

Photo caption for MPJ No. 11 (Fall/Winter 2021)

The Kansas City skyline is shown, featuring One Kansas City Place, Missouri's tallest office building, located to the left of center (it's only six inches shorter than the St. Louis Arch). At the far right is the Kauffman Center for Performing Arts, which opened in 2011. Here you see its two half shells, designed so that each can allow separate performances.

Picture by: Colin Cernik