

Linden Week

COMMUNIQUE

Vol. Three, No. 27; March 26, 1985

STUDENT RECEIVES ACCOMPLISHMENT AWARD - Connie R. Scrivner, a sophomore majoring in communications, is the first recipient of the Sophie Wagner Urman Award for Individual Accomplishment, a $250 annual scholarship presented to an outstanding coed at Lindenwood. The award is named in memory of Mrs. Urman who died in 1983 at the age of 93. It was established by her granddaughters, Rose Lyn Zanville, a 1966 alumna, and Dr. Holly K. Zanville, a 1968 alumna, both of Dallas, TX.

The award will be presented each fall to a female student "who possesses qualities of being a success in life as a human being," said Lyn Zanville. Students interested in finding out more about the award, including specific qualifications, should contact the Financial Aid Office or the Development Office.

Active in the college and community, Scrivner serves as captain of the Cheerleaders and helped form a new Christian student organization, Successful Living, a group attempting to make student life more rewarding through a variety of religious, communicative and extra-curricular activities. She also has been active in the Religious Life Council, the Women's Ensemble, the Student Ambassadors and Alpha Lambda Delta Honorary Society. In 1983, Scrivner was the St. Charles Junior Miss.

EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP MARCH 27-28 - Foster W. Cline, M.D., a well-known physician and child psychiatrist, author and lecturer, will appear on campus Wednesday and Thursday to present workshops for those working with gifted or disturbed children. "Working with the Gifted Child" will be presented on Wednesday, while "The Disturbed Child" will be given on Thursday. Both workshops are free to Lindenwood students; registration fees for others are

"Linden Week Communique" is published each Tuesday morning during the fall, winter and spring semesters and biweekly during the summer. Produced as a joint effort of the college's Public Relations Office and Printing Center, it is disseminated to all faculty, staff and students. The deadline for submission of editorial copy is 2 pm Monday prior to Tuesday's publication; copy should be sent to the Public Relations Office, #6 Roemer Hall.

$40 for both sessions or $25 for a single workshop. Designed for parents, educators and students, the workshops are presented by the Family & Counseling Services, Inc., of St. Louis in conjunction with Lindenwood College.

The author of more than 20 professional papers and articles and four books, Dr. Cline is in private practice with a multidisciplinary group that specializes in treatment of individual and family problems in Denver, CO. He is a psychiatric consultant to residential child and foster care programs in the Denver area, and he has supervised therapists and student personnel teams in Colorado. Dr. Cline is a popular lecturer on learning and behavior disorders in children, and he has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada and Australia.

Further information and reservations can be obtained by contacting the Education Dept. or the Family Adoption & Counseling Services, 567-0707.

COMMUNITY CONCERT SUNDAY - Students, faculty and staff as well as the general public can see and hear the Lindenwood College Chamber Singers in concert, March 30, at 4 p.m. in Sibley Chapel. The 23-member group, under the direction of Nancy P. Fleming, assistant professor and choral music director, will present its annual Spring Concert free-of-charge. The music will cover a wide variety of styles ranging from 16th century madrigals and motets to more contemporary music by Duke Ellington and Stephen Foster.

A MESSAGE FROM THE HEALTH CENTER - During the next few weeks, any resident or commuter student is requested to report to the Student Health Center (extension #270) if you have an illness involving either rash or fever. Two measles cases have been confirmed in St. Louis County, reports Jane Henthorn, R.N., director of the Campus Health Center, one involving a college-age male who had been at gatherings with other local college students. For additional information, contact her at #270.

STUDIO PRESENTATION APRIL 5-6 - "Agnes of God," a drama by John Pielmeier, is the next studio production being presented by the Performing Arts Dept. The play pits the logical, scientific mind against the spiritual, intangible soul, and it is to be released soon as a motion picture. The play will be performed at 7 p.m. April 5-6 in the FAB. For further information, contact the Performing Arts Dept. at extension #218.

CIRCLE K CLUB SETS RECORD - With 40 members, the college's Circle K Club has the largest membership in the Missouri-Arkansas District of Kiwanis International, reports Jim Thompson, advisor to the newly-formed coed campus organization.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of St. Charles (Noon Day), Circle K was chartered last fall and is among more than 800 clubs at college and university campuses throughout the United States, Canada, Jamaica, the Bahamas and Mexico. The purpose of the club, which meets regularly in Ayres Cafeteria, is to provide service to the campus and community. For additional information contact Thompson at extension #320 or club President Abby Tuttle.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS SOUGHT - The St. Charles Lindenwood Alumni Club needs children's books to sell at "Mrs. Sibley's Attic Sale," an antique, arts and crafts and flea market scheduled June 8 on campus. Proceeds from the sale of books will be used toward scholarships for deserving students. Books can be dropped off at the Alumni Affairs Office, 206 MAB, or they can be picked up by contacting Esther Fenning at extension #317.

THE SOFTBALL GAME OF THE CENTURY? - Students interested in competing in a softball game with faculty/staff members should sign up by contacting Kris Cordes at extension #383 or #341. Tentatively, the softball game is scheduled on May 4 on campus during Lindenwood's annual "Spring Fling."

FLAMENCO GUITARIST TO APPEAR SUNDAY - Ronald Radford, one of the few American masters of the Flamenco guitar, will appear in concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in Sibley Hall Chapel. Sponsored by the Lindenwood Student Government, the event is the final one of this semester's Visiting Artist Series, funded in part by a grant from the Missouri Arts Council. Tickets, priced at $5 each, are available at the Box Office from noon-5 p.m. daily.

FASHION MARKETING DISCUSSION - The Fashion Marketing Group is sponsoring an informal discussion about fashion and fashion markets in the United States and Europe today at 7 p.m. in Cobbs Hall Lounge. The free event is open to the entire campus community. For additional details, contact Liz Ammann at extension #395.

MARK YOUR CALENDARS AND GREASE THOSE ELBOWS - President Spainhower has proclaimed May 3 as the college's annual "Spring Cleanup." And, he's asking for student volunteers as well as representatives from the faculty and staff to donate some time to sprucing up the campus grounds. The day-long event is to prepare the campus for Lindenwood's spring commencement, scheduled at 10 a.m. May 18. If you want to volunteer, call extension #202 and sign the sheet!

YIN NEEDS LINDENWOOD STUDENTS - Support groups are being developed at the Youth in Need (YIN) facility in St. Charles for young people ages 12-18 who are coming out of divorce situations or out of alcohol/drug communities. Associate or bachelor-level students are needed one evening a week to work with resident counselors, to answer "hot-line" calls, to do "intakes" and to work on support groups. "This is a good opportunity to contribute to the community, to gain valuable learning experience and to earn possible academic credits," reports Marigay Sheble, director of cooperative education at Lindenwood. If you're interested, contact her at the CAP Center at extension #307, or campus P.O. Box 728.

NOMINATIONS FOR PEER COUNSELING SOUGHT - The CAP Center is accepting nominations for its peer counseling program for the fall from full-time residential and community students. The program is based on the premise that the peer group has great potential for influencing growth and development in students, especially if they are trained in certain basic skills and competencies, reports Randi Kapp, CAP Center director.

Students selected for the program will be exposed to self-awareness exercises within the context of human development; to effective listening skills; problem solving and goal setting; and campus resources referral techniques. By the end of the training, students will be able to assist other students with issues such as social adjustment to college life, male-female and peer relationships and personal identity and value systems.

Kapp is looking for students who have demonstrated special concern for their peers. "Our success depends on our ability to attract these kind of students. We are appreciative of your nominations and suggestions," she said. If you're interested, contact the CAP Center before Friday.

COMMUNICATIONS FORUMS BEGIN TODAY - A series of communications forums will debut today at noon as "Lunch with the Media Professional" kicks off with a special guest speaker. The forums, hosted by the Communications Dept., will be held in the Cardinal Room of Ayres. All students, faculty and staff are invited. Other forums are slated April 23 and May 7.

LSG PETITIONS AVAILABLE - Petitions still are available for all students interested in getting on the April ballot for positions on the 1985-86 Lindenwood Student Government (LSG). The deadline for petitions is 5 p.m. this Friday. Drop a note in Campus Box #634, or contact Liz Alexander at Box #133 for more information.

LINDENWOOD COTILLION SET FRIDAY - This year's annual spring formal will be Friday from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. at the Breckenridge Concourse Hotel next to the airport. The event is free to Lindenwood students and their guests (so don't forget to bring your student I.D. card); for staff and faculty, admission is $3 a single or $5 a couple. There will be a large dance floor, music by Z-Bop, hors d'oeuvres, a cash bar and good time for all. Cotillion is sponsored by the LSG.
