

THE BARK STRIPS

Volume 45 Number 9

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE, St. Charles, Mo.

Thursday, March 25, 1965

Chic, Practical, Trim and Proper Is the New Vogue 'LC Look'

Uniforms

Due to the numerous petitions and constant requests, the Lindenwood administration has finally agreed to the purchase of school uniforms for the year 1965-1966.

However, authorities are in a stalemate over the decision between the two uniforms pictured (below, above). Sister Elsie models the more fashionable of the two, while Sister Shawn demurely presents the basic type of uniform apparel. Practical, trim, and proper are the adjectives one might use to describe these little outfits.

The final choice will be made

Clinging Vine Lets Loose!

The "Clinging Vine", Lindenwood's yearbook for 1964-1965 will be distributed among the eager students next Thursday night at 11:59 p.m. (Provided the moon is full.) Special features of this year's annual include a full-color foldout page of the water tower, individual pictures—autographed—of the campus squirrels, and a pictorial record of Fannie Belle Guddledump's 17th birthday party, which was held on fourth floor Niccolls Hall.

"Vine" editors commented on the annual: "We are really tickled with this yearbook, no kidding. We especially like the black velvet covers which have been hand-embroidered by Swedish peasants. Another exciting addition is the inclusion of a "Textbooks I Have Known" section—oh my, but the math books produced well."

Be sure and pick up your "Vine" next week. Rap three times at the door of the Quonset Hut and tell them that "Elmer" sent you.

according to the costume "most flattering to the majority of our students." Also included in the new "togetherness look" will be the chic hair styles featured by the two models.

The Admissions Office has issued the following statements: "These uniforms will certainly impress prospective students. Maybe we could arrange for them (the prospectives) to have little uniforms to wear while visiting the campus. It would really make them feel a part of the L. C. Family."

The Social Director commented: "How lovely the uniforms are! I only hope the girls will wear them to the Mixers!"

For the masculine viewpoint, the Linden Bark questioned Gary Boatty, a senior at the University of Missouri at Rolla. Unfortunately his remarks have been censored . . .

Uniforms

Some people have strangely disapproved of the new uniforms. Professor Ezra Stinson was horrified when the idea was presented to him—"If that happens, I'm gettin' out!" quoth he. "The individuality of the students will be hampered!"

Students, as a whole, seem to greet the idea with great enthusiasm. Certainly Sisters Shawn and Elsie appear to be delighted—do they not?

Uniforms

ADMINISTRATION RELEASE (Cont'd. from p. 3 c. 5)

to owner at his expense.

Young ladies will be permitted to have chafing dishes, but all chafing dishes must be deposited with the matron, and used at such times and under such conditions as she may determine.

Finally, in addition to the time spent in study, one hour daily is to be set apart, during which the Principal will read aloud to the young ladies while they are engaged in sewing or fancy work.

Disorderly conduct, such as boisterous talking, laughing, and romping, will not be allowed at any time.

Catalogues formerly published by the college were consulted in compiling the above regulations further emphasizing the common viewpoint that there is "nothing like the past."

STEAKS - CHICKEN - SPAGHETTI - RAVIOLI
PIZZA

PIO'S RESTAURANT AND LOUNGE

Carry-Outs RA 4-5919

Sensation of the Month, The College 'Creep' Game

IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! EVERYBODY is playing "CREEP TO THE HEAD OF THE CLASS," the OFFICIAL Lindenwood game! The new product was designed by Mantell Toymakers, Inc. — "You can tell it's Mantell—it's sooper-dooper!"

The new amusement, just introduced, has been specifically created for Lindenwood Students. Its purpose is to give the students practice in the fine art of Diplomacy—"Look, Ma — me get me Diploma — See ! !"

A playing board depicting the four levels of Roemer Hall in full and glorious color, one "Wheel of Fortune Magic Spinner," 50 Penalty Cards, and 700 playing disks are included in each "Creep" set.

The rules, while just a trifle intricate, can be readily mastered by even the most unassuming of scholars — Rhodes Scholars, that is. The playing begins when the participants cast lots to determine their order of advancement. The object of the game is to follow the winding path of little blue squares and be the first one to reach the circular area marked "All in Free." Along the way, however, lie many pitfalls and perils—the "Biology Bog," the "Spanish Cesspool," and the treacherous "Shakespearean Swamps," for example.

You and your friends will thoroughly enjoy competing with one another to see who will be the first Creep to really make it. Think of the chuckles you'll have when someone draws a Penalty Card reading "You have tumbled into the Creative Writing Chasm—surrender the key to your mailbox," or "Report to the Office of the Dean immediately," or "Spend three turns in the Health Center." And just think of the sense of exhilaration you'll feel when you pick up the Penalty Card that states: "You have fallen into the Senior Clutch Gulch—lose 128 moves."

Be the first in your sociological sub-group to own a "Creep to the Head of the Class" game. Experts predict that Creeping will soon surpass contract bridge, shuffleboard, and scuba-diving.

Want Ads

For Sale: Complete Cymbal Orchestra. Contact E. Cymbalist, Jr., Cymbal Beach, Fla.

For Sale: In Bookstore. Genuine stuffed squirrels. L.C. mascot. All sizes.

For Sale: Assorted wax candle stubs. Contact Sibley Hall.

For Sale: Slightly used mid-term crib-sheets. Small enough to hide in penny loafer slots, long fingernails, and headbands.

Lost: Cobbs Hall student. Last seen playing in dirt pile—vicinity of new dorm.

Wanted: Plainclothes detective. Duties: to detect those who disobey Opinion Board Regulations.

Wanted: Three more hours added to mornings between 6:30 and 7:30.

Lost: One deck of playing cards, last seen in underground passageway between Niccolls and Cobbs.

Hitching Post and Formal Garden Grace Grounds of New Dormitory

Over-Anxious Students Take Over New Dorm

It was recently announced that Lindenwood can expect to see a new dorm soon. Its erection seems necessary due to the increasing number of freshmen being accepted under the new "no requirements" admission plan.

One of its modern features is the natural wood hitching post that has already been erected between Niccolls and Cobbs.

The dorm itself will be set back from the road and surrounded by exquisite formal gardens. The gardens will be under the direction of the noted botanist, Dr. Daffodil. Plans are underway to incorporate the golf course as a private country club for the dorm. It will be re-landscaped around a centrally located pool.

Two housekeepers have al-

(Cont'd. p. 3 c. 3)

The Bark Strips — Published and created by a handful of inferior, socially-backward, highly maladjusted students who summon forth their mutual talents once a year (thank goodness) to compile this piece of all-in-good-fun, tongue-in-cheek campus humor.

Linda Hale
Pat Owen
Betsy Ireland
Linda Hunt
Katarina Berg
Melissa McKenzie
Phyllis Reames
Marilyn McCall
Nancy Daume
Tollie Whitt
Kati Ward

Damie Brownlee
Madeena Nolan
Mary Richardson
Jane Anderson
Betty McBride
Donna Burgess
Victor Kemper
Tookie Basch
Joan Bullard
Mike Donovan

Gallstones

The Opinion Board of late has been fairly bristling with statements — we hesitate to call them opinions. A fair sampling reports that we are against boxes, cartoons, cheating, and monkeys. It also reveals a great talent for wasting an astounding amount of words—or an amazing variety of trivia. Is this really true? Are we to believe our student body can devote their time to such details, and ignore the real issues? Does our student body truly prefer to carp about minor drawbacks, and ignore all the benefits this school provides? It seems to be so.

For instance, why has not one word been spoken upon the subject of cream cheese? We know (or should know) that Lindenwood is trying to prepare us for the world as educated, cultured ladies. Are we aware of how far this effort goes; even into the stocking of the machines in the Tea Room? For weeks the sandwich vendors carried a plentiful supply of dainty cream-cheese-and-crab concoctions. Since then, they have made another attempt, with cream-cheese-and-olive. And both of these have been ignominiously sold out by — what? Peanut butter. Think, girls! Is this right? One might almost say—is this possible?

Have we at our time of life not managed to progress beyond the stage of peanut butter? Or if we have, are we so callous that we cannot see cream cheese, symbol of all that spells culture and breeding today, consistently ignored for plebian fare, and take no stand?

Have we become, in fact, so blasé that we no longer have even an opinion on the subject? This cannot be.

Let us show that we do care. Let no one keep silent—cream cheese needs advocates—now! This is the time for some serious soul-searching; now, before the insidious peanut butter conformity sweeps us all along in its wake. This is the time for opinions—real opinions. Most of all, this is the time to act!

Coming Attractions

Attacked in the Tea Hole—
(When the Ice Cream Machine turned on me . . .)
A true account by "Lefty" Larson
"Why I am Striving to be More Like Eleanor Roosevelt"
(Sample opinions from the freshman theme contest)
Hugh Heffner Looks at the Ladies Auxiliary of Moose Lodge No. 27 (Interview obtained by Liz English during an unscheduled trip to Chicago)

America's Kids are Sniffing Library Paste — WHY?? by Bounderby Dewew, Jr.
"The Gospel According
"Spiritual Symbolism Inherent in 'Yogi Bear's Words to Boo-Boo"
by Peter Talbot
"Why We Were Excommunicated from the Inter-Collegiate Press Association"
by the Strips Staff

Announcing - - Exciting Meals

JUST RELEASED — DINING ROOM MENU FOR THE WEEK BEGINNING APRIL 4:

Breakfast:
Pease porridge lumpy
Mushroom coffee cake
Selected Wheaties
Tang

LUNCH
Creamery butter pats on ice
Salt inside beveled shakers
Seasoned peppers of your choice
Sugar portions
Spicy apple vinegar
Sauted leaves of green pekoe tea
Fluffy whipped and spun luncheon napkins
Ice cubes on request

DINNER
Tutti-frutti ice cream over halved prunes and raisins
Dandelion greens in peanut butter sauce
Pickled pigs feet
Beef tongue smothered in parsley
Unleavened bread
Asphyxiated cockroach soup
Mutilated jello cubes topped with Aero-Shave
Pepto Bismo on popular demand
(Menu to be continued when the writer's health permits . . .)

Books Vital for Intellectual Minds

Even though it is not National Book Week or National Let's All Read Day or any facsimile thereof, the Library is doing a booming business which goes to show who knows what. With this in mind, the editors (we are not revealing any names) decided to publish a list of current additions to the stacks. They include,

If I Were Mayor by Odysseus Smartenger
The Three Levels of Meaning of the List of Ingredients on the Back of the Girl Scout Cookie Box by Touchy Jameson
How To Cure Ulcers by Jim Vindaughter
Should a Gentleman Offer a Lady a Tiparillo? by Mrs. Hands Doe
And So On And So On, You See by B. Smitt
Just Keep Smiling by J. B. Less
Gentle Jesus Meek and Mild by Henry Humdrum
Karl Who? by Robin Bonnet
I Get Around by Peggy O'Veil
How I Accumulated Fifty Demerits by Miss Slurpmatches

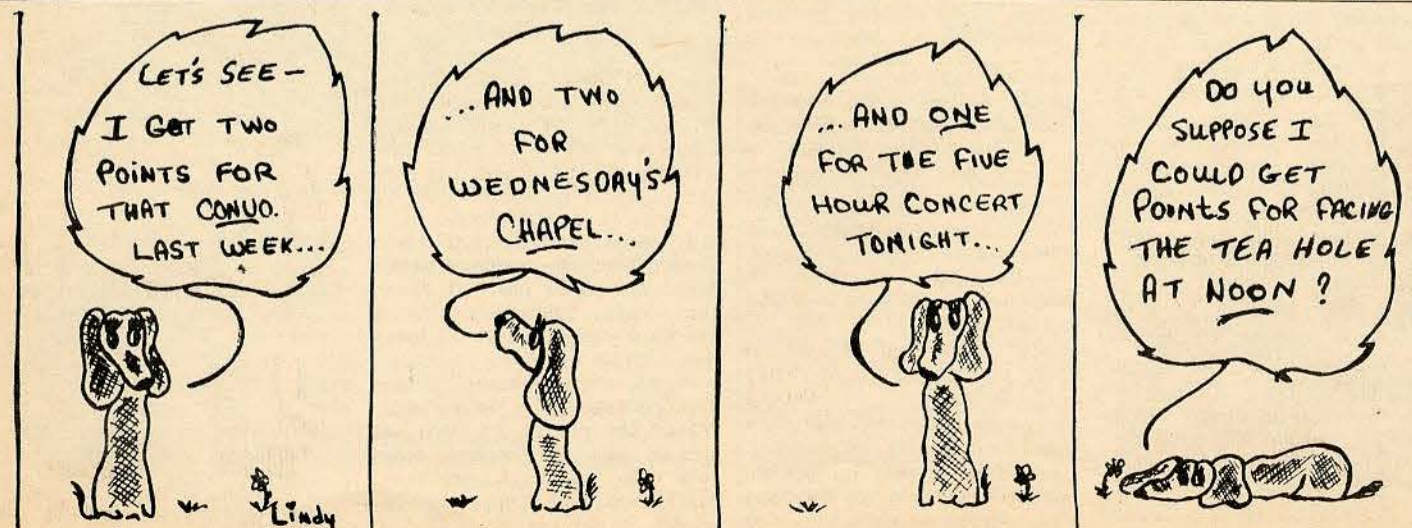

Search for Cobbs' Neighbor

Out behind Cobbs, in that little nook where the road "over the hill" begins, a great bustle is going on. Bricks are being piled up, lumber and cement, escorted by green men, are arriving in all the early hours of the morning. What's going on? It's the new dorm! In front hall Roemer hang three lovely blueprints, showing in great detail the first, second and third floors of this new edifice. And during room registration hordes of girls were asking for living space in the new house. There was only one problem, however. When asked to designate their preference for next year, what could the girls say? New House? So who's Mr. New—other than the latest flame of the girl across the hall? What is the new dorm going to be called? Nowhere, not even on those lovely blueprints is a name even pencilled in with small tentative letters.

In an effort to discover whether this was a local condition, involving only my own state of mind, or whether other members of the campus community were affected, I began nosing around. It seems I am not alone in my mystification—no one on campus knows anymore about it. But, being Lindenwood girls, trained in exercising mind and imagination, the girls had come up with some suggestions—most of them involving the names of well-known individuals around the school. Well in the lead seems to be "The Convent" followed by "The Prude House." But there is another school of thought, fostered, I must admit, by myself, which advocated going to the heart of the school to find a name for the new dorm. Although I am told that it takes money put into the dorm to get one's name on the outside, I am urging that we pick someone who has shown their devotion to the school in more intangible ways. How about the housekeepers who are up polishing the floors, sweeping the walks, etc., by 6:45 every morning? How about Laura and Bertha, who between them have been serving the school for eighty years? Sullentrop Hall, as a tribute to all the housekeepers. Or perhaps Dunn House—that has a nice ring. Or Bushnell. When asked if he would like having the new dorm named after him, Mr. Bushnell replied, "Well, it does take money—I'd be willing to buy a doorknob."

But if the administration will not heed this mandate from the student body, they must, in all decency, help us out of this dark fog in which we are groping. What, O ye Board of Trustees, ye Omnipotent Ones, is that hunk of brick going to be called when you're through playing with it?

Suggested 'Niceties' For Mother's Day

Because Mother's Day is just around the corner, so to speak, the problem of what present to give again faces many Lindenwood students. Being typical students, Lindenwood girls often find it hard to spend any great amount of money on their dearly loved mothers. With this factor in mind, the following gift suggestions have been made.

A.) An eight piece setting of "LC" dishware straight from our own dining room.

Ladies Meet Modern Roles

Administration officials have announced that the increased enrollment of Lindenwood will make it necessary for them to be somewhat less lenient than at present concerning the social regulations of the school. In conjunction with this new code future applicants will be required to submit a certificate of good moral character and a certificate of scholarship from the last school attended along with their applications for admission.

To be adopted by the college next year is a regular course of lectures on the requirements of modern etiquette.

Also next year parents will be requested to furnish a list of approved correspondents for their daughters. Letters addressed to young ladies by any other parties than those excepted, will be mailed unsealed to the parents or guardian's. All letters addressed by young ladies to improper parties will be destroyed.

No callers will be permitted to see young lady pupils without first having been announced to the Lady Principal. The Lady Principal will send for all young ladies when she deems it proper for them to see their callers. Acceptable hours for receiving callers will be on Saturday evenings between the hours of 7 and 9. Requests to receive callers must have been made to the Lady President on the Wednesday preceding the call.

Any young man personally unknown to the President must present letters of introduction from the parents before he is permitted to call on any young lady under the care of the college. All callers will be entertained in the parlors except when the permission of the Lady President has been obtained for entertaining them elsewhere.

Young ladies leaving the grounds for any purpose will be chaperoned and where expense to the chaperone is involved this expense shall be shared by those being chaperoned. All shopping must be attended to on Saturday in company with one of the teachers.

No permission to be away from the campus overnight will be given unless written request is sent directly to the President by the parents.

Further regulations will require students, immediately after the bell is rung in the morning, to assemble in Roemer Auditorium for the daily Bible reading and prayer. Ten minutes after the ringing of the bell in the morning, and directly after it has been rung in the evening, the roll will be called, and every young lady will be expected to be present to answer to her name. There will be no excuse, other than illness, for being absent.

Every student will be expected to attend public worship on the Sabbath morning with the President and family unless permission is given to attend a church of another denomination.

Students are advised to bring the following from home:

Books: Bible and dictionary.
Clothing: waterproof and over-shoes; a gymnasium suit of

(Cont'd p. 3 c. 5)

ST. CHARLES' LARGEST JEWELER -

Herbert F. Abler

LINDENWOOD JEWELRY: GIFTS
CHARMS; RINGS FINE JEWELRY

"THE PERFECT GIFT FOR ANY OCCASION"

Lindenwood Welcomes (?) Chemist Dr. Harold Hide, Visiting Professor

"Better Living Through Chemistry" is his motto. His name — Doctor Harold Hide, and he has recently joined the Lindenwood faculty as visiting professor of Chemical Arts

Professor Hyde Demonstrates "Transformation Formula."

Campus Seens

The administration announces that: girls may only be kissed outside the 5 mile limit . . . the Home Management House must end its policy of using 100% proof wine for cooking purposes . . . the students, especially Olga Urrutia, are kindly requested to stop chasing the squirrels up the trees . . . the Tea Hole is being sued for $10,000 because the change machine swore back at a student last week . . . Old and New Testament will be taught by Ayn Rand next year . . . some girls have been able to get Radio Free Europe in the language lab and KCLC in the dorms . . . Bonnie Zummo was seen playing a Bach organ church service wearing her sunglasses . . . Dr. Dawson was lost last week in the entangling arm of the man eating plant in the greenhouse . . . a petition is circling for a private curtained corner in the post office for girls who have to get their keys out of their bras—those whose keys have dropped to more remote places

(Cont'd. p. 5 c. 2)

"UNITED WE STAND — DIVIDED WE FALL"

and Sciences.

On leave of absence of Ghougrave University in Liverpool, Doctor Hide will teach courses in "Insecticide Composition" and "Basic Chemical Changes." While he is not occupied in the laboratories at Lindenwood, he plans to devote as much time as is humanly possible to his latest book The Many Faces of Hydrochloric Acid. Dr. Hide has also published a collection of brief essays on "D-D-T" and a textbook entitled Deviant Behavior in Emulsifying Agents.

Our reporters found Dr. Hide rather reluctant to answer questions about his most recent research project. He seemed most vehement as he hurled beakers of acid at the startled interviewers. However, it is sincerely hoped that in due time Dr. Hide will show us a different face.

New Classes; Eraser Ed.

A whole new vista is educational techniques was opened last week when the education department offered a two-hour lecture on "How and When to Use an Eraser." It seems, however, that a few of the girls couldn't quite master it and thus spent their evenings doing outside research on eraser techniques.

The next lecture in this series promises to be a thrilling one — "Understanding the Behavioral Problems of the Classroom Guppies and Goldfish." "Chalk — its Possibilities and Challenges" will be offered the following week.

HITCHING POST

(Cont'd from p. 1 c. 5)

ready been purchased for the dorm. They are Jane Wrinkleman and Margo Mustygrove. The housemother has not yet been appointed, but recent college graduates are being interviewed. Her duties will include bartending in the recreation room on week-ends, and outside soliciting for the girls, (so that they may devote more time to classes).

The dorm will be folded each year and put away for the summer months. For this reason, the girls are asked not to store their belongings.

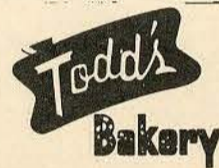

Erection should be completed in November or December. Until that time, the new freshmen will be housed with eligible bachelors in the St. Charles area.

(Cont'd p. 9 c. 6)

Variety Show Stages Unique Performance

All right, ladies — give me that old soft shoe.

Just a Block North of Lindenwood
SNACK BAR

Open 'til 1:30 p.m.

SEX Attends Social Mix

In response to an invitation sent to the Sigma Epsilon Chi Fraternity of Studminster State College by L.C.'s social chairman, May Bobolink, we received this letter and picture from Reginald "Booze" Heartburn. "Booze" is the social chairman for SEX at Studminster.

Letter from Social Chairman of

"Dear Miss Bobolink,

We accept with pleasure your kind invitation to a May mixer. We always enjoy our 'cycle trips to your school; youse all's mixers are always so hip, and we really dig them — Yeah! In the words of SEX's president, Tennis E. Williams: 'Yeah, man — them L.C. girls sure do swing out some fine Maypole dances!'

Mah fraternity is holding a 'cycle-wash to raise the coins for the trip. We plan to get there in time for the floor show, completely loaded up with the ol' brew that's always handy in our saddlebags. We may even BE the floor show! So look out! SEX is gonna be there in full force!

Love to the Lovelies,
R. "Booze" Heartburn
Social Chairman
Sigma Epsilon Chi

SUGGESTED 'NICETIES'

(Cont'd. from p. 2 c. 5)

B.) Or perhaps a large fresh flower arrangement courtesy of the Cultivated Plants Class or Dr. McCluer's garden.

C.) If your mother has an eye for fine silver, why not obtain for her a beautiful antique silver spoon from Lindenwood's own kitchen?

D.) Another useful gift that practically any home can use is an ashtray. These may be found readily on hand in any of the dormitory livingrooms or in the Tea Hole. Those found in the Tea Hole will fit into homes decorated in that fetching style, "Plastic Modern." Period style ashtrays are available in the older dorms.

E.) Potted plastic trees and other types of greenery may be found in various recreation rooms about campus.

F.) Also, wall scrolls, figurines, and various knickknacks may be picked up for practically nothing about campus.

LADIES MEET

(Cont'd. from p. 3 c. 1)

black serge; plaited bloomers and all-white middy blouse; white sneakers; heavy walking shoes — the ordinary kid and suede shoes do not stand the wear of outdoor life, nor do they afford sufficient protection from cold.

Room supplies: one pair of sheets, pillow cases. Where single beds are used, 2 pair sheets, two pillow cases. One blanket and towels.

Miscellaneous: Teaspoon and fork; umbrella; napkin ring and napkins.

Boxes of edibles will be delivered to pupils only at holiday seasons and birthdays. These boxes should contain fruits and other wholesome food. Boxes containing canned goods of any description will not be delivered to pupils, but will be returned

(Cont'd. p. 1 c. 2)

"A Campus That Prays Together — Stays Together."

Campus Beet

... Well, it looks like things are starting to happen on our peaceful little campus—at last. Don't mistake me, I'm not referring to the Science Teaching Center or to the new dorm. Rumor (from a very reliable source, naturally) has it that the student council, with the noted exception of its president, unanimously voted for Lindenwood College to become a nudist camp, beginning next fall. Furthermore, the idea has the full, whole-hearted support of Dr. McCluer himself. It'll be a nice change, don't you think? (Do excuse the pun, please.)

A few other tidbits have been floating around which should win an overwhelming approval: sociology will be replaced by a brand-new course in water polo. Other newcomers to our antediluvian curriculum include knitting and sky diving.

Then there's the one about turning the stables and ring into a race track.

Another course, "How to Beat the Odds," will be offered on demand.

This new dorm that's supposed to be done by September. We aren't sure, but someone on the inside has hinted that it may have a maximum-security ward, for those of us who are unlucky enough to be placed in it. However, it is a remote chance that it will be completed by fall. Guess we'll have to clean up the attics for the horde of freshmen.

Oh, yes—there's going to be a water tower contest. Several hardy souls will volunteer to climb the water tower to raise funds for the A.A. The winner will be made an honorary member of that organization. What more could anyone want?

'STRIPS' PUBLISHES

(Cont'd from p. 4 c. 2)

The End of A Love

All my heart and kisses too,
In the love I give to you.
And I hope that soon you'll find
That I also have a mind
Full of dreams and loving thought;
And if someday our love should rot
And mildew, and its blossom pass—
Remember all the gentle grass
Our bodies flattened in the days
When two in love came different ways.

* * *

And the love story of Troy and Cynthia—

Troy had often noticed Cynthia from his third floor Chemistry lab window as she gyrated her way to the art building on the other side of the campus. As time passed, however, his glances became more intent, and he was always at the window before the time that he

(Cont'd. p. 4 c. 4)

Face in the Crowd - -

Spark L. Horse

This newspaper takes pleasure in introducing for the first time the face of Spark L., a face not often seen by the majority of the student body. Spark L., or Sparky, as he is called by his cronies, resides in Bittner Hall, the old, white, mansion-turned-dormitory just northwest of Sibley.

Sparky was interviewed on one of the coldest and windiest days in the history of Lindenwood. Therefore, the interview was cut a bit short because of the lack of heating and insulation in Sparky's residence hall.

To save space, we will omit the unnecessary prose elaboration which is usually used to pad interviews, and print the dialogue directly from our straw and mud stained notes:

I.: Hi, there, Sparky! Oh, pardon me; I seem to have come at a bad time.

S.: No, no—I was just finishing my meal. Come right in and sit down.

I.: Uh, no thanks. I think I'll just stand.

S.: Could you make this short? It's as cold and drafty as a barn in here!

I.: Uh, yes, I'd noticed that. I just wanted to have our photographer get a picture of you

"Face in the Crowd" — Spark L. Horse and ask you one short question.

S.: Go right ahead.

I.: What is your candid opinion of the meals you have here at Lindenwood?

Sparky refused to comment, and slammed the stall door shut, but not before our photographer took this snapshot of a rather angry young face-in-the-crowd.

'Strips' Publishes Some Rejects From Freshman Writing Contest

We, the various editors of this newspaper, as scholars and critics, feel that much of what could have been great literature, has been lost or unnecessarily destroyed.

Take, for example, the famous legend of Beowulf. This epic would have been lost to future generations, had it not been written down long ago by some obscure bard who was unable to remember it when called upon to recite at various drunken court festivals.

Therefore, we feel that it is our scholarly duty to look twice at literary creations, and perhaps find some treasure which has been discarded in the somewhat hurried process of selection.

By bribing a green man who was emptying the trash from the third floor of Roemer, we salvaged the following items from the Freshman Writing Contest:

Alas! The last petunia petal Falls from the stem
With the clank of metal.
Alas! The last quick, throbbing pains
Tear through my heart
Like colliding trains.

(Cont'd p. 4 c. 3)

LC Student Bravely Defends Life Line - the Water Tower

"Look Fellas — fun's fun, but . . . ! !

Cymbal Concert Scheduled During Spring Vacation

Beginning a pre-arranged program of Great Concerts, the Lindenwood College Association of Symbolic Art will present the first in a series on Monday, March 29.

Mr. Effrem Cymbalist, Jr., the world's best known artist in his field, will introduce a two-part program entitled: "For the Cymbal-Minded." Mr. Cymbalist's orchestra is quite original, and is the only known orchestra of its type appearing anywhere in the world. It consists of 72 full-voiced cymbals, and one flute. The flute is minor in all the arrangements, and is part of the orchestra, as Mr. Cymbalist explains, only for diversion.

The first half of the program will be devoted to Mr. Cymbalist's own arrangements of popular ballads, such as: "Three Cymbals in the Fountain," "Love is a Many-Cymbaled Thing," and "Cymbals on the Shore."

The second part of the program will feature show tunes, for those who have survived or have been too stunned by the performance to escape at half-time. Three of the favorites which will be presented are "My Fair Cymbal," "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Momma's Hit You With The Cymbal And I'm Feeling So Sad," and the main theme from Mr. Shakespeare's current Broadway hit, "Cymbaline."

The concert is required for all Music Majors. English Majors are requested to attend because of the deep symbolism to be found in the various arrangements. Lindenwood College is fortunate in having the opportunity to present this unique program, and all students are urged to remain on campus during Spring Vacation to attend. You-know-whats will be given if you sign the blue cards.

Elegant Dining - - Visit the Tea Hole

(Cont'd. from p. 4 c. 3)

knew she would pass.

He soon became obsessed with her moving figure, and could think of nothing else when he was in the Chemistry lab. His thoughts grew wilder and more desperate each day, and his blood raced with the desire to meet her and tell her of his feeling.

One hot, steaming afternoon, while Troy was working with some especially delicate and dangerous chemicals, he was seized with a burning passion to flee from the building and run to Cynthia as she walked with her sultry gait past his window.

Leaping to his feet, he tripped and the chemicals spilled and burned into his hands and arms. His professor and fellow students rushed him to the main entrance and called an ambulance.

At that moment, Cynthia passed by, slowly swinging her ample hips. Troy reached out his arms to run to her and tell her of his passion, but as he reached, he looked down

(Cont'd p. 6 c. 5)

"O, Rose—thou art sick . . ."

Bungles and Bums

With Valentine's Day having passed by the boards more than a month ago, it's about that time of year again when many girls will be returning such items as fraternity pins, rings, and numerous other trinkets to former boyfriends. It is to these broken romances, to these severed hearts, and to these couples who will never speak to one another again, that this column is dedicated.

Jane Q. of Sibley Hall is pleased to announce that she has happily broken her engagement to Jack R. of Rolla. Jack, you'll be glad to hear, will receive his ring, accompanied by an excruciatingly rude letter of good-bye, in the mail this weekend; and, Jane assures us, he has no idea the whole thing is off. Best of luck to both of you!

It was a moonlit, cloudless night, and Butler circle was the scene of a real knock-down, drag-out fight between Zelda B. and her beau, Fred I., a junior at St. Louis U. The battle, which raged for a solid ninety minutes, was beheld by the entire third floor of Butler, and partially recorded on a tape recorder by an enterprising Radio-TV major. I'll bet there is one happy junior at St. Louis University tonight!

Our congratulations go out to Miss Praeline K. of Ayres Hall for having successfully dumped her leech of a boyfriend, Ralph Z. of the Greater St. Louis Street Dep't.

The Candlelight ceremony at Niccolls Hall was disrupted Tuesday night, when Nellie O. burst hysterically into the room saying that three of her four fiances had just written her and broken all relations permanently. What's more, all three letters came in the same envelope. You seem to have set a record, Nellie, old girl!

At that same Candlelight ceremony, the candle was passed a full three times, before it was smashed over the knee of one other than Mimi Q. The smashing of the candle into two pieces over the knee, means, of course, that another engagement has been blown to oblivion. The lucky guy? Jason V., of Buffalo Junction, Texas, the boy Mimi has dated since junior high school days. To these "break-ups" and all the others: Best of luck, and happy hunting!

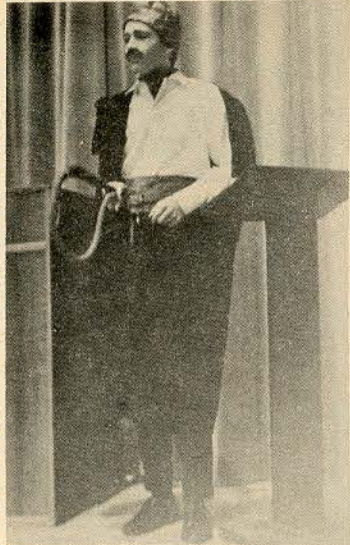

THE DRUNKARD

(Cont'd. from p. 5 c. 4)

"The plot centers about a man struggling with himself, and graphically describes the dark night of the soul," continued Niccolls. "We feel it will be the most rewarding to work with such a challenging and controversial work."

"But how will I explain 56 late minutes, Stuart?"

"New Girls—some of you may have never been to Rolla."

CAMPUS SEENS

(Cont'd from p. 3 c. 2)

will please go to the restroom . . . specialists are being summoned to examine the shape of the freshmen's ears as they come out of the language lab . . . Barb Clausen got lost in her guitar which was permanently shipped to Yale . . . a dozen red roses go to the brave girl who fell climbing out of the 3rd story window of the Health Center . . .

New Feature - - Gnus I've Known

Today's feature article on Campus Animal Life will concern itself with that extremely interesting breed, the Sigma Gnu. The Sigma Gnu is primarily known for its peculiar social and mating customs. This animal has an extremely simple social structure, primarily consisting of imitating a "leader," known for his bragging about, if not actual, "conquests." One of these leaders is called "Lou the Gnu" and is known for the extremely large size of his head and nose.

The Sigma Gnu is an inveterate coward and simply refuses to attack unless intoxicated out of his ever lovin' mind or as a member of the pack. Although the Gnus have access to an extensive change of coloration, they always seem to look the same. You can spot a Gnu anywhere — from ten miles off on a sunny day.

The Gnus would be considered extremely dangerous to humans if it were not for the fact of their pitifully low intelligence and lack of "finesse." However, the Gnu is extremely persistent when aroused (which is about all the time) and may be considered obnoxious, if not actually dangerous, when his rather reflective desires are thwarted.

Goodies Pour into Book Store - - Limited Supply, Also Mysterious

The Bookstore has just received a gigantic shipment of merchandise, according to our crafty Bark reporters. A mysterious-looking armoured truck pulled into the loading docks the other day and deposited a number of large crates, boxes, and packages at the delivery door. Bark news snoopers Marsha Bus slipped into the packages room after hours and by flashlight made a swift survey of the contents. She reports the following:

- 12 dozen Lindenwood brandy snifters engraved with a reproduction of the greenhouse.
- 1 gross of fuchsia sweat-shirts.
- 1 gross of magenta-colored sweat-shirts
- 1 gross of deep purple sweat-shirts
- 24 paperback copies of See

Funny Father by Dick and Jane

1 crate of sterling silver nail clippers

18 reproductions of The Mona Lisa — suitable for framing

250 tubes of Maxie Rubenstein's Shampoo plus egg

15 copperplated spittoons

1 elephant tusk

7 pairs of nylon reinforced hip waders, size 13½

According to our sources, only one crate remained uninvestigated. Reporter Bus related to us that she was somewhat distressed by the strange noises issuing forth from an 8' x 10' container with holes punched in the top of it. "It was sort of a growling sound — and there were funny scratching noises. I can't imagine what it might be." Can you, Dear Reader?

"Rhapunzel, Rhapunzel . . . let down your golden hair—please! !"

DON HAMMOND
PHOTOGRAPHY
 PORTRAITS, WEDDINGS
 Portraits of Distinction
 RANDOLPH 4-8697
 1049 CLAY

'The Drunkard' To Be Presented in May

"This is a deep and searching drama, which I sincerely feel will be a challenge to all concerned." This statement was given by Mike Niccolls, co-director of the drama department's latest project, The Drunkard. The three-act psychological drama will be produced on May 5 and 6, also under the direction of Madeena S. May.

Something new in this play is the casting of faculty and administration in key roles. Some surprises may be Dr. Hood in his first dramatic role as the noble, scholarly hero whose tragic flaw is a fatal weakness for the bottle; Fred Helsabeck lending his dark, mature charm to the part of the suave, sinister villain; Mrs. Buck as the seductive temptress; Miss L. in the role of the patient, unassuming, meek wife, and Miss Odell as the innocent daughter.

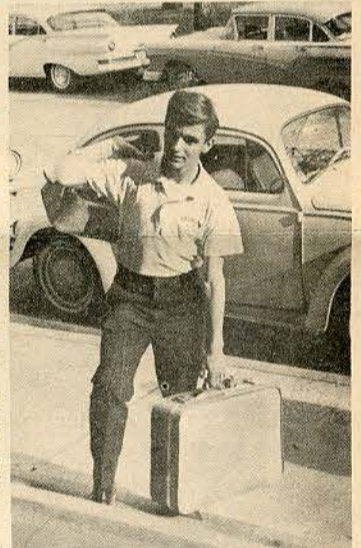

(Cont'd p. 5 c. 1)

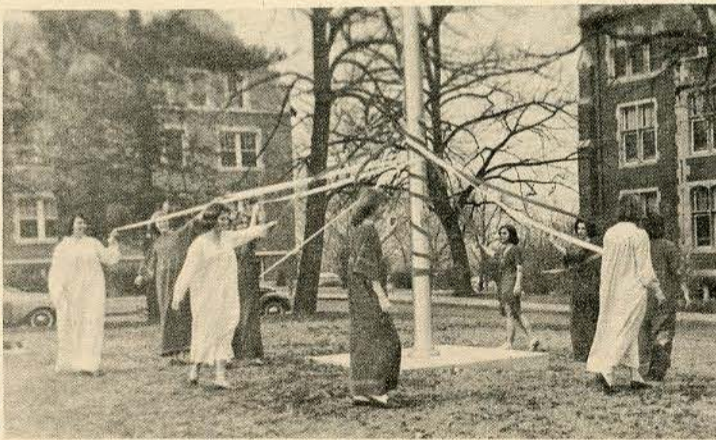

"Hey — you got a Throttle up there, Hale?"

Maestro Newspaper Editor Night Before Deadline

"Yes, Ma'am, I realize this is highly irregular, but . . ."

Maypole Tradition Revived.

The annual "Maypole Dance" has participated in these festivities for four years, had this to say: "Well, we usually wreck the whole Maypole and trample all the grass. As you can see, the girls weren't quite so violent this year. The Maypole is still standing and a couple of the ribbons aren't even torn to shreds. It disappoints me. There's too much apathy among Maypole dancers this season."

Cookie Smash, however, had a more favorable impression: "Gee," she panted, "I sure had lots of fun. I knocked down two other dancers, destroyed my ribbon, and stepped on one of the bugle players. It was neat!"

Following the dance, the maidens collapsed on the lawn in a bedraggled heap. Joy Gailley, a grand old senior who

What do you MEAN? "Did I try to SAVE A TABLE!?"

Straight From
Our Ovens
To You!
COTTAGE BAKERIES

141 N. Main
1924 W. Clay

Hob-Nob Cafeteria

FINE FOOD
HOMEMADE PIES
Quick Service - Low Prices
CARRY OUT SERVICE
Phone RA 3-0320
108 South Main Street
St. Charles, Mo.

FOR CONVENIENCE SAKE!
CALL

ST. CHARLES YELLOW
CAB COMPANY

RA 4-1234

ST. CHARLES
OPTICAL CO.

Oculists' Prescriptions
Filled

Hours Daily
9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

RAndolph 4-2570

"Located in St. Charles"
120 CLAY STREET

Italian Foods,
Steak, Chicken, Sea Food
Sandwiches

Saullo's

RESTAURANT
RA 4-7083 500 Morgan
(For Carry Outs) St. Charles

Hallmark

Contemporary

CARDS

AHMANN'S
NEWS STAND

223 N. MAIN STREET

"WAS THIS THE FACE THAT LAUNCHED A THOUSAND SHIPS ? ? ? ?"

A Sundae's Not
A Sundae unless it's made with ice cream from
St. Charles Dairy

PATHWAY
BOOK & GIFT
SHOP

1015 CLAY STREET
RA 4-4010

Jordan Cleaners

NOW

PICK UP AND DELIVERY AT COLLEGE BOOK STORE

2022 W Clay
CALL RA 3-1200

'STRIPS' PUBLISHES
(Cont'd. from p. 4 c. 5)
and saw that his hands and forearms were no longer there

"the individual salon . . . for the individual"

SPECIAL

Wednesdays only . . . Haircuts $1.50

Countess Salon of Beauty

2212 WEST ELM

Transportation
FREE
on
Thurs., Fri., Sat.

RA. 4-9654

9 - 9 MON - FRI
9 - 4 SAT

For artistic arrangement • For quality flowers

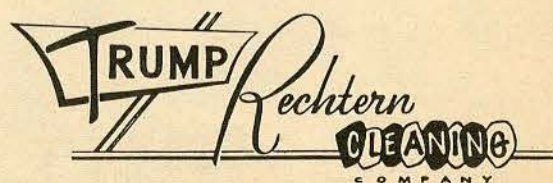

For prompt and efficient service — CALL

BUSE'S FLOWER & GIFT SHOP

PHONE RA 4-0148

400 CLAY STREET

200 NORTH KINGSHIGHWAY PHONE RA 4-6100
1 BLOCK NORTH OF CAMPUS

PICK-UP AND DELIVERY AT THE BOOK STORE