

The Lions are upset 46-38 by the University of St. Francis in the opening round of the 2010 NAIA playoffs.

Page 5 ►

Women's volleyball wins in the opening round of the NAIA championships and advances to the quarterfinals.

◀ Page 6

The Legacy

Lindenwood's Student Newspaper

Volume 4, Number 8

www.lulegacy.com

Dec. 1, 2010

STL Sports Hall of Fame honors LU

Tribute awarded for 'excellence in sports' since inception of athletic program

By Issa David
Staff Reporter

The St. Louis Sports Hall of Fame honored Lindenwood Athletics at the Hall of Fame dinner at the Millennium Hotel in downtown St. Louis on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

"It was not only a great honor, but a tribute to all of the current and past players, coaches and administration for everyone's hard work," said Vince O'Mara, women's ice hockey coach.

The award was given for excellence in sports since the inception of LU athletics. In the past two seasons, LU athletics won six national championships and fell only three points short of winning seven (2009 football).

In the last nine years, LU athletics has won 46 national titles, 10 of them in the NAIA division.

"It was indeed a special night and a very significant recognition of where Lindenwood is in the collegiate sports world," said Athletic Director John Creer.

Specifically, clay target shooting has won seven straight national titles. The dance team has won three straight national titles, as well as the water polo team from 2006-08.

Men's and women's bowling each have won a national title, along with the women's table tennis and the men's volleyball team.

Men's soccer won the NAIA title in 2004, and track and field has won four NAIA titles. Wrestling has had the most NAIA success with five NAIA titles under former coach Joe Parisi.

Please see Fame, Page 7

'Tis The Season

Legacy photos by Lauren Kastendieck

Four large Christmas trees surrounded by white "snow" and garland along the staircase welcome guests to the entry of the J. Scheidegger Center.

(Right) A decorated wreath shines brightly in the hallway of the center's second floor. (Bottom left) Garland lines the railing in the main entryway of the Scheidegger Center. (Bottom right) Red and green bulbs illuminate the outside of the center along with wreaths wrapped in lights.

FPA dons the Christmas spirit

By Lauren Kastendieck
Photo Editor

Opening doors to the smell of garland, a hint of cinnamon and bright LED lights, Christmas decorations are what fill the J. Scheidegger Center.

"We wanted to decorate as much as possible this year because this building is the place where the public comes to," said sophomore Kyle Long, the primary decorator.

"It puts you into the festive feeling, seeing the lights and the trees on display."

Long designed the decorations, decided where the decorations would be and was involved in putting up the decorations.

Please see FPA, Page 8

NBS Chapter inducts ten LU students

Because of large number of new members, group stays on campus as an organization

By Samantha Bartley
Contributing Writer

Lindenwood's National Broadcasting Society Alpha Epsilon Rho (NBS-AERho) will induct more than 10 members this week, which is a first since 1998. The Induction Ceremony will be held Dec. 3 at 4 p.m. at the LUTV studio in the J. Scheidegger Center.

Last year, the Lindenwood NBS Chapter lost most of their members since most of them graduated, and the Chapter ended the year with no committed members.

NBS was fading away until more than 10 students showed up to the first meeting at the start of the 2010 fall semester and voted that NBS stay an organization.

NBS advisor Deb Nicolai said, "I think it is great we went from no membership to 10 students who are interested, and to go from non-existence to more than 10 members is incredible."

The inductees will be initiated by NBS advisors Deb Nicolai, Jill Falk and former NBS member Chad Briesacher.

The NBS will also initiate new officers for the 2010-2011 year including a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, communications officer and LSGA representative.

"I am so impressed with the enthusiasm, talent and potential in these students because before this I was about to let the group go dormant, only having one student left in NBS," Nicolai said. "I am also excited to make Jill Falk my co-advisor because without her, we would not have near the interest. These students are excited about NBS, and that makes me excited."

"I am so impressed with the enthusiasm, talent and potential in these students."

—Deb Nicolai
NBS advisor

The Lindenwood NBS Chapter started in 1954 and has been growing ever since. The Chapter attends both a regional and national convention each year in different regions. This year the NBS chapter will travel to Los Angeles for the national convention.

"The NBS is a great organization for students to join who are seeking careers in any electronic or print media," Briesacher said. "I won a lot of awards for my 30-second spot promo and public service announcements."

Please see NBS, Page 8

Student-athlete advisory committee volunteers at Hall of Fame dinner

By Kelsey Biggs
Contributing Writer

Several of Lindenwood's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) members found that volunteering has definite rewards when they stepped up to participate at the St. Louis Sports

Hall of Fame Enshrinement Dinner at the Millennium Hotel in downtown St. Louis Nov. 16.

The dinner was held to honor some of St. Louis's top athletes, including Albert Pujols, Marshall Faulk and Jack Clark.

After assisting guests to their tables, the SAAC members watched the program and participated in honoring the special guests.

"It was really exciting to see Albert Pujols and Marshall Faulk. We all were star struck when we walked by them," said SAAC President Kelsey Jo Vogler.

"It's an experience I'll never forget."

Lindenwood's SAAC is made up of 52 representatives, two from each of the 17 sports that will move to NCAA Division II in the next couple of years.

Every NCAA school is required to have a SAAC.

As stated on the NCAA's website, SAAC's mission statement is "to enhance the total student-athlete experience by promoting opportunity, protecting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image."

Representatives from each sport are required to attend all meetings. They are also expected to be a liaison between the NCAA, and their respective teams and should inform their teams of any rule changes or important topics discussed during meetings.

Please see SAAC, Page 8

LU to host Christmas Walk Dec. 5

By Andrea Scott and Matthew Ratkowski
Contributing Writers

Lindenwood brings in the holiday spirit with its fourth annual Christmas Walk "Walk in the Winter Wonderland" on Dec. 5 from 4-8 p.m.

While walking along the designated route, one can observe the many different decorated buildings. The sidewalks will be lined with small bags that have candles lit inside to lead students and guests to the buildings.

Lindenwood students, as well as the entire St. Charles community, is invited to join the festivities that are free to all.

The event is sponsored by the Lindenwood Student Association and organized primarily by the committee chairs Jennifer Swisher and Giang Tran.

Upon arrival, students and guests are asked to first register at the Spellmann Center. After registering, many events will take place around the campus.

President James Evans will open ceremonies in Ayres Hall, where there will be the making of Christmas cards for U.S. troops. In Sibley Chapel, all can enjoy and sing traditional Christmas carols.

Parker Hall's lounge will contain cooking, decorating and smores being made,

"Last year we had approximately 300 people, and this year we are hoping to double that."

-Jennifer Swisher
Committee chair

held by Phi Lambda Phi. McCluer Hall lounge is where pictures with Santa will take place. Stories with Mrs. Claus will take place in Butler Library. The Quad will have a live nativity and petting zoo.

A new tradition is President Evans lighting a Christmas tree under the Spellmann clock tower at 4 p.m. All student organizations wishing to participate in this event can have an ornament on the tree.

"Last year we had approximately 300 people, and this year we are hoping to double that," Swisher said.

A group of students in Young Hall works on a final for their science course. Professors have the option to give projects or presentations as finals. Legacy photo by Christie Blecher

Final types depend on course

By Sarah Fritsche
Staff Reporter

This semester, finals week will be Monday, Dec. 6 through Friday, Dec. 10. To accommodate students, the Butler Library, the Spellmann Center Connection and the Spellmann Center computer lab have extended hours.

During this week, the cafeteria will hold a midnight breakfast, where students join together to eat and enjoy music on Dec. 6 from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Depending on the class, the type of final exams will differ. Some courses may have tests, while others may be projects or presentations. Each professor uses different tactics to decide what information is important enough for the exam. "I always default to information which is seminal and foundational for informing future studies in graduate school or working in the field," said theatre professor Donnell Walsh.

Professors who choose to give exams make them either cumulative or comprehensive. Cumulative exams focus on the information studied throughout the whole semester; whereas comprehensive exams focus on the material learned after the last test taken in the class.

Some professors like to give exams in two separate parts. For example, in professor Jeanie Thies' criminology class, the students work in groups to create a presentation about crime control, as well as write an individual essay. The presentations are given throughout the last days of regularly scheduled courses and finished on the scheduled exam day. "I don't see inherent value in memorizing theories, names of theorists, and dates when these were formulated. What matters to me is how can a student take knowledge about a theory of crime causality, and use it to evaluate a particular crime control policy that may affect them," Thies said.

Projects or presentations are a popular way that professors use for a final exam. They are a way for students to express themselves and show the professor what they have learned without being restricted to set questions.

Most professors say that they hope that the student will gain an overall knowledge of the ideas discussed in that class after taking the final exam.

Gingham's
HOMESTYLE RESTAURANT

Open 24 Hours

Wi-Fi Available

10% Discount for
Lindenwood Students

Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Served All Day

Catholic Student Union provides bonfire, food

By Steven Kornfeld
Contributing Writer

Despite the breezy fall weather, several Lindenwood students gathered for a bonfire hosted by the Catholic Student Union (CSU) on Saturday, Nov. 20, from 7-11 p.m.

"It's a little chilly, but it's so beautiful outside," said junior Gabrielle Blockton. "You can see the moon very clearly tonight."

Similarly, CSU president Amanda Bock said, "It's cold enough for people who would want to come to a bonfire, but not too cold to where people would stay away."

The fire was held by the lake behind Pfremmer Hall. Students were treated to hotdogs and marshmallows that they could skewer and toast by the fire light. Hot cocoa and apple cider also kept people warm.

The event marked the CSU's third annual bonfire. "It's probably the nicest night we've had for it," said graduate student Natalie Orf.

Even with the size reduction, senior Brad Baumgarten enjoyed the evening. "It's so calming," he said. "It is very nice that we get to do things like this on our campus."

Between 30-40 people turned out for the bonfire. Some sat on blankets, watching the fire, while others stood around chatting.

"It has a homey feel to it," said Blockton, describing the scene. "Not a lot of people, but it's more like close friends."

Bock was impressed by the diversity of the attendees. "There are CSU members plus other people," she said. "They brought their friends, and that's what I was aiming for as president of the CSU."

Actor Stacy Keach visits LU, speaks about valuable lessons

By Matt Korn
Entertainment Editor

Students packed Young Auditorium Monday, Nov. 15, for an unusual learning experience hosted by assistant communications professor Rift Fournier and actor Stacy Keach. Keach was at Lindenwood Sunday, Nov. 14 to accept a lifetime achievement award from Cinema St. Louis.

The educational seminar started with a 20 minute reel highlighting Keach's achievements in cinema, television and stage.

The two-hour plus discussion that followed the reel was a combination of stories that Keach and Fournier had, along with questions from students. Although some material and advice was reiterated by Keach from the weekend ceremonies, the infusion of student interest energized Keach's answers.

Keach told students that repetition is the only way to become a success at something.

He said, "If you want to be good, you'll have to work to get there."

He was quick to warn theater students that show business is savage and that they will need to get used to constant disappointment, but he said they should also be disciplined in tenacity and never give up.

Fournier, who brought Keach to Lindenwood, believes that this kind of experience is something that can benefit students along with what they are taught in classrooms.

"The principal reason my friend Stacy came to St. Louis was for the students, not the award. We're fortunate that Dr. Evans and Dr. Weitzel are supportive of efforts to bring people like Stacy to campus to share their experience, strength and hope to our students," Fournier said.

Some of Keach's future projects include "Lights Out," a boxing drama on FX Network, "Planes," a Pixar animation about the life of airplanes and "Other Desert Cities," which will debut on Broadway in 2011.

Stacy Keach

Make school more than just classes, go outside element

I've been informed that this is the last column I will be writing in my college career. In the next two weeks, I will finally be receiving my Master's and moving on to that great gig in the sky... a real job.

To be honest, I didn't even realize it until the editor of The Legacy mentioned it the other day saying "Are you going out with a bang for your final editorial ever?"

That's a bit more pressure than I expected for a usually simple editorial.

Being that this is my last column, I'd like to use it to give some small words of wisdom, something that is quite common for student writers and their last news issue.

If I have learned one thing from my all too long college career, it's that getting involved with activities outside of your classes and social life are of the utmost importance in obtaining a full college experience.

When I first started college, I was a 19 year old kid at Miz-zou. One transfer, two changes in my major and a handful of classes later, I was asked by a former classmate if I wanted to be the features editor for the school newspaper.

I had no experience in news writing, editing, assigning stories, etc. Needless to say, I felt unqualified and unprepared to accept the job...but I did.

Over the next two years I learned how to delegate responsibilities, handle people, sharpened my writings skills and various other skills that, believe it or not, employers actually look for in candidates when they hire.

I also found out that I truly enjoyed writing opinion columns and that I was good at it (though you probably can't tell from this one).

So good, in fact, that one of the best columns I felt I've written caused 5,000 copies of the school paper to be stolen from the campus by a group of students who vehemently disagreed with my views. It makes for one hell of a bar story.

All of those experiences at my former college allowed me the opportunity to come to Lindenwood as a graduate as-

Chris Bennett

Other than nominal lab fees and book, I have spent exactly zero dollars on my graduate education.

And this wouldn't have been possible if I hadn't taken that first step of getting involved and stepping outside of my element.

This is what college is all about; taking risks and learning what you are capable of. But this is not possible if you don't get involved in your school outside of class.

There are a plethora of opportunities for students to experience and benefit from; you just have to look for them.

In the end, you'll gain job skills, friends, resume material and, above all, memories, the only thing that humans have that are truly their own.

Well, those are my words of wisdom. Listen to them or don't. It's up to you. Just don't say no one ever told you.

As a last note, I'd like to thank the one person who has read every column I've ever written, my father. His careful guidance and vigilance in my upbringing have made me who I am today...and for that I am forever grateful.

Enjoy your winter break kids.

Finals, Facebook just do not mix

With finals week approaching, Facebook provides an outlet for distraction among LU students.

Finals week is one of the most stressful times for college students. Since Web sites like Facebook have been around, it has caused distraction among students everywhere.

A study done at Open University in the Netherlands showed that students who use Facebook have grades twenty percent lower than students who don't use Facebook.

Professor Paul Kirschne from the university said that processing two streams of information could lead to mistakes.

Facebook has also reached younger generations than collage students. Jessica Collins, junior education major, says, "My brother is a freshman in high school and he has had Facebook for three years. When I was his age, Facebook didn't exist."

When asked about how she balances finals and Facebook she said, "I make sure I take my Adderall."

Collins also explained that she focuses on one task at a time and doesn't let herself get overwhelmed.

"Finals week is hard, but it's not forever," Collins said.

For other students, dealing with Facebook and finals is different.

Junior music major Sarah Owen has a different take.

"During finals week, I delete my Facebook profile. It helps me focus on my studies and defeats the urge to check my profile," Owens said.

For freshman students, finals week is still the unknown.

Freshman music major Camden Bettey explained his thoughts on finals and Facebook,

"I managed to do okay on finals in high school. I check my Facebook every day, but I don't see it as a distraction."

I expect college finals to be harder than high school ones, but I'm not worried," said Bettey.

The Facebook problem is making students not focus on their studies.

With groups on Facebook like "I started to do my homework, but I ended up on Facebook" with almost 1 million likes, this is surely a problem that will persist in the upcoming years.

Robby Baker

The Legacy

Spellmann Center 3095/3100

209 S. Kingshighway

St. Charles, Mo. 63301

Telephone: (636) 949-4336

E-mail: journalismlab@lindenwood.edu

The Staff:

Editor-in-Chief: Micah Woodard

Managing Editor: Natasha Sakovich

Photo Editor: Lauren Kastendieck

Entertainment Editor: Matt Korn

International Editor: Samantha Werbiski

Sports Editor: Alex Jahncke

Opinions Editor: Reggie Noble

Cartoonist/ Ad Designer: Wes Murrell

Ad Manager: Melissa Simon

Web Editor: Chris Bennett

Field Correspondant: Issa David

Faculty Adviser: Tom Pettit

Take heart future graduates

This is a message to the upcoming graduates, both fall and spring: Do not be afraid of the real world. That's not to say it isn't scary, because it is. The world isn't fair. It just isn't. It will chew you up and spit you out. It will reject your every advance; however, don't give up.

I know these things because I've been there. Before going back to school to finish my undergraduate degree, I worked in the real world for a few years. I've made good money, traveled, and met awesome people. I've also been rejected, laid off, broke, and discouraged. I wouldn't have it any other way.

Now that I'm upon graduation and about to enter back into the real world, I'm a little intimidated. Since going back to school, I'm realizing how much the educational system is a comfort zone. Most people are in school more or less for 20 of their first years of life, then suddenly forced into the world.

I will say this. No amount of training or education can prepare you for what the world has to offer. You will possibly get rejected for many jobs you apply or interview for. Take all of this in stride and learn from it.

Don't let these kinds of things deter you from reaching for and attaining your goals.

I feel like this message is an important one to deliver. There is no amount of college classes or learning from your parents that can prepare you for what the world has to offer. The only, and best way, is to learn on your own. Consider that Life 101, and class is about to be in session. Good luck.

Reggie Noble

Current Events Corner

What final are you studying for the most and why?

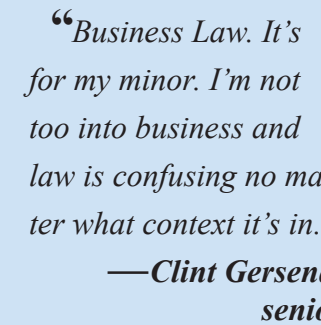

"My art history class because it's the only final I have to study for."
—Danielle Sarakas, senior

"Patternmaking because it's the most time consuming. It's a project and a written final."
—Alizeh Jumani, junior

"Media management because it's the toughest class in my major."
—Adam Hermann, senior

"Business Law. It's for my minor. I'm not too into business and law is confusing no matter what context it's in."
—Clint Gersena, senior

Tyler Dolph

"Anatomy and physiology because I want to keep my A I have now and the test is cumulative."
—Cody Ksioszk, junior

"American lit because I haven't been up on the work as much as I should have been."
—Andy Reed, senior

The 'Real test' begins now

The 2010 year is coming to a close and with it will be the end of a college career for a few lucky graduates. December graduates are few and far between.

Graduation is the culmination of 16 years of education and hesitation about trying to find a job in a weak economy. About 2.4 million students will graduate with degrees as part of the Class of 2010, says the National Center for Education Statistics. The graduates will go head-to-head not only with fellow classmates but also with laid-off workers, financially strapped retirees and still-unemployed 2009 and 2008 grads. Student Jake Hill is optimistic about his chances. "The market is going to get better," Hill said. "I have worked hard these last four years. It may take some time but I am going to find a job."

There will always be jobs and the economy is bound to pick up, but who knows how long that will take.

Some people say that once the baby boomers retire there will be more than enough jobs available, and there will be jobs we could not even imagine for majors that have not been invented. But what about now? Your guess is as good as mine.

Scottish & Farfray by Wes Murrell

St. Charles area presents holiday festivities, events

By Holly Hoechstebach
Staff Reporter

As the crisp winter air settles in, holiday hits such as "Jingle Bell Rock" take over radio stations and Christmas lights glisten on the trees and rooftops. Despite the cold, the holiday season offers many fun-filled festivities to take part in. Bundle up and get into the season's spirit with these holiday activities in and around St. Charles.

While making holiday plans, stop by Historic Main Street in St. Charles for an old-fashioned, traditional Christmas celebration. Stroll down streets of sparkling lights while encountering storybook characters, Victorian carolers and Santas from different parts of the world. Take a break at one of Main Street's restaurants or wineries or drop in a shop for some holiday shopping.

During your trip to Main Street, don't forget ice skating at Frontier Park. Located off Riverside Drive by the Missouri riverfront, enjoy the holiday atmosphere while gliding along to Christmas melodies. The outdoor ice rink is open Nov. 26 through Jan. 2. Admission is $7 for adults, $6 for students with an I.D. and $6 for seniors and children under 12. All admission is cash only and skate rental is $6. For more information visit www.stcharleschristmas.com.

For an array of more than a million sparkling lights, visit the Celebration of Lights, a drive-through light display held inside Fort Zumwalt Park in O'Fallon. A tradition since 1991, each holiday scene is created and sponsored by nearby organizations, churches and businesses.

The scenic drive is one mile long and takes about 20 minutes. Celebration of Lights is open Nov. 26 through Dec. 30, but is closed on Dec. 25. Monday nights are reservations only. Viewing choices include driving through, walking, carriage rides, or train and sleigh rides. The nightly cost is $9 for cars and $15 for vans. For more information call 636 379 5614 or visit www.ofallon.mo.us/dept_tourism.htm.

A tradition since 1982, the annual Candlelight Christmas Walk in Augusta provides visitors with a small town cheerfulness feel. As the streets sparkle with more than 1,500 lights, a free trolley shuttle takes individuals sightseeing around town.

Sing Christmas carols at the Ebenezer United Church of Christ, drop by a number of specialty stores full of unique jewelry and hand-crafted gifts, have dinner in a quaint restaurant, sip distinctive wine in a winery or warm up at the Town Square bonfire with chestnuts roasting and hot chocolate. Horse-drawn carriages are also offered.

The Candlelight Christmas Walk only occurs two days: Fri., Dec. 3 and 10 from 5 to 10 p.m. For more information visit www.augusta-chamber.org and look under events.

LUTV provides new programs

By Tom Ostertag
Contributing Writer

New programs are making the way to the weekly lineup on LUTV.

"Artful" is a show about arts in the area, both on and off campus. "The show covers anything from fine art to media art to written art," said "Artful" producer Lindsie Arbeiter. The goal of the program is to appeal to Lindenwood art majors, and those just interested in art, Arbeiter said.

"Artful" episodes have included special guests and performances from several different genres of art. "We had some dancers come on, and perform a "Dirty Dancing" skit, that they performed downtown in St. Louis," Arbeiter said. "Rather than sitting, talking about the arts, we're seeing it in action."

LUTV also features a new film show, "Reel Talk." Show host Brett Figus said, "It's by people who love movies, for people who love movies." The show discusses upcoming, current, and past films. Figus said that one of their goals is to tell the viewer how good a new film is, before they spend money to see it.

LUTV is also expanding in other areas. Peter Carlos, director of programming for LUTV, said "We are going to try to bring in some new sports like tennis and ping pong." "We're also revamping all the shows with their openings and graphics," Carlos said.

LUTV can be seen on channel 26 on campus, and Charter Communications channel 989 in the St. Charles area, as well as online at lindenwood.edu/lutv.

For more information about programming, contact Peter Carlos at pccarlos@lindenwood.edu.

Courtesy photo

The Ghost of Christmas Future prepares for a bone chilling act in LU's version of "A Christmas Carol."

Costumes tell 'Christmas' tale

By Mikayla Francese
Contributing Writer

The classic story, "A Christmas Carol," returns for a second weekend Dec. 2-4 in the Bezemes Family Theater with costumes old and new. Costume Manager Donna Northcott helps bring the magic of Charles Dickens' story to a higher level.

After producing the play for almost 30 years, the Lindenwood cast reuses most of the costumes from over the years, but some require changes.

Different sizes are needed, costumes become worn out and eventually a higher standard develops.

"Now that we have such a beautiful new theatre to perform in, we need to create even better sets and costumes," Northcott said. "Audiences will expect really attractive costumes in such a professional environment."

The project started in early October before the play was cast. With the help of Northcott's graduate assistant, Wes Jenkins, and around 10 Work and Learn students, the play's costumes were touched up or even in some cases recreated.

"We built about a dozen new women's hats last year and some cloaks to 'freshen up' the look of the show," Northcott said.

"We also add new or different trim to costumes, but each year we end up building several completely new outfits."

A new Mrs. Cratchit outfit was made while the one from last year is now on one of the Cratchit daughters. The Christmas Past ghost has a new look with a different hat, cape and jacket. New costumes were also made for Old Joe, two tailcoats and five vests for men at Fred's party, dresses for two female Christmas carolers, and a doll outfit to look like the Christmas Past ghost.

New characters were added to the play, requiring new costumes, including seven apparitions, a rich woman, a rich child, a doll maker, a cider vendor, a watchmaker, three sled girls and an undertaker.

In total, 60 actors and actresses needed outfits, but only 20 use just one costume. The rest have two or more.

The old and new can be seen at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. For more information and ticket prices, visit <http://www.lindenwood.edu/center>.

After producing the play for almost 30 years, the Lindenwood cast reuses most of the costumes from over the years, but some require different changes.

Lindenwood Night Every Wednesday!
after 10 p.m.

1/2 price Bowling Anytime

O.T. HILL'S
ST. CHARLES LANES

2187 First Capitol Drive
(636) 949-0311

Health Insurance Made Easy!

Your local Agency, serving the St. Charles Community for over 30 years!

We offer Health Coverage for:

- Businesses
- Individuals without Group Coverage
- Independent Contractors
- COBRA / Alternative
- Self-Employed
- Dependents
- Students

Steven J. Lang, President

Lang Insurance Service
Health Insurance Made Easy!®
www.langinsurance.com
(636) 229-7000

Legacy photo by Lauren Kastendieck

Running back Denodus O'Bryant finds a hole made by the O-line in the Nov. 20 playoff game against SFU.

Lions football falls in first round

By Alex Jahnce
Sports Editor

The Lindenwood Lions had their season brought to an abrupt end Saturday after a 46-38 loss to the Saint Francis University (SFU) Cougars in the first round of the NAIA playoffs. They finished their season with a 9-2 record.

"Well, we battled hard for 60 minutes," Head Coach Patrick Ross said. "I still feel that we have the best in the country, we just couldn't catch a break there at the end.

The Lions kicked off to start the game, and the defense made a quick three and out, which gave Staback and the offense a chance at the first score. It only took eight plays for Jamere Holland to take a catch 56 yards for a touchdown. SFU answered back quickly with a score of their own. This would be the course of the game until the fourth quarter with the score tied 38-38. The Cougars were kept out of the endzone for the first time of the second half, so they were forced to attempt a 19 yard field goal.

The Lions caught a break when the ball went wide right.

The Lions took possession at their 20 yard line with a chance to take the lead. They started moving the ball, thanks to a pass interference flag.

Two plays later, Staback was rushed and lost control of the ball. He fumbled and it was quickly recovered by SFU.

Please see Football, Page 7

My Take

An unfortunate end to a season that showed a lot of promise

In journalism, there is an unwritten rule that states: Don't get close to your sources. I have to say; up to this point, I feel that I have done well following that rule. That is, until the conclusion of the Lions 2010 football season.

You see, as I was watching the first round of the NAIA playoffs, it really never occurred to me that the Lions would lose. They had it all: a strong defense, an unstoppable running back core and a quarterback with a lot of receiving weapons.

All season they crushed their opponents with the exception of one loss that came to a very qualified Mid-America Nazarene team.

At the start of the game, they looked as if they would be the same old Lions, until Saint Francis Quarterback Shaine Tierney really got going. Now I won't go into the details, that's what the actual story is for, but I will describe the atmosphere of the press box at the end of the game.

All season we would not have to put much interest into the game because the Lions were always ahead in points comfortably, but in the last five minutes, we were all on our feet.

After a missed field goal, LU finally had a chance to make a drive for the win. Only five plays into the drive, they fumbled not only the ball, but essentially their season.

A few plays later, SFU scored the winning touchdown, sealing the Lions' fate.

As I went down on the field to get my final interviews, I was surrounded by the very disappointed players and coaches. I felt really out of place. I thought maybe I should give them time. Then I thought about that unwritten rule, so I stayed.

I was there for almost 15 minutes while the players were letting the loss sink in. They all huddled up as a team and then broke up into their respective positions.

As things were settling down, I was asked who I wanted to interview. I quickly answered with, "coach Ross and quarterback Philip Staback."

I was lucky because they were together talking. I watched and waited as they were standing there. Then it occurred to me that this would be the last time that they would talk on the field as player and coach.

It's hard to grasp how meaningful this moment really is unless you have been an athlete. As a player, it is priceless and something that you hold on to forever.

I had my questions ready as Staback approached me. We went to shake hands, but it quickly turned into a hug. It was then that I threw the "unwritten rule" out the window.

I have really followed the Lions closely the last two years, and in those two years it was Staback who made sure he always gave me the time of day to get a quick interview. The guy holds countless LU records and has led the Lions to two playoff births. Honestly, to me that means next to nothing compared to the type of person he is.

People see football players

"People see football players as cocky jocks and quarterbacks as egocentric jerks, but that is quite the opposite for Staback."

Alex Jahnce
Sports Editor

as cocky jocks and quarterbacks as egocentric jerks, but it is quite the opposite for Staback.

The moment before the final interview with Staback was when I realized I was in fact attached to this team. I can't lie when I say it was hard to see this team lose, but I will also say they played their hearts out and never gave up.

You have to give Saint Francis all the credit in the world. They were prepared for everything, and it was clear that they studied the Lions very well.

Still, the Lions came so far and should be applauded for their efforts this season. All the seniors deserve to be recognized as great athletes. It is a shame that this is their final season here at LU because they have all given so much to the team.

I will miss following the likes of Nick Tepea, Matt Bramow and Dan Carlisle. The list goes on and on. The Lions will be graduating a total of 14 seniors this year.

Next year will still be promising, as they will return David Ortega, who is a very capable quarterback and, of course, running back Denodus O'Bryant. There is also no doubt that they will also bring in more talent after recruiting, but that is next year. At this point I'd just really like to highlight what they accomplished this year.

All the coaches and players put a heck of a lot of work in, and they deserve recognition for it.

Hollander: Dream job

By Kramer Soderberg
Contributing Writer

The Lindenwood men's basketball team has added two division one transfers, a 6'11" junior transfer and two promising freshmen to this year's team. But perhaps the most important addition to the 2010 men's basketball team is new assistant coach Terry Hollander. "I have been wanted to coach college basketball for a long time," Hollander said, "but being able to coach at Lindenwood is a dream come true."

Hollander is no stranger to St. Charles athletics or anything involving the city. He spent his entire life in St. Charles and has been a member of the St. Charles City Council for two years. After graduating from Duchesne High School (DHS) and receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from Truman State University, he got his first coaching job at his high school alma mater.

After two years of assistant coaching at DHS, Hollander got his first head coaching job at St. Charles West (SCW), where he also coached JV football and golf. During his 30 years as head coach at SCW, Hollander compiled a record of 549-279. He led the Warriors to the school's only state championship in 1995, a second place finish in 2008, and finished third in 1994 and 2003. His teams were also conference champions 15 times and district champions 12 times. Hollander was also inducted into the Missouri Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 2008.

After 30 years of high school basketball, Hollander says he's had no problem moving to the college level. "I think my 30 plus years as a high school coach in the St. Louis/St. Charles area helps me quite a bit when moving to the college level. Not only does my knowledge of high school players and coaches help with recruiting, but I also hope I can use my many ties in the St. Charles community to help bring fans and raise money," he said.

Hollander also said that having coached players who went on to play in college basketball helped him understand how recruitment works. "With players like Ryan and Troy Robertson (former SCW stars who went on to play at Kansas and SLU), "you learn very quickly how competitive college recruiting is and how important it is to get your program's name into the player's mind early on."

Along with 30 years of basketball knowledge, Hollander brings enthusiasm that can spark a program to the top. "I'm so excited to be at Lindenwood, coaching under Coach Brad Soderberg and being able to be around this great group of guys. Knowing that we have a team that can compete for a championship this year gives me even more excitement."

Soderberg says he's even more happy to have Hollander on his staff. "Quality stands the test of time," Soderberg said. "Terry Hollander fits that quote perfectly."

Anyone who stays in a career for 30-plus years has proven himself in every possible way. We are very lucky to have Coach Hollander in our program."

ASE
A-ONE
Auto Repair

214 SPRING DRIVE ST. CHARLES, MO 63303
636.925.3100
COMPLETE AUTO REPAIR SERVICES

FREE MOUNTING & BALANCING ON NEW TIRE PURCHASES!
SHOW STUDENT I.D. RECEIVE 15% DISCOUNT ON LABOR

FREE 24-HR. TOWING WITH ALL AUTO REPAIRS
CALL 636.946.2470

LU bowling is still rolling

By Jamie Faust
Contributing Writer

Lindenwood bowling continues its success this season after another individual win from sophomore Amanda Greene and top five finishes for the men's and women's team at the SI Elite Invite on Nov. 13-14 in Fairview Heights, Ill.

Senior Jenny Petzoldt averaged 193 to finish sixth, one pin shy of All-Tournament Team honors. The women's team came in third place and less than forty pins behind winners Wichita State University and runners-up McKendree University.

The men's team finished fifth with a total score of 8,594. McKendree men took the championship title scoring 8,790.

Individually, the men had two team members named to the All-Tournament Team. Sophomore Dan Lemiesz averaged 207.4 to finish fourth while senior RJ Klann averaged 206.4 finishing fifth. Also in the top 10 was junior Jordan Roche averaging 200.3 for the weekend.

At the Striking Knights Classic in Louisville, Ky. on Nov. 20-21, LU women's bowling won their second team championship of the season. Junior Crystal Brooks took fifth place averaging 202.6, earning her the All-Tournament Team honor.

Lindenwood men were the runners up at the Striking Knights falling to Morehead State. Brad Miller, junior, finished highest for LU men in sixth place averaging 202.6.

In preparation for the upcoming tournaments, Klann said "we need to make sure we make our spares and

"We need to make sure we make our spares and make good shots to keep us in the pocket."

—RJ Klann

make good shots to keep us in the pocket."

The Lions are scheduled two more tournaments before winter break. National Team Match Games is held Nov. 26-27 in Fairview Heights, Ill. This event is labeled as a Tier-1 Tournament, one of the more important events on the yearly schedule.

On Dec. 4-5, Lindenwood teams will travel to Town and Country Bowl in Rock Island, Ill. for the Leatherneck Classic to finish out the semester.

In the most recent rankings, Lindenwood men are named second in the nation by collegebowling.com's team ranking system. The women are ranked third.

Legacy photo by Alysha Miller

The team won the opening round against Freed-Hardeman, 25-21, 29-27 and 25-19. They played on Nov. 30 in Sioux City, Iowa against Biola.

Lady Lions advance in NAIA tourney

By Issa David
Staff Reporter

The Lady Lions advance to the second round of the NAIA National tournament with their win over Freed-Hardeman on Nov. 20 at the Hyland Arena.

They won in straight sets, 25-21, 29-27 and 25-19. "The main thing is we won and are moving on," Coach Ron Young said.

Junior Ellen Fandry had 12 kills and 13 digs to lead the Lady Lions. The team struggled in the second set, but pulled away 29-27, "our communication was not good and it led to our serve receive passing and defense to break down," Young said. Senior Krista Yoder had 11 kills and juniors Kristy Dreisewerd and Katie Weber, along with sophomore Erin Anselman had nine putaways each. Weber also had three blocks. Junior Kelsey Biggs had 27 assists, three aces and eight digs and senior Alexandria Malam had 17 assists. Senior Alyssa Showers had nine digs and freshman Megan Dillion recorded three blocks. "Our setter's and hitters had an outstanding match," Young said.

On Tuesday Nov. 30, the Lady Lions will begin pool play at Sioux City, Iowa. Their opponents in pool F will be #6 California Baptist, #7 Biola and #21 Bellevue. The Lady Lions rank #21. The top two advance into the single elimination bracket, which will take place on Dec. 3. The Lady Lions are #1 in the nation in kills and assists and rank top 10 in blocks and digs. "Our team play will need to be at high level to compete and beat those teams," Young said.

The team played Cal Baptist early in the season and lost in straight sets. Young said they ran the fastest offense they have seen all year. They beat Bellevue and have not faced Biola.

The Lady Lions have a tough pool play with two teams ranked in the top 10. They must win twice to advance. In Sioux City, Iowa, they faced Biola first yesterday, then they play Cal Baptist and finish pool play on tonight with Bellevue.

SCOREBOARD

Mens Football

9/2 Evangel University (Mo.) W 68-7
9/11 Central Methodist University (Mo.) 69-7
9/18 Missouri Valley College 45-27
9/25 MidAmerica Nazarene University (Kan.) L 26-20
10/2 Avila University (Mo.) W 53-9
10/9 Baker University (Kan.) W 48-14
10/16 Culver-Stockton College (Mo.) W 90-19
10/30 Benedictine College (Kan.) W 40-24
11/6 Graceland University (Iowa) W 77-33
11/13 William Jewell College (Mo.) W 29-18

Mens Tennis

9/10 HAAC Fall Tournament
9/17 University of Illinois 3:30 p.m.
9/21 Maryville University 4 p.m.
9/24 ITA Regional
10/15 ITA Small College Nationals

Womens Tennis

9/10-11 HAAC Fall Tournament
9/17 University of Illinois 3:30 p.m.
9/22 Maryville University. 4 p.m.
9/24-25 ITA Regional
10/15-17 All Day ITA Small College Nationals Mobile, Ala

Womens Field Hockey

8/28 Missouri State University L 7-1

8/29 University of Missouri L 4-2
9/4 Hendrix College W 3 - 1
9/5 DePauw University L 6 - 0.
9/11 Hendrix College W 2 - 1
9/18 Wittenberg University L 3 - 2.
9/19 Trine University W 7 - 0
9/25 Bellarmine University 11 a.m.
9/26 Rhodes College 1 p.m.
10/1 Ohio Wesleyan University 10 a.m.
10/3 Denison University 11 a.m.
10/24 Bellarmine University 1 p.m.
10/30 Trine University Angola, IN 6 p.m.
10/31 University of Missouri 1 p.m.

Womens Ice Hockey

10/9- Robert Morris College (Ill.) W 2-0
10/10- Robert Morris College (Ill.) W 6-1
10/17- Michigan State University W 2-0
10/18- Michigan State University 12 p.m.
10/24- Western Michigan University 6 p.m.
10/25- Western Michigan University 12 p.m.
10/31- University of Michigan TBA
11/1- University of Michigan TBA
11/7- Grand Valley State University 7 p.m.
11/8- Grand Valley State University 12 p.m.
11/13- Bethel University 5 p.m.
11/14- College of St. Catherine 5 p.m.
11/19- Liberty University 9:20 p.m.
11/20- Liberty University 2 p.m.
11/21- University of Colorado 6 p.m.
11/22- University of Colorado 12

Mens Basketball

Lion Pride Classic
11/5 McKendree University 8 p.m.
11/6 Southern Nazarene University (Okla.) 4 p.m.
11/12 Concordia Seminary 7 p.m.
11/16 Mid-Continent University (Ky.) 7 p.m.
11/20 Maryville University 2 p.m.
11/30 Missouri Baptist University 7 p.m.
12/2 Culver-Stockton College (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
12/4 Baker University (Kan.) 4 p.m.
12/9 Evangel University (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
12/14 East-West University 7 p.m.
Robert Morris Classic
12/17 Robert Morris College 7:30 p.m.
12/18 Rocky Mountain College (Mont.) 2 p.m.
1/3 Central Bible College 7 p.m.
1/6 Missouri Valley College 7:30 p.m.
1/8 Graceland University (Iowa) 4 p.m.
1/10 Avila University (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
1/13 Central Methodist University (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
1/15 MidAmerica Nazarene University (Kan.) 4 p.m.
1/22 William Jewell College (Mo.) 4 p.m.
1/24 Benedictine College (Kan.) 7:30 p.m.
1/27 Culver-Stockton College (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
1/29 Baker University (Kan.) 4 p.m.
2/3 Evangel University (Mo.) 7:30 p.m.
2/5 Benedictine College (Kan.) 4 p.m.

Mens/Womens Table Tennis

9/18-19/2010 B a d g e r Open
9/25-26/2010 LU September Open
10/9-10/2010 B e r n a r d Hock
10/16/2010 C e l l u l o i d Shootout Open
11/7/2010 NCTTA Regional Championship
11/13-14/2010 H i g h l a n d Open
2/5/2011 NCTTA Regional Championship

Mens Cycling

8/27- MWCCC MTB Race (Aug. 27-30)
8/28- Road Bike Gateway Cup
9/4- MWCCC MTB Race (Sept. 4-6)
9/11- MWCCC MTB Regional (Sept. 11-13)
9/13- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
9/18- MWCCC MTB Regional

(Sept. 18-20)
9/19- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
9/24- USA Cycling Track Bike Collegiate Nationals (Sept. 24-24)
9/28- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
10/3- Mountain Bike Mizou Regional (Oct. 3-4)
10/11- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
10/15- USA Cycling Mountain Bike Collegiate Nationals (Oct. 15-18)
10/18- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race (Oct. 18-19)
11/2- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
11/8- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
11/15- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
11/22- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
11/29- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
12/6- MWCCC Cyclo Cross Race
MO Stat Championship
12/10- USA Cycling Cyclo Cross Collegiate Nationals (Dec. 10-13)

Mens/Womens Bowling

10/2-3 40th Hammer Midwest Collegiate
10/16-17 Orange and Black Classic
10/30-31 Boilermaker Classic West
11/6-7 Brunswick Southern Classic
11/13-14 SI Elite Invitational
11/20-21 Knights Classic
11/26-27 Match Games
12/4-5 Leatherneck Classic
1/15-16 Hoinke Bearcat Classic
1/22-23 Blue and Gold Classic
1/29-30 Lindenwood Lions Shark/Chameleon Classic
2/5-6 McKendree Baker Challenge
2/19-20 Hoosier Classic
3/11 ITC Singles Sectional Qualifiers TBA
3/12-13 ITC Team Sectional Qualifier TBA
4/1-3 NAIA Showcase
4/20-23 USBC Intercollegiate Team National Championships

Womens Volleyball

8/19 Alumni Scrimmage 7 p.m.
8/21 HAAC Scrimmages
8/23 Lindenwood Scrimmage
Point Loma Nazarene Tournament
8/27 Concordia University L 3-0
8/27 William Jessup University W 3-0
8/28 Point Loma Nazarene University W 3-0
8/28 California Baptist University L 3-0
9/1 Hannibal-LaGrange College (Mo.) W 3-0
Columbia Tournament
9/3 Wiley College (Texas) W 3 - 0.
9/3 Columbia College (Mo.) L 3 - 0
9/4 University of Texas at Brownsville L 3 - 1
9/7 Central Methodist University W 3 - 0
Graceland Tournament - W 3 - 0, W 3 - 0, L 3 - 1, W 3 - 2
9/14 Evangel University (Mo.) L 3 - 1
Olivet Nazarene Tournament - W 3 - 0, L 3 - 2, W 3 - 0, W 3 - 1.
Bellevue Tournament - 9/24 - 9/25
9/28 Culver-Stockton College (Mo.) 7 p.m.

Lindenwood Classic
10/1 Baker University (Kan.) 7 p.m.
10/2 Columbia College (Mo.) 12 p.m.
10/2 Missouri Baptist University 4 p.m.
10/9 Benedictine College (Kan.) 2:30 p.m.
10/12 MidAmerica Nazarene University 7 p.m.
10/15 Avila University (Mo.) 3 p.m.
10/15-16 Lindenwood Invitational
10/21 William Woods University (Mo.) 7 p.m.
10/26 William Jewell College (Mo.) 7 p.m.
McKendree Tournament
10/29-30 McKendree University
11/2 Missouri Valley College 7:30 p.m.
11/3 Maryville University 7 p.m.
HAAC Tournament
11/6-13 HAAC Tournament

Womens Basketball

11/3 Lindenwood University-Bellevue 6 p.m.
11/6 Harris-Stowe State University (Mo.) 2 p.m.
11/9 McKendree University 7 p.m.
11/13 Missouri Baptist University 6 p.m.
11/18 Columbia College (Mo.) 7 p.m.
11/20 Harris-Stowe State University (Mo.) 12 p.m.
11/23 Hannibal-LaGrange College (Mo.) 7 p.m.
11/29 Fisk University 6 p.m.
1/6 Missouri Valley College 5:30 p.m.
1/8 Graceland University (Iowa) 2 p.m.
1/10 Avila University (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
1/13 Central Methodist University (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
1/15 MidAmerica Nazarene University (Kan.) 2 p.m.
1/20 Saint Louis College of Pharmacy (Mo.) 7 p.m.
1/22 William Jewell College (Mo.) 2 p.m.
1/24 Benedictine College (Kan.) 5:30 p.m.
1/27 Culver-Stockton College (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
1/29 Baker University (Kan.) 2 p.m.
2/3 Evangel University (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
2/5 Benedictine College (Kan.) 2 p.m.
2/7 Fisk University 7 p.m.
2/10 Missouri Valley College 5:30 p.m.
2/12 Graceland University (Iowa) 2 p.m.
2/14 Avila University (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
2/17 Central Methodist University (Mo.) 5:30 p.m.
2/19 MidAmerica Nazarene University (Kan.) 2 p.m.
2/26 William Jewell College (Mo.) 2 p.m.

Roller Hockey

10/22 University of Missouri - St. Louis W 9-0
10/23 Missouri S & TW 8-1
10/24 Illinois State University W 11-1
11/5 Saint Louis University W 10-0
11/6 Missouri State University W 6-4
11/6 Saint Louis College of Pharmacy (Mo.) W 10-0
11/6 St. Charles Community College W 12-3
11/7 Maryville University W 12-2
11/13 Truman State University W 10-0
11/14 Southeast Missouri State University W 10-0
11/14 St. Louis Community College-Meramec W 10-0
1/29 Western Illinois University 1:00 p.m.
1/29 Southern Illinois University 3:00 p.m.
1/30 University of Illinois 11:00 am

Mens Hockey

9/24 Davenport University (Mich.) W 3-2 SO
9/25 Davenport University (Mich.) L 2-3
10/1 University of Central Oklahoma W 6-2
10/2 University of Central Oklahoma W 5-1
10/8 Oklahoma University W 3-2
10/9 Oklahoma University W 7-2
10/22 Indiana University W 8-0
10/23 Indiana University W 7-1
10/29 Kent State University W 4-3
10/30 Kent State University W 11-0
11/5 Oklahoma University W 5-4
11/6 Oklahoma University W 8-3
11/12 University of Illinois W 6-3
11/13 University of Illinois W 4-1
11/19 Arizona State University W 7-2
11/20 Arizona State University W 7-3
12/3 Iowa State University 7:30 p.m.
12/4 Iowa State University 8:00 p.m.
1/7 University of Illinois 7:30 p.m.
1/8 University of Illinois 4:00 p.m.
1/14 Robert Morris College (Ill.) 7:30 p.m.
1/15 Robert Morris College (Ill.) 4:00 p.m.
1/21 University of Central Oklahoma 7:30 p.m.
1/22 University of Central Oklahoma 4:00 p.m.
1/28 Ohio University 7:30 p.m.
1/29 Ohio University 7:30 p.m.
2/4 Indiana University 7:30 p.m.
2/5 Indiana University 4:00 p.m.
2/11 Iowa State University 7:30 p.m.
2/12 Iowa State University 4:00 p.m.

Welcome Lindenwood Students, Faculty and Administrative Personnel. We offer great service, pricing and quality. Come visit us!!

Show your Lindenwood ID for a great discount!

1205 South Duchesne
St. Charles, Missouri 63301
(Next to King Edward's Chicken)
(636) 946-8282 | Fax (636) 946-8303
kwikkopystchas@aol.com
www.kwikkopystcharles.com

Legacy photo by Lauren Kastendieck

With lots of time, Lions quarterback Philip Staback rolls out to find a receiver. Staback ended the season with 3,329 yards and 34 touchdowns.

Football

Continued from Page 5

The ball was quickly moved down the field. The short drive was capped off with a 15-yard touchdown through the air. They added on the two-point conversion to make the score 46-38 in favor of SFU. With 17 seconds left on the clock, the Lions were unable to answer back.

The game was a back and forth shoot out by the offenses, as they were led by their respective quarterbacks.

In the end, the Lions could not contain Saint Francis's quarterback, Shaine Tierney, as he was able to account for five total touchdowns.

Most of his work was done on the ground, running for 81 yards and four touchdowns.

LU's quarterback, Philip Staback, had a great game in his own right. He also accounted for five touchdowns and 354 passing yards.

"We gave everything we could," Staback said. "There is not much you can say about a loss. Especially a loss like this, being so close. I think everyone played so hard."

The Lions leading receiver, Matt Bramow, was held to one catch for 27 yards. This was his worst game all year. His only other game without at least 48 yards or a touchdown was in the loss against MidAmerica Nazarene. Bramow will be one of 14 seniors that will be graduating.

"I feel bad for them," Ross said. "With high expectations, to lose abruptly, makes it tough. You don't prepare for your last game when you're good like that. Those guys didn't really get to enjoy their last game."

Though many seniors have seen their last bit of the playing aspect of football, a few are looking forward to the possibility of coaching in the future.

"I'm hoping to come back and coach next year," Staback said. "It just sucks, I'm not going to pad up again.

But, as long as I am able to be there next year to help out the quarterbacks, that would be OK. Still, truthfully it just really sucks."

Next year will be a new year, and the Lions have a lot of talent returning including star running backs Denodus O'Bryant and Nate Orlando.

"We will definitely come back with the people we have and reload," Ross said.

"We will hopefully be a force in the future as well, but right now you just can't help and feel bad for those guys that just played their last game. I wish we could have sent them out better."

Fame

Continued from Page 1

Football lost this year in the first round of the NAIA playoffs, 46-38 to Saint Francis University.

In addition, women's volleyball advanced to pool play in the national tournament this year. They play in Souix City, Iowa on Nov. 31 against Biola.

Lindenwood's three hockey teams, men's and women's ice hockey and roller hockey have won 14 national titles.

"To be inducted [in the Hall of Fame] is a great honor," said roller hockey coach Ron Beilsten.

The men's hockey team has won two straight titles.

This year they have a new coach in Rick Zombo and are 13-1 on the year.

Women's ice hockey has won four overall and three straight titles, and they are 13-1-1 on the year.

"Each year we have more and more student athletes seeking us out as their choice for a university and hockey," O'Mara said.

LU athletics has also produced two Olympians, in Sean McLelland, a member of the 2008 Olympic skeet shooting team and Donald Thomas, a member of the 2008 Olympic track and field team. Both competed in Beijing. McLelland fell one shot shy of making it to the finals. Thomas failed to make it past the preliminary round.

Several players have also gone on to play professionally. Creer has overseen most of the titles.

He has been the Dean of Athletics for 10 years. Nine of the 10 NAIA titles have come under his watch.

LU has also placed in the top 10 in the NAIA Directors Cup every year under Creer. In the last 10 years, LU has won 134 conference titles.

"The recognition Lindenwood received was a very big deal," Creer said.

With the many titles awarded, the move into NCAA division II would be expected. With great NAIA success, LU is now ready to move forward.

There will be 17 sports that will join the MIAA conference in 2012. In 2011, the sports will not compete for any conference or national championships until 2012.

"Each year we have more student athletes seeking us out as their choice for a university and hockey."

—Coach O'Mara

START BEING EMPOWERED.

START LEADING OTHERS.

START ACCOMPLISHING MORE.

START DEFINING YOURSELF.

START MAKING A DIFFERENCE.

START FEELING INSPIRED.

START STRONG.

There's strong. Then there's Army Strong. Enroll in Army ROTC at Lindenwood to complement your education with the training, experience and skills needed to make you a leader. Army ROTC also offers full-tuition scholarships of up to 100% and a monthly stipend to help pay for your education. And when you graduate, you will have an edge in life as an Army Officer and a leader. All it takes is enrolling in MS101.

LEADERSHIP
EXCELLENCE
ARMY ROTC

U.S. ARMY
ARMY STRONG.

Enroll in one of our Military Science classes and see if you are up to the challenge!
For more information contact Jon Bryan
jbryan@lindenwood.edu or 636.940.2920

©2008. Paid for by the United States Army. All rights reserved.

NBS

Continued from Page 1

“These are the most competitive divisions at both the regional and national convention. I was able to put items on my resume that showed that I had professional quality skills without necessarily having professional experience.”

In 1999, 2000 and 2001, the NBS Chapters won National NBS Chapter of the year. This coming year, the NBS

Chapter is hoping to win the Regional and National NBS Chapter of the year titles, and this all starts with the members.

“We need to be a model chapter. NBS-AERho won National Chapter of the year three years in a row, and I’d like to see us get back to that point,” Nicolai said. “I think the members we have this year will be the ones to do it.”

SAAC

Continued from Page 1

The SAAC committee members are also responsible to bring any questions or concerns raised by teammates to the SAAC committee.

a positive effect on and off campus. Members will collect new, unwrapped toys for the annual Toys for Tots campaign Thursday, Dec. 2, during the basketball double-header with Culver-Stockton. Anyone donating a toy will get a free ticket to the Jan. 15 double-header with Mid America Nazarene.

The SAAC committee members are also responsible to bring any questions or concerns raised by teammates to the SAAC committee.

On Dec. 12, SAAC members will also volunteer for Dream Factory, a non-profit organization devoted to granting dreams of children with chronic illnesses. For more information, contact the athletic department or e-mail Vogler at KJV463@lionmail.lindenwood.edu.

SAAC members recently compiled a Lindenwood Sportsmanship Policy to be included in the Lindenwood Student Handbook. The current handbook does not provide a code of sportsmanship or ethics student athletes must abide by. The policy was approved by President Evans and will take effect in the 2011-2012 school year.

SAAC continues to have

Alpha Sig Fundraiser

Legacy photos by Matt Korn (Above photo) Alpha Sigma Phi members (from left to right) Ben Crowder, Joseph Nickrent and Dylan Jiminez collect donations from students Daniel Hayward (left) and Jacob Grayson (right) for a breast cancer fundraiser in the Quad pavilion on Nov. 22. The fraternity (left) camped out in the Quad from Nov. 22-24 to raise awareness.

FPA

Continued from Page 1

He had help, as it was a long, tedious process to put up the trees, the lights and making sure everything else was running smoothly.

The decorating started in early November. By starting early, this would give more time to put up all of the decorations, find the right outlets to plug in the lights and make sure they were in place until the decorations are taken down after the holidays.

“Usually it took us 15 hour days to put all of this up,” Long said. “The minutes that I’ve not spent being a full time student, having a job off campus and doing homework, I’ve spent decorating.”

Decorating the center started last year, but it did not involve as much as it does now to decorate.

With having more of the St. Charles public coming to the theater, the need to have the location decorated was considered necessary.

“It’s definitely worth all of the work, to see the people come in and be in awe of all of the decorations, and instead of being photographed

“Usually it took us 15 hour days to put all of this up.”

—Kyle Long sophomore outside, people are coming in to take pictures with the trees behind them,” Long said.

BOOK-X-CHANGE

RENT BUY SELL TRADE

- Renting... Cheaper than buying
- The right book for the right price
- Great return policy
- Run by students for students
- Cheap. Fast. Easy

(636) 949-2422

WWW.LUTEXTBOOKS.COM