"Your Communicative Link with the Lindenwood College"

Vol. 2, No. #7; Sept. 12, 1983

THE 'PRESIDENT'S PREFACE'

A college campus is a place where many stimulating events occur. However, there are two times in an academic year that always seem to me to be more exciting than any other. I am referring to graduation in the spring and the start of a new academic year in the fall.

The beginning of Lindenwood's 157th academic year has been thrilling. The new day students are a joy. They come with grade-point averages and ACT scores above the average for entering freshmen. They come with good records of leadership in their home communities and high schools. They come to live on campus in larger numbers than any class since 1977. Last spring, we had 132 students living in our dorms but this fall there are 216 students living in our dorms.

I was especially pleased with the number and quality of the parents of our new students who came to the campus in record numbers during the first day of new student orientation. It speaks well for our new students that their parents take a genuine interest in learning about the college that their son or daughter is attending.

I'm tempted to pass out roses to a number of persons on staff and faculty who have contributed so much of themselves and their time to make possible such an exciting beginning for the new school year. But, I won't succumb to the temptation for I'd be certain to miss somebody who ought to be praised. Each of you, whether in Food Service or the residence halls or in the Admissions Office or on the faculty - or wherever - you know what you did and I do too - and the entire Lindenwood family knows a lot of people did a lot of work - and we're all grateful to each of you. So, pat yourself on the back - you deserve it.

P.S. Hope to see many, many of our faculty and staff at the Lindenwood men and women's soccer games. We're going to have a great soccer season under the leadership of coaches C.C. Lowry and Debbie Suchman!

STUDENT ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR NAMED

Active in college organizations and extra-curricular activities, she received the Most Valuable Player award in basketball in 1982 and two awards in leadership in 1983. She is listed in last year's edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES and was the recipient of the 1983 Outstanding Young Women of America Award.

It is free to Lindenwood students; for others, a $1 admission is charged. The film concerns four high school graduates from blue-collar families who "break away" from adolescence into adulthood. The action centers on the rivalry between the four friends and arrogant students at Indiana University, where the film was made. Their confrontation is played out in a rousing bicycle race, the "Little 500."
