COOPERATIVE PROGRAM BETWEEN LINDENWOOD, UMSL

A cooperative program has been launched between Lindenwood and the University of Missouri-St. Louis (UMSL) that will provide a five-year degree program in public policy administration.

Approved recently by the Lindenwood faculty and subject to UMSL endorsement, the joint venture allows a third-year Lindenwood student to transfer to UMSL's Public Policy Administration program. At the end of the fourth year, the student would receive a bachelor's degree from Lindenwood and, at the completion of the fifth year, a master's degree in public policy administration from UMSL.

The program at UMSL is targeted primarily to students with broad liberal arts backgrounds, such as those at Lindenwood. Although the joint program is open to all students, it is appropriate particularly to those with sociology, political science, history or business administration majors, according to James F. Hood, Ph.D., dean of the Evening College.

Possible areas of employment are governmental positions in city management, criminal justice, housing, personnel management, health policy, financial management, transportation and economic development policy, Hood said.

FACULTY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

"Family Reunion," by N. Jean Fields, associate professor of English and communications, is the title of a chapter in the third edition of THE POPULAR CULTURE READER, an anthology of readings published this year by Bowling Green University Popular Press. "Family Reunion" is found in the book's "Popular Rituals" section and is a personal essay on Ms. Fields' family reunions which have taken place for nearly 100 years. An 18-year member of the Lindenwood faculty, she is a frequent lecturer on popular cultures and the history of colonial women. Ms. Fields is well-known in the area for her research on Rebecca Boone, wife of Daniel Boone, and for her studies of the Rev. Timothy Flint, the first Protestant minister in St. Charles.

Alan H. Shiller, assistant professor of speech, was among area residents selected for judging the St. Charles City-St. Charles County Junior Miss Pageant. More than 40 girls competed in the event, held November 19 at Jefferson Middle School.

Michael Castro, Ph.D., LCIE assistant professor and faculty advisor, is the author of INTERPRETING THE INDIAN: 20TH CENTURY POETS AND THE NATIVE AMERICAN, scheduled for publication this month by the University of New Mexico Press. The 224-page book is an unusual work of literary and cultural history that examines the mystique of longing to be Indian as a major tradition in American poetry.

DIRECTOR NAMED FOR DEFERRED GIVING

Robert H. Colvin of St. Charles has been named director of deferred giving at Lindenwood. Employed for the J.C. Penney Co. for 38 years, Colvin retired in 1974 after serving as manager of the firm's store at Mark Twain Mall. A former chairman of Lindenwood's Community Support Campaign, he served in a part-time capacity as director of development at Lindenwood from 1975-79. A native of Lansing, MI, he has been a resident of St. Charles for 21 years. Colvin is a 1936 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in business administration. In his new capacity, he will work closely with Ed Watkins, vice-president for institutional development, and President James I. Spainhower.

COMMUNIQUE

by Tuesday noon each week will appear in the following Monday's newsletter. Save time and cut photocopy expense by utilizing "Communique" as "your communicative link with Lindenwood."

Because of this week's Thanksgiving holiday, "Communique" will not be published next Monday; publication will resume on a weekly basis December 5.

TUESDAY SESSION FOR COMMUNICATIONS MAJORS

All communications majors are urged to attend a meeting tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. in the Cardinal Room of Ayres Cafeteria. Department Chairman William Schwienher and faculty members will be present to discuss career opportunities, curriculum offerings and course selections.

COEDS SOUGHT FOR NATIONAL COMPETITION

Lindenwood coeds are invited to participate in GLAMOUR's 1984 Top Ten College Women Competition, a national contest to select 10 outstanding women from colleges and universities in the country. A panel of the magazine's editors will select the coeds on the basis of their achievement in academic studies and/or their involvement in community or campus activities.

The 10 winners will appear in the August, 1984, issue of GLAMOUR. In addition to national recognition in the media for themselves and their schools, they will receive an all-expense paid trip to New York City to meet with top professionals in their fields of interest.

Further information and applications can be obtained at the Office of News & Public Information, 100 Roemer Hall. The deadline for applications is December 9.

CAFETERIA CLOSED FOR THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY

Ayres Cafeteria will close after lunch Wednesday and reopen Sunday at 5 p.m. for dinner. Lindenwood College will be closed Thursday through Sunday in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

LINDENWOOD STUDENTS LISTED IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Names and biographies of 36 Lindenwood students will be published in the 1984 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES, an annual directory that contains information on some of the country's most outstanding campus leaders. Scheduled for publication next spring, the directory will contain a listing of students selected from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning throughout the United States and Canada.

Lindenwood students include Kevin Aandahl of St. Louis; Victor T. Avellino of Manchester; Christopher Boschert of St. Charles; Sherry D. Brady of Clayton; Nancy Bridges of St. Charles; Chrystal Chostner of Chula Vista, CA; Janie Conzelman of St. Louis; Stephanie Copek of St. Charles; James B. Ell of St. Charles; Judy I.
