 1944, Sally played the role of a typical young woman of the war-time years—volunteer work, followed by marriage to Robert L. Hovis, and two children, a son and a daughter.

"Her life, since graduation, has in one sense been an average one, that of wife and mother; but we honor her today because she has played an "average" role in a very exceptional and exciting manner, exemplifying, we believe, the true qualities of ideal Lindenwood women. . . . Aware of the needs of others, Sally has been active in the work of many community agencies, both in St. Louis and in Ferguson where she now resides.

"Metropolitan YWCA, Ferguson Welfare League, Planned Parenthood, Community Chest, Red Cross, Volunteer Service Bureau, and the Health and Welfare Council all have profited from her leadership. Most have enjoyed her services as a board member or in executive capacity. She has served many of them through Junior League placement. Sally has recently completed her second year as chairman of the Volunteer Service Bureau, a department of the Health and Welfare Council of St. Louis.

"In addition to activities in the health and welfare field, Sally's community efforts have included participation in local politics, with particular emphasis on the improvement of parks and playgrounds, and active work in the field of teenage recreation and summer youth employment.

"With these varied activities we wonder that she has also found time to share with her busy husband and active children their interests and hobbies, including gardening, the Ferguson Community Players Group, and school activities.

"Guided by deep religious convictions, Sally and Bob Hovis have maintained a close relationship between home and church, and last year Sally was chosen to be a deaconess of the First Presbyterian Church of Ferguson.

"Continued devotion to her college has involved this already busy young woman in yet another round of volunteer service. No job is too large or too small when her heart is in it.

"Although modest and preferring to work behind the scenes, her contagious enthusiasm, her perception and her leadership qualities have been responsible for the success of many a worthwhile endeavor. Sally loves people, and people love Sally. She is successfully combining a life of family devotion and community dedication, a reminder to each of us of what the liberal arts education hopes to achieve.

"Dr. McCluer, it is my privilege to commend Sarah Dearmont Hovis to you for the Alumnae Certificate of Merit."

Alumnae House Party 'Success,' Says Bark

Alumnae House Party was termed a success by the Linden Bark in its opinion. The alumnae but for the present students . . . and the administration as well. Dormitory decoration awards were presented during Convocation luncheon. Linden Hall received first prize for the decoration in front of Roemer Hall. They were decorated with the theme, "Be Down to Get you in a Taxi, Emmy." Day students participating in the contest were Joyce Arras and Jeanne Pohlman were co-chairmen and were assisted by the Alumnae House. Second prize was awarded to Cobbs Hall whose theme was "Pete's Spooky." Other runner-up dorms received a 10-pound box of candy.

Ninety Students Eligible For Membership in Encore

Ninety students attending Lindenwood this year are eligible for membership in the 1962-63 Encore Club based upon relatives who have previously attended the college.

Eligible students and relatives through whom membership is entitled are:

Nancy Jo Achelpohl, aunts; Diana Adams, sister; Bobbie Lynn Barkley, mother; Cheryl Ann Barnwell, mother; Janet Bergelin, mother; Merilyn Berryman, mother; Mary Lee Brannock, mother; Jaclyn Blume, sister; Susie Ann Bristow, grandmother; Barbara Ann Brunsman, mother; Ellen Burkle, aunts; and Susan Conway Burress, mother.

Also, Mary Carrothers, mother; Jeanne Cecil, mother; Edith Norman Clarkson, cousin; Elizabeth Cline, sister; Sharon Clinton, mother; Lurelle Coddington, sister; Trelawney Combs, aunt; Marcia Cooper, cousin; June Ann Davidson, sister-in-law; Susan Davidson, sister; Marsha Dawson, Mrs. Jamie Dawson; Elizabeth and Victoria DeBord, mother; and Susan Diffey, mother.

Also, John Dinkmeyer, sister; Margaret Duffy, mother; Marilyn Eichhorn, sister; Molly Fleetwood, mother; Linda Gerard, mother; Anita Gerken, sister; Ellen Gerken, sister; Janis Gow, mother; Trillave Green, Mrs. Steva Bear; Donna Griggs, sister-in-law; Leila Gumper, sister; Sandra Haines, mother; Nancy Hamilton, sister; Elizabeth Haymes, mother; Charlyn Hollenbeck, mother; Julie Holm, mother; and Alice Holtgrewe, aunt.

Also, Marcia Holway, mother; Frances Huber, cousin; Barbara Jane Jack, aunt; Marjorie Johnson, aunt; Sandra Raye Johnson, sister; Joyce E. Jurgensen, sister; Kathie Kaiser, mother; Barbara Lash, mother; Jane Leedy, sister; Joyce Lehker, wife of cousin; Cevilla Line, mother; Patricia Mayfield, mother; Patricia Merrill, aunt; Mary Kathryn Messall, mother's step-aunts; Janet Miller, mother; and Mary Kathryn Miller, mother.

Also, Marcia Gail Minsky, cousin; Jane Moeller, sister; Kaye Montross, mother; Raye Montross, mother; Joan Nixon, sister; Prudence Paine, mother; Mary Lee Pfaff, aunt; Tena Louise Pilkinton, grandmother; Irene Ritter, sister; Donna Kay Sanders, aunt; Karen Schnatmeier, mother; Karen Ann Scholle, mother; Mellanie Shelkey, sister; Lindsay Spargur, mother; and Linda Spradlin, sister.

Also, Helen Louise Staggemeier, mother; Helen Stark, mother; Mary Sue Stockenberg, mother; Betty Ann Suber, mother; Barbara Taylor, sister; Markay Tolen, Mrs. Vernon Wilson; Jennie Kay Tombaugh, mother; Katherine Trauernicht, aunt; Kay Van Valkenburgh, mother; Janet Warner, sister; Jane Luise Whiting, cousin; Carla Diane Williams, sister; and Charlene Wisdom, aunts.

Moral Training, Education Theme of Conover's Book

"Moral Education in Family, School, and Church," examining the effectiveness of what is now being done in moral training and education, written by Lindenwood's Dr. C. Eugene Conover, was published in July.

In 1961, Dr. Conover gave a series of lectures on morality and moral education in a course at Lindenwood College and for adult groups in the St. Charles and Normandy Presbyterian Churches. The lively discussions which followed these lectures encouraged the writing of the book.

Published by Westminster Press, Philadelphia, the purpose of the book is to examine the effectiveness of what is now being done in moral training and education, to inquire why such training falls short of what it should be, and to ask what contributions may be expected from family, school, and church.

It is Dr. Conover's conviction that the most neglected aspect of education in America today is moral education. His book is written for the persons who carry major responsibilities in moral education—parents, ministers, directors of religious education, teachers, and leaders of youth—rather than for specialists in ethics and theology.

On the basis of his experience in various colleges and universities as a teacher and chaplain, and of recent studies of the campus, the author first describes the moral and religious situation today in American colleges and universities. Believing that many people today misunderstand morality, he examines the nature of morality, and the characteristics of a person who can properly be called moral.

Other questions considered are: "Why should we be moral?" and "Who is responsible for moral education?" Various possible plans for improving moral education are considered, and proposals made for more adequate training of parents, teachers, religious leaders, and social workers for their responsibilities in moral education.

Dr. Conover also examines the reasons why churches today have increasing membership without evidence of moral renewal, states what he believes should be done about it, and gives reasons why the church must assume a distinctive role in moral education.

Moral Education in Family, School, and Church is dedicated to Mrs. Conover, who assisted her husband in writing the book. William W. Thomas, Lindenwood assistant professor of philosophy and religion, also read the manuscript and made valuable suggestions concerning language and style.

'89 Willie Honey Johnston (Mrs. Houston W.) died July 23 of pneumonia at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. The widow of Houston Watson Johnston, a former circuit judge, Mrs. Johnston was one of the oldest living graduates of Lindenwood at the time of her death. She was honored by alumnae of the college on her 92nd birthday in November, 1961.

A descendant of President James K. Polk, Mrs. Johnston was born at Withrow Springs, Ark. She lived in Eureka Springs, Ark., and Montgomery City and Jonesburg, Mo., before moving to St. Louis 20 years ago.

Edna Coffee Brown celebrated her 93rd birthday Nov. 2. Mrs. Brown's address is 323 East Carson St., San Antonio 8, Tex. She is now in a nursing home, having suffered a broken hip. Mrs. Brown enjoys receiving mail and would appreciate hearing from Lindenwood friends.

Ruth was particularly interested in the Home Management House because she is supervisor of home economics in the Hamilton school system.

'30 Marcia Wallace Kershaw, formerly a staff writer for the Joplin, Mo., Globe and News Herald, left Joplin in September for a writers' study tour of Europe. She was the only Missourian among 15 press women and women authors from throughout the United States who composed the tour party.

Leaving New York City Sept. 30, Mrs. Kershaw and her group traveled by Scandinavian Air Systems jet to Edinburgh, Scotland. Their visit in Scotland included private motor coach tours to Holyrood Palace, Edinburgh Castle, and through the Trossachs to Glasgow where they were entertained by the editor of The Glasgow Herald.

From Scotland the group went to London for a week of meetings with British press women, interviews with the editors of the London Times, Daily Chronicle and other publications on the city's famous Fleet Street. Tours were made to Stratford-on-Avon, Warwick Castle, Banbury, and Aylesbury, and visits to the House of Parliament, Westminster Abbey, Hampton Court and St. James Palaces, the famous Cloisters and Round Tower, Kingston, and Chelsea.

Next stop was Paris with interviews and tours of points of interest, followed by a stop in Geneva, Switzerland, for a visit to the old League of Nations Headquarters. The group stopped next in Nice, France, and Monte Carlo, before going to Rome for the remainder of their stay on the continent.

Returning to her home in late October, Mrs. Kershaw continues her writing as a free-lance writer and a special correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

MINNESOTA

Lindenwood College Club

The main activity of the Minnesota Club last summer was an Arts and Crafts Exhibit held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, at Como Park in St. Paul. Members of the club exhibited paintings, ceramics, and various homecrafts.

Free to the public, the event was quite successful. A similar exhibit will be held next year.

Barbara Cushman Blue and Phyllis Williams McKay were in charge of planning the affair in which more than 25 exhibitors participated.

Yvonne Sechler Molenaar, Minnesota Club's social chairman, has worked up an interesting calendar for the coming year. It includes a November luncheon meeting at the home of Ellen Langenbacher Betz and a December coffee party and cookie exchange at Yvonne's home.

MIAMI, FLORIDA

Lindenwood College Club

A get-acquainted brunch for the Miami area was held Saturday, Oct. 13, at the home of Barbara Wexner Levy, 527 East DiLido, Miami Beach. Lillian Nitcher and Barbara were co-hostesses.

Nine spirited gals answered the call to form an alumnae group in the Miami area: Elizabeth Rowley Addington '20, Kathryn Porter Allen '27, Elizabeth Thomas Bowman '59, Marguerite Kahl Foster '09, Nell Van Nort McKane '09, Diane Holloway Penny '59, and Marjorie Hammer Sullivan '35.

A second meeting of the group was scheduled Saturday, Nov. 17, at Betty's on Biscayne Blvd., Miami. At this luncheon meeting, officers were to be elected. At this meeting, Diane Penny and Elizabeth Bowman served as co-hostesses, while Marguerite Foster and Marjorie Sullivan assisted with arrangements.

Lillian Nitcher would appreciate hearing from any Lindenwood girls in the state of Florida.

Notices of the Miami meeting appeared in the city's newspapers.

OKLAHOMA CITY

Lindenwood College Club

By Jessie Benson Row, Secretary

A registration tea was held Oct. 7, a perfect sunny autumn day, at the home of Martha Jo Crable Jordan, to begin our alumnae club year, 1962-63. Everyone was very pleased to see so many new faces — people eager to become active in the new Oklahoma City Alumnae Club.

Barbara Ringer Hamill, club historian, set up a guest book which will become a permanent record of the members at each meeting.

In attendance at the meeting were: Mary Sue Bragg, Elizabeth Barnhill, Marilyn Nicholas Brainard, Mary Alice Lillard Carmichael, Peggy Lou Brazel Childs, Gwen Levers Davis, Margaret Fischer Eskridge, Carolyn Ann Buxton Evans, Jo Clea Simpson Fezler, Barbara Ringer Hamill, and Connie Fuqua Hill.

Others present were: Margaret Ringer Howell, Martha Jo Crable Jordan, Barbara Murray Keating, Virginia Estes Koska, Helen Ditson Lloyd, Earleen Simon Mills, Harriet Gum Moffitt, Suzanne Prentice Moreland, Jean Baker

Morrissey, Donna Fautch Myron, Margaret Rice Nuckolls, Miriam Ferrin Powell, Janet Batcheller Ridle, Jessie Benson Row, Janie Falter Shelley, Lucyl Agnes Shirk, Jackie Fulton Stanford, Jean Irwin Thompson, Patsy Clopton Williams, and Janie Rollins Vassar.

New directories were handed out as dues were paid, and all are now eager for more club activities to come. It was voted to have four meetings a year, at least until a good groundwork is laid, and then any changes may be made subsequently if the group desires.

Our next meeting will be held during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day. We have planned a "Holiday Brunch" honoring students and prospective students of Lindenwood College to be held at the home of Lucyl Shirk. It will be a festive time of the year and everyone is looking forward to a lovely party.

TULSA, OKLAHOMA

Lindenwood College Club

By Jeanette Webb Pendarvis, President
Tulsa's Lindenwood College Club entertained at an open door party Tuesday, Aug. 28, at the home of Mrs. Marcus R. Tower (Charlotte Williams '39), 4635 S. Victor Ave.

The party honored Tulsa and Hominy girls who are students at Lindenwood this fall. Their mothers were also invited.

Twenty-eight were in attendance, including eight students, seven mothers, and fourteen members of the alumnae club. Charlotte's young daughter, Kay, a potential Lindenwood girl, assisted her mother. Two of the new students this year are daughters of alumnae. They are Marcia Holway, daughter of Mrs. William N. Holway (Polly Pollock '42), and Kay Van Valkenburgh, daughter of Mrs. Paul Van Valkenburgh (Doris Casemore '36).

Other alumnae club members present were: Mrs. Dorey D. Deardorff (Elizabeth Seigismund '40), Mrs. George W. Foster (Beverly Boylan '50), Mrs. Crawford L. Frederick (Twillia Lee Barnes '42), Mrs. E. L. Gamble (Phyllis Carpenter '42), Mrs. Elnora W. Jaeger (Eleanor Wilcoxson '43), Mrs. Ceylon S. Lewis, Jr. (Marguerite Dearthmont '40), Mrs. Charles Mapes (Elizabeth Barnes '28), Mrs. R. W. Mossman (Elizabeth Hasmer '31), Mrs. Max B. Van Hoose (Elizabeth J. Parrish '41) Mrs. Jeanette Webb Pendarvis '29, and Miss Mary L. Whiteley '35.

Our winter meetings began Sept. 5 with a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack L. Taylor (Vivian Fairfield '32).

ST. LOUIS

Lindenwood College Club

By Nancy Mueller Pecha,
Public Relation Chairman

The weather was damp, but not the spirits of over 60 St. Louis Lindenwood alumnae, who opened their fall season Sept. 24 with a coffee at the home of Mrs. Horton Watkins in Clayton.

Our very special guests were Mrs. Dyke Barton, president of Lindenwood's Alumnae Council, who traveled from her Kansas City home to be with us, and over 30 new members to our alumnae club whom we were very pleased to welcome.

Our annual wreath sale got off to an enthusiastic beginning at this meeting. Sandy Fish and Carolyn Adamson, our two chairmen, explained ordering procedures and we had a sample of the wreaths to exhibit.

Hostesses for the kick-off coffee were: Mrs. Albert Hanser (Olive Diez), Mrs. Eugene Johanson (Virginia Hourn), Mrs. Tom Lange (Jan Blevins), and Mrs. Jack Root (Alice Prouty).

The second event of the season was Beau Night, a fun event. It was held November 9 at the home of Mrs. William Trent, who, with her committee, began making plans for the affair early in the fall.

ST. CHARLES

Lindenwood College Club

By Pat Prinster Nolle, Publicity Chairman

The St. Charles Club met Monday, Oct. 1, in the Lindenwood Chapel Lounge. Twenty-two members and honored guest, Miss Mary Lee Pfaff, winner of the Guy Motley-Alice Linnemann Scholarship, enjoyed the covered dish supper before the meeting was called to order by club president, Mrs. Betty McClintock.

A letter from Dr. McCluer expressing his thanks for the club's completion of its pledge for the new McCluer Hall was read and reports were made on the diligent work being done by local alumnae for the Roaring 20's Weekend. Our club is making plans with two St. Louis clubs for a fashion show and luncheon to be presented at Glen Echo Country Club Mar. 13.

The St. Charles club voted unanimously to increase the amount next year of the annual scholarship which is always our big project.

Mrs. May Bohrer Schnatmeier, program chairman, presented the evening's speaker. Mrs. Betty Littrell Porter, Melba Gray McCollum, Lucia Whitcomb Trump, and Helen Culbertson Beste, were hostesses.

For the third consecutive year since its inception, St. Charles' Alumnae Club has sponsored a booth in the St. Charles Flea Market. Proceeds of the market are used to benefit the Boone Workshop Center for the retarded and handicapped of St. Charles County.

This year the Flea Market was held Sept. 22 on Main St. and Lois Mayer Boschert, booth chairman, and Betty Littrell Porter, co-chairman, had as their assistants for the day-long affair the following: Sally Siemssen Schaefer, Pat Prinster Nolle, Ted Baits Thro, Betty McClintock, and Melba Gray McCollum.

Featuring antiques, brass, silver, and copperware, our booth proved to be quite popular and netted almost $275 for the fund.

ST. LOUIS NORTH COUNTY

Lindenwood College Club

By Mrs. Jacqueline McNulty Huber, President

Our first fall meeting was held Tuesday, Oct. 9, at the home of Janet Monig. Mary Jean Craig, chairman for Alumnae House Party, discussed plans for the event.

Our next meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. at the home of Sally Hovis. Our special guest for this meeting will be Miss Mary Alice Messerley, chairman of the Volunteer Service Bureau of the Health and Welfare Council of Greater St. Louis. Miss Messerley will tell us about the work with the "100 Neediest Cases" which appear in the Post-Dispatch during December.

Our group usually meets in the homes of some of our members, on the first Tuesday of February, April, June, October, and December. The annual dues for members are $3.

We have pledged as a group to give $600 toward the furnishing of a room in McCluer Hall. This money is coming partly from personal donations of club members, and partly from fund-raising activities and dues.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Lindenwood College Club

By Mrs. Marian Titus Ellis, Correspondent

The Lindenwood College Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, met for lunch Saturday, Oct. 20, at the Eagle Rock Lanes in Eagle Rock with 20 members present.

The session was an open meeting arranged by the president, Thelma Harpe Ogden, Mrs. Jack Harpe, and Geraldine Hamblin Gobreuege. The program was given by James Dinwiddie, a friend of Alma Kinkade. It was a delightful account of a trip taken last summer entitled, "Alaska by Trailer," illustrated by slides in 3D.

The second meeting of the fall was held Saturday, Nov. 17, at the home of Doris Nahigian Gertmenian, 925 Columbia St., South Pasadena.

The Bulletin was superb. I enjoyed reading Pauline Frederick's speech; it's nice to have a copy.

I thoroughly enjoyed every moment of your well planned and executed program for our entertainment. And I think the program committee deserves a very, very big hand.

Have asked for names of alumnae in the Carrollton area who might be interested in forming a Lindenwood Club here.

Thanks a million.
Marie K. Betzler
Carrollton, Mo.

I can't begin to tell you how very much I enjoyed my recent Lindenwood Houseparty. For many years I have wanted to come back to visit the campus. This was the very nicest way to return. I am thrilled with all of the new buildings and to know Lindenwood is still the excellent college I remember. Thank you again for such a delightful weekend.

Claudine Russell

Our hearts go out to you and all the Alums for the wonderful time we had during "Alumnae Weekend."

We enjoyed every minute of it, and we will "treasure" the trophy all year long.

You all are great!
Jeanne Pohlmann
Secretary, Day Students

It was so much fun being with you at Lindenwood for the House Party Weekend. I loved Torchin' the Roaring Twenties with you and Aunt Emmy and all the Flappers.

Surely hope I'll see you again soon!
Virginia Walton Brooks

Memphis 8, Tenn.

I want to thank you again for the marvelous time I had at the weekend and let you know how much I appreciate all the work and effort on your part which made it such a huge success. It was great from beginning to end.

It was even more significant to me because I feel so very fortunate in having my daughter, Barbara, there as a student to whom I can pass on the marvelous heritage and traditions of Lindenwood College. To me, Lindenwood, with its beautiful campus and excellent curriculum, is the perfect place for a girl to begin her college life.

ALUMNAE FUND REPORT
Covering Period Between
April 16 and November 1, 1962

CONTRIBUTORS	722
GIFTS	$10,306.90

The 1962 Alumnae Fund campaign was launched April 3, with first returns received April 16, Nancy M. Orr, 1962 Fund Chairman, reported during the House Party Weekend. Included in the figures are one bequest, gifts from individuals, and gifts from Alumnae Clubs. A final report will be prepared December 31 and presented to alumnae in the January, 1963, Bulletin along with the Honor Roll of donors.

Telephone solicitation was used for the first time in the 1962 campaign. Although no approach to the 1962 fund was made by classes or through class agents, such an appeal is planned for the future.

Mrs. Orr's report does not include comparative figures because comparable records for previous years are not available. However, the totals reported for the 1961 fund were $9,394.50 in gifts with 1,157 in contributors.
