Introduction

THE Linden Leaves staff has tried to make this book a concrete and material collection of the things that the students will want to remember about their college life. We have tried to portray the fullness of the life at Lindenwood College by picturing the various phases of activities. We hope that in future years this Linden Leaves will recall to you all the beauty and pleasure and knowledge gained at your Alma Mater.

We Dedicate

*this 1936 Linden
Leaves to Robert
Browning, who embodied in his life and poetry high and fine ideals. His appreciation of the richness of life, his realization of responsibility, his love of beauty, and his deep faith in God are attained in some degree by all students of Lindenwood

Behind the Library

Dr.
J. L. Roemer

Greetings to the Annual of 1936.

The portrayal of the events of the past year, one of the most important in the history of the college has been faithfully and efficiently done in picture and verse.

Every member of the student body appreciates the work of the Annual Board. The Annual Board appreciates the hearty cooperation of the student body.

1936 bequeaths a rich heritage to its successors of 1937.

DR. J. L. ROEMER,
President.

Mrs.
F. L. Roemer

It is always a great pleasure as "Dean of Women" to welcome the young ladies who come to Lindenwood College, and to have some part in their development for useful citizenship of these United States.

MRS. ROEMER,
Dean of Students.

Alice E. Gipson

Greetings to you, students of Lindenwood during this college year. May this copy of Linden Leaves bring to you, in years to come, happiest memories of lasting friendships made, of good times enjoyed, of knowledge fruitfully gained, and, in general, of joyful anticipations of a valuable college year thoroughly realized.

ALICE E. GIPSON,
Academic Dean.

Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Lindenwood Y. W. C. A. is to associate Lindenwood girls in Christian fellowship, to inspire ideals and to give a varied program in the weekly meetings. Every girl is a member and the women on the faculty are honorary members. During the college year the Y. W. C. A. sponsors such events as the "Big Sister" reception, the Hallowe'en party at which the Queen of Hallowe'en is crowned, an oratorical contest dealing with peace, a Christmas play, and the circus. The "Y" is a very important factor in campus life and endeavors to reach every girl in some manner.

Linden Bark Staff

The Linden Bark is the bi-monthly newspaper published by the members of the department of Journalism. This year the staff has ably recorded the events of importance that have occurred on the campus as well as the interesting things that have happened to students outside of school. The outstanding writing done in the college this year has also been published in the monthly literary supplement.

Orchestra

The orchestra is composed of girls in school who play an orchestral instrument and who are interested in group work. The training gives them valuable practice in sight reading and in cooperative playing, which is very hard to secure otherwise. This year the orchestra members participated in various concerts and programs and aided in several spring functions.

Choir

The Lindenwood College choir is an organization consisting of the voice students who are most interested in group singing. Under the direction of Miss Doris Gieselman, they give special numbers at vespers each Sunday evening. At the last vesper service before Christmas vacation they sing a cantata, and give special concerts at the opening of school, at Easter, and at Commencement time.

Poetry Society

Poetry Society has helped its members to acquire a fuller critical appreciation of poetry, and to increase in the ability to write original verse. At the meetings the club combines the study of modern poets with the reading of the original verse of the members and helpful discussion of it. Some of this poetry has appeared in College Verse, the official publications of the national organization.

Tau Sigma

Tau Sigma endeavors to foster an appreciation as well as a knowledge of almost all forms of dancing with especial emphasis on the Modern Mode. The members create original dances, and in the spring give a recital of the Dance. The membership includes a variety of dancers from all parts of the country. Many have danced professionally and studied in some of the best schools in the country.

ETHEL-GARD BARRY, President JO MILES, Vice-President CAMILLE MCFADDEN, Secretary

Active members: BARRY, MILES, MCFADDEN, M. GREER, BOTTANI.

Associate members: ACKERMAN, COCKBURN, DUDLEY, ECHELMEIER, ELLIS, FINLEY, GANN, HAYDON, HAWKINS, HINSCH, HOLLANDS, HUFF, HURST, KEEGAN, KIRKWOOD, LAMBERT, LAWSON, LEE, LOTT, MABRY, MONTGOMERY, PIPKIN, PLATT, RAYMER, SHERWIN, SIEMER, STALEY, WALDREP, WARD, WEPFER, WILLNER, WYATT.

Home Economics Club

The Lindenwood Home Economics Club, which has been made honorary this year, is affiliated with the National Home Economics Association. Active membership is based upon a required number of hours and high scholastic standing in home economics courses. Participation in national club projects forms a basis for study in the club.

Other activities of the club throughout this year have included Miss Lilian Stupp's illustrated lecture and doll exhibit on historic costume, a style-revue tea, and a luncheon in St. Louis for all members of the club. Some members have attended the Tuesday lectures at the Art Museum.

Commercial Club

The Commercial Club is primarily interested in bringing together the students who have a common interest in business. This year the club has kept itself informed of the happenings in the business world by means of a bulletin board in the department, special research by the members, and outside activities. A Christmas Tea was given, and in the spring the club sponsored a theatre party in St. Louis.

International Relations Club and League of Women Voters

The League is particularly interested in national affairs of importance, while the International Relations Club considers all international events, attempting to give the members a clear view of present day problems. The League reviews news daily on a bulletin board placed advantageously in Roemer hall. Both clubs have done very fine work and gained the interest of many students. Both organizations are open to the entire student body.

Beta Chi

The purpose of Beta Chi, Lindenwood's riding club, is to foster better horsemanship among the students of the college. The requirements include riding three and five-gaited horses in good form, jumping three feet, riding light steeplechase, saddling and bridling a horse, and naming the parts of the tack. Beta Chi sponsors a fall and a spring horse show, hay rides, sleighing parties, and breakfast rides.

The majority of the members of Beta Chi have taken ribbons in the St. Louis National Horse Show.

Sports

Sports play an active part in the life of Lindenwood College students. There is opportunity to participate, and also to watch demonstration matches in the different sports. It is in keeping with the ideals of Lindenwood to build a sound mind in a sound body. Sports offer health, activity, and recreation to college students, as well as valuable training.

Athletic Association

The sports fostered by the Lindenwood Athletic Association this year were: hockey, golf, tennis, riding, hiking, archery, basket ball, track, baseball, swimming and dancing.

Events of the year included a demonstration tennis match, a hockey game between St. Charles high school and Lindenwood, a sister-class hockey match, a basket ball tournament, a swimming meet, and a sports day of track and field events.

The Athletic Association, in addition to a Barn dance which they gave for the whole school, presented a musical comedy, "The Belle of Barcelona."

MOORE, ROBERTS, CHRISTENSEN, FINLEY, ELLIS, WIPKE, HOLLANDS, FRITZ

St. Louis National Horse Show

The St. Louis National Horse Show was held from October 14 to October 19. Eight girls from Lindenwood, Peggy Moore, Margaret Hollands, Marie Christensen, Martha Roberts, Marie Ellis, Violet Wipke, Eleanor Finley, and Laura Fritz, entered, and won the majority of the ribbons in each of the four events in which they took part.

The horses were from the stables of Mr. O. L. Dapron in St. Charles. The horse show was held at the St. Louis Arena, and schools were entered from all over the country.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Tau was founded in 1922 to replace Pi Theta Kappa. Membership in this society is the highest scholastic honor Lindenwood confers on students in the College of Arts and Sciences. The requirements for membership are fourteen hours of literary work for three consecutive semesters with grades between an S and an E. Only a limited membership of the highest ranking students in the college is accepted.

The club each year is co-sponsor with Alpha Mu Mu of the Christmas party for the announcement of the Popularity Queen. In the spring it gives a tea for the faculty of the college.

Pi Alpha Delta

Pi Alpha Delta is the honorary Latin sorority of the college. Its purpose is to encourage a study of the classics and to promote a feeling of fellowship among those students interested in the classics. Full membership in the society requires work in Latin with a high grade, but provision is made for election to associate membership of those students doing a high grade of work in other subjects given in the Classical Department.

The officers are the Princeps, Mary Long, and the Aedilis, Jean Stephenson.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu is a national honorary social science fraternity which desires to sponsor a greater interest in the social sciences. It sponsors a contest in which a medal is awarded to the student who is not a member of Pi Gamma Mu who achieves the most distinctive work in the field of social sciences during the year. The fraternity also gives a tea for the girls who major in social sciences. The requirements for membership are a grade of S in twenty hours of social science and an average of M in all other subjects. Only juniors and seniors are eligible for membership.

Der Deutsche Verein

With their objective to further interest in the German language, literature, and culture strongly in mind, the German Club has held some excellent meetings during the year, at which the members spoke German, served German refreshments, and sang German songs. And last but not least they held their annual Christmas party, always very charming because of the true German atmosphere. The club is open to girls studying German who make a semester grade of S.

Top Row: S. EBY, DANZ, HARRIS, PINNELL, ALDRED, WYCOFF, WINDER
Second Row: SPANGLER, AHMANN, JONES, RIDDLE, BURGESSON, E. EBY.

Alpha Mu Mu

Alpha Mu Mu is an honorary music sorority for lower classmen. Requirements for membership are an S in the major subject, and M average in all other subjects, and the approval of the entire faculty. The members of Alpha Mu Mu have given some excellent recitals throughout the year, contributing to programs not only at the college but at several social functions in St. Louis.

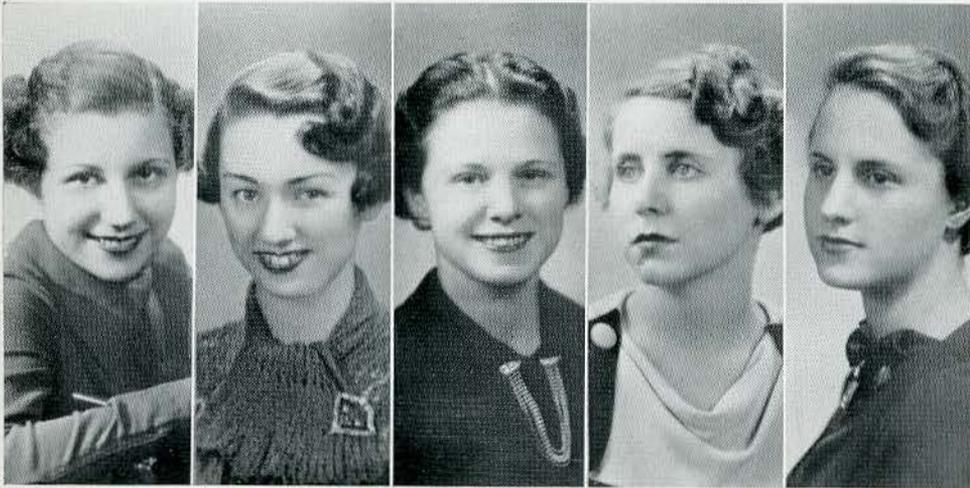

Top Row: SAGE, HOLBROOK, COTE, PAYNE, BROWN, WYATT, SAUL, J. ROBERTS, WHITE, S. GREER

Beta Pi Theta

Theta Xi is the Lindenwood chapter of Beta Pi Theta, the national French honorary fraternity. Its membership requirements are an S in all French courses and an M average in all other subjects. Candidates for membership must write a five hundred word theme in French, read in French and report on a play, a novel, and a short story. They must also memorize fifty lines of French poetry. The purposes of the organization are to make French culture and ideals more real to the girls and to give them an opportunity to speak this language outside of class.

SCHACHNER, BETTY BROWN, EVELYN BROWN, WILSON, BOTTANI

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a national dramatic fraternity. Lindenwood is proud of the superior ability exhibited by the members of its chapter. At Christmas they presented "The Late Christopher Bean," and throughout the year were active in dramatics. Membership in this organization is awarded those girls of marked dramatic talent who have participated in dramatic productions at Lindenwood College.

Second Row: LONG, FOX, SCHIERDING, BROWN, HOEN
Other Members: REITZ, CHAPEL, TAGGART, BELL, WISHROPP

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta desires to acquaint its members with the literary masterpieces of the world and to foster creative writing. The requirements for membership are an S in all English courses, a standing in the upper third of one's class, and publication of one thousand words of original writing in school papers.

The sorority sponsors a contest for freshmen, in which three medals are given for the best original compositions. In the fall Sigma Tau Delta gives a tea for students who are majoring or minoring in English. At the meetings original work of the members is read.

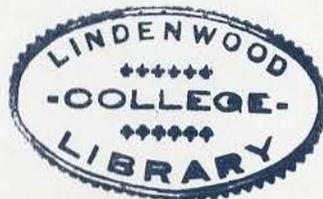

Top Row: RAYMER, WISHROPP, HOLLANDS, ARNOLD, ATTEBERRY, KELLAMS, LANGSTEN
Second Row: SAGE, GREEN, GAUNT, BOLES, BOGENSCHUTZ, KISKADDEN

Kappa Pi

The most important accomplishment of Kappa Pi, national honorary art fraternity, was the sponsoring of the sale of Christmas cards designed and made by the members of the Art Department. The proceeds of this sale were given to the Mary Easton Sibley scholarship fund for the use of needy students. At Christmas also the fraternity decorated the graves of Major and Mrs. Sibley in recognition of their service to Lindenwood.

The officers are Janet Sage, Pres., Mary Jane Wishropp, Vice-Pres., and Mary Sue Kellams, Sec. and Treas. The sponsor is Dr. Alice Linnemann.

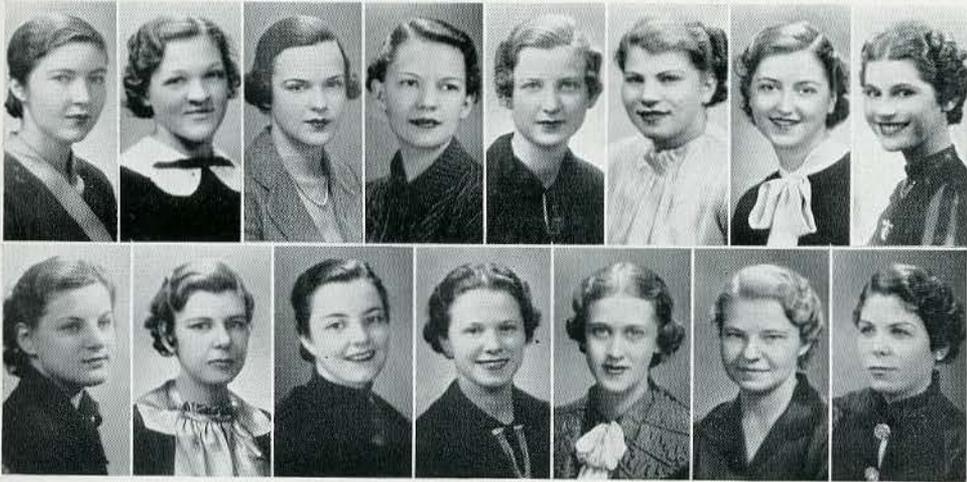

WYCOFF

Delta Phi Delta

Delta Phi Delta is an honorary organization for members of the Department of Public School Music. There is an opportunity at the meetings to discuss music and the problems connected with it, particularly the problems of teaching music in the public schools. New methods and theories of teaching music are discussed. During the year this organization joined with Mu Phi Epsilon and Alpha Mu Mu in giving a tea and dinner.

Other Members: BAGNELL, BLOND, HAYES, POTLITZER, ROODHOUSE, R. WILLIAMS

El Circulo Espanol

Through the cooperation of a splendid group of girls and with the aid of its sponsor, El Circulo Espanol has had an interesting and profitable year. It has given those girls who are interested in the Spanish language an opportunity to hear more about the life and customs of Spanish speaking countries from speakers who have visited or lived in these countries. Some of the meetings have been entirely social, and others devoted to cultural material.

Top Row: COTE, BAKER, THRO, BUTLER, KIRKWOOD
Second Row: BARTON, NULL, WOOD, OSGOOD

Triangle Club

The Triangle Club is the honorary science sorority and brings together the girls especially interested in biological, physical, and mathematical sciences. In the spring the club sponsors a science exhibit to which students and faculty are invited. All the laboratories are open and special exhibits prepared. Tea is served in beakers.

The requirements for membership are a grade of S in three semesters work in one field of science, and an average of M in all other subjects.

Mu Phi Epsilon

Phi Theta chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon was established at Lindenwood in December, 1932. Its object is to promote musicianship, friendship, scholarship and true sisterhood among its members. Admission to this sorority is the highest attainment of any member of the music department. Mu Phi Epsilon members enjoy many parties among themselves, and are co-hostesses at the Christmas party for the school, at which the Popularity Queen is crowned.

The first business of the year was to elect a new sponsor in the absence of Miss Frances Stumberg. Her place has been taken by Miss Eva Englehart. The only other elections of the year were those for May Queen, who is chosen from the Senior class. Miss Mildred Rhoton was voted May Queen, and Miss Peggy Hollands and Miss Camille McFadden her senior attendants.

The class gave two parties, a dance for the whole school to which they were co-hostesses with the junior class, and a tea for the entire faculty.

They were entertained at a dinner by the juniors, and at a luncheon in St. Louis by Dr. and Mrs. Roemer. Mrs. Roemer is honorary sponsor of the class.

Members of the senior class are outstanding in scholarship, music, dramatics, literary work, athletics, journalism, and activities.

The Junior class was hostess with the Senior class at a dance given for the entire school, and hostess to the seniors at two parties, a dinner and the prom. We were ably assisted by our class sponsor, Miss Hankins.

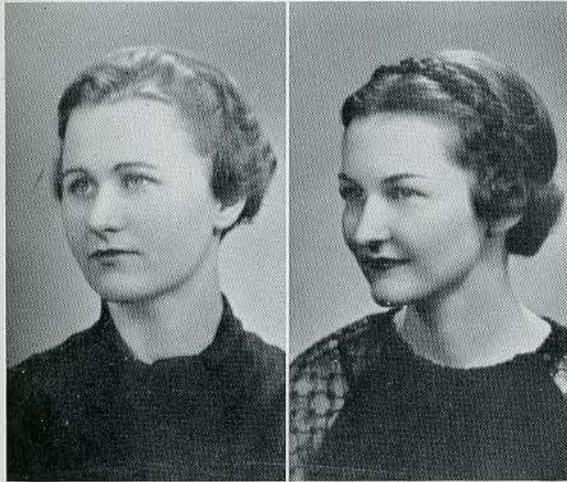

It elected Josephine Miles Maid of Honor to the May Queen, and Katherine Morton and Marjorie Hickman as her junior attendants.

The class bought its Junior rings this year, to remind them that next year they will be taking over the duties and the honors of being Lindenwood's Senior class.

The Sophomore class gave several parties. In the fall they had a hay ride and picnic, and gave a date dance for the whole school. In April they had their class prom.

The class chose as Sophomore jackets dark green flannel with white emblems on the pockets.

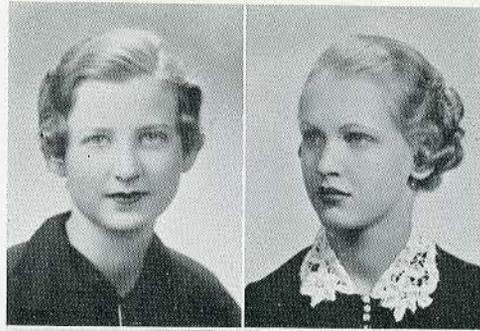

As attendants from their class to the May Queen they chose Eleanor Finley and Marian Randolph.

The class song was written by Joan Spangler.

When Jean Stephenson, the class treasurer, left school at mid-semesters, Jane Bowman was elected to take her place.

You the People

The radio is carrying a political speech to us. The perfect pronunciation and control and selection of words lulls and soothes me until I become drowsy. I disregard the meaning of the words and instead follow the rise and fall of the speaker's voice.

Wake up, you! Can you give a report tomorrow in class of just the enunciation of a speaker? So I try to get below the hypnotic surface of sound and find the meaning of these words.

I received the following impression:

"—of the people, by the people, and for the people." (Thank you, Mr. Lincoln, for this idea. It always goes over well.)

"—the privilege of suffrage for all—" (They won't know that thousands are kept from the polls each year by hook or crook.)

"And each one shall be rewarded as he sees this new nation rising on the old ruins. Each one of you will have helped in this building and will receive the benefits." (But you of the Blank Party will get all the jobs and for at least four years can be "big shots.") "You the people——"

—ELEANOR ROODHOUSE

From My Sketchbook

He was so very proud of the three inches that he had acquired in those last two years. Why, almost before anyone knew it, he was as tall as his mother. Of course, he knew it! He had erected a chart in the darkest recess of his closet, and every few days he painstakingly took his shoes down to shine them, and then flew up the stairs, supposedly, to put them away. The real reason for the sudden immaculate care of things that never made any difference before was to camouflage the stay in the closet. Then he might secretly measure his height and hope that at least two more inches had suddenly grown on his heels or neck to make him taller. Finally, came that long-desired, triumphant moment of gloating after someone had said, "Why, Son, you're taller than your mother!

—VAL JEAN ALDRED

Atlas

The sun's heat strong upon my back,
I pressed my face into the grass,
And sensing my own helplessness,
Soon fell into sweet reverie.
Half-roused from dream I felt the weight
Of earth within my arms,
And reveling in the new found strength,
Could scarce have told in what degree
The planet was a part of me and I of it,
So greatly did I feel the burden of the world;
I quite forgot the hand of God
Upholding Man— and earth and sky.
I sighed content in sun's warm ray
Then, wearied, sighed again and laid
Aside the heavy star,
Letting it once more support
The weight of me.

—MARY SUE KELLAMS

The White Lady

The moon is high and cold tonight;
The air is sweet;
Mist fills the woods. Down to the sea
Hushed waters fleet.

And very still,
Upon this tree-fringed hill,
Where whispering grasses sigh,
And the blind bats flit by,
While gentle moonbeams softly search
The ground, she dreaming stands.
Wood nymph? Or lonely silver birch?

—EVELYN BROWN

Fairy Place

Starlight, candlelight, twilight dim,
I step deep to the moon's bright rim;
A palace of silver find I there,
With turrets tall in the misty air;
A pointed house with windows of lace,
From each of which peers an elfin face.
The fiery-eyed dragon's breath is there;
And tall young princess, and maidens fair;
Milk-white steeds with stirrups of gold—
Oh, so many things for my heart to hold! —
Silver tears on my moonlit face,
For I must leave this enchanted place.
(Starlight, candlelight, twilight dim,
I step deep to the moon's bright rim!)

—EVELYN SEARS

Reflection

A mirror held before another glass
Will give reflections, almost without end,
To make a hall down which my thoughts may pass,
In which my broken chains of thought may mend.
For one remembrance very often brings
A second with it; then will come a third,
Until I have remembered many things
To which my chain of thought may be transferred.
And I recall so many by-gone days
Made up of pranks and tricks we used to do,
Perhaps in future time I'll think of ways
In which I now do things that still are new;
For thought expands, and as we grow we find
That many changes must be made in mind.

—VIRGINIA MORSEY

Bonded

More than Prometheus I am bound to myself,
Fettered securely by fate to fault,
Infinitely bound to imperfection.

I seek to solace myself in beauty,
But beauty extends to me an ache.
I think that love might be the answer
But love of mine is incomplete.

Eternal Father, grant to me
More than a prelude to perfect peace,
For visions are vain when gift to earth.

—KATHERINE MORTON

My World

If I could be a small, green worm,
With a rainbow in my heart,
Two dewdrops out of the night
Would be my eyes,
Two fairy wands from out of the dusk
Would be my long antennae
To feel, to touch, to softly explore
My little rose — my world.

A labyrinth of softest pink
Begs me enter farther,
For every petal fold a darker veil
About its very center.
To lie around the kiss of a rose,
And feel soft petalled lips that breathe
A mystic frailty of fragrance
Out of its deepest heart,
Makes my little body beg
To be one small, deep vein of pink
Within this universe — my rose.

It is true, I would fade,
My dewdrop eyes, my soft green body
Would pass away,
But to be a tiny, pulsing part
Of that lovely, veined thing,
And breathe out a kiss
So lush, so fine,
Would give my life a tiny spell
Of heaven — just before it fell.

—RACHEL VAN WINKLE

A Mood

She opened her bag and pushed her fingers through its contents. Then she walked quickly over the ground until she found a dry spot on which to sit. Having chosen a place that was in the sunlight but as secluded as possible, she sat down, loosening her coat and letting it slip down over her shoulders. The sun was warm on her neck, through her hair. She wound her arms about her knees; her posture was one of restlessness stilled for a moment. Her face had hints of restiveness about the mouth; the lips compressed too firmly. Then suddenly her arched back lost its rigidity, her head dropped forward to her knees. She was crying. When she opened her eyes again, after the strong light on her lids, the trees, earth, and sky were strangely without color. Her body ached deeply. She pushed herself to her feet, in quick, angry movement. Why, she was in college!

Learning

TO LIVE

Living

TO LEARN

Lessons! So many lessons! Some of them we do not want to learn and some of them we think we already know. Yet, sooner or later, learn them we must. The great university of life demands it. One of these lessons might be titled "Consideration" . . . and the earlier it is learned the better, because it can prevent so much unhappiness and so many difficulties. Having consideration for yourself is just as important as having it for others. Of course, always with fairness and justice to all.

In your own home you will have many opportunities to consider yourself . . . and with benefit to others at the same time. Letting electricity do as much as possible to make your work easier and to make your home more attractive and comfortable will give you a better opportunity for greater accomplishments . . . even to be a better companion. It is one of the greatest aids of the age . . . and the cheapest.

When we told Gracie we had a lot of work to do for Abnormal Psych she wanted to know were we near-sighted or far-sighted? We want to know, is she abnormal or just not very bright? Probably she's still in that well-known trench. At any rate she's a little brighter than the sophomore who told Dr. Gipson a certain popular radio comedian would make her roll on the floor!

THOUGHTS ON WALKING TO PRACTICE TEACHING, 50 BELOW ZERO

(Well, perhaps it was only 49 below, but it felt like 50)

Well, it's got to be done—I may just as well go on and grit my teeth. Why can't I just sit and play with those cute dogs on the corner? Five blocks more! Maybe I'll lose a couple of pounds good old daily constitutional and the proverbial apple. Wish I had an apple! But it would be too cold to eat it. Ha ha ha! (Heartily.) Wonder if anyone saw me? Boy, that wind really penetrates the old coat! My ears feel like two chunks of ice. Then again maybe not, for the wind doesn't sail in and out of ice like it does my ears. Whoops! Ha ha ha! (Less heartily, stealthily looking around.) Ooooooh, I'm freezing! I can't make it! I know my legs are frozen. No, maybe it's my ears . . . maybe it's my hands. When I get back to school with any part of my anatomy frozen, they'll be sorry! Two more blocks. Can I make it? Whoops! (No laughter, but a strained smirk which looks as if someone had suddenly cut a rectangular slit in the frozen pan.) Oooooh! Something must have broken off, but I'm too numb to feel it. Well, one more dash. It's now or never. Think how they'll all feel when I'm found frozen in the snow.

And then, at last, shelter and warmth. Of course, there's always the trip home, but school never looked so good before!

More Than 500,000 Annuals

This yearbook represents twenty-one years of school annual printing and binding experience. It was produced by the organization which has printed and bound, under one roof, well over a half-million fine college and university yearbooks, representing 150 million printed pages, for schools in twelve states.

Each staff has its problems. In dealing with 472 such staffs, we have learned to advise them wisely and to produce books they are proud to distribute on their campus. Nine hundred forty editors and business managers endorse our thoroughness and integrity.

When a staff signs a Midland contract, it enlists the aid of a College Printing Department composed of older men of many years' experience, associated with younger men who have the yearbook staffs' viewpoint. The entire book is built under one roof . . . the responsibility of one group of skilled craftsmen.
