

Linden Bark

Volume 45 Number 3

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE, St. Charles, Mo.

Saturday, October 24, 1964

JOHNSON WINS BARK STRAW BALLOT

Prof. Robert Douglas Hume Directs W. Shakespeare's 'The Winter's Tale'

On October 30 and 31 the Drama Department under the direction of Mr. Robert Douglas Hume will present "The Winter's Tale," by William Shakespeare. This play is being given for the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's death. It is the first time that a full play by Shakespeare has been given by the department.

"The Winter's Tale" is one of Shakespeare's later plays and a little known one, so this will be a rare chance to see it. It is the story of a jealous husband, King Leontes, and the effects of his jealousy. The play was adapted by Mr. Hume and Joseph Salek for the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where Mr. Hume also played the part of Leontes. Mr. Hume believes that "The Winter's Tale" is a good study of a universal character, the unreasonably jealous husband. He says that the play "shows Shakespeare's understanding of psychology before the time of psychology."

Kenneth Cox, a 1960 graduate of Lindenwood, is returning to play the part of Autolocus, the peddler. He was very active in the drama department at Lindenwood, and he now teaches speech and English at Riverview Junior High School.

The play will be given in the three-quarters round in Fellowship Hall.

(Related picture on page 6)

Dr. Doherty casts his vote in the Bark straw ballot as Irene Ritter watches.

LINDENWOOD VOTERS

Nurse Lewis and Mr. Colson are Notary Publics and will authorize absentee ballots.

The Johnson-Humphrey ticket scored a victory here on campus last Friday in the straw ballot conducted by the Bark. The Democratic candidates defeated the Goldwater-Miller team by a margin of 59 votes. Of the total 535 votes cast, 295 went to Johnson-Humphrey, 236 to the Republican ticket, and 3 votes were write-ins for a Lodge-Nixon ticket. One vote, expressing a preference for "neither" was invalidated.

Most observers would have predicted a substantial victory for Goldwater here at Lindenwood, as the general trend and student opinion has been in that direction. Many have characterized this campus as "definitely Republican" and the results of the mock election were contrary to the predicted outcome.

Betsy Ireland, Chairman of the Election Committee, stated: "The Lindenwood Student body seemed pro-Republican before the election. In view of the fact that 535 votes (including 25 faculty and administration votes) were cast, a good cross-section of the students was represented. It would seem that political affiliations were not the major factor in the balloting. Since we, the students, are representative of the entire country, this mock election gives a clue to the close, heated race which will take place across the nation next month."

The polls opened at 9:00 a.m. and balloting continued until 4:00 p.m. last Friday, October 16. Ballots were counted by members of the committee and

(Cont'd p. 6 c. 4)

Charlie Wasserman Plays For the 1964 L.C. Cotillion

Long formals, cocktail dresses, and tuxedos will be seen swirling around at the Chase-Park Plaza hotel to the sounds of Charlie Wasserman's band Friday, November 6.

In an attempt to make improvements over last year's Cotillion, the social council has devised a few exciting extras. Printed programs, souvenir matches, and possibly food at every table will help contribute to the gay atmosphere of the evening. This year, in order to eliminate confusion and provide students with the opportunity to introduce their dates to members of the administration, a receiving line will be present from 9 to 10 p.m.

The court consists of five blondes: Joyce Jurgenson representing Irwin Hall; Damie Brownlee, a junior from McCluer Hall; Irene Ritter, Cobbs; Ann Smith, a sophomore residence counselor from Niccolls, and Barbara Dickgiesser, a grand old senior from Sibley.

The three brunette candidates are Anita Pope, from Butler; Patty Pope, the day students' choice; while Peggy Duffy is representing Ayres.

A fashion show which will give the students an opportunity to select the candidate of their choice will be held in Roemer Auditorium at 12 noon, November 5. The outcome of this election will be a new queen who will be presented at the crowning ceremony—highlight of the evening.

If you are a maiden in distress, an escort can be provided through Miss Odell; if you want your favorite guy, buy him an invitation from your social council representative . . . anyway, try to go, it will be an exciting evening, and those 3-o'clocks should come in handy.

Dr. Hubert Herring

L.C. Hosts Latin American Sympos.

Six of the top Latin American authorities in the United States visited the Lindenwood campus October 21, 22 for a symposium on those countries. Sponsored by the Convocation Committee, the symposium's purpose was to widen the intellectual and cultural horizons of Lindenwood ladies.

"We hope," said Billie Snyder who is student body president, "that this will be the first of a series of conferences on controversial problems and little known areas of the world." Suggestions for future symposiums would be welcomed by the committee. "Hopefully these future conferences could be held on days when there will be no classes," said one member.

Discussions of the roles of students and women in Latin America added a cultural note to the political talk. Speaking on Wednesday were His Excellency Ambassador Gonzalo Facio, Costa Rica's ambassador to the United States and envoy to the Organization of American States; Dr. Hubert Herring, professor emeritus of Latin American History at Claremont Colleges, California and author of several books on Latin America; and Mrs. William R. Mizelle, a syndicated columnist on Latin America better known to the public by her maiden name of Virginia Prewett.

Thursday's guests included the Ambassador to the United States from Chile, His Excellency Sergio Gutierrez-Olivos, whose film "An Image of Chile" was shown Tuesday noon; Mr. William D. Rogers, Jr., Deputy-Co-ordinator of the Alliance for Progress; and Dr. Hewson Ryan, Deputy Director of Latin America, United States Information Agency (U.S.I.A.).

Miss Diane Stanley, an alumna of Lindenwood who is working for U.S.I.A. in Washington, D.C., made the arrangements for the speakers and the Pan American art display in Roemer Art Gallery. Assisting her in Washington was Miss Patty Price, also an alumna who is currently in the Latin American section of the Agency for International Development (A.I.D.).

President Franc L. McCluer opened the symposium Wednesday at 4 p.m. with a brief welcome message. Dr. Herring then gave an introduction to the history and problems of the Latin American countries in his talk entitled "The Chips Are Down in Latin America."

A man who has traveled widely, Professor Herring visits the Latin American republics once a year. His approach to international problems is realistic and sensitive. In 1926 he organized one of the first "good neighbor" agencies, the Committee on Cultural Relations with Latin America. His opinion is sought by the New York Herald Tribune on most new books published about the area.

He is author of scores of magazine and newspaper articles as well as the following books: "A History of Latin America," "Good Neighbors," "Mexico, the Making of a Nation," "America and the Americas" and "Renaissance Mexico," which he co-authored. In 1959 Dr. Herring made a study of the forces behind the revolution of Fidel Castro in Cuba, interviewing the leaders themselves. He published his findings in "Fidel Castro's Revolution in Cuba—What it means to the Americans and the Cubans."

His Excellency Gonzalo Facio serves in the dual capacity of Ambassador to the United States and ambassador to the Organization of American States. His talk, naturally, was on the vitality of the O.A.S. Dr. Facio was one of the founders and first presidents of the National Student Federation. He also helped to establish the National Liberation Party in his country. His political career includes congressman, President of the Costa Rican Legislative Assembly, Minister of Justice,

(Cont'd. p. 2 c. 3)

The eight candidates for Cotillion Queen from which the student body will select the 1964 queen.

Patters and Halestones

With elections so close at hand, and the air filled with conflicting statements and promises by all candidates, most of the attention has been riveted to the Presidential election. The Presidential election is, of course, most important. However, a good deal of attention should be paid to our local and state elections. No President, no matter how good, can function with a collection of Congressmen and State officials who have been selected by corrupt party bosses and eased into office behind the screen of the hectic Presidential election. It is the duty of each of us who is registered to vote to examine all of the candidates for each position before making our little X.

Three Cheers for Mr. Bittner! The Bark wishes to congratulate him on an excellent performance. It is about time the rest of the student body realized what a wonderful music department this school has. The recital was well attended by an appreciative audience and they certainly made it clear how much they enjoyed it. We hope that Mr. Bittner will play again before the year is out. Thank you again, Mr. Bittner.

It's election year again, notes Doug Troutt, columnist for THE GRAPHIC, Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, California.

Along with the usual speeches and flag-waving, some people will get carried away, and the result is something we'll all regret: Name-calling.

I received a phone call from an unidentified woman. She said she was a little disturbed about the trend toward socialism that the students of the college are demonstrating.

Her case in point was a recent article in THE GRAPHIC which referred to a Hollywood Bowl appearance involving, among others, Pete Seeger and Joan Baez.

The article referred to the two singers as "two of the most highly regarded performers in their field."

My caller asked me how I could honestly refer to a pair with their political views as "highly regarded." I answered that their politics didn't seem to bother the thousands of people who consider Seeger and Baez as two of the tops in folk.

The woman proceeded to read some verses from one of Seeger's songs which calls America the land of the slave. She implied that all is a bed of roses in civil freedoms today.

She asked me how I could advocate such a performance to students. My answer stands. If George Lincoln Rockwell appeared on the campus, I would feel compelled to announce it. This does not constitute a recommendation on my part.

She began to quiz me on the policies of the Young Democrats on campus. She wanted to know specifically if they were a part of the "radically communistic" state group.

When she began to quote some of the State YD resolutions, I saw that her only purpose in asking me was to get a chance to belittle the group to me.

My patience began to stretch when she inferred that I might also be a "pinko."

I told her that it was her privilege to submit a letter to the editor, but that I did not intend to be harangued over the phone.

When you see me on campus this week, you can call me Pinkie.

It seems that often we are more concerned with our personal, trivial needs and wants than with the more grave issues of the day. Upon hearing of the Russian Boss's resignation, one coed replied: "Oh, really—you know, I'm so mad because they were all out of chicken salad at the Tea Hole!"

Some sort of comment on the "Attainment of the Age of 21" has to be offered. Actually, about all that happens is that on that particular day they stop asking you for an I.D. It's strange — since only 48 hours before they said you didn't look any older than 18.

LATIN AMERICA

(Cont'd from p. 1 c. 3)

Minister of Economics and Finance, and Minister of Foreign Affairs. In addition to ambassadorial posts he served as chairman of the Council of the Organization of American States in 1962.

Participating in a panel discussion on students and giving an address on women in Latin America was Mrs. William R. Mizelle, who is known by her pen-name Virginia Prewett. She has been awarded the Cruxiero de Sal by Brazil and the Order of the Quetsal by Guatemala for her fight against dictators Juan Peron of Argentina and Fidel Castro of Cuba. These are the highest awards these governments present to foreigners. One time owner of 500 acres of virgin forest near the site of Brazilia, Information Officer for Latin America after World War II for the U.N. International Refugee Organization, and chairman for several terms of the Inter-American Affairs Committee of the Overseas Press Club, Miss Prewett has had her articles syndicated to more than 100 papers. In her spare time she has written three books: "Reportage on Mexico," "The Americas and Tomorrow," and "Beyond the Great Forest."

His Excellency Ambassador Sergio Geutierrez is an expert on international law and Latin American culture; hence his talk, "The Image of Latin America." He has been Chile's delegate to numerous international law conferences, to the Consultative meeting of Ministers of Foreign Affairs (Santiago, 1959), and to the Punta del Este Economic Conference in 1961. He contributes regularly articles on international affairs to two newspapers and has published several books. His broad interests have associated him with the General Society of Mechanics and Metallurgy, Autatur, etc. in Chile. And in 1956 he organized the first Advanced Management course for Latin American business managers. From 1959-62 he was Ambassador to Argentina. Because of his great interest in communications, Ambassador Gutierrez was included on a panel which discussed the problems of hemispheric communication.

On this same panel Dr. Hewson Ryan made his contribution to the symposium. Dr. Ryan assists Director Carl T. Rowan in the formulation, content and direction of U.S. informational and cultural programs which are shown in 23 Latin American countries. In addition to holding several embassy posts as cultural or public affairs officer, Dr. Ryan has served as Chairman of the Chilean Fulbright Commission, member of the U.S. Delegation Fifth Meeting of Foreign Ministers of the American Republics, and delegate to the Second UNESCO Conference for Information Media.

Mr. William D. Rogers, our last speaker, spoke on the agency for which he is the number two man in the U.S. Department of State, the Alliance for Progress. After a distinguished law career, first as clerk to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, then as legal advisor to the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and special deputy attorney general for the State of Hawaii, Mr. Rogers joined the Agency for International Development in 1962 as Special Counsel to Teodoro Moscoso, then U.S. Co-ordinator. In his work with A.I.D. he has been a delegate to numerous international conferences and meetings connected with the Alliance for Progress.

Atmosphere was added to the symposium by a Latin American drink, mocha, at the Wednesday evening reception and flags on the dining room tables. The Public Affairs Club study group on Latin America and the Spanish Club were hostesses for speakers and visiting students from nearby colleges during their stay on campus. In preparation for the symposium the clubs wrote and mimeographed resumes on key Latin American countries for students and faculty. The Latin American students and study group were responsible for the displays in the chapel and library also.

LINDEN BARK

Member: Associated Collegiate Press
Missouri College Newspaper Association
Intercollegiate Press

MEMBER

Published by the students of Lindenwood College, by the authority of the Board of Student Publications, twelve times during the school year.

Subscription price $2.00 per year.

Second Class postage paid at Saint Charles, Missouri.

Editors .....	Linda Hale Patricia Merrill
Business Manager .....	Beth Stallings
Circulation Manager .....	Maxine Basch
Assistants .....	Nancy Daume, Diane Dewoody Pat Owen
News Editor .....	Judy Colombo
Feature Editor .....	Pat Owen
Reporters .....	Sandy Baer, Jan Boldt, Nancy Daume, Mike Donovan, Ellen Epstein, Betsy Ireland, Maggie McGinnis, Heath Niemann, Phyllis Reames, Bylle Snyder, Bonnie Zummo
Advertising .....	Judy Colombo, Mary Thomas
Art Editors .....	Margaret Duffy, Ellen Epstein Mary Richardson
Photographer .....	Melissa McKenzie
Production Staff .....	Sandy Baer, Betsy Ireland, Phyllis Reames, Pat Wolff, Linda Sonnenfeld
Advisor .....	Mr. Glenn Thomas

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN RALLIES

Miss L. Outlines Lindenwood Policy for Students' Benefit

The Spirit of Lindenwood

To understand a college, one must understand the philosophy which undergirds it. At Lindenwood it is our purpose to consider each student as an adult with the privilege of self-direction tempered by the sense of responsibility necessary to community living.

It is important to learn the ways of freedom—to make the right choices, to discipline oneself for the greater end—that of education, to consider always the rights of others. This means, in the first place, the student will accept the principle of individual honor which is basic to Lindenwood's honor system, and, as a student, she will be completely trustworthy both in her academic and social life. This means, in the second place, the student will recognize she must live as a member of the group and many times must subordinate her own interests to those of the community.

Within such a framework of individual honor and community responsibility the College expects of each student — that she reflect both her family and her college wherever she may go, and, therefore, her behavior will be in conformity to the highest standards of American society, that she accept the responsibility for absolute accuracy in signing in and out of the dormitory, either with friends or overnight, that she understand the necessity of quiet hours in the dormitory for the furtherance of the educational program of the college.

Beyond these expectations there are three highly important considerations which are viewed by the Administration to be fundamental to the traditional tone and standards of the College. The College believes, for instance, that the required Convocations, Vesper services, and noonday Chapel are an integral part of the program, and, for this reason, places students upon their honor to attend unless excused by a letter to the Dean of Students or by reason of Vesper cuts — four a semester.

The College feels, too, that if a student wishes to marry and continue in Lindenwood, notification of her marriage should be made both to her family and to the Administration.

Finally, Lindenwood College supports in full the State of Missouri's laws pertaining to the purchase or possession of intoxicating liquor or beer by persons under the age of 21, and specifically prohibits the drinking and/or possession of alcoholic beverages by resident students and their guests on the Lindenwood campus or within the city limits of St. Charles, and at any formal Lindenwood College function off campus.

There are, of course, additional regulations pertaining to the use of college property or equipment and the care of student rooms. These will be posted in each room. How and when to sign out will be found above each sign-out desk. Class privileges will be distributed to students in accordance with their academic classification. The student government officers will help determine within each residence hall those specific regulations which enable a large group of persons to live happily and considerately together.

A "Rule Book" is a static

Triangle Club Holds Initiation Ceremonies

Triangle Club, the science honor society, held its fall initiation on October 14 at the home of Dr. Talbot, club sponsor.

The newly initiated members are Dottie Hiatt, Carole Seitz, Vera Sieurin, and Barbara Rahe. Because of illness Donna Griggs will be initiated in the spring.

In order to be eligible, a student must plan to complete a major or minor in math, biology, or chemistry, and have completed three courses in her field, maintaining a B average in those courses and a C average in all other courses.

The officers for '64-'65 are Karen Ell, President, and Barb Dickgeisser, Secretary - Treasurer.

thing. For that reason, each resident student is given a Lindenwood Folder in which to keep all memos having to do with student and administrative policies, and student government decisions which may be issued from time to time. It is also true that no rule book can possibly cover every contingency so when in doubt — ASK. Your Head Resident and Student Counselor are always available to answer your questions about the traditional, and, we hope, commonsense way of community living at Lindenwood.

Kitterer Joins History Dept.

Mr. Robert Kitterer

New on the faculty this year is Mr. Robert A. Kitterer. Mr. Kitterer studied at the University of Illinois and then received his master's degree from Washington University. His thesis was on the politics of public education particularly the political factors involved in the selection of educational personnel. A young bachelor, Mr. Ketterer said that it would be a new experience for him to attend a small women's college and that he feels Lindenwood would have been a great place for him to have been five years ago.

LC Council Will Host Conference

The Student Council voted two weeks ago to host a Student Council Conference at Lindenwood November 21, 1964. Thirty colleges and universities from Missouri and Illinois have been invited to attend. The purpose of this conference is to discuss with other schools mutual problems and ideas that are dealt with through student government.

Delegates to the conference will be divided into five workshops discussing the following topics: 1) social aspects of college life; 2) the role and structure of the student council; 3) dormitory government; 4) the honor system; and 5) freshman orientation.

The Student Council is busily preparing for this conference with Havaula Henderson serving as Conference Chairman. We are quite enthusiastic about the conference and hope that the student body will support us as it will give us all an opportunity to know our schools better.

Bylle Snyder

Lindenwood Students, Faculty Evaluate Presidential Campaign

In an effort to obtain a cross-section of opinions concerning the 1964 presidential election, a spot interview was made with a few of the students and faculty of Lindenwood. The people interviewed were chosen at random, and asked a number of questions dealing with the present campaign for the nation's top office. The inquiries were these:

"What are your opinions of the presidential campaign thus far?"

"Has the campaign remained within respectable bounds?"

"Has this been a campaign of issues or personalities?"

"Has the press been fair or slanted in their coverage?"

We asked the individuals to remain as non-partisan as possible. Here are a few of their answers and comments.

Linda Becker

Linda Becker, a freshman day student at L.C., thought that the "campaign has been very dirty on both sides, Republican and Democratic. This isn't unusual, but this campaign has been 'lower' than the last campaign. I guess this is part of politics." Linda seemed to think that this is a campaign of personalities rather than of issues, though issues should be the most important aspect of any election. Concerning the press she said, "The press has been against Mr. Goldwater because Mr. Goldwater has been against the press. I think the newspaper owners have shifted from Republican to Democratic. They are afraid of Goldwater. But nevertheless, the coverage is non-partisan."

Margo Musgrove

Margo Musgrave, a Lindenwood sophomore, said, "I think that the campaign has been respectable and interesting, and that the election will be close. One thing that bothers me, I don't like it when people insist that this (election) is the lesser of two evils. I think that the people who say this and consequently refuse to vote, are the ones who will do the most complaining after it is all over." She definitely thought that the press had been less than non-partisan. She also said, "This election is good, because it makes people think. They must be sure before they vote, because of the conflicting policies of both candidates."

Babs Kehl

Babs Kehl, a junior living at Sibley Hall, said of the campaign, "There's an awful lot of cutting each other by the candidates." And of the election she said, "It's going to be very close."

Mr. John Wehmer

A member of the Lindenwood faculty, Mr. John Wehmer, was decidedly strong in his opinions. He believed that the campaign is necessarily dirty, because of the Republicans' need for issues. Likewise, he thought that the campaign was one of personalities rather than of issues. The issues that do exist, he said, "were created by Goldwater, and that's why they are clear cut." When asked about improving this campaign, Mr. Wehmer commented, "I'd like to see some debates this year, thought they would be bad for Johnson."

Mrs. Huntman Teaches English to Freshmen

Mrs. Huntman

New in the English Department this year is Mrs. Huntman who is teaching part time in order to accommodate the large freshman class. Mrs. Huntman, who is presently writing a thesis for her Master's Degree in English from Washington University, said that she is "really a homemaker." She enjoys cooking and gardening and has four children ranging in age from seventeen years to nine months. She also likes to attend concerts and the theater.

Mrs. Huntman said that she has not taught for many years, but when Mrs. Buck, who is a friend of hers, asked her to teach Freshman English here at Lindenwood, she thought it would be an interesting challenge. She added that she derives great pleasure from working with young people and that she has found the faculty in the English Department particularly "enthusiastic and stimulating."

Johnson Platform Advocates Unity and Responsibility

By Betty Allen

The platform of Lyndon B. Johnson is one of strength, responsibility, and compassion. He stands to unite our country rather than divide it. By keeping President Johnson in office, instead of putting his opponent in, Johnson will diminish the internal hate groups, White or Negro, rather than thrive on their existence. The Kansas City Star confirms this idea: "Support from the extreme racists would inevitably transform itself into pressure on the President—pressure for actions that could destroy the uneasy bridges of understanding between the races."

On civil rights, Johnson supports the movement in the name of justice and morality, while denouncing all lawlessness in racial groups. He is flexible in the art of compromise which is a necessity to the function of government, and an asset that Goldwater lacks. Johnson's platform seeks to give every person the right to lead a free and useful life. Therefore, I believe that President Johnson stands for the principle that this nation is not the private property of any political party, but the public property of every American citizen.

Compassion is the mechanism that makes Johnson right for the leadership on the war against poverty. His programs help provide education for those who cannot afford it, better health care for the poor and disabled, aid to depressed areas, a fight against juvenile delinquency and help to those who are denied certain privileges because of religion, national origin or race. He is best equipped to understand these problems and is more effective in solving them due to his kinship with poverty.

Both President Johnson and Hubert Humphrey represent the responsibility needed in working for tax cuts and a tight control over the national expenditures, just as they have worked to build and maintain national strength and peace. I am convinced that the strife for world peace would be best served by President Johnson and his foreign policy, as opposed to that of the Republican platform. If Goldwater is to be supported there will be a setback in the search for peace. His policy stresses military strength, rather than diplomatic prudence. I do not think that this undesirable gamble is necessary, or that it should be placed in the hands of Senator Goldwater.

Goldwater must be defeated! I unhesitatingly give my support to the Democratic candidacy of President Lyndon Baines Johnson.

Dr. Manning Pattillo Emphasizes Necessity for Liberal Studies

As a follow up to Dr. Manning Pattillo's speech on Parents' Day the Bark feels that portions of his speech should be repeated for LC students. This is done in the hopes that it will refresh the minds of the student body and help them to see how his speech, "Some Thoughts on Liberal Education," applies to the Lindenwood campus.

"Not only should there be balance and breadth in the curriculum, so that the student has an opportunity to sample the broad fields of the arts and sciences, but the curriculum should provide for the common body of knowledge and intellectual skills which are essential to the liberally educated person. There are specific experiences and achievements that are necessary for liberal education. The student must, for example, have a first-hand acquaintance with Shakespeare's greater plays, with the Bible, and with the history of his own country. He should be able to analyze important problems logically. This common learning is the indispensable element of liberal education, and without it the liberal arts college loses its strategic place in higher education." . . . "It appears that informality and ease of communication are prominent features of some institutions that have exhibited unusually intellectual vitality—colleges and universities that have produced far more than their share of educated leadership in the United States." . . .

"There are other educational outcomes to be derived from informality. The use of seminars and other small-group teaching procedures, as distinguished from the large lecture-hall technique, is good preparation for many roles that college graduates play in later life." . . . "I could say much about the necessity of freedom in a college or university. Freedom is particularly important in a Christian institution, which has not only academic but also theological reasons for insisting on as large a measure of freedom for the individual as is consonant with the freedom of others. As William Temple said, 'Freedom is the first presupposition of the Gospel. . . For it is in and through his freedom that a man makes fully real his personality—the quality of one made in the image of God.' It is perfectly proper for an institution of higher learning to appoint to its faculty only persons who seem most likely to contribute to its purposes, but, once appointed, faculty members must have intellectual freedom if they are to discharge their educational responsibilities." B.T.

St. Artist Guild Holds 1st Meeting

The Student Artist Guild held its first meeting on Wednesday, October 14. Future meetings were planned and discussed, including the next meeting. At that time Mr. Wehmer will present a talk on his recent trip to Europe.

All art majors and minors who were not able to attend the first meeting and who are interested are most welcome. To receive notices of future meetings, contact Judy Wyckoff, Box 19.

Young Democrats Work in Campaign

The Young Democrats have made their major contribution to the campaign this year by keeping Democratic Headquarters in St. Charles open every afternoon. They have also helped Dr. Homer Clevenger, Chairman of the Campaign Fund Drive for the city.

The highlight of the campaign thus far was the visit to the airport to receive Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) All seven girls got to shake hands with the Vice-Presidential nominee.

Future plans include canvassing and calling before the election and for most Young Democrats the Public Affairs Club meeting on November 5, when U.S. Representative Mrs. Lenore (John B.) Sullivan (D., St. Louis) will speak on "Women's Role in Politics Today."

Republican Party Stands for Decentralization of Powers

by Carolyn Robinson

It is imperative that we as young Americans take an interest in politics, learn the issues involved and earn the privilege of using the rights granted to us. Although the majority of women at Lindenwood are not of voting age, we can inform others and directly influence their votes. Good government requires an informed public.

The Republican party stands for good government through decentralization of powers, protection of private enterprise, curtailing of inflation, protection of constitutional liberties, rejection of class struggle and balance of power among the branches of government. To further these causes the Republican party has chosen a man of convictions, willing to fight for these principles. That man is Senator Barry M. Goldwater.

Senator Goldwater has been accused by many of extremism, inconsistency, of being trigger-happy, and of a lack of compassion for the people. Is it fair to charge a man of being an extremist when all he has done is take a definite stand on issues his opponent would rather ignore? The word extremist has many connotations and implies many things to many people. The only extremism demonstrated by this man is his extreme desire to promote the welfare of the United States and her people.

Senator Goldwater has been charged, mainly by an unfair news media of being inconsistent. One finds this is not the case when his stand over the last four years is reviewed. His basic ideas have not changed. Only when issues have changed has he shown the flexibility needed by a man who is responsible for the welfare of his country. It takes a bigger man to be honest and say "I've changed my mind for good reason" than to be a man who either fails to take a stand or claims his ideas are the same ones he has held for thirty years.

If the term "trigger-happy" applies to Sen. Goldwater, it also applies to Mr. Eisenhower, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Johnson. The entire Democrat campaign seems to be based on nuclear control. To further their cause the Democrats have presented on television a series of horror films depicting Goldwater's trigger-happiness. Let us review the facts. Sen. Goldwater has suggested that the Pres. of the United States, under certain carefully prescribed conditions, should share control of tactical nuclear weapons with the Supreme Commander of NATO. When Mr. Johnson was asked about this proposal to give NATO's commander greater latitude he responded saying, "I believe that the final responsibility for all decisions on nuclear weapons must rest with the civilian government, the Pres. of the United States." At the Democrat Platform Hearing, Sec. McNamara said "The awesome responsibility

(Cont'd p. 6 c. 1)

"FIRST OFF - I'M A TRADITIONALIST."

DON HAMMOND
PHOTOGRAPHY
PORTRAITS, WEDDINGS
Portraits of Distinction
RANDOLPH 4-8697
1049 CLAY

Hallmark

Contemporary

CARDS

AHMANN'S
NEWS STAND

223 N. MAIN STREET

Todd's
Bakery

Just a Block North of Lindenwood
SNACK BAR

Open 'til 1:30 p.m.

The Campus Scene

... Anyone who isn't carrying around a bottle or two of cough syrup from the H. C. just isn't with it . . . . Tookie tumbles off her skateboard and suffers a case of wounded pride . . . . Bravo for the McCluers, who lunched at the Tea Hole last Tuesday—perhaps help for that deplorable situation is on the way . . . . Jean suppers are fun and all that, but can two lines really accommodate 700 people? . . . . Either there are too many political strongwomen on campus—or it was just a cheap rope . . . . "Look right at me; no, lower your chin, raise your shoulders, straighten your back, swing your legs around this way, tip your head back—no, not too much—and look pleasant!"—no it's not physical fitness, just ID pics . . . . Cobbs Hall looks remarkably like Party Headquarters . . . . First stages of "Cotillion Fever" appear: "I don't care how important that dance is—I will not go with a blind date. I'd rather die!" . . . . Monday mornings are becoming increasingly more trying . . . . and the South American beat pulses throughout L.C. . . . .

Dr. Richey Joins Psych. Department

Dr. Harold Richey is the new instructor of Psychology this year at Lindenwood. He lives in Des Peres, Missouri with his wife, who is an associate professor of Psychology at St. Louis University.

Dr. Richey attended the University of Missouri in Kansas City, and the University of Illinois in Urbana. He worked as a research assistant at the University of Illinois for two years, and as a research Psychologist for seven years in the Air Force.

For two years, Dr. Richey was the Director of Institutional Research at Ball State College, and worked as Research Coordinator at the University of Arizona. He also worked with the Science Research Associates for one year, and was the Project Director of the National Merit Scholarship contract with the National Merit Corporation.

Apart from his work with Psychology and research, he takes an interest in the American Revolution, and the arche-

S.C.A. Evening Features Hootenanny to Open Year

S.C.A.'s program for this year was opened Thursday night, October 15, with S.C.A. Night. The program took the form of a Hootenanny with girls interested in participating, bringing their guitars and either singing solo or having the group join them in singing folk songs, a number of which were in the form of social protest. Both those attending and those who participated had a very enjoyable evening. Out of this gathering and the interest shown, there arose the desire to have regular meetings of those interested in folk music.

Possible plans for this group would include the side room of Butler gym as the meeting room. These groups could meet every other Friday night after the movie for discussion and or singing. Interested faculty members and possibly guests from St. Louis doing work in connected fields, would be invited. There would be a regular group, but students should always feel free to "drop in" with or without dates.

If you are interested in this plan, or have suggestions to offer, please contact Carolyn Ledford, Babs Kehl, or any other S.C.A. officer.

Bangles and Beaus

"Love comes quietly . . . but you know when it is there, because, suddenly . . . you are not alone any more . . . and there is no sadness inside you."

by Joan Walsh Anglund
Love came in full bloom on October 3rd when Mike Sullivan gave his pin to Karen Bissonette. Karen lives in Butler Hall, and Mike is a Pi Kappa Alpha in Rolla.

October 3rd also held something special for one of our day students, Vicki Chase. She received a lavalier from Butch Just, who is a freshman at Southeast Missouri State College.

Libby Worthing of Nicolls Hall received a lavalier from Howard Totts on October 9th. Three cheers for Phi Delta Theta at Missouri University for having such good taste.

October 10, 1964 turned out to be the best birthday Glenda Gerrad ever experienced. Ron Garner honored her with an engagement ring. Ron works for Rosehill Gardens in Kansas City. Happy Birthday, Glenda!

"It's great," was the only thing Judy Wycoff could say when she told us of her pinning to Paul Schultz, a member of the Adelmante fraternity at Iowa State. The big day was October 11.

There certainly was no sadness for Melinda Trask and Tom Follett when they became lavaliered October 12. How do you like the freshmen at Baylor University, Melinda?

We wish you all the best.

Music Notes

Even the old bust of Liszt seems to be smiling ever since Mr. Bittner's outstanding performance, Oct. 12th. With his excellent virtuosity in technique and interpretation, plus a large audience and reception afterwards, we were proud as could be to have him lead our invasion on Roemer. Everyone agrees he should invade other stages as well . . . . While Mr. Bittner's fingers are at the keyboard and nose is in a theory book, the Purple Heart and pats on the back are awarded to Mrs. House and Miss Swingen for taking the overflow of piano students . . . . There's a note of amazement in the fact that Mr. Mulbury, a world traveler and Cardinal fan from the age of 12, should settle in our community precisely in time to watch the Cards become world champs! . . . . More written notes are being turned into beautiful sounds at the stroke of Mr. Rehg's baton. Every Wednesday afternoon, his live orchestra brings sheer delight to our ears . . . . Not that I have anything against Mr. Bittner's brass and woodwinds classes . . . . Dr. Walker has been pouring forth her hidden talent for remembering philosophical sayings. To give her a mere "Hello" is to receive some valuable words of wisdom

. . . . Mr. Little, the jolly boss of this funny, funny faculty, busied himself with a talk he gave at Ladue Chapel, Oct. 22nd. Not that there was nothing else to keep him busy . . . .

This typewriter is beginning to sound out of tune. Besides, the faculty doesn't consider this a part of our practicing. I'd better change keyboards.

B.Z.

HOB-NOB CAFETERIA

FINE FOOD
HOMEMADE PIES

Quick Service - Low Prices

CARRY OUT SERVICE

Phone RA 3-0320

108 South Main Street

St. Charles, Mo.

Three Attend the ACP Conference

This week, three Lindenwood students are attending the Associate Collegiate Press Conference which is being held at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago. Representing the Bark are Linda Hale and Betsy Ireland; Barbara Brunsmann of the Linden Leaves staff is attending the conferences on college yearbook publication.

A Sundae's Not A Sundae unless it's made with ice cream from ST. CHARLES DAIRY

For Convenience Sake! call

ST. CHARLES YELLOW CAB COMPANY

RA 4-1234

STEAKS - CHICKEN - SPAGHETTI - RAVIOLI PIZZA

PIO'S RESTAURANT AND LOUNGE

Carry-Outs RA 4-5919

Planters and Fall Arrangements

Brighten Your Room

BUSE'S FLOWER & GIFT SHOP

400 CLAY St.

Phone RA 4-0148

DELIVERY SERVICE

Have Your Clothes

Cleaned at

Jordan Cleaners

CALL RA 3-1200

2022 W Clay

the gala season shines brightest,

FORMAL ACCESSORIES

18-button length GLOVES from $4.00

Formfit, Maiden Form, Lovable STRAPLESS BRAS from $3.95

Karu and Geno Costume JEWELRY from $2.00

Hanes HOSIERY from $1.50

Karstev's
"Fashions for Milady"
St. Charles Plaza

"Open A Charge Account"

'THE WINTER'S TALE' OPENS OCT. 30

The entire cast takes time from rehearsal for a group picture.

Mike Donovan and Mr. Douglas Hume perform in a scene from "The Winter's Tale."

Tookie Basch, Marianne Sawyer and Pat Merrill get ready for a scene.

GOLDWATER

(Cont'd from p. 4 c. 5)

ity to unleash such force, I believe, can rest only on the highest elected official in the country—the President of the United States." It seems ironical that the two men responsible for our defense seemingly are ignorant of the responsibility that already rests with the NATO Commander. U.S. News and World Report said recently, "Even now, the understanding is widespread among NATO allies that the U.S. Commander in Europe already have orders, issued in advance, to use nuclear weapons in certain emergencies with no further instructions from Washington." Knowing the truth, it seems a little late for the Democrats to be hiding behind security classification.

Can raising taxes be considered as having compassion for the people? Are programs such as "medicare" and the "war on poverty" truly beneficial for the majority of Americans or are they misleading programs with appealing titles? Can Civil Rights legislation insure tolerance which is the key to racial and religious programs? These are questions which you the public must consider.

It is necessary that each of us be informed on the issues involved in this campaign. We must not be influenced by the distorted views presented by the media. Read Sen. Goldwater's speeches, listen to what he says and decide for yourselves which values you hold most dear and which candidate can best assure those values.

If you are truly informed about the real issues involved in this election, you will recognize that Senator BARRY M. GOLDWATER is the man best qualified for the Presidency of the United States.

Sounding Board Holds Meeting

Sounding Board met with Dean Thomas, Dr. McCluer, and Miss Lichliter on Tuesday, October 20. Major items discussed were: the Tea Hole, the "Lindenwood College" sign on the water tower, the telephone situation in the dormitories and the demand for more long distance phones, and the possibility of an intercom system in each dorm.

Each dormitory is represented by one elected member, and four members are appointed from the Student Council. Meetings are open to the entire student body, and anyone with a complaint or suggestion is urged to voice her opinion.

JOHNSON

(Cont'd from p. 1 c. 5)

results were not released until this morning.

In the past, it has been observed that the results of a campus vote here at Lindenwood have been contrary to the results of the national election in November. However, because party affiliation would not seem to hold sway in this particular situation, the only conclusions to be drawn are that this election will be a close one!

S.C.A. Service Meeting Held

S.C.A.'s Social Service Institute was held Tuesday, October 20 at 4 p.m. Students interested in doing this type of work in St. Charles during the current school year met with representatives of the Salvation Army, Red Cross, Boys' Club, and schools for mentally retarded children.

If you were unable to attend this meeting, but are interested in doing this type of work, contact Marty Gunn or Lucia Jahnsman.

FOR ALL OCCASIONS —

PARKVIEW GARDENS

FLOWER SHOP & GREENHOUSE

1925 Randolph Opposite Blanchette Park

ST. CHARLES, MO.

Italian Foods,
Steak, Chicken, Sea Food
Sandwiches

Saullo's

RESTAURANT

RA 4-7083 500 Morgan
(For Carry Outs) St. Charles

200 NORTH KINGSHIGHWAY PHONE RA 4-6100
1 BLOCK NORTH OF CAMPUS

PICK-UP AND DELIVERY AT THE BOOK STORE

"the individual salon . . . for the individual"

SPECIAL

Wednesdays only . . . Haircuts $1.50

Countess Salon of Beauty

2212 WEST ELM

Transportation

FREE

on

Thurs., Fri., Sat.

Straight From
Our Ovens
To You!

COTTAGE BAKERIES

141 N. Main
1924 W. Clay

HERBERT F. ABLOR

ST. CHARLES' LARGEST JEWELER

Lindenwood Charms

"The perfect gift . . . anytime"

FINE JEWELRY