Bea Clark

announcing...

the appointment of Bea Clark as Alumnae Executive Secretary. She becomes the first full-time Executive Secretary in charge of the alumnae program for Lindenwood's 11,000 former students. All alumnae activities and the Alumnae Fund are now under her direction. Bea assumes the alumnae duties formerly directed by Hellen Boyd Ostroff, who joined the staff in 1958 as Director of Public Relations and Alumnae Secretary.

"The increasing activity in the alumnae work and in news and public relations has made some separation of these responsibilities advisable," President McCluer said, "and all of us who know Mrs. Clark are pleased that she has accepted this important new responsibility."

Bea attended William Woods College and received her B.A. from Fairmount College in West Virginia. She is Mrs. William H. Clark, 6 Lakeview Court, Ferguson 35, Missouri, and the mother of a 13-year-old daughter and a son who will be a Yale freshman in September.

Ever since the first Lindenwood student left the campus and became an alumna, the college has had a problem: how to keep close to its alumnae, despite the vast mileages between them. The Bulletin and Alumnae Weekend have provided a partial solution. The hope, however, has always been for a strong network of Lindenwood College clubs in cities and towns which have a sizable number of alums. This, then, is Bea's task—a revitalized network of active out-of-town clubs. She will work to strengthen the programs for existing clubs and organize new ones.

Commenting on Bea's appointment, Nancy Montgomery Orr, Alumnae Association President said, "A full-time Alumnae Office under Bea's capable direction will allow our alumnae program to move along smoothly. We are all happy to have her at Lindenwood."

the dedication

The formal dedication of McCluer Hall, new dormitory on the Lindenwood campus, will be held Sunday, September 24, at 3:00 p.m., in front of the new building. Alumnae and friends of the college are invited to attend the dedication and the reception in the Lounge following the ceremony.

The new dormitory will house 88 students when Lindenwood opens its 135th academic year in September. Approximate cost of the building and its equipment was $600,000. St. Louis architect Kenneth E. Wischmeyer designed the building. Robert R. Wright was the contractor.

DR. ALICE PARKER

As the Bulletin went to press, news reached the college that the beloved and respected Dr. Alice Parker, a member of the faculty from 1928 to 1961, died on June 22 en route to Colorado. The inspiration she has given, the power of her intellect, her influence on thousands of students and on Lindenwood is vast and forever woven into the fabric of the college. The November issue will carry special tributes to this great teacher.

The 134th Commencement

A decline since World War II in this nation's international position, which "reached an all-time low with the Cuban debacle," stems from a lack of leadership, United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Maine, told Lindenwood graduates at the 134th annual commencement.

"But the fault of the weak or absent leadership is not just that of our elected representatives," she said. "The fault goes right back to the individual level—to millions of Americans—for they too have defaulted in their individual leadership." Although this country has the highest standard of living in the world, she said, we use the "head-in-the-sand crutch for mental solace. The blunt truth is that as individuals and as a nation we have become too soft, morally, mentally, and physically."

Senator Smith, who was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, said that at the end of World War II this nation was the most powerful in history. But, she added, today we "stand in embarrassment before the world because President Kennedy's bluff on Laos has been called and because Russia beat us not only in putting a man into space but sending him in orbit around the world."

Mrs. Smith declared that this country is ahead of Russia in television sets, automobiles, labor-saving devices, instant suntan lotions, instant tea and high fins on automobile fenders. "Too many of our young people are spending too many hours on such frivolities, she said "while Russian youths are studying science and mathematics, yes, and the humanities.

"Do away with these eroding frivolities. The greatest danger that exists is not from outside our country. It is not the Communist threat. It is the growing softness of our people and consequently the growing softness of our nation. The President put it superbly in his inaugural address when he said that instead of an American asking what his government could do for him, the American should ask what can I do for my government, and in doing so to be willing to make personal and individual sacrifices.

"In short, my message to you is to reject the predominant attitude and theme in our nation today of American's constantly looking for the easy way to do things, for the short-cut, for the quick way out of some problem.

"There is a desperate and urgent necessity for a moral and mental re-awakening in the United States. You and those of your generation can do more than any other group to lead that re-awakening. Where your elders have failed on leadership, you can succeed. I deeply envy you. For if there really are any New Frontiers—if they are more than mere political campaign slogans—the true New Frontiers are those for the moral, mental, and physical firming-up of our people and our nation."

Elizabeth Tracy Schreiber, a Lindenwood graduate and professor of French at Washington University, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws. A Doctor of Humanities was given to the Rev. Theophil Stoecker of St. Charles.

Fifty-eight young women received their diplomas from President McCluer—36 of them were awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees and Bachelor of Science degrees went to 22 of the seniors. Margaret Ahrens of Centralia, Ill., and Mary Sue Terry of Fort Worth, Texas, were awarded Lindenwood Graduate Fellowships.

The Rev. Dr. Theodore A. Gill, president of San Francisco Theological Seminary and former dean of the chapel at Lindenwood, delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Speaking on the subject "Judge Not," Dr. Gill made a strong plea for tolerance. "Judge Not is not a cliché about personal manners," he declared. "It is a plain statement about a very plain fact.

"There is no average man—we are all individuals—all different, and the Christian life is realized and evidenced differently in each one of us."

In addition to the Lindenwood Fellowships, seven seniors received scholarships and grants from graduate schools. Nancy Babb, Tulsa, Okla., has a resident counselorship in human relations at Ohio University. Kenneth Cox, De Soto, Mo., was awarded a three-year grant at the University of Iowa on a National Defense Fellowship. Vivian Hiatt, Florissant, Mo., will use her National Science Foundation Scholarship at Washington University where she will do graduate work in genetics. Linda Markuly, Belleville, Ill., received a scholarship from George Peabody College for Teachers. June Tavlin, Cincinnati, Ohio, has a resident counselorship in personnel and guidance from Indiana University. Margarita Tsinanopoulou from Athens, Greece, will study at George Washington University on a P.E.O. fellowship. Mary Sue Terry, winner of an LC fellowship, was also offered assistantships in English by both the University of Oklahoma and Texas University.

Junior-Year-Abroad Fellowships went to Barbara Mogg from Coral Gables, Fla., and Judy Petterson, Syracuse, Kans. Barbara will study in France next year at the University of Aix-Marseilles. Judy will go to Bishop Otter College in Chichester, England.

Four juniors will represent Lindenwood in the fall at the American University in Washington, D.C. Studying under the Washington Semester Program will be Juliann Bottorff, drama major from St. Joseph, Mo.; Jo Ann Dillinger, education major from Lebanon, Ill.; Donna Green, home economics major, Paducah, Ky.; and Meredith Kasten, mathematics major from Afton, Mo.

“...and declare them entitled
to all the rights and privileges
thereunto appertaining”

With these words, the last a student hears before she becomes a graduate, the Class of '61 joined the ranks of the alumnae.

Senator Smith, the 1961 commencement speaker, spent two days on the campus and noted that Lindenwood "is regarded with great respect in Washington." She seemed as eager to talk with the students as they were to talk with her. At right, she meets a group of the international students. (Below) The Rev. Theophil Stoerker of St. Charles who received an honorary Doctor of Humanities.

The new alumnae. For many the occasion marked the termination of 16 years of formal education. More significantly, it brought sharply into focus the inevitable question: "Where do I go from here?"

CAMPUS NEWS

Dr. McCluer, as president of the Missouri Joint Fund Committee, presents a certificate of appreciation to the U.S. Steel Foundation at a luncheon in St. Louis at which the Foundation presented grants to Missouri colleges and universities. Shown receiving the certificate (left) J. C. Pugh of U.S. Steel; Frank B. Kane, American Steel and Wire Div.; Dr. McCluer; P. M. Yates, National Tube Div.; and B. K. Taylor, U.S. Steel Supply Div.

SCIENCE FOUNDATION GRANT . . . President McCluer announced a three-year grant of $6,200 had been made to the college by the National Science Foundation. The amount will support research entitled "Flight Activities and Production of Winged Individuals in Certain Hymenoptera." Research will be directed by Dr. Mary Talbot, chairman of the biology department.

DIVISIONAL PLAN REORGANIZES CURRICULUM . . . A new divisional plan to organize the curriculum at Lindenwood has been approved by the faculty. The departments of instruction will be grouped into four divisions: Division of Humanities, Division of Natural Sciences, Division of Social Sciences, and the Professional Education Division.

Included in the Division of Humanities will be the departments of art, classics, English, modern language, music, philosophy, religion, and speech. Departments grouped under Natural Sciences will be biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics. Economics, history, political science, psychology, and sociology will comprise the Division of Social Science. Education, office management, home economics, and physical education will make up the Professional Education Division.

In commenting on the divisional plan Dean Mackenzie pointed out that this arrangement of the curriculum is not new in American higher education, and that it is only the first step of many that must be taken to strengthen Lindenwood's educational program. By grouping together departments dealing with related subject matter, it is hoped that both faculty and students will become more conscious of the inter-relatedness of the academic disciplines, that departmental barriers can be broken down, and that the students can see the unity of knowledge more easily.

FRESHMAN ENGLISH REVAMPED . . . Although a number of curriculum changes have been approved, one of the most significant is a revision in freshman English. The new course which will be offered for the first time in September, will combine the English literature and freshman English courses. It will emphasize critical writing and the use of great literary models, thereby developing an understanding of literature at the same time writing skills are being improved.

The addition of a new 40x40 ft. Lounge to Niccolls Hall was completed in early May. The new wing has a glass wall overlooking the back campus valley.

"The new course," said Dean Mackenzie, "should do much to remove the frequently heard criticism that freshman English is just more high school English."

ACCREDITATION FOR TEACHER EDUCATION
... Lindenwood has been granted full accreditation for the preparation of elementary and secondary teachers with the bachelor's degree as the highest to be offered. The accreditation is for a period of ten years from the date of evaluation.

MATHEMATICS CONFERENCE . . . A Mathematics Conference sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America was held on the campus in May. Speaker for the all-day session of conferences, discussions, and lectures was Dr. Franklin Haimo from Washington University. His topic was "Introduction to Group Theory." The meeting was a part of a program developed by the Mathematics Association with the support of the National Science Foundation to give colleges the opportunity to add diversity to existing programs by visits from prominent research mathematicians. The program's objectives are to assist small colleges in stimulating math studies, to provide a personal contact with productive and creative off-campus mathematicians to both faculty and students, to aid in motivating able students toward careers in math, and to create ties with graduate schools.

FACULTY NOTES . . . Miss Louise Beasley, chairman of the mathematics department, was awarded a scholarship by the National Science Foundation to one of the six summer conferences for college math teachers. She will attend the University of Arkansas. In May Miss Beasley represented Lindenwood at a meeting of the National Council of Mathematics Teachers in Chicago. Mrs. Jeanne Huesemann, math instructor, and Miss Beasley also attended the annual meeting of the Missouri Section, Mathematics Association of America held at the University of Missouri.

Dr. Hazel Tolivar, chairman of the classics department, spoke at the Classical Conference at Iowa State University. Her address to the gathering of college and high school teachers of Greek and Latin was entitled, "Classics in Orbit." Earlier in the spring, Dr. Tolivar was a panelist on "Bookmark," a weekly discussion program on KETC-TV in St. Louis. The Ford Foundation report, "The University and World Affairs," was discussed by the panel.

Dr. Helen P. Gouldner, chairman of the sociology department, will be on leave-of-absence during the 1961-62 school year. She will accompany her husband, Dr. Alvin Gouldner, who heads the anthropology and sociology department at Washington University, to Stanford, Calif., where he will study at the Center for Advanced Study in Behavioral Sciences.

RESIDENT COUNSELORS FOR FRESHMEN . . . Six upperclassmen will receive scholarships as resident counselors in Niccolls Hall. The new counseling program is in line with the recent trend in colleges and universities to use upperclassmen as counselors for freshmen. Serving as advisors, two counselors will live on each floor of the dormitory throughout the year. For the first nine weeks of the fall semester until freshmen officers are elected, the counselors will represent Niccolls Hall on the school councils and governing bodies.

NICCOLLS LOUNGE COMPLETED . . . Construction of the new lounge in Niccolls Hall was completed early in May. Though the front exterior of the building remains the same, the new addition adds 1600 sq. ft. of space to the dormitory. Measuring 40x40, the lounge features a kitchenette, brick interior walls, and walnut paneling. A plate glass wall across the entire west end of the room overlooks the back campus valley. The addition was designed by architect John B. Becker of St. Charles.

ALUMNAE FUND . . . A progress report on June 6 showed a 21 per cent increase in the number of contributions to the Lindenwood Alumnae Fund from June, 1960. Records show a steady rise in the number of contributors. With several months to go, 925 alumnae had sent gifts compared to 763 donors on the same date last year. The Fund totaled $12,323.50 on June 6. The amount includes $6,623.50 in gifts and dues, and $5,700 in pledges to McCluer Hall by the Lindenwood alumnae clubs. The Alumnae Fund reached a new high in 1960 when Lindenwood women contributed $18,295 compared to $8,000 in 1959 and increased the number of contributions from 625 in 1959 to 1379 in 1960.

LINDENWOOD CLUBS

OKLAHOMA CITY

President and Mrs. McCluer were guests of the new Oklahoma City club at a luncheon in the Plaza Tower Hotel. Thirty-five Lindenwood women attended and heard Dr. McCluer speak on "The State of the College."

The Oklahoma City group was organized early this spring at a get-acquainted gathering in the home of Barbara Ringer Hamill. Alumnae Council members Polly Pollock Holway and Marg Dearmont Lewis came from Tulsa to help with ideas and organization. Ted Pickney, admissions, also attended the first session and brought alums up to date on admissions policies.

The enthusiastic new club held a morning coffee meeting in March and elected their first slate of officers. They are Margaret Fisher Eskridge, president; Barbara Ringer Hamill, vice-president; Margaret Ringer Howell, secretary; and Martha Crable Greenamyre, treasurer.

TULSA

The Tulsa club entertained President and Mrs. McCluer at a buffet dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Lewis (Marg Dearmont) in April. Husbands were invited to the informal party and heard Dr. McCluer speak on current campus affairs.

The election of officers and a "Taste Dinner" were on the calendar for May. Mercedes Bryan Hawkins was the hostess. Tulsa's new president is Anna Lynn Davison.

SAN DIEGO

Lindenwood in San Diego held a spring meeting at the home of Evelyn Freerksen Bowen. Biggest item on the agenda: McCluer Hall. Members of the young club voted "yea" and pledged the full amount to furnish a room in the new dormitory.

CINCINNATI

The Cincinnati club is off and running again! A luncheon meeting was held in early March at El Rancho Rankin. Former Alumnae Secretary Hellen Boyd Ostroff spoke on "Today at Lindenwood." Co-hostesses for the affair were June Burba Mullins and Zilpha Curtin.

During spring vacation the club entertained Lindenwood students from Cincinnati who were home for the Easter holiday, and high school seniors who have been accepted for admission at LC this fall. The informal buffet dinner was given at the home of Barbara Goldenberg Solomon. The mothers of the young women also attended. The club presented Lindenwood wall pennants to the high schoolers who will become freshmen in September and they learned much about campus life from LC's Cincinnati students.

A swimming party and patio supper for prospectives is planned for late summer. Cincinnati's new president is Vera Langenbacher Hutcheson.

ST. CHARLES

The St. Charles Club staged its annual "Coke Party" for prospectives in Cobbs Hall Lounge on the campus. In an informal setting short talks were given by Dean Mackenzie, Registrar Lula Clayton Beale, and Mary F. Lichliter, guidance and placement director.

Following the party, the high school seniors toured the campus with present students from the local area serving as guides. Wanda Bullard Lesley is president of the club.

CLEVELAND

The Cleveland Lindenwood club entertained prospective students and their mothers at a tea and open house at the home of Rosemary Edminster Duffy. Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie were the honor guests from the college. Dean Mackenzie spoke on Lindenwood's academic program.

Marie Smith Strawbridge was in charge of party arrangements. Barbara DePuy Gee is the club president.

CHICAGO—WEST

Sondra Jupin Gillice, '58, is interested in bringing Lindenwood to the west suburban area of Chicago. Although the North Shore Lindenwood women have shown an interest in organizing, there are over 200 alumnae in the greater Chicago area and several localized groups seems to be the answer for sustained interest.

Sondra is now contacting alums in Oak Park, River Forest, and other west section communities. If you would like to help or if you live in this general area, won't you contact Sondra? She is Mrs. J. T. Gillice, 516 W. Harrison, Oak Park.

ST. LOUIS

The St. Louis club presented a luncheon and style show, "Tulip Tones of Fashion," in April. The event was staged in the Rose and Crown Room of Ole Cheshire Inn and attended by over 200 people. Proceeds were added to the club's fund for McCluer Hall.

Spring fashions were shown by Garland of St. Louis with coiffures by Jo Wieman of Clayton. Mary Jean DuHadway Craig and June Horstmeyer Kottmeier were co-chairmen for the show. Hostesses were Margaret McIntosh Presley, Carol Dearing Bouchard, Marcia Heinzelman Richards, Esther Mehalick Smith, and Mary Jane Tarling Take.

Alumnae who modeled fashions were Carol Dearing Bouchard, Rosanna Veach Bruere, Rose Parmlee Foster, Olive Diez Hanser, Rose Marie Danz Neher, Hellen Boyd Ostroff, Nancy Mueller Pecha, Dorothy Miller Reitz, Paula Moore Ritter, Alice Prouty Root, Maurita Estes Stueck, Maureen Guggisberg Whitmire, Mary Nell Van Bibber Young.

MINNESOTA

Sharlene Agerter and Elizabeth Iler Spriggs of the Minnesota club were co-chairmen for a luncheon at the Town and Country Club in St. Paul for mothers of Lindenwood students and alumnae in the Twin Cities area. Former Alumnae Secretary Hellen Boyd Ostroff spoke on "Lindenwood 1961."

The vigorous new club meets each month and attracts members from as far as Duluth—over 100 miles away!

The May luncheon was held in Minneapolis at the home of Shirley Ryder Neal. Present LC students from the area, prospectives, and young women enrolled for September were entertained in June at the home of Mrs. Frederick Blumers, mother of LC junior Meg Blumers.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Lindenwood in Washington gave a tea at the home of Betty Forbes Cameron. Honor guests were Mrs. Karl Mundt, wife of South Dakota's Congressman; Mrs. Richard M. Simpson, wife of the late Congressman from Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Hurst Anderson, wife of the president of American University. Included on the guest list were the six Lindenwood students who had been attending American University under the Washington Semester Program.

An April tea was given at the home of May Kane Hincke. Mrs. Susan Smythe, wife of Gen. George W. Smythe, spoke on "Women in the Orient." The Lindenwood Choralaires, who were on tour in the area, also attended the party and sang for alums.

As a fund raising project for next year, the group is considering a tour of foreign embassies which represent the countries of Lindenwood's international students.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY

The St. Louis County club has had several interesting programs this year. The April meeting was held at Lammerets, well known St. Louis furniture house. After a talk on home decorating by a staff decorator, club members viewed furniture displays throughout the store.

The group toured Proctor and Gamble's St. Louis plant in May. They heard about "Life with a British Exchange Teacher" from club member LaVerne Ridder Oetting at the June meeting. LaVerne has first-hand knowledge of the subject for she has a British exchange teacher living in her home this year.

New president for St. Louis County is Jacqueline McNulty Huber.

LOS ANGELES

Southern California is one of the few clubs that schedule meetings every month. Hostesses for June were Geraldine Hamblin Gobruerge, Helen Kerner and Thelma Harpe Ogden.

The girls gathered at the home of Nancy Patterson Van Loenen in May. The April meeting was spent "enjoying Mary Lou Jobe's garden," says club president Marian Titus Ellis.

KANSAS CITY

The Kansas City Lindenwood club celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding at a special luncheon in May. President and Mrs. McCluer were the honor guests.

Lindenwood salutes the Kansas City women in their anniversary year for an outstanding job in promoting their alma mater.

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

The Lindenwood clubs listed below have either paid or pledged the cost of furnishing a room in McCluer Hall, which will be dedicated on September 24. A bronze plaque will bear the names you see here to remind the succeeding generations of students and visitors to the campus of the interest that Lindenwood women have in their college.

The response to the request for support of the project is a vote of confidence in Lindenwood. The college appreciates and is strengthened by the willingness of alumnae to take the position of leadership and responsibility in this important program.

The listing below was compiled on June 5, almost a month short of the close of the project. Club pledges made after June 5 are not shown.

Margie—the Parr of Puerto Rico

Marjorie Moehlenkamp Finlay '49

Every night, via television, thousands of Puerto Ricans are charmed and entertained by a lovely young woman, a former St. Charlesan. She is Marjorie Moehlenkamp Finlay.

Known professionally as Margie Finley, she is mistress of ceremony, sharing m.c. duties with Pumercjo, well known entertainment personality from Cuba, on a variety program, "El Show Pan-Americano," for an hour each night on APA-TV in Santuce, P.R. The program has a more or less Jack Parr format. . . .

The professional world of entertainment was not new to Margie when she entered the television field. She did concert work in several South American countries, and before her marriage was guest soloist with a network show, "Music With The Girls," heard both on NBC and CBS for fifteen months. She has sung with the Puerto Rico Symphony and had leading roles in musical productions and light operas in South America. . . . This spring she entered a new field when she cut her first LP record album in Mexico. . . . Her most recent foray into a new entertainment medium was a two-week engagement at the LaConcha Room at the Caribe Hilton in Puerto Rico. Her parents had always discouraged her from doing supper club work, and she accepted the engagement only after assuring them that "this will be very dignified." Newspaper reviews from Puerto Rico indicate that her debut was met with enthusiasm as had never been seen in the LaConcha Room before.

For Margie Finlay has become the darling of the island. . . . Puerto Ricans describe her as having "the girl next door manner." Each night as she leaves the studio she is surrounded by fans of all ages. . . .

When she was a high school student, she became a pupil of Miss Pearl Walker, music professor at Lindenwood. She continued to study under Dr. Walker, for whom she has superlative praise, until she graduated from LC in 1949. She returned to the campus in 1953 to give a concert.

After college came the radio show which she left to study at the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, Mass. She did further study in New York. She is married to Robert Finley, president of Raymond Construction Co. . . . He took his bride to live in Havana, his home office at the time, but as Cuban political unrest grew the business was moved to Puerto Rico. From there the Finlays went to Venezuela, until the revolutionists dampened construction activities there. . . . Now they are back in Puerto Rico, living in Santurce, a suburb of San Juan.

The Finlays are the parents of two daughters, aged 3 and 4, who are now enjoying a visit with their grandparents in St. Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moehlenkamp, while Margie and Bob spend a month's holiday in Europe. . . . Reprinted from The St. Charles Banner-News

For the last three years Lindenwood College has had the service of a loyal and gifted alumna, Hellen Boyd Ostroff, as Alumnae Secretary and Director of Public Relations.

It is with regret that we announce that Mrs. Ostroff resigned from her work at the college in June. In all of her activities — as Editor of the Bulletin, in working with alumnae clubs, and in directing public relations — she has made an enduring contribution to the strength of Lindenwood College. It is not possible to measure the value of a competent and imaginative service so enthusiastically given; it is possible to express the deep and sincere appreciation of a service that will long be remembered. We salute her with gratitude as she leaves.

"... to keep the 'old girls' united"

Class of 1886

That noble purpose motivated some alumnae, back in the late 1800's, to organize the Alumnae Association of Lindenwood College. "It is proposed," they stated, "that we have a reunion and dinner once a year within the College walls, with no more formality than the old College girls will tolerate." As the old Latin scholars would agree, tempus fugit. For one thing, it would be difficult today to pinpoint the old "College walls." There are college walls all over the place. The alumnae program has been greatly expanded since the first reunion and banquet. The Alumnae Seminars and the Lindenwood Weekend next fall give evidence of that. Take a look at the tentative schedule below and plan to attend Alumnae Weekend at your "old College" on October 27 and 28.
