RESENTED BY THE STUDENT BODY OF LINDENWOOD COLLEGE -:- SAINT CHARLES, MISSOURI

DOCTOR ROEMER

INTROD

3786

- This year Dr. Roemer is celebrating his Silver Jubilee Anniversary as President of Lindenwood College. When he and Mrs. Roemer began their administration twenty-five years ago, Lindenwood was a small college with a comparatively limited curriculum. Under their leadership the college has made amazing academic and social progress.
- Lindenwood can never express adequate gratitude for the service that her leaders have given, but she can strive for their goals. We deeply regret that because of her death in the summer Mrs. Roemer can not share in this year's celebration.

Mrs. John L. Roemer

The true In Memoriam of our beloved Dean of Women lies in the hearts of the hundreds of young women who have called her "Mother Roemer."

UCTION

DEDICATION

• To President and Mrs. Roemer, to whom Lindenwood owes her continued advancement, whose high ideals of American womanhood have been an inspiration to many young girls, who have regarded every student as their own, through whose generosity the new Fine Arts building is being constructed, who have been the very center of Lindenwood College for the past twenty-five years, for whom all their world has infinite admiration and respect, we lovingly dedicate this, the 1939 LINDEN LEAVES.

WHEN DR. and N FIRST CAME TO . . . DID YOU

that Ayres Hall was known as Jubilee Hall until October 21, 1927? Dr. and Mrs. Roemer fived in this hall before they moved to the Gables. Notice that it doesn't have the portico that we are used to seeing.

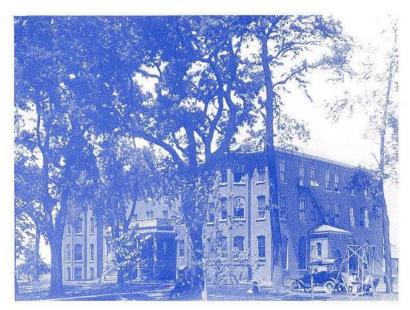

that the May Fete used to take place in front of the Tea Room, at that time a sorority house? The little girl carrying the crown is Alice Belding, a member of this year's graduating class.

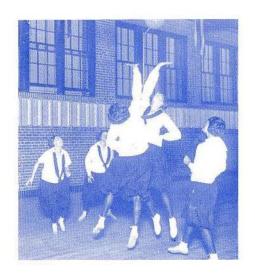

that girls could cook in their rooms? Notice the furniture, styles, and hair dress. We think this room is in either Sibley or Ayres, but where?

MRS. ROEMER LINDENWOOD KNOW . . .

that Sibley Hall didn't have a big front porch in those days? It's interesting to note the type of car outside. Also, Mr. Whiting who took our Annual pictures this year took this picture of Sibley.

that to play basketball you had to be fully dressed—even to black silk hose and a tie on the middy blouses. They appear to know the rules of the game and would offer real competition to our present-day basketball stars. How about it, Clearman, Books, and Ball?

that the library used to be in the Sibley parlor? What did they do with their "guests" in those days?

• This building was erected in memory of Mrs. Margaret Leggat Butler. It houses a working collection of 21,800 books and pamphlets, and receives 160 periodicals and 15 newspapers regularly.

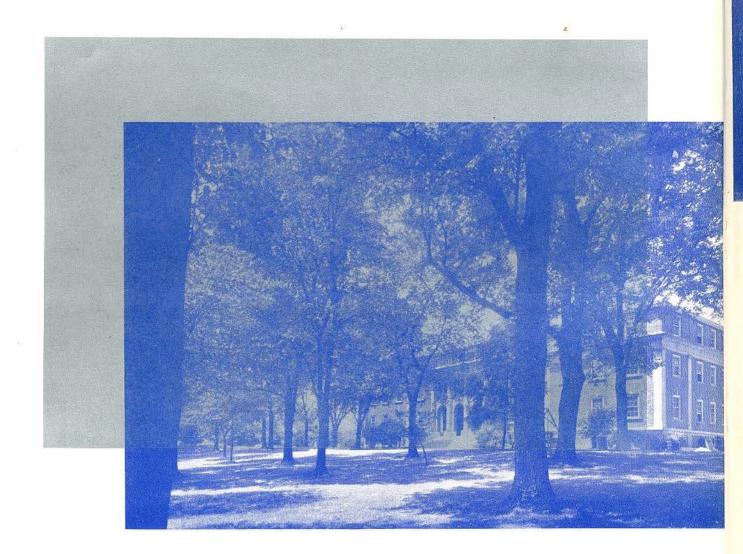

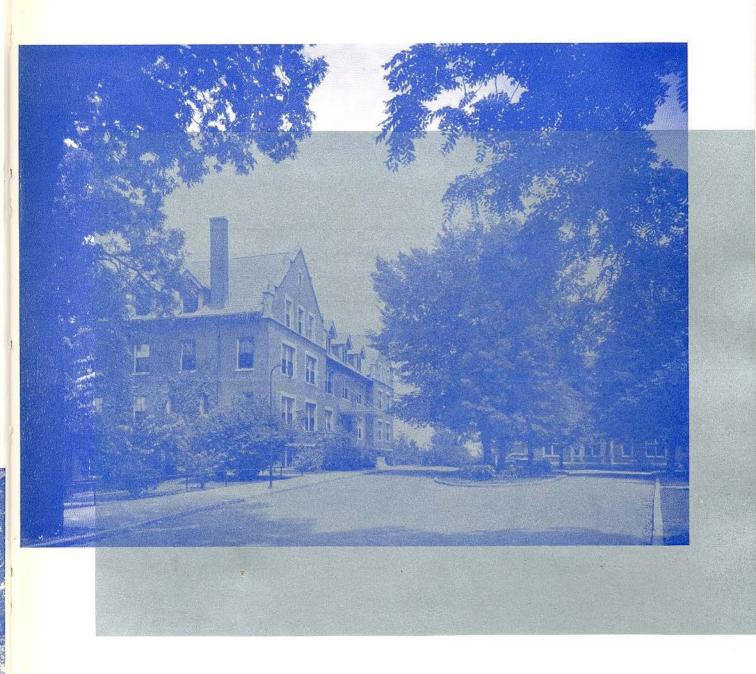

SIBLEY HALL

• Sibley Hall is the historic building of the campus, named in honor of the founders of the College, Major and Mrs. George C. Sibley.

NICCOLLS HALL

• Niccolls Hall was built in memory of the late Samuel Jack Niccolls, D. D., who for a generation was identified with Lindenwood College as president of the board of directors,

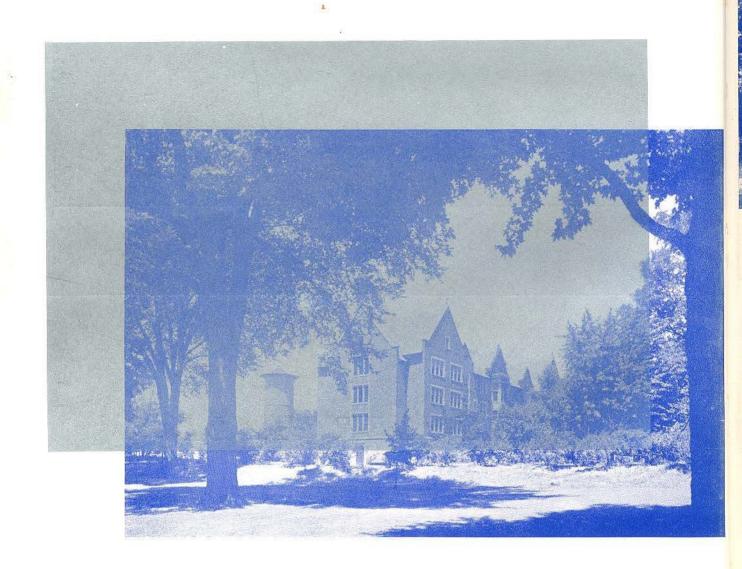

BUTLER HALL

• Butler Hall is named after the donor, Colonel James Gay Butler. The college gymnasium and swimming pool are located in this hall.

IRWIN HALL

• Irwin Hall is named in honor of Dr. Robert Irwin. This hall, as well as Roemer Hall, the Library, Butler Hall, and Niccolls Hall, has been erected since Dr. Roemer came to Lindenwood.

AYRES HALL

• Ayres Hall was named in honor of Dr. George Frederick Ayres under whose direction it was built during his administration as President of the College.

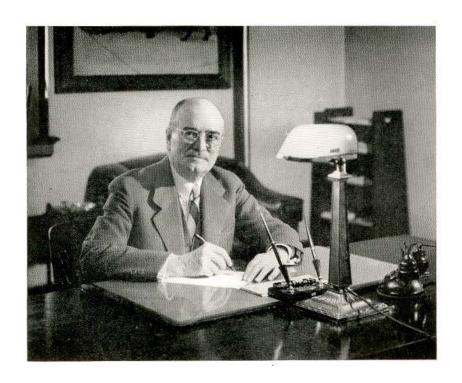

1 LOUTINE

Careful there, Mr. Motley. Don't let anything slip—you might hit someone. We certainly enjoy the picnics you plan for us at the Country Club. Let's have more of them . . . Miss Florence Jackson from the East was our Dean of Residence until Christmas. We were sorry to see her leave then . . . My, my, it seems that perhaps Dr. Garnett and Dr. Betz might be going into a dance. Whatever it is we're sure it must be mighty interesting . . . Why so serious, Miss Bailey? Just drown your troubles in a coke at the tea house. That is what the rest of us do . . . Miss Reichert certainly seems to be enjoying the boat trip on the Mississippi. What do you think? . . . Surprised? You didn't think we got this shot did you, Miss Morris? . . . The Dean always has a good time along with the rest of us. She is really enjoying the picnic, too . . . Miss Waye, who cashes our checks, and Miss Walker, who teaches voice, seem a wee bit amused. We wonder why.

Dr. John L. Roemer

President of Lindenwood College

Every issue of Linden Leaves is different from every other issue. The 1939 Linden Leaves celebrates the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the present administration. Mrs. Roemer and I looked forward to this anniversary of our coming to Lindenwood with a great deal of joy. Providence has changed our plan and although Mrs. Roemer will not be with us in person I know she will be here in spirit and we will celebrate the occasion in honor of her name as well as mine.

We are glad to acknowledge the fact that the staff responsible for this publication is making an effort to make this one of the best issues. I heartily appreciate the loyal support which the students of the college have given this year.

DR. ALICE E. GIPSON

Dean of Instruction

Greetings to all of the students and faculty on the occasion of the publishing of this silver anniversary year book, but special greetings to you, Dr. Roemer. I speak for all of the faculty in congratulating you on these twenty-five years of service to Lindenwood College and on the great material growth of the school during your administration. With material prosperity, facilities are offered for a high type of college work, and Lindenwood College rightly, I believe, claims to have a very forward looking curriculum and a most efficient faculty. That these are possible is due very largely to your careful management of the resources of the college. Again, we all join in congratulating you on your signal contribution to the advancement of Lindenwood.

ALICE E. GIPSON, Ph.D.

MARY M. GORDON A. B., B. L. I., M. A. Speech and Dramatics

Miss Aegerter is only at Lindenwood a few days a week, and we do not know her as well as we wish we might. She says that she enjoys good movies and good plays, but that she doesn't care for Barbara Stanwyck. I wonder if a lot of us won't agree with her.

KATHLEEN SCOTT A. B., M. E. Speech and Dramatics

Miss Gordon has an unusual talent and interest in modern dancing which she practices faithfully. Also, as we would suspect, she is interested in plays. We wish we had the opportunity to take those trips to New York to see the latest plays.

ARLINE AEGERTER
Speech and Dramatics

Miss Scott claims her favorite hobby is resting, but we know she is also interested in ballet and the Little Theater Movement. Before coming to Lindenwood she spent two years training the Hollywood hopefuls for the screen.

THE DEPARTMENTS OF SPEECH AND ART

LILLIAN RASMUSSEN
Art

Dr. Linnemann has been at Lindenwood for quite some time, and we always go to her for information about what the girls used to do. However, her main joy now is Kappa Pi, from which comes her intense fondness for purple and yellow irises.

Miss Rasmussen formerly attended Lindenwood, and we are glad to have her back as an instructor. In her spare time she sketches, as we might have suspected. She also has a great interest in the Madonna and Child pictures.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Mr. Thomas, who is the head of the Music Department, has many favorite pastimes. Did you know he liked baseball, good movies, and driving in the country?

Mr. Friess comes out to Lindenwood from St. Louis three times a week. Why don't you get him to tell you about his trip to England last summer? He really had fun.

Miss Englehart's hobby is collecting old silver. She also wants to buy a Steinway and practice all summer. "More power to you," we say.

Mrs. Burkitt has photography and making scrapbooks for her hobbies. She also spends much time outside of school playing golf and dancing.

Reading and traveling are the favorite pastimes of Miss Gieselman. She thinks it would be grand to go to California this summer. Don't we all?

Miss Isidor says she likes good movies and bridge. She's as yet undecided as to what she is going to do this summer, but we know it will be fun.

Miss Walker, who usually spends her summers in New York, will certainly have a grand opportunity to see this year's World's Fair. That's luck.

THE DEPARTMENT

Dr. Gipson is the Head of the English Department and also the Academic Dean on our campus. Her hobbies are reading and travel. We wonder if you know that she has written a novel, Silence, and that she has a very wonderful collection of rare manuscripts.

Dr. Gregg says, "Two hobbies are enough for any woman." Her pastimes are cooking and doing history research which really fill up her spare time. She has written a book, Westward With the Dragoons, and this year has compiled the material for the historical pageant to be given in June.

KATE L. GREGG A. B., Ph. D. English

SIEGMUND A. E. BETZ A. B., M. A., Ph. D. English

Whether improvising on the piano, absorbing an extra-super mystery story, or riding a horse, it's all the same to Dr. Betz, for all three are his idea of a good way to amuse yourself in your spare time. How is Annabelle these days, Dr. Betz, especially since summer is coming along?

Reading all the novels by modern authors, especially those concerning social problems, claims most of Miss Dawson's spare time. The theater also holds much interest for her, and she is very much concerned with the Poetry Society on our campus. Her proudest statement is, "I don't have a radio."

ELIZABETH DAWSON A. B., M. A. English

ALICE PARKER
A. B., M. A.
English

Behind the wheel of her own car touring the country is Miss Parker's idea of a really good time. For variety in her free moments she rides horses and declares it's a lot of fun. Miss Parker has been away on a leave of absence, but we're happy to have her back with us again this year.

OF LANGUAGE

MARY TERHUNE A. B., M. A., D. M. L. Modern Languages

Dr. Terhune has more pep than a lot of us put together. As outside interests she finds traveling (she's been abroad several times), the theater, and good music very fascinating.

We find Dr. Evers one of the most cultured members of our faculty. Besides her interest in music and German, she gets much pleasure from her flowers and her garden.

Helene M. Evers A. B., M. A., Ph. D. Modern Languages

Miss Dunaway came to us during the first semester. When asked what her hobby was, she said that she was more interested in reading than in most anything else. She is another member of our faculty who has studied abroad, and we're proud of her.

MARGARET DUNAWAY A. B., M. A. French

Anna Wurster B. S., M. S. French

We know Miss Wurster is from Indiana, for she is the sponsor of the Indiana Club and is always seeing to it that the girls from this state have a good time. She is also known for the teas that she gives for her students and advisees.

KATHRYN HANKINS A. B., B. S., M. A. Classical Languages

Above everything else, Miss Hankins is chiefly interested in her class room and her students. And entertaining her students with teas is a source of great pleasure to her.

Besides being religious editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Mrs. Underwood finds time to play with her four Persian cats and to take care of her fruit farm.

Julia C. Underwood Ph. B. Journalism

MARY E. LEAR A. B., B. S., M. A. Chemistry

Lois Karr A. B., M. A. Mathematics and Physics

MARY TALBOT B. S., M. A., Ph. D. Biology

Marion L. Dawson A. B., M. S., Ph. D. Biology

Miss Lear, who lives in northern Missouri, likes to farm and to travel. Often in the summer she does research work at the University of Missouri. To those who know her well her patience is her outstanding attribute.

Miss Bailey's outside interests include horseback riding and collecting poetry. She also is a wonderful housekeeper, and we've heard there is nothing more she would rather do than to cook.

Miss Karr is chiefly interested in bird study, hiking, and collecting musical instruments. Among her collection are a bulletnicked trumpet from the Civil War, a lute, and a flute 150 years old.

Miss Allyn is so busy with her work and her girls that she finds very little time for a hobby. However, she tells us that she is very much interested in art, music, and stamp collections.

Dr. Talbot's hobbies are hiking, reading poetry, horseback riding, and collecting animals, especially ants. During her summers she had done quite a bit of research on the ants in northern Ohio.

Miss McKee, who came to us just after Christmas, says that her only outside interest is the theatre. Being near St. Louis offers her the opportunity to see all the plays that are produced.

The greenhouse back of Sibley, Dr. Dawson's pride and joy, takes up quite a bit of her spare time. She also teaches nature study in a summer camp for under-privileged girls.

FLORENCE W. SCHAPER B. S., M. A., Ph. D. Sociology and Economics

Dr. Schaper after doing graduate work at New York University taught in Edinboro Teacher's College, Erie, Pa., and Central Missouri Teacher's College, Warrensburg, Mo. before coming to Lindenwood. Her hobbies are reading the daily newspaper and walking.

Dr. Garnett besides being interested in Education is a great sport enthusiast. He likes baseball and always plays on the faculty team at our picnics; he likes football; but we've found out that his favorite sport is (you'd never guess it) fishing.

RAY L. GARNETT B. S., M. A., Ph. D. Education and Ethics

WILMA J. PUGH A. B., M. A., Ph. D. History and Geography

After graduate study at Cornell University and in the National Archives of Paris, Dr. Pugh taught at MacMurray College and Stephens College. Her particular interests during leisure hours lie in walking and horseback riding.

Miss Morris has trained social service workers in the East and has worked in Chicago settlements before coming to Lindenwood. As hobbies she chooses painting and music. She does water colors herself, and her favorite instruments are the piano and flute.

RACHEL MORRIS

Sociology and Psychology

LLOVD B. HARMON A. B., B. D., Ph. D. Bible and Philosophy

Before coming to Lindenwood, Dr. Harmon taught in South Dakota and Iowa. He is a very busy man, and besides teaching at L. C. and being pastor of the Jefferson Street Presbyterian Church, he finds time to pursue his favorite pastime of photography.

It is noteworthy that we have a writer in our midst. Dr. Benson has written Women in Eighteenth Century America which we have in our library. She says her main interest is enjoying her work, and we are quite sure that she really does.

SCIENCES AND MATHEMATICS

Margaret M. Stookey B. S. Physical Education

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Miss Stookey, the head of the P. E. Department, has traveled quite extensively, especially in Europe and Mexico. On her most recent trip to Mexico she added to her well-known doll collection, and also brought back other interesting souvenirs. She has written several articles for leading dance and physical education magazines.

Miss Reichert, also of the P. E. Department, is our sponsor on all our ice-skating parties at the Winter Garden, carries on bowling activities, accompanies us to Sports Day at M. U. and many other things. We always like to have her with us, for she's a lot of fun and a grand sport.

RUTH E. ANDERSON B. S., M. A. Home Economics

Miss Anderson is all wrapped up in her work. She likes to sew, cook, and taste unusual types of food. On a vacation trip through thirteen southern states last summer she discovered many different and interesting dishes. Christmas and spring vacations mean time to take a trip home, just a hundred miles from Chicago.

Miss Tucker travels too, and last summer spent much time in Northern Europe where she began a collection of different types of pottery and dolls. One of her most interesting hobbies is to help friends decorate their new homes. She also is kept busy clipping and filing material on fashions both historic and modern.

HOME ECONOMICS

MILDRED KOHLSTEDT A. B., M. A. Library Science

THE LIBRARY

Too much of Miss Kohlstedt's time is taken up in helping the girls in the library for her to have any hobbies, and we do know that she helps us willingly. Every year she also takes time to teach a class in Library Science.

Hortense Eggmann A. B. Assistant Librarian

Another who spends much time in seeing that we find what we need in the library is Miss Eggmann. She says she has no special hobby, but we've often seen her carrying a tennis racket and looking pleased.

EVA SAYRE R. N. Head of the Infirmary

THE INFIRMARY

Every morning just after breakfast we see Dr. Stumberg's Buick outside Sibley. He's here to "fix us up." In his extra time, he grows flowers "in as many different varieties and sizes" as possible.

B. Kurt Stumberg M. D. College Physician

"Nursie" says her only hobby is the "girls," but we've often seen her busy embroidering lovely linens and reading. She tries to keep us happy and healthy.

Dr. Canty who comes out every evening to check up on our ills has many hobbies. From them he chooses golf, bridge, ping-pong and touch football as his favorites. We wish we were as versatile.

E. J. Canty M. D. Assistant College Physician

Miss Edna Hough Irwin Hall

Miss Mottinger has a very interesting hobby of collecting Indian relics. Before coming to Lindenwood she presented her collection to her Martinsville, Missouri school. Now her interest is to add to this collection from time to time.

Mrs. Elizabeth LeMaster Sibley Hall

"Don't ask me what I like!" says Miss Hough. "I like every-everything—flowers, sewing, crocheting, and best of all talking to my girls." And besides all this, let's not forget that Miss Hough does most of the present buying for our Christmas party.

MISS ANNA L.
MOTTINGER
Ayres Hall

Not taking care of her gold-fish as one would suspect but doing fancywork is the interesting and practical hobby of Mrs. LeMaster. She has crocheted five luncheon sets and made several needlepoint articles which she will show you if you wish to see them.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbell Butler Hall

HOUSE REGENTS

Mrs. Hal. C. Gardner Niccolls Hall

Classical music is Mrs. Hubbell's chief interest. She not only enjoys listening to classical music but she also plays it as well. She is adept at German and more than once has given helpful hints to struggling German students.

Mrs. Gardner's old love is music, and she still finds time to knit. However, her 127 "interests" in Niccolls Hall occupy most of her time at present. Knowing most of the freshmen as we do, we can understand just how busy she is kept.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS

Each year the house regent of each hall chooses from among her girls one to help her with her duties. We know these girls as our house presidents. This year these five girls are from various parts of the country and are representative of the type of girl who comes to Lindenwood. Elizabeth Field, a sophomore, is from Indiana; Mary Jane Brittin, a senior, is from Illinois; Frances Brandenburg, a junior, is from Kentucky; Jean McFarland, a senior, is from Texas; and Mary Mangold, a junior, is from Iowa. These girls also serve on our Student Governing Board.

Mr. Motley is the friend of every Lindenwood girl and plans many good times for us. He is also interested in the community of St. Charles, assists in the Red Cross drive, and is active in politics. Among distinguished guests he brought us was Speaker Bankhead of the House of Representatives.

Miss Ostner is new at Lindenwood this year. She completed her work at the University of Missouri this last summer. What spare time she has when she is not arranging courses and managing registration she likes to spend reading.

We have been very happy to have been the senior class during the Silver Jubilee for Dr. and Mrs. Roemer. This year truly has been a jubilant one, full of both social and academic activities.

In November, we started our activities with a formal dinner dance for the entire student body. After the dinner in Ayres Hall, we all went to the gym which was decorated in the manner of the ballet, "Carnival." The ceiling was hung with multi-colored crepe paper from which fell bunches of balloons. On the walls were many grotesque theatrical masks in deep greens, purples, reds, and blues. The whole effect was so heartily received that we repeated the same decorations for the date dance given in January.

On March 17, we entertained the faculty and administration in the library club rooms. Our theme was "Turn About is Fair Play," and we had fun asking the questions.

We have the honor of having the Silver Anniversary Queen, Jean McFarland, and the Popularity Queen, Sue Sonenday, from our class.

With last-minute things such as sneak day, class day, and the Prom at the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis, we come to the biggest yet saddest day of all—Commencement. However, all these things in which we have worked together so well—not only in this year but also in the first three years—will always be among the most cherished of all the memories of every senior in days to come.

Barbara's work at Lindenwood has been primarily in the field of art. She is one of the art editors on this year's Linden Leaves, besides being a member of Kappa Pi and Pi Alpha Delta, the art sororities. She is practice teaching art at the high school. She sings in the choir and is a member of the Poetry Society.

She is a quiet dignified girl who is seen around the gymnasium, as she is interested in athletics. She has been an active member of the Athletic Association during her entire four years. In her sophomore year she led all the hikes sponsored by this organization. This prepared her to be an excellent president in the following year.

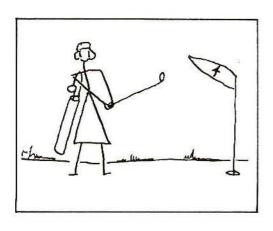

Mary is one of those unusual girls who does everything well; however, she excels in music. In her sophomore year she made a very worthy president of Alpha Mu Mu. She is a member of Delta Phi Delta, the St. Charles Club, Orchestra, and Mu Phi Epsilon being secretary of the latter in her senior year.

Jean came to Lindenwood from far Washington for her senior year. Her first three years of work toward her degree were done at Washington State College. The class of '39 is most fortunate in having Jean, as she has been a most loyal worker all year. One of Jean's individual traits is a quaint little-girlish giggle.

"Foltzy" as she is called by everyone has been with us only three years. When a junior she transferred to Indiana State College where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa Sorority. We were glad that she decided to return this year. She has been a member of the Commercial Club, the Indiana Club, and the Y. W. C. A.

It is as editor-in-chief of the Linden Leaves that Gwen has distinguished herself. Her other activities include membership in Beta Pi Theta, Sigma Tau Delta, the Y. W. C. Margaret is another of those musically-inclined girls. She is particularly interested in Public School Music. This year she is president of Sibley.

Jean began her brilliant career at Lindenwood as president of the freshman class; in her junior and senior years she was reelected. Ruth Ann's membership in the International Relations Club is proof of a wide-awake interest in national and international affairs that most of us would do well to have. Her conscientious industry promises success for her in her career as a teacher. She is a member of the Day Students' Club.

For three years "Sally" has been a prominent member of the Home Economics Club, serving as treasurer, vice-president, and president. She has been a member of Beta Pi Theta, the honorary French fraternity for three years, being its sentinel, one of these. In 1938 she was one of the junior attendants to the May Queen.

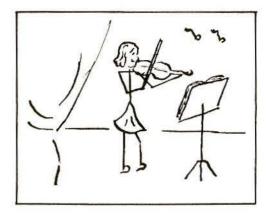

SARA MARGARET WILLIS

SUZANNE EBY HOWARD, KANSAS Major: Violin

Suzanne's chief interests lie in the field of music, and once you have heard her play the violin you will understand why. She has been vice-president of Alpha Mu Mu, secretary of Mu Phi Epsilon, treasurer and vice-president of the orchestra, and an active member of the Poetry Society during her four years at Lindenwood.

Jeannette is talented in speech and dramatics; during her sophomore year she received her certificate in speech. Since then she has concentrated her efforts in the field of English, although she has continued her work in dramatics by practice teaching in public speaking at the St. Charles High School.

JEANNETTE JACKSON WENTZVILLE, MISSOURI Major: English

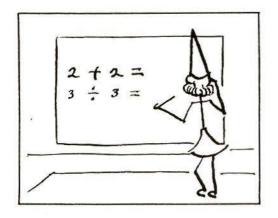

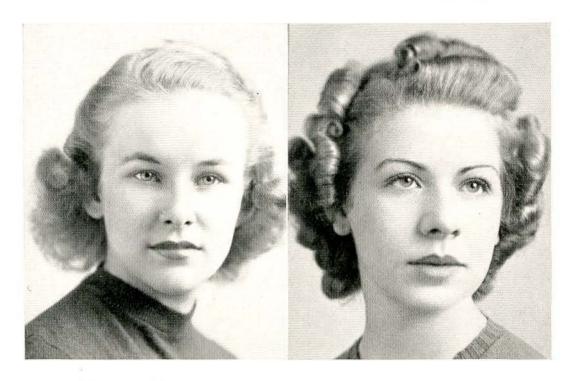

JOHNSIE M. FIOCK ST. CHARLES, MISSOURI Major: English

She is a real student and her grades are perfectly wonderful. Johnsie is a member of the Poetry Society, Sigma Tau Delta, Alpha Sigma Tau, and Beta Pi Theta. In her junior year she was president of the Poetry Society and Sigma Tau Delta; she has also acted in the capacity of treasurer of Beta Pi Theta and Alpha Sigma Tau.

We wish Mary Ann had decided to come to Lindenwood sooner. It was not until her junior year that she transferred from the Kirksville State Teachers College. Since she has been at Lindenwood, she has been an active member of the Triangle Club and has served in the capacity of president of this honorary organization.

MARY ANN RUTH FOWLER KIRKSVILLE, MISSOURI Major: Mathematics

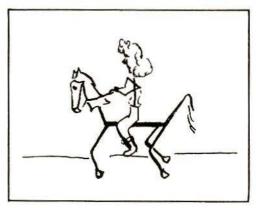

MARY E. ROBERTS

POCATELLO, IDAHO

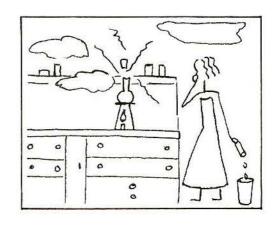

Majors: Clothing and Art

Mary is an attractive blonde who is an excellent horsewoman; she is president of Beta Chi, the riding fraternity. In her freshman year she was an attendant to the Hallowe'en Queen. She is also a member of the Home Economics Club, the Art Club, and has been a member of the Athletic Association.

Virginia has been a member of Beta Pi Theta, the honorary French fraternity, during her junior and senior years, acting as its sentinel. Her good work in the classical department has rewarded her by membership in Pi Alpha Delta, a club for those girls interested in classical languages and culture.

CHARLOTTE Y. WILLIAMS

Charlotte transferred to Lindenwood as a sophomore. Since then she has shown a great deal of talent in tap dancing. Naturally she is a member of Tau Sigma, the dance sorority. One of her other interests is the French language; she has been a member of Beta Pi Theta, the honorary French fraternity.

We were all most happy when she decided to return to L. C. after a semester at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts. She was sophomore attendant to the Linden Leaves Popularity Queen, has been secretary and vice-president of the Home Economics Club and an active member of Beta Pi Theta and the Poetry Society.

Majors: French and English

She has been president of Beta Pi Theta in both her junior and senior years. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau, Sigma Tau Delta, an organization in which she acts as vice-president, and El Circulo Espanol of which she is president. The past two years she has made a very excellent literary editor for the Linden Leaves.

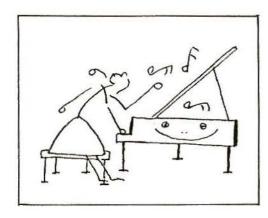

Although Marian has only rather recently shown an interest in dramatics, she has demonstrated a talent for acting which has resulted in her being vice-president and president of Alpha Psi Omega. She is a member of the Poetry Society and was humor editor of the Linden Leaves last year. She sings delightfully.

VIRGINIA MILLER SMITH
DENTON, TEXAS
Major: Public School Music

Virginia came to us from North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, where she was a member of the Music Club, the Mary Arden Club, Gammadion Society, Phoreff Sorority, and Pi Omega Pi. Lindenwood is very fortunate to have her, for she plays the piano with a skill that may well be envied.

Mrs. Rau is one of the Music Department's most outstanding students. She is a member of the three music sororities, Mu Phi Epsilon, Delta Phi Delta, and Alpha Mu Mu. To complete her participation in musical activities, she sings in the college choir and is pianist for the college orchestra.

RUTH REINERT RAU

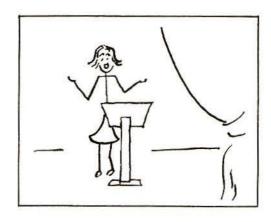

ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI
Major: Public School Music

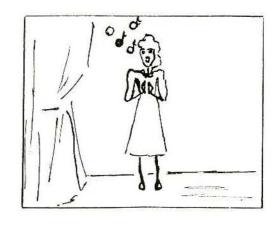

VIRGINIA ANN CARTER CARTHAGE, MISSOURI Major: Psychology

Virginia is one of the most important personalities on the Lindenwood campus, for she is our Student Board president. She has attained numerous honors. She is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, has been active in the League of Women Voters, Commercial Club, serving as vice-president, and junior attendant to the May Queen.

Although once a day student, Alice is now living on the campus in Sibley. Besides doing work on her A. B. she has been active in music. Her lovely voice has graced the choir, sextette, and recitals for four years. In her junior year she was the choir's president. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon of which she is the vice-president.

These juniors are the hardest class to get together—and when asked what activities they take part in, there's no answer. However, we've run a few shots of some of them . . . It must be Sunday after a date dance with Kern and Mangold blossoming out with corsages. Are we right? . . . Kay, one of our best riders (a blue ribbon in a St. Louis horse show is nothing to sneeze at) had to leave us the second semester . . . Going places, Kelly? Have fun! . . . Swing has really gone places this year, and Benner trucks on her way back to Sibley . . . Is it good? Umm. We wonder what Kay W. and Billie are waiting for down on the stone wall . . . Rosy is waiting—for Mr. Dapron to take her to the stables . . . A Saturday in the city shopping, seeing shows, and having a good time is what we all like. Beverly and Kay Craig seem to be doing all right, but where are the packages? . . . Jo and Peggy are just leaving the tea house. We certainly miss Jo since she got married.

This Silver Jubilee year has been a record breaking one for the juniors. We are especially proud of being the largest junior class for a number of years.

The activities of the year started on November 12 with a date dance given for the entire school. With black and silver we achieved a very modern atmosphere.

As a courtesy to our sister class, the juniors gave a formal tea for the freshmen on November 17.

Other activities included a dinner for the seniors with the presentation of a gift to each one in appreciation for all they have done. As a fitting climax to a very happy year, we enjoyed the Junior-Senior Prom at the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

We are sorry to think that next year will be our last in college. We're hoping however that it will be our best.

THIS AND THAT

Wonder how these damsels would look from the front. You might try looking on the other side of the page, but we bet it won't do any good . . . The fire drill seems to have ended in a mad scramble. Don't forget to shut your windows and doors, grab a towel, and hurry to the nearest fire escape . . . Four freshmen are taking it easy in the spring in a swing under a linden tree. That's the way we'd like to spend most of our time . . . Jack, we'll miss your good hamburgers, malts, and chile this summer. However, we've still a few more days before school is out, and we'll be over to get away from the dining room routine . . . Going up! What a bird's eye view we could get of the campus and all of St. Charles from the top of this neat job behind Sibley. There are over 140 steps up, girls . . . The "drawing room" in Sibley makes the annual. Look sweet, Vance and Duff, in a studious way . . . Time out for "the pause that refreshes" and a slight bit of bulling before going home to change shirts and don hose for dinner

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

This year, as last year, the class of 1941 has a council to help govern its class. The sophomore class is so large that they felt they needed more than just class officers to formulate the policies which they wished to follow.

Class officers were elected, and representatives were chosen from each Hall in proportion to the number of sophomore girls in that particular Hall. One representative was also chosen from among those sophomore girls who are day students. This makes up a council of fifteen members. In this way they reach every sophomore girl, and everyone feels that she is a vital part of her class organization.

The sophomore class has surpassed its program of student activities over last year's attempt due to the enthusiastic support and cooperation of all its members. With the council and the three class officers acting as a governing body the girls of 1941 were soon energetically planning many interesting activities for the year.

The first social affair was a lovely harvest tea on November 3 honoring the faculty and the seniors. Surprise corsages of small chrysanthemums were presented to the honor guests.

Refreshed by Christmas vacation and ready to continue their serious work, they planned a Carnival party. They had everything—a side show, a picture gallery of the "high-ups," a fish pond, fortune tellers, the inevitable popcorn and soda pop along with many other amusing features. This party was on January 20.

To celebrate the passing of exams they were hostess at an all college date dance on February 18, where they carried out the patriotic theme.

In May the class was honored to sponsor an all college dinner dance that celebrated Dr. Roemer's birthday as well as the opening of the Silver Jubilee Anniversary. This gala affair will always be remembered by those attending Lindenwood this year.

To climax the year the sophomores had their first prom on May 20—an event that will never be forgotten by the class.

FRESHMAN COUNCIL

The council organized by the freshmen this year was patterned after the first council of this kind organized last year by the class of 1941. This idea of choosing representatives from the various Halls according to the number of freshmen in that Hall worked so well in bringing such a large class together that the plan was continued this year.

The council was chosen first. Then these girls worked out election plans, and the officers were elected later on after the freshmen had learned to know the members of their class and had become adjusted to college life. The council now supplements the work of the four class officers.

FRESHMEN OFFICERS

The freshmen were not to be outdone this Silver Jubilee year! Socially and scholastically they had many very enjoyable experiences together. Founder's Day, one of the biggest events of every school year, served as an excellent opportunity for the freshmen to realize the historical significance and the ideals of Lindenwood College, as they were presented by Mrs. Houghton, the mother of one of their classmates. From the enthusiastic response to Dr. Roemer's request for their class song to be sung that gala day to the crowning of one of their class members as Hallowe'en Queen that night, the freshmen proved their true Lindenwood spirit.

The first activity of the Class of 1942 all together was a barbecue held on November nineteenth at Blanchette Park. The girls were taken out in several large buses, and after a few minutes spent in dancing, card playing, and getting acquainted, they enjoyed a typical barbecue lunch.

On the ninth of December an informal Christmas tea was held in the library clubrooms in honor of their sister class, the Juniors. Dean Gipson, Dean Jackson, Dr. Gregg and Miss Tucker poured tea and the freshman council served.

A dinner-dance for the entire student body was held on the tenth of February, carrying out the Valentine scheme in the decorations. During the dinner, the college orchestra furnished music. A special feature of the dance was a clever Valentine ballet presented by nine girls of the freshman class. The class also gave an all college date dance on March the eighteenth. And as a suitable climax to the social life of the freshmen was the freshman prom held in Butler gymnasium in May.

With the exception of Kay and Marge, every other freshman on this page seems loathe to smile or move. Haven't the freshmen any more pep? We couldn't find it . . . These beautiful roommates are obviously on their way to visit one of the world's most helpful persons, (especially to L. C. girls) the "laundry lady" . . . (Miss) Locke looks wistfully out over the campus. We know that you are not a slot machine, but a penny for your thoughts anyway . . . Two Army sweethearts, Celeste and "the fair Elaine", hungrily devour news from West Point and a very serious letter . . . Irwin nifties smile sweetly into the camera, but the Butler belles appear quite nonchalant about the "watch the birdie" gag . . . More Irwin freshmen on the lawn between classes . . . Three Niccollites. We regret reporting that the middle one migrated North earlier in the year.

WHO'S WHO AT LINDENWOOD

Lindenwood for the past three years has been honored by having five representatives in the recently initiated publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." Students are nominated on the essential qualities of character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and possibility of future usefulness to business and society.

LELAXATION

CLASSES ARE OVER!

It is always a pleasure to go to a tea in the library club rooms where there is always a friendly atmosphere. This is the tea given by the freshmen for their sister class, the juniors . . . Just a rest period, chums? That is no way to lose that extra poundage before spring vacation . . . On a bicycle built for two? Remember the St. Charles hills are hard to climb after you get to the bottom . . . Brandy, why so happy? Just the right mood for a coke and a bull session at the tea room after classes. Ted seems to have pleasant thoughts, too. Sorry she's not with us now . . . Going abroad or just away for the week-end, and just who is leaving? McFarland, why the violin? We didn't know that we had a virtuoso in our midst . . . Eureka!! Classes are over for another day. What to do now—go to the tea room, go to St. Charles, write the o. and o., or catch up on some much needed sleep?

LINDEN LEAVES STAFF

GWEN PAYNE Editor-in-chief

"It's been a swell experience working on this Silver Jubilee Linden Leaves! And for me there have been only a few sleepless nights when I've tried to figure out how to get everything done—the picture-taking, organizing material, drawing-up layouts, and getting copy to the engraver and printer on time. None of this could have been accomplished if it had not been for the excellent advice of Dr. Gipson and the faculty advisors, Dr. Linnemann, Mrs. Underwood, Miss Dawson, and Miss Bailey, and the cooperation of the entire staff. You've helped to make this 1939 Linden Leaves a success!"

-GWEN PAYNE

"It was a good fight, and if we seemed a bit punch-drunk at times, please overlook it. Regardless of technical decision, we hope the book is a knockout to you. A good clean battle, it brought in the largest gate in its history. Thanks for being such a swell audience."

—Sue Sonnenday

"It is a pleasure to work on the staff when the results are so gratifying. We have sold more annuals this year than ever before in the history of the Linden Leaves. Since we encouraged you to buy, we hope you will be pleased with this year's efforts, the Silver Jubilee book."

Anne Beard and Marion Hutchison helped Sue with the advertising. They've done a grand job. . . . Alice Belding, the organization editor, collected information on the activities of the various clubs on the campus and wrote copy for their pages. The assistant organization editors from each class were: Seniors, Maurine Potlitzer; juniors, Marion Stumberg, Marguerite Dearmont, and Kay Wagner; sophomores, June Jordan, Jesse Benson, Mary Elizabeth Shannon, ViElla Smerling, and Arlene Bennett; freshmen, Ardella Bullard, Bernice Milburn, Rosemary Walton, Grace Quebbeman, Betty Forsyth, Marjorie Smith, Roberta Olson, Betty Jayne Bass, and Phyllis Carpenter. Just ask these girls the experiences they had interviewing the members of the faculty and administration about their hobbies and other interests outside of their school work. . . . Rosemary Williams and Helen DuHadway, the literary editors, wrote most of the copy in the opening section, the senior biographies, and selected the literary supplement. Barbara Johnston, Betty Parrish, and Jeanette Lee, the art editors, were responsible for the clever sketches beside each senior's picture. Don't you like them? Sarah Phillips was busy from September to February trying to get snapshots of everyone and everything. Joyce Davis gave us the humor. . . . All in all, we've been pretty busy, don't you think?

The highlights of campus activities are expressed in this bi-weekly newspaper, having a staff of seven journalists. News of the various departments in the college, the talk of the campus, fashions, literary supplements, society, and editorials all go together to make it the best "big little newspaper."

Around eleven o'clock, every other Tuesday, girls emerge from the post office reading the Linden Bark, anxious to see if they have rated the campus newspaper. Under the guidance of Mrs. Julia C. Underwood, religious editor of the Globe-Democrat, the campus paper has progressed and improved.

Seated: Wagner, Carter, Williams
Standing: Field, Brandenburg, Mangold, Brittin, Donnell, McFarland

This governing body consists of a president, vice-president, and a secretary selected from the entire student body. Also acting on the board are the president of the Y. W. C. A. and the presidents of all the halls: Sibley, Niccolls, Ayres, Butler, and Irwin. Kay Lovitt, not in the picture, was president of Ayres the second semester.

The Student Board has endeavored to maintain the ideals and standards which Dr. Roemer and Mother Roemer spent so many years of their lives in setting up. We wish to thank Dr. Roemer, Dean Gipson, the administration, the faculty, the house regents and the students for their splendid co-operation throughout this Silver Jubilee Year.

All Lindenwood girls are members of the Y. W. C. A. campus organization. At the weekly meetings, the organization had a diversity of programs including lectures, book reviews, and current event discussions in which both faculty and students participated. They collected Thanksgiving and Christmas offerings and during December dressed dolls to be used at Markham Memorial. The first semester the Y. W. sponsored a Bonfire Meeting, a Big Sister Party to welcome the freshmen, and an International Exhibit. The Y. W. also gave the Hallowe'en Party at which the Freshman Hallowe'en Queen was crowned. During the second semester the Y. W. C. A. sponsored a series of panel discussions on The Application of Religion to Problems in Our Daily Life.

Alpha Sigma Tau, founded in 1922, is the honor society of the College of Arts and Sciences. In order to become a member, a student must have completed fourteen literary hours for three consecutive semesters and have made an average of S or above in all her other courses. Thus membership is determined by grades and by faculty approval.

One of the highlights of its activities this year was the sponsoring of Dr. William Lyon Phelps. Also, Alpha Sigma Tau co-sponsored with Mu Phi Epsilon in giving the Christmas Party at which the Popularity Queen was crowned. A tea for the faculty was given, and during the Jubilee celebration a reception was held for all the former members.

Sigma Tau Delta, the professional national English fraternity, honors with membership students who are outstanding for proficiency and interest in literature and in creative writing. Members write short stories, essays, and poems throughout the year to be sent for possible publication in The Rectangle, national Sigma Tau Delta journal.

Candidates for membership must maintain a high academic standard in all work, but especially in English courses. An outstanding activity of Sigma Tau Delta is the sponsoring of teas for junior and senior English majors and minors, and also for sophomores and freshmen doing superior work in English. Each year the chapter conducts a literary contest for freshmen, awarding gold, silver, and bronze medals for the best entries.

The Lindenwood College Poetry Society has for its aim the development of a fuller appreciation of and a greater ability in the writing of poetry. Student poems have been printed in College Verse, the magazine of the national organization. Miss Dawson is an associate editor of this national publication.

At the meetings original poems of members are read and criticized. Reports are also given concerning the life and works of some contemporary poets. This society sponsored a poetry contest opened to the entire school in which the author of the best contribution was given free national and local membership.

The purpose of Beta Pi Theta, the national honorary French fraternity, is to maintain an interest in literary French. This organization is open to members of the three upper classes who have a grade of S or above in French. Other requirements are a 500 word French theme, a report on a French novel, play, and short story, and the memorization of fifty lines of French poetry and La Marseillaise.

At their meetings they have discussed French writers and actors, and have given French plays. This year again, they are giving a medal to the most outstanding French student in the freshman class.

ANDERSON

El Circulo Espanol is the organization on the campus for students interested in Spanish. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in the life and culture of Spanish-speaking countries and to honor those students who have a grade of S or above in Spanish and an M in all their other subjects.

At one of the year's interesting meetings, Miss Stookey and Dr. Terhune, who have been in Mexico recently, spoke on Mexican life and customs, illustrating their talk with articles brought back from this fascinating country. The club also gave a tea in March for all girls who are studying Spanish at Lindenwood.

Sprechen Sie Deutsch? If so, and if you have S in German and not below M in other courses you are eligible for Der Deutsche Verein, the college organization for students interested in German. Some of their activities include talks on German customs, a Goethe meeting, and, of course, always German songs.

The jolliest meeting is a German Christmas Party at which time new members are taken into the organization. Favorite Deutsche Kuchen are served at this meeting. In the spring, Der Deutsche Verein has a picnic at which time new officers for the coming year are elected.

PI ALPHA DELTA

Pi Alpha Delta maintains two kinds of membership: full membership is for those students who achieve superior standing in the study of Latin; associate membership is open to students who attain sufficient standing in English Classical courses. The primary object of the club is to bring together for a social hour students who are interested in the Classics. The first semester the club entertained, at open meetings, all students who had had four years of Latin in high school, and the Greek Civilization class. The second semester the club gave a formal tea at which each member entertained three of her friends. Kappa Pi, the national honorary art fraternity, is open to all art students who meet special requirements. They sponsored a sale of original Christmas cards, designed and made by students of the Art Department for the benefit of the Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund and as a 1938 Christmas offering donated $68 to this fund.

The members decorate the Sibley graves on Founders Day, Christmas and Decoration Day. Their activities included a Spring Party given in the college club rooms in honor of Dr. John L. Roemer on April 1, and their annual spring jaunt on April 24, with dinner in St. Louis and the opera, Faust.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

DAVIS, HORSWELL, BENECKE, BAKER, JEFFERSON, DONDANVILLE, HULL

Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatic fraternity, requires of its members marked ability in dramatics, participation in major college productions, and a genuine interest in the theatre. The latest productions which the fraternity sponsored were "Petticoat Fever" and "Arms and the Man," which were well received.

Aside from its primary activities, sponsoring the Christmas and Commencement plays, it engages in various social events. Alpha Psi Omega has had several dinner parties, some of them having been at the Hollywood in St. Charles and others at Wentzville and the tea room. They also enjoyed a picnic at Marquette State Park.

The Missouri Delta Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, Social Science fraternity, attempts to foster a greater interest in social sciences on the campus and to study social problems as they appear today. At one of the monthly meetings, a faculty member discussed the national meeting of the American Historical Association.

This year, the organization gave a St. Patrick's Tea, inviting all majors and minors in the department of social science. To the student, not a member of the organization, who achieves the most outstanding work in the field of social sciences during the year, Pi Gamma Mu awards a special medal which is given at Commencement.

TRIANGLE CLUB

LAUVETZ, PAYNE, KINCAID, FOWLER, DALTON, KEVES, FAUCETT, TRUMAN

Chemistry, mathematics, and the biological sciences are fascinating subjects to many girls at Lindenwood. Those who have an average of S in three semesters' work in one of the above sciences and an M in other subjects may further their scientific interest by becoming members of the Triangle Club.

This year, many interesting meetings have been planned. One in which we all were very interested concerned new books on invertebrate zoology, bacteriology, gardening, stars, and mathematics. On March 29 a dinner party was given at the home of Miss Lear for the entire organization.

The International Relations Club promotes an interest in international affairs and current problems. It is a branch of the national organization sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. The club is open to all students on the campus. This year the programs have been quite varied.

The League is a member of the State League of Women Voters whose purpose is to create a greater efficiency in government and an appreciation of the need of intelligent citizens. This club is also open to the entire student body. This year delegates were sent to the state convention at Stephens.

Those students who are concerned with business matters find a common interest in the Commercial Club, to which all members of the Commercial Department are eligible. A bulletin board in the department and special research by the members keep the organization informed of new happenings in the business world.

The social activities of the club this year included a formal tea given for the students of business and those of the administration connected with the commercial activities, as well as a theater party in St. Louis. At other meetings they discuss the qualifications of a good business woman and things that make her more efficient.

Phi Theta is the local chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority, open to outstanding junior and senior music students. During the year this organization was very active. The combined business and social meetings were held each month at some of the members' homes in St. Charles and St. Louis.

One of the most elaborate parties was the "Off-Keysi Night Club" party, which was given in honor of its patrons and the new members taken in first semester. Mu Phi cooperated with the other music sororities in giving various musical teas this year. Phi Theta chapter entertained the St. Louis chapter in April.

Alpha Mu Mu is the honorary fraternity for undergraduate music students. They have taken part in many of the Tuesday afternoon and Thursday morning music recitals. The meetings of this organization are used for discussions concerning the general phases of music and the composers, appreciation of their work and performance.

Alpha Mu Mu cooperated with Mu Phi Epsilon and Delta Phi Delta, other music societies, in giving a formal tea for all students in the music department and for the entire faculty. In the second semester, Alpha Mu Mu assisted at a Valentine Tea, given for the student body and faculty. These musical girls climaxed their activities with a picnic.

Those girls who have music problems, or who plan to teach music, find opportunities to discuss these problems at meetings of the Delta Phi Delta, the honorary organization for members of the public school music department. This year they planned to buy records to use in practice teaching. Their activities for this year included a picnic for all members and freshmen public school majors held each semester. Delta Phi Delta joined with Mu Phi Epsilon and Alpha Mu Mu in giving a tea for music majors and faculty, October 13. On February 12, a Valentine tea for the entire school was given.

The Lindenwood College Choir, consisting of fifty-five members, has as its purpose the development and appreciation of group singing. Sunday evening vesper services are made more beautiful through the lovely anthems that this group sings. The group also has various opportunities during the year to sing in St. Louis.

The Choir, under the direction of Miss Gieselman, presented a special concert at Founder's Day, and with the orchestra gave a lovely Christmas contata. After the concert, the Choir led the way to the large outdoor Christmas Tree where they sang carols. They also presented an Easter program.

Do you play a violin, flute, 'cello, clarinet, cornet, piano, or the timpani? If so, you are eligible for membership in the college orchestra. These girls meet twice a week to further their training in orchestral work. This group not only presents concerts in a very professional manner, but also plays for various school events.

The orchestra cooperated with the college choir in presenting the Christmas concert. In February, a program was presented, and the orchestra also accompanied several soloists. This concert was one of the best of the year. The orchestra will furnish the music for the Silver Anniversary Pageant to be given in June.

The Home Economics Club of Lindenwood College is affiliated with the National Home Economics Association. Active membership is based upon the requirement of nine hours of S in the clothing and foods departments as well as high scholastic standing. The organization also has a large number of associate members.

The activities of the organization this year included a tea for prospective members in the fall of the school year, an annual Christmas party at which prizes were given for the most uniquely wrapped Christmas packages, a luncheon in St. Louis in the spring, a fashion show in April, and a club picnic.

WEIGHING IN FOR HEALTH

Loss or gain?

Dr. Jesse F. Williams of Columbia University said, "Physical Education should aim to provide skilled leadership and adequate facilities that will afford an opportunity for the individual or group to act in situations that are physically wholesome, mentally stimulating and satisfying, and socially sound." This is what athletics at Lindenwood offers to its students. With opportunities to play golf on our six hole course, to play tennis on our asphalt courts in the fall and spring and at the battleboard all winter, to play basketball, baseball, hockey, badminton, table tennis, volley ball, and shuffleboard, to go horseback riding, to take archery, and to study ballet, tap, social and modern dancing-no wonder every girl at Lindenwood acquires a skill and interest in such activities that she carries them over into her recreational life after she leaves college.

All freshmen and sophomores are required to take at least two hours of Physical Education, for which they will receive one semester hour of college credit. There is some grumbling when gym classes are mentioned, but on the whole everyone really has a good time. It's all a lot of fun, and we're proud that we can offer such a varied program to our students.

AT LINDENWOOD

A bull's-eye!

Hold it!

The Lindenwood Athletic Association is one of the largest organizations on the campus. Membership is based on a system of points earned in golf, tennis, archery, swimming, hiking, riding, basketball, posture, and dancing. During the winter a basketball tournament was held as well as several ice skating parties, the latter held in St. Louis.

On January sixth the association sponsored a barn dance for the entire school to which the girls came dressed in overalls and gingham dresses. The members who excelled in the sport tournaments went to Columbia, Missouri in April to participate in the annual Sports Day held at the University of Missouri.

WINTER WONDERLAND

Our Texas "magnolia blossoms" were certain that this was what Whittier meant by his "Snow-bound". The fiery Raquel Canino had never seen the Great White Way before, as she lives in Puerto Rico... The Gables looks like a charming Alpine chalet... Black and Hanna were trying so hard not to look cold. Did they succeed?... The Christmas tree was a beautiful addition to the advent of our successful holiday season. It was lighted after the Christmas service when the choir sang its lovely cantata... Nursie, just look at Billie without her coat. Fie!... Guess what the picture at the lower left is, and no help from the audience, please. Let's be fair about this thing ... Zoom! and you're at the foot of the golf course hill before you can say Grace C. Quebbeman. It's all quite futile, because you just have to turn around and trudge back up.

AFTER DUSK

This is one way of spending the evening—at least five nights a week. Better get to work, Sarah and Mary Catherine, before the lights go out and catch you unawares . . . Bet he would hurry if he knew what was waiting for him in this quaint dress (hoops were in this winter, you know). Smile pretty, Laura Nell . . . What's wrong with this picture? All we need are the bloodhounds for Little Eva McCoid . . . Off for the annual Hallowe'en party. What can be more fun than being a little bunny? Right, Elaine? . . . Belden sitting before the fire in a blue and pensive mood. We wonder how far East her thoughts go . . . Good-night, little lady. Dream sweet dreams . . . Hattie, you must not keep him waiting. You both look de-lovely and ready to capture hearts.

KAY ABERNATHY

Hallowe'en Queen

• Each year the freshman class chooses fifteen of its loveliest members to be candidates for Hallowe'en Queen. These girls give a style show displaying the latest in informal and formal dress for Fall, after which each girl in the student body votes for the one she thinks should be queen. The winner is crowned at a Hallowe'en Dance sponsored by the Y. W. This year the lucky girl was Kay Abernathy from Dallas.

SUE SONNENDAY

Popularity Queen

• This queen is sponsored by the Linden Leaves. On the first ballot the entire student body votes for any girl in the three upper classes whom it considers the most popular. From the list of girls nominated the high ten are chosen as candidates. Then on the final ballot a queen, first maid of honor, and second maid of honor are chosen. Sue Sonnenday, a senior from St. Louis and this year's queen, was crowned at a Christmas Dance given by Alpha Sigma Tau and Mu Phi Epsilon.

BETTY KELLEY

Maid of Honor to the Silver Anniversary Queen

• Betty Kelley, a junior from Aurora, Illinois, was chosen by the members of her class to be Maid of Honor to the Silver Anniversary Queen. She will be honored at the pageant to be given on June 10 as part of the Silver Jubilee celebration in honor of Dr. Roemer's twenty-fifth year as president of Lindenwood College.

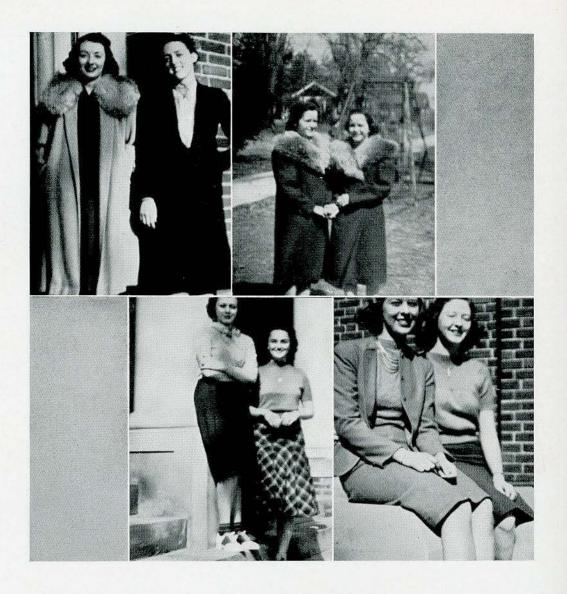

JEAN MCFARLAND

Silver Anniversary Queen

● The seniors chose as Silver Aniversary Queen their class president, Jean McFarland. Jean is another one of our Dallas girls. This year instead of having a May Day celebration with the crowning of the May Queen, we are waiting until commencement week when we are going to give a pageant depicting the life at Lindenwood from 1914 to 1939 with the crowning of the Silver Anniversary Queen as a part of this pageant which is being written by Dr. Kate L. Gregg, a member of our faculty.

ATTENDING SILVER QUEEN

Each class chose two of its members to be attendants to the Silver Anniversary Queen on June 10. This is the first time that twins have ever been attendants.

LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

REVELATION.

With footsteps sombre as the tread of hours Down through the years, I move across the world In desolation. Whence, I have forgot; And whither, who may know? Mystically Impelled, I wander in a constant quest While still the earth inexorably wheels In dread monotony. From thorny shrub To lichen-veiled rock, from fern to tree, All burnished with an eery glow, I've fled Beneath a whirling scarlet moon that flamed Against a swarthy sky. Through murky caves That multiplied my panting breath to moans, My slow steps have reverberated darkly. Alone, I've looked upon the sea whose waves Were arms stretched vainly to embrace a maid, The elusive moon. Through forests have I walked, Where interlocking boughs formed barriers Impenetrable, severing the sun From earth. Despairing have I wept to hear The raucous screams of night birds. As the moon, Reluctant maid, descended to the arms Of the insatiate sea, she paled. I came Into a valley bathed in vapours light And interswirling. In the ashen gloom A voice swept up about me with the mists. "Thou weary one who findest in the world Nor hope nor any joy, dost thou not know That it is I for whom thou long hast sought? Have I not said unto thee, 'Only seek And thou shall find Me?' He that followeth Me Shall never walk in darkness, but shall have The light of life. O, come thou unto Me And I will give thee rest." Beyond the hills To which I raised mine eyes, the sun blazed forth In glory, and I walked the way of peace.

-Jонувіє M. Fіоск

Head bent so low that one curling strand of hair almost touches the page; hand holding pen so tightly that the forefinger is bent with the effort; lips drawn slightly downward at the corners in extreme concentration; the whole body tense with the attempt "to do it correctly"—my roommate is studying her shorthand.

-Ann Earickson

The severity of the white water tower split the intense blue sky with a contrast so keen that my eyes blinked involuntarily. The main pipe, which upheld the biscuit-like reservoir, mounted the air in an unbroken line. Gracefully inclined toward the center, the supporting braces laced themselves across the sky with a firm stability. Steel rivets bound the symmetrical slabs together, exemplifying the perfection of an engineer's mind.

—Barbara Thompson

Meditatively she relaxed in the huge chair which was as inviting as a vice and as hard to get out of as a habit. Her feet wound aimlessly around each other, terminating on a pile of unopened books. In her recumbency, she inhaled on the lip-rouged end of her cigarette, then blew forth the smoke in any angry gray sheet.

—BARBARA CLARK

00

We walked in that part of the evening when the daylight is reluctant to leave and the darknesss is hesitant about coming. The sky was a pale blue without a single heavenly body in sight. The darkness hung heavily near the ground and thinned into nothingness as it neared the sky. The details of the houses were obscure, but their tops cut sharp silhouettes in the blue.

-Nancy Green

Perhaps never had there lain so precise a set of waves across the back of anyone's head. The girl possessed not so much as one misplaced hair. Each wave, pressed firmly into place, lay as fixed and as permanent as time itself. Little clear-cut ridges stood out across her head where each wave changed its mind and decided to turn around and go back again. Suddenly a blast of wind poured its force down upon the girl. It lifted the waves; it twirled them about her ears; it swirled them above her head. And as she turned to me in disgust, I saw that the precise waves in the back had magically transformed themselves into precise wrinkles in the front.

-B. M. Jасову

The boat glided silently along the shaded banks of the river. Massive sycamores leaned far over the water, clinging to the steeply inclined banks with bulky roots which thrust themselves above the ground in knotty humps and bulges. The broad limbs spread over the water in wide arcs of foliage so dense, so impregnable that even the hot July sun could not shine through, and underneath, all was cool and green and shadowy. As I watched the dark span of leaves overhead, a leaf slipped from its stem and drifted down, twisting in lazy little circles until it settled itself lightly on the water. Its edges curled up like a cupped hand, it lay there motionless, for no currents stirred in the still depths near the river bank. The water upon which the leaf rested had a strange, dusky cast. Too amber to be called green, too deeply emerald to be called gold, it was the color of hot sunshine filtering through deep, still water. Hidden in the cool recesses of the wide pools, shadows dappled the smooth surface with black. The shade of some rotting stump; a darting fish that was scarcely more than a shadow; the long, dark, image of the boat gliding over the surface—all were vaguely, darkly outlined against the pale river. On this strangely dull, strangely beautiful water the curled leaves drifted and turned, thin gold against cool green.

Young Jim is leaning out of the window blowing terrifying blasts on his bugle. He looks like a map-picture of the South Wind with his round little red cheeks puffed out to the bursting point, and his yellow curls stirring in the breeze. He makes such a cunning picture that I long to break a frame over his foolish little head.

Now, I love Young Jim almost as much as my own little brother (and sometimes better), but I haven't felt quite as tender toward him since he became the proud owner of a bleating bugle. He got this instrument of torture for Christmas a year ago, and has blown it faithfully every morning and night since. Jim's mother believes in letting her child do exactly as he pleases, because she thinks it develops his personality.

He has stopped now. I am going to get some sleep. I am going to get some sleep!

Oh, Young Jim, please! No. No, Young Jim, not again! "Oh, you can't get 'em up. You can't get 'em up..." That is what you think, precious. I am getting up right now. I am coming over after you, and I think that the Maestro in Heaven may let you be the Gabriel for children—if you are very good!

-BETTY FORSYTH

The moon rose from the water like a great silver coin from a deep, dark purse. Waves gambled and flipped it into the sky. The water was a sequinned roulette table, and birch trees were beautiful white-gowned women crowded about it.

-BETTY FORSYTH

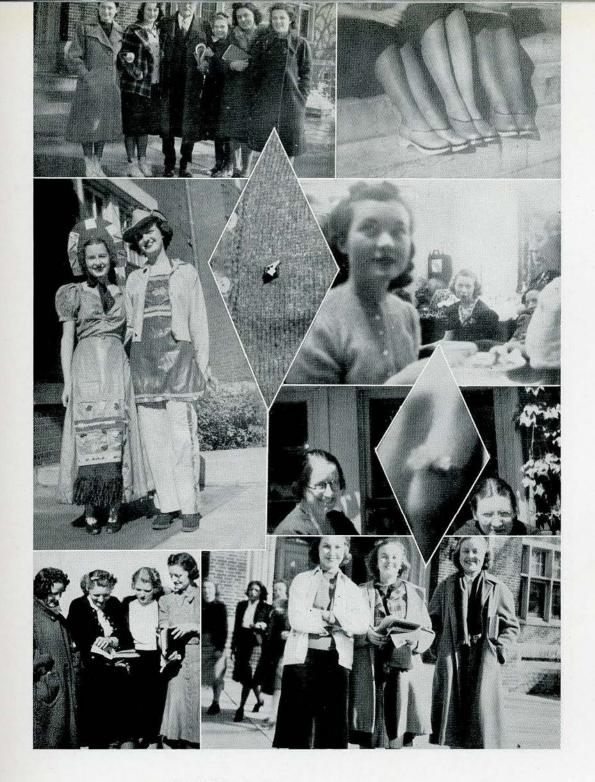

THE PICNIC!

The picnic at the St. Charles Country Club was one of the year's most delightful events. This is an exceedingly unnecessary statement, for you have only to gaze upon these grinning mugs, and know it! And in the center, ladeez and gentlemen, we have the incomparable Baby Snooks. She walks, she talks, she ———! . . . I disagree with you, Mr. Kipling, about the "twain" never meeting. This threesome is all the proof we need, and by the way, have you ever seen two more charming girls than Charlotte and Hyacinth? They live in Honolulu, and we are very grateful to the Islands for letting us have their two favorite daughters this year . . . Move over, Mary, he's a perfectly lovely gentleman, and you're plenty lucky . . . Wow! We eat! Hot dogs, potato salad, pop, sandwiches, and all kinds of good things were crammed into our hungry tummies . . . Last, but not least, we see several distinguished ladies playing "Drop the hankie!"

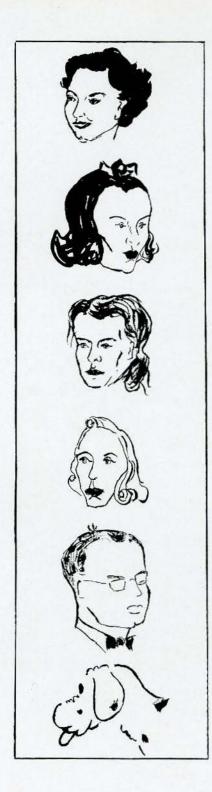

OLE' MAN RIVER

A day on the Muddy Mississippi—who could ever forget the momentous occasion when our own dear Dr. Roemer became Captain Henry for a day? . . . Delphia looks a bit puzzled. We promise the boat won't sink even though there are five hundred jitterbug girls aboard . . . Miss Lear and Mr. Parks are also watching from the top deck . . . Isn't it a pretty boat? This will give the freshmen some idea of what to expect this May . . . Books, are you bored or just sleepy? You have Louise and Little Hull to keep you company . . . Minus the hat you would look quite like a voyager, Anne. Or is it the latest thing? . . . We can't forget Mr. Motley with his cheery "hello" and torpedo bombs at 6:30 that morning, nor the fourteen busses lined up on the campus ready to go . . . A very joyous-looking threesome—looking for a fourth? . . . The greatest person in an age—Captain Henry, himself . . . Mimi, you're going the wrong way. Don't crowd, girls, there's room for everyone.

ODDS AND ENDS

Dr. Roemer with some of his very ardent admirers. Bet there are a lot who envy you lucky girls . . . No vogue misses L. C. Even not being able to wear wooden shoes in Roemer can stifle the spirit. Aren't they a wee bit uncomfortable? . . . Founder's Day was a gay one, and Mary and Mary look quite happy and clubby in their dance costumes . . . Surprise! I bet you didn't know this was going to be taken. Go right ahead with your tea and don't mind us. We pop up in any place at any time . . . We really had an epidemic of pins and rings this year. It always seems more contagious at vacation time. Shall we advocate longer and more frequent holidays so we all won't become immune? . . . Two of the esteemed faculty looking playful . . . Can one ever find a greater bunch of girls than the day students? Our hats off to you . . . Chapel over, 15 or 20 minutes for lunch, to the p. o., home to read the mail or gripe because he didn't write, and then to classes again.

Tall and dark,
Hails from Arkansas way,
Unexcelled in popularity,
She's friendly and gay.
Her chapel speeches,
Her drawl so well-known,
Endear her to the largest class
As whose leader she's known.

From Niccolls Hall this sophomore comes, Jackie and Caroline are her chums. For the Linden Bark she writes Who's Who; She's prominent on the campus, too.

Tall and distinguished
Is this Sibley lass—
Fair complexion, dark hair,
In the junior class.
Her humor is subtle,
Her name is a queen,
Her poetry has merit
And reigns supreme.

Her intimates call her "bird-brain."

Dryden and Pope are favorites to
One who is noted for pop quizzes
And the witty puns he construes.
His pride and joy—his new Ford so blue—
And his amiable personality
Are assets, too.

The inevitable.

EXTRA EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Surprising as it may seem (or may not seem), going to college does not consist entirely of attending classes and being elected to honorary fraternities as you may well have been led to believe by the preceding pages. We offer you now a directory to what LINDENWOOD may be doing when not engaged in the presented activities. Below is an alphabetized list of places to go and things to do during the course of the year.

Art Museum—in St. Louis; has one of the finest exhibits in the country.

Boat trip—down the Mississippi, sponsored annually by the college.

Bridge—available whenever four people are present in one room; the student body holds a contract tournament.

Bull sessions—A necessary part of every good education.

Carnival—some organization is bound to give one; much fun, incidentally.

Churches—St. Charles offers many denominations and many girls go to St. Louis to services.

Chapel—held every day for announcements and to advertise lost and found. Special services are held during the Lenten Season.

Circus—one comes to town each year, and girls turn out en masse.

Civic Music League—offers a series of concerts in St. Louis each year.

Club meetings—held two or three times a semester by each organization.

Cooperative Music League—presents here on the campus artists of renown.

Dates—no further comment is necessary.

Dances—held at least once a month; some all-girl dances are also held.

Dinners—of course every night, but some special occasions are well honored: birthdays, holidays, homecoming, and graduation.

Dog show—held annually in St. Louis at the Arena.

Dance recitals—amateur productions on campus, professional shows on campus, such as Ted Shawn, and recitals in St. Louis.

Educational tour of St. Louis—offered every year to the new students.

Flower show—an annual event at the St. Louis Arena.

Forest Park—the second largest park in the world is in St. Louis.

Golf—there is a course on the campus; instruction is offered.

Hayrides—full moons, steaks, singing, and scratchy backs.

Hikes—six A. M. finds the more energetic out enjoying the sunrise.

Hollywood—anytime, it's the Hollywood for food and cokes.

Horse Show—held in St. Louis in the spring and in the fall. The college participates, also, in intercollegiate shows.

Ice Hockey—the Flyers are the professional team in St. Louis, and the college always attends the collegiate games.

Ice Skating—laughs and spills, but they persist in going—to the Arena and Winter Garden in St. Louis.

Jacks—may be taken in two ways: the game is not to be disparaged, but the ice cream parlor, known by that name, rates a bit higher.

Jumping rope—supposed to be below the college category, but is not.

Knocking around St. Louis—weekly even with "tired and dirty" effect.

Loving-college always does it.

Melbourne Hotel—Lindell Boulevard at Grand in St. Louis, where the students are permitted to spend weekends under the approved chaperonage of Mrs. Lawler. The west wing of the seventh floor has been set aside by the Melbourne for the exclusive use of Lindenwood College girls.

Music recitals—held almost weekly at the college; many concerts are held in St. Louis by the famous artists of today.

Nothing-Lindenwood students are not exempt from this pasttime.

Operas—a heavy opera season is held in St. Louis and in the spring light opera opens at the famous open air municipal theatre.

Pal night—an institution in itself; the town flicker costs only one dime and two mills on Tuesday night.

Picnic—held by the school each year at the Country Club.

Plays—offered by the dramatic department during the course of the year; you may be discovered.

Proms—each class has one dance exclusively its own; the Junior-Senior Prom is held, as a dinner dance, at the Missouri Athletic Association in St. Louis.

Quiet Hour—the time when the students study and everyone shushes.

Riding—the St. Charles Riding Academy owns many fine horses and works in cooperation with the college. Students may take riding for physical education credit.

Roller Skating—a bit awkward in some cases, but no one seems to care.

Shopping-in St. Charles and St. Louis while Papa groans.

State clubs—girls unite to sing rahs for the home territory.

Steak fries—at the end of a horseback ride or at the ovens on campus.

Swimming-students may swim each day in the campus pool.

Symphony—St. Louis offers one of the finest seasons in the United States.

Tearoom—the most popular place on campus.

Teas—the frequent pleasure of the students, held in Library Club Rooms.

Theatre—the local movie house, the St. Louis picture palaces, and the American Theatre in St. Louis, which presents current stage plays, receive a good amount of the allowance.

Uptown-where most students are found after classes.

Vanity—which makes the beauty parlors frequented places.

Veiled Prophet Parade—held each year in October as the Mardi Gras of St. Louis—a big night for Lindenwood.

Wiener roasts—rivaled only by hayrides.

Xcitement—prevalent at the very mention of a vacation.

Yarns—to knit a sweater for the boy back home, to tell for effect or to fill in those "nothing" spaces.

Zoo—in St. Louis; fine collection of animals in naturalistic settings—also good popcorn.

This Modern World

The century that Lindenwood has lived has seen probably more changes than any other similar period in history.

For almost half that time, electricity—as we know and use it today—was unknown. Then, after modest and slow beginnings, it rapidly took a place in our lives that has been so significant that we can scarcely imagine a world without it. It is the great lifter of burdens—in the home, in the workshop or store, on the farm.

Power has extended the effect of man's productive efforts; light has turned night into day. Power has created more leisure hours—light has made it possible to devote more hours to enjoyment and self-improvement.

of Building School Yearbooks

- Twenty-five years ago the first college annual of our career was lovingly delivered into the hands of the staff. The co-ed editor's hair-do was reminiscent of a lovely hay-stack, and the business manager wore a high, stiff collar and fancy flaps on his pockets.
- Time has changed many things since then, and our methods with them; but what we learned about thoroughly good quality and unfailing integrity in those twenty-five years goes into every yearbook produced in our plant today.

Education, the Modern Miracle

Mom and Pop have great faith in education; they put their sheckels together, buy Sis some striped luggage, a sweater and skirt, anklets and send her off to college. Sis is going to be educated, what's more she's going to be refined.—You know; learn a poem or two, play the scales, maybe read a book (although we mustn't put our aim too high), and learn to give Grandma her chair when the room is full of Sis' friends and Granny starts to collapse. Education, the modern miracle.

Just before the train is ready to take Sis on her crusade for culture, Mom, Pop, and Sis have a few parting sentiments.

"Going to miss us, Sis?" asks Pop with a sort of choking sound in his voice.

"Yeah, I sort of hate to blow the old firetrap, Pop," breathes Sis tenderly.

"Remember, darling, to take advantage of your opportunities. This is the best time of your life," says Mom in a motherly tone.

"I know, Mom. That noise is old stuff."

"All aboard!" shouts the conductor.

"Guess I gotta scram," says Sis. She kisses Mom, then Pop and rushes onto the train. Two old women are knocked off the platform, a white-bearded man from the train-steps, then Sis is on the train. And Sis is on her way. She's going to be educated!

Along about Thanksgiving time Mom and Pop begin to get nervous; a new Sis is coming home, a refined and cultured Sis. Mom cleans the house; Pop dusts off the family buggy.

"Remember, dear, to leave your coat on at meals now that Sis is coming home," says Mom to Pop.

"Yes, our daughter is returning from college for the holidays," says Mom in a sophisticated manner to Mrs. Worth Knotting, president of the Elevated Snoots Club. Mom is really inwardly quaking at the idea of entertaining a newly refined Sis

Finally the day of Sis's homecoming arrives. By this time Mom and Pop both have a good case of jitters. Will she approve of them, now that she's been educated? Leaning on each other for support, they await the train.

"O-O-O-O-O-O-O'', shouts the train, (this is a stream-lined train) and Sis's train has arrived.

On tip-toe Mom and Pop strain to see their little cultured angel.

"Mom! Pop!" comes a shout from the train. An old man falls off the train steps. Two old women are knocked from the platform. It's Sis.

Sis, striped bags in hand, wearing a sweater and skirt, anklets, and saddle shoes, with the same unsharpened pencil, has arrived!

"It's good to see you again, dear," says Pop in a trembling tone.

"That mug of yours isn't so hard on my eyes either, chum," says Sis.

"I'm so glad you're home for a while, darling," says Mom.

"Yeah, the old firetrap's going to look O. K. Come on, let's blow; I smell smoke. Take my bags Pop, and we'll scram for the shanty," shouts Sis to anyone in Union Station who wants to listen.

Pop looks at Mom with a strange expression. Mom is too bewildered to speak; then she assumes all her matronly dignity.

"Don't you understand, darling? Take Sis' bags. Let's blow." And blithely she smiles.

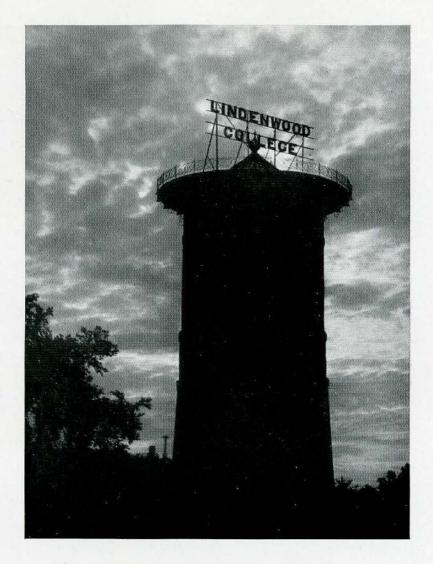

After all, education is a wonderful thing, the modern miracle.

LINDENWOOD HYMN

School of our mothers, in days of yore,
Goal of their fond ambitions long;
Within the portals of thy door,
Ideals were formed and will made strong;
Thy honored rule was ever good,
Old Lindenwood, Old Lindenwood.

The tumult and the shouting dies,
The Seniors, year by year, depart;
Still stands thy ancient edifice,
A stately and a noble pile,
With arched limbs of sacred wood
'Round Lindenwood, Old Lindenwood.

Far called, old teachers pass away,
But new ones rise to take their place;
And all the pomp of yesterday
Goes on with but a change of face.
Few hearts but throb with kindly good
Toward Lindenwood, Old Lindenwood.

On girls that come, and girls that go,
On all that walk beneath thy shade;
A heaven-sent gift wilt thou bestow,
A graceful and a gracious maid.
With brains for power and heart for good—
Old Lindenwood, Dear Lindenwood.

Amen
