New Professors Assume Duties As College Enters 138th Year

Several new members have been added to the faculty either as additional members or in positions previously existing. Additional features on each individual new faculty member will appear in later editions.

Dr. Bernard George DeWulf is the new chairman of the Department of Education. Dr. DeWulf received his B.S. from the U. of Illinois; his M.A. in Ed. and Ph.D. from Washington University. Previous to coming here he taught in the education department of Washington U. while working on his doctorate.

Mr. Walker S. Edwards was in the investment business in Denver before accepting a position here. He taught at Colorado Women's College until 1960, when he left to enter the investment business, but his love of teaching led him to return to a college position. He received his A.B. from the University of Denver, his A.M. from Stanford. In addition to political science courses, he is also teaching some sociology classes.

A new instructor in the Psychology Department is Miss Melba Babette Fishman, who received her B.A. from Washington University. Last year she worked on her M.A. at Washington U. and did testing and diagnostic work at the Malcolm Bliss Hospital.

Dr. Helen P. Gouldner is back—much to the delight of the sociology students—from a leave of absence. Last year she and her husband were at Stanford University. She has resumed her duties as Chairman of the Department of Sociology.

Dr. Clifford R. Keizer is the new Chairman of the Department of Chemistry. Since 1957 Dr. Keizer had been a member of the Kentucky Contract Team in Indonesia. There he was professor of physical chemistry at the Institute of Technology in Bandung, Indonesia. In addition

Eight Beauties Vie for Crown

Lindenwood's Cotillion Queen and her court will preside over the annual formal ball which will be held in the Khorassan Room of the Chase Hotel on Nov. 9 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Each dormitory has elected a candidate from which one will be chosen queen after a style show, which will be given by the candidates in Roemer auditorium on Oct. 25 at 11 a.m.

The eight candidates are Vivian Lane (Niccolls), Karen Rasmussen (McCluer), Judy Engelhardt (Butler), Nancy Caldwell (Ayres), Linda Street (Sibley), Judy Letson (Cobbs), Paula Ann Bowlin (Irwin), and Jeanne Pohlmann (Day Student candidate).

The couples will dance to the music of Ernie Young's Society Orchestra.

State Governor Assigns Moore To Committee

During the summer Dr. John B. Moore, chairman of the economics department, was appointed by Missouri Governor John M. Dalton to the Governor's Advisory Council on Employment Security.

The Advisory Council consists of seven Governor-appointed members: two to be representatives of employees, two of employers, and three to be, in effect, representatives of the public. It is in this last capacity that Dr. Moore will serve.

In their monthly meetings the members of the Council deal with such problems as unemployment, vocational training, retraining, and research. At present they are especially concerned with the problem of retraining unemployed victims of automation and with the revision of Missouri law.

Dean Donald M. Mackenzie will begin a leave of absence November 1 to begin work with the Danforth Foundation. During his leave, Dr. Homer Clevenger, Chairman of the department of government and history, will serve as Acting Dean.

Enrollment Shows 603 on Roster

The 1962-63 enrollment of 603 students is one of the largest in Lindenwood's history. Of these there are 254 freshmen, 144 sophomores, 115 juniors, and 90 seniors. 98 of this entire group are day students, including 30 married students and five men.

There are 19 students classified as "special" students; most of these are people enrolled in one or more classes, but not taking full credit loads.

There are ten students from foreign countries, including four from Sweden, two from Korea, one from Norway, two from the Netherlands, and one from Brazil.

'Mr. Pim,' Situation Comedy, Set for LC Stage October 26

On Friday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m., in Roemer auditorium, the Lindenwood Players will present MR. PIM PASSES BY, a three-act comedy of situation by A. A. Milne.

Mr. Pim, an English traveler, stops at the George Marden home in present day England to ask for a letter of introduction. He inadvertently informs the Marden household that Olivia Marden's first husband, whom she thought to be dead, was still alive and in England. This throws the already upset family situation into a complete tizzy.

Playing the title role is Dennis Deal as Mr. Pim; Judy

Letson is Dinah, Juliann Bottorf is Olivia Marden, Bill Buckner is George Marden, Karl Slinkard is Brian Strange, Molly Fleetwood is Lady Marden, and Katherine Wallace is Anne.

Backstage, Martha McDonald is the stage manager, Marianne Sawyer is the assistant stage manager, Pat Merrill is in charge of costumes and make-up, Jack Dinkmeyer captains the light and sound, and publicity is by Gay Jackson.

The play is directed by Freda Grace Miller with the faculty assistance of Robert Douglas Hume.

Alums To Return to Campus This Weekend for House Party

During the week end of Oct. 19 and 20, Lindenwood Alumnae will return to the Lindenwood campus to renew old friendships, relive their college days, and recreate an era—"Torching the Twenties." All in two days!

Dr. Franc L. McCluer, Alumnae Weekend Convocation speaker, President of Lindenwood College.

Returning to celebrate their Fiftieth Anniversary are seven honored guests—members of the class of 1913. The highlighted decade of the Alumnae House Party will be '23-'33.

The House Party, the Reunion, and a "Roaring Week-end" all get under way at 10 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 19, with registration (Java and Sinkers!) in Cobbs Lounge, followed at 12 p.m. by a "Pick-a-little . . . Talk-a-little" Luncheon in Ayres dining room. At 1:30 they will return to "their dorm" to unpack.

At 2:30 a "Class in Session" will be conducted in the Mc Cluer Hall parlor to help reorient Alumnae to Lindenwood. Dean Donald M. Mackenzie will introduce members of the faculty to discuss new programs at Lindenwood. Alumnae are then invited to ask questions and engage in discussions with Dean Mackenzie and the faculty.

Art Department Schedules Films

The Art Department will present the following films for all interested students at 4 p.m. in the art lecture room on the following dates:

Two films will be shown October 24; MAYA OF ANCIENT YUCUTAN: Interprets the art and culture of the Maya Indians against a background of their life today amid the ruins of yesterday, showing painting, sculpture, weaving, and architecture; and PERUVIAN ARCHAEOLOGY: A bird's eye view of Peru as seen through its arts from five periods of Peru's past.

The films to be shown Nov. 7 are THE DRAWINGS OF LEONARDO DE VINCI: An authentic and distinguished film of the work and spirit of Leonardo, narrated by Sir Laurence Olivier and C. Day Lewis; and ART IN THE WESTERN WORLD: From the National Gallery of Art in Washington, this film tells the highlights in the development of western art starting with the 13th century and includes the development of art in the United States.

Exhibits in Roemer Hall

The exhibit of watercolors by Joe Clements, Wentzville, Mo., artist ends today. Tomorrow an Alumna Show by Dorothy Neblett, who graduated from L.C. in 1954, will begin. Miss Neblett is now on the staff of the Webster College Art Department. There will be a tea in her honor in Roemer Hall art gallery Sunday, Oct. 21, from 3 until 5 p.m.

Gwenn McGowan, a Louisville, Ky. artist will exhibit her work in Roemer Hall from Nov. 9 until Dec. 1.

At 4 p.m., it's back to the "dorm" for a "RAZZ-MAH-TAZZ" COKE SING with faculty and alumnae-in-the-making (us) in Cobbs Lounge. Joyce Arras will play the piano for an "L.C. SONG SING" as Day Students (a la Roaring Twenties) act as hostesses.

6:30 and time for dinner: The Alumnae and their guests will enjoy the "AULD LANG SYNE DINNER" in Fellowship Hall. Honored guests at the dinner include members of the class of 1913, the seniors, and the international students. Seated at the head table will be members of the faculty who joined Lindenwood during the twenties: Miss Gertrude Isidor ('25), Dr. Mary Terhune ('26) and Dr. Elizabeth Dawson ('27).

From 9 p.m. until ??? a.m. Alumnae will enjoy a "RAH RAH" WRAPPER PARTY in Cobbs Parlor . . . and did they say "Relax?!"

Saturday, Oct. 20, dawns a new day. At 8 a.m., it's a "Cat's Meow" breakfast in Ayres dining room. From 8:30 a.m. until

Two Take Courses At Merrill-Palmer

"It was a great experience," says Dottie Schultz of her summer courses at the Merrill-Palmer Institute in Detroit, Michigan. She and Mary Ellen Maune, who graduated last June, both attended. Ann Arnold, senior, is presently spending a semester there.

The program consists of a core course in human development and behavior, a research orientation class, and a child development laboratory. Students who participate in the program receive ten and two-thirds semester hours of credit toward their psychology major.

The Merrill-Palmer semester has recently been added to the facilities of the Department of Psychology. "The Institute is a specialized educational institution for the study of human development and family life, and offers a teaching program at the college level, conducts research, and provides community services in the field."

True Standards; True Beauty

"What dire offence from amorous causes springs,
What mighty contests rise from trivial things."

The opening lines from Pope's Rape of the Lock suggest a parody of some of the events and conflicts now before the student body. If you will recall, Pope's poem concerns the farce of Eighteenth Century society trying to cover the degeneracy of its mistress merry-go-round and ever-present deceit by many artificial conventions concerning dress, make-up, and protocol. For example, after the Baron rapes Clarissa's lock, she says:

"Sooner let earth, air, sea, to chaos fall,
Men, monkeys, lapdogs, parrots, perish all."
Canto IV, lines 119-120

and finishes off with this flourish:

"O hadst thou, cruel, been content to seize Hairs less in sight, or any hairs but these."
Canto IV, lines 175-176

The Earl of Shaftesbury expands on the dilemma of the age by discussing how virtues were decided:

And now uniformity in opinion (a hopeful project:) is looked on as the only expedient against this evil. The saving of souls is now the heroic passion of exalted spitits, and is become in a manner the chief care of the magistrate, and the very end of government itself.

If magistracy should vouchsafe to interpose thus much in other sciences, I am afraid we should have as bad logic, as bad mathematics, and in every kind as bad philosophy, as we often have divinity in countries where precise orthodoxy is settled by law. 'Tis a hard matter for a government to settle wit. If it does but keep us sober and honest, 'tis likely we shall have as much ability in our spiritual as in our temporal affairs; and if we can but be trusted, we shall have wit enough to save ourselves when no prejudice lies in the way. But if honesty and wit be insufficient for this saving work, 'tis in vain for the magistrate to meddle with it; since if he be ever so virtuous or wise, he may be as soon mistaken as another man.*

The parallels between the eighteenth century and the twentieth century are so obvious they hardly need pointing out. It is, indeed, ironic that American women who spend by far the greatest amount of money on clothes, accessories, and cosmetics, also have the reputation abroad and within their own country for being sloppily attired and dressing in taste unacceptable to the occasion. It is the height of the ridiculous that a Lindenwood student so loaded with clothes, etc., that she can't find room for them in the closet and drawer accommodations provided by the college has to be told by the "magistrates" how to dress; her clothes become a vulgar display of the land of plenty rather than a reflection of good taste. Such a student becomes a perfect example of a vulgarian which Webster's New World Dictionary defines as "a vulgar person; especially, a rich or well-to-do person with coarse, showy manners or tastes."

Rather than defining a Lindenwood Lady in terms of Social Standards rules and regulations, it is more sensible to define her in terms of her lack of vulgarity which is not limited to outward appearances. A young lady dressed to perfection who gets drunk at a fraternity party is very much like the girl who puts on perfume without taking a bath, or the Clarissa who cries "any hairs but these."

It is more than lamentable that America is still recovering from her Puritan heritage but it is most lamentable that the best part of that heritage as Milton defines it has been recovered from too quickly. For Milton one of the characteristics that differentiates Adam from Eve or man from woman is woman's superior intuition into the qualities that distinguish the ludicrous and base aspects of experience from the beauty and rapture of experience.

Inside Out Flies; Tree Trips, Mixers: All Help To Make Routine

Although it's a little late for such thoughts, this is the first opportunity I have had to express them, so—"Welcome back to good ole L.C.!"

It didn't take us long to get back in the swing of things, did it! The first few mixers, with their accompanying sore feet, have successfully deflated much optimism on the part of many hopeful budding young "socialites." Many girls have a pile of dried leaves and a healthy crop of insect bites to remind them of tree trips. And nearly everyone has been sick at least once.

On this last score I feel a little left out, because I have the sad misfortune to be a proverbial "picture of health." Unless you happen to share my fate, no one can possibly know how left out one can feel if she has no aches or pains to complain about. And a smile is so out of place amidst the many frowns and tired looks of gloom that are usually prevailing.

The only times I really feel like I belong are at Saturday night dinners, for then it is too dark for anyone to see my healthy grin. And how blissfully divine and romantic it is to dine with my classmates in the soft, flattering glow of candlelight to the tune of soft rock 'n roll background music!

But best of all—the dim light on Saturday night spares me from the sight of the vast array of dead flies lying around under a mist of Mr. Martin's insect spray.

Our tuition is going up again next year. There is a certain faction which believes the extra money will go towards the purchase of fly swatters, insect spray, and candles.

Well, so much for our weekly candlelight dinners. Personally I favor the jeans suppers. I guess this shows a lack of culture, or progressive nature, or something on my part.

To end this discourse on a happy note— isn't the campus gorgeous at this time of year! Its beauty really makes our little differences seem petty. Perhaps we, as members of our separate classes, and we as members of the Lindenwood community can learn to pull together this year.

Until next issue—have fun, be happy, and try not to get more than two weeks behind in your studies!

D.D.

The Junior English examinations will be given Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 4:15 p.m., in Room 211.

One Finds Dilemma in Weekly Candlelight Dinner

Decisions, Decisions, Always Decisions!

I mean really, should one take one's shower before or after dinner? How can one tell if one should wear one's date clothes to dinner or just throw on a dirty blouse and skirt?

Of course, one would hate to eat dinner by candlelight and feel dirty. On the other hand, one would hate to eat dinner by candlelight and spill gravy all over one's good black sheath (these things will happen even to the best of us). Ah, the turmoil.

Then there are those of us who work in front of a hot typewriter on Saturdays and don't venture out on Saturday nights. Does one take one's hot bath before dinner or before bed?

What shall one wear to dinner—one's old shift or one's brand spanking clean shirt-waist? Does one leave one's dress on all Saturday evening or does one change back to one's bermudas? One is in a quandary; one is undecided.

One does not go to dinner. And all because of three boys who are too cheap to take their girls out for dinner.

Bark's Aim: To Serve Students

"It is the aim of the LINDEN BARK to bark all the news, snappily, truly and clearly. It is our purpose to present the news to the student body, in such an attractive, convincing manner as will create a livelier interest for school activities, plenty of well-directed, constructive public opinion, and a truer Lindenwood spirit." From page one, volume one, issue number one, of the Linden Bark, published May 1, 1924.

If it were necessary to write an editorial policy for the Bark today, we would choose words different from these, but these words convey what we believe the Bark to be—a channel through which the student life and thought can be taken.

Your letters to the editor, comments, and criticisms of both the newspaper and the community which it serves are welcome. In order to use our freedom of the press, we must have readers who are anxious to praise or criticize us—without the reader we are nothing.

The editorial policy will not fly across five columns of the paper; good judgment and personal integrity are qualities expected in the reader. Our purpose is to serve you.

Area C.C.U.N. Conference Set for October 27 at LC

Last year, Anne Dana, who is a sophomore majoring in political science, attended the 17th annual Student Leadership Institute, from June 16 to 23, sponsored by the Collegiate Council of the United Nations. The Institute was held at the Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York.

Anne was elected the chairman of the St. Louis area for the C.C.U.N. As a result of this conference, the St. Louis Area Council will hold a meeting at Lindenwood Oct. 27, which is open to all Lindenwood students and college students within the St. Louis area.

In the morning, a coffee hour will be held from 9 to 9:30 in the Fine Arts Building. From 9:45 to noon, Mr. Norman Backen, executive director of the American Association of the United Nations (adult organization) will speak in Roemer auditorium. After lunch, at 1:30, Mr. John T. Isaacson, Intelligence Officer in the Air Force who has just returned from Berlin and is presently giving a lecture series at Washington University, will speak on Berlin.

The major purpose of this meeting is to help students in this area become more aware of the United Nations and of its student supporting organizations.

The C.C.U.N. was organized in 1946 as a national student organization which belongs to the International Student Movement for United Nations, a collegiate part of the A.A.U.N. The present membership includes 360 colleges and universities in the United States. By having a non-governmental organization status in the United Nations it may bring its views before the U.N. by participating in weekly non-governmental sessions.

The major goal of this organization is to build well informed students by activities such as education conferences and publications.

All Lindenwood students who are interested in the activities and organizations of the U.N. should plan to attend this informative as well as entertaining conference.

Seniors Plan Joint Recital

An organ recital is scheduled to be given by Sally Tibbals Patton, 1002 A. Jefferson, St. Charles, and Beth Bricker, Sibley Hall, on Oct. 23 at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at 8 p.m.

Both senior girls have studied for the past two years under Mr. Franklin Perkins.

The program is as follows:

..... Schumann

Les Bergers Messiaen
Miss Bricker

Toccata and Fugue in D Minor
..... Bach

Mrs. Patton

Sweetheart Stiefel Takes TKE Honor

Gail Stiefel, a junior history and political science major from Greenwich, Conn., has recently been elected the International Tau Kappa Epsilon Sweetheart of 1962. She was the entry from the Beta Eta chapter of TKE from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, Mo.

"All 187 TKE chapters were to nominate a candidate, send five pictures of her, and her qualifications to be voted on," Gail added. Each chapter voted on all the candidates, from whom Gail was elected Sweetheart.

Gail is house president of Cobbs Hall.

New Choralaires Plan Season After Selection from Choir

Plans Underway For Future Chapel, Vespers

Chapel and Vesper speakers for the remainder of this month are members of the faculty and the St. Charles Community.

This Sunday Dr. C. Eugene Conover, Dean of the Chapel, will speak on "Pleasure, Happiness and Joy." Mr. William W. Thomas, Assistant Professor in the department of philosophy and religion will lead in vespers on October 28.

Mr. Lyndon Whybrew, a graduate student in theology at Union Theological Seminary, New York, will be the chapel speaker on October 24. Mr. Whybrew is serving as assistant minister of the St. Charles Presbyterian church this year.

Dr. Clifford R. Keizer, Chairman of the department of chemistry, will give his first chapel talk at Lindenwood on October 31.

Yesterday, Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, Chairman of the department of English, used "The Relationship Between Wisdom and Religion" as her topic for chapel.

Other chapel speakers during the month of October included: Dr. John E. Moore, Chairman of the department of economics and three students who participated in summer service projects. The students were Ota Alexander and Anne Brightwell, juniors, and Gwyn Ellis, senior.

Bishop George L. Cadigan of the Diocese of Missouri and Dr. John Olert of the Knox Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati, O., make up the remainder of the vesper speakers for this month. Bishop Cadigan spoke October 7; Dr. Olert led the service October 14.

New and Improved Equipment Result of Summer's Activity

Lindenwood's campus was a hubbub of activity all summer as Mr. Bushnell's crew and other men worked busily to get things in shape before school opened. The major improvement is Mr. Gerkowski's pride and joy—the kitchen was extensively remodeled. New and brighter overhead lights were installed; the walls were decorated with white tile and "frosty blue" paint; the old wooden floors were replaced with new red tile.

A whole new refrigeration system was installed—Mr. G. now has two walk-in refrigerators with a walk-in freezer attached to one. Much of the cooking equipment is new: two large deep fryers, a steam table to keep the food warm, a large food mixer, new pots and pans. A new table and chairs replace the old rickety table at which the kitchen employees sit to eat their meals.

The bank underwent extensive remodeling. Now banking it done via the two windows facing the main hall of Roemer. The old ticket booth outside the auditorium was removed and replaced by an art gallery for the displays of students, past and present, and other artists.

New tile flooring can be seen in the entire west wing of first floor Roemer, and in Irwin's recreation room. Room 301 was partitioned to give Dr. Talbot more office space, and new cabinets were installed there, as well as in the math office, the English seminar room, and Mr. Mandel's office. New folding tables replace the old, heavy wooden ones in the English seminar room.

In the psychology seminar room can be seen some of the new equipment Mr. Engram got for a class in experimental psychology.

Overhead lights now help to brighten the art gallery, the language laboratory, and the art department. Mrs. Everest's apartment in Cobbs was refurnished, and all the parking lots were refinished.

One of the less noticeable, but to the students, more im-

Student Artists To Spend Day At Wehmer's

Student Artists Guild members are planning an Art Day, to take the place of the customary Art Weekend, at the home of their sponsor, Mr. John Wehmer, assistant professor in the art department.

The student artists will be at Mr. Wehmer's home all day, Oct. 27. They will spend as much of the day as possible sketching along the Missouri River and at Mr. Wehmer's home in Florissant on a river bluff, where they will find much beautiful scenery, and old buildings to use as subjects for their sketches.

The evening will bring a critique of the work done during the day, and a discussion of slides of her paintings by Dorothy Neblett, a graduate of L.C. in 1954, now a member of the faculty of Webster College.

The Student Artists Guild went on a trip to the St. Louis Art Museum Oct. 2. The trip was to acquaint the members of the Guild with the museum, and in addition to the more familiar parts of the museum, the students saw the new art galleries on the second floor.

The relatively informal trip was so successful that there is a strong possibility of more art trips this year, not limited to Student Artists Guild members.

Music Ed Group Holds Meetings

The Music Educators National Conference, local chapter 194, held a get-acquainted meeting Sept. 18, 1962, in the Fine Arts Parlor. During the social hour, refreshments of cake and punch were served. The president, Joyce Arras, gave an informative talk of the functions and activities of MENC.

Seven freshmen and three transfer students bring the club enrollment to 24.

Officers elected last year are president, Joyce Arras, junior; and secretary, Bonnie Zummo, sophomore. The other offices are temporarily vacant. The new faculty advisor is Mr. Groff Bittner.

The second chapter meeting was Oct. 16, 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Parlor.

Alums Prepare for Weekend

General Chairman of Alumnae Weekend, Mary Jean Du Hadway Craig, and sophomore Vivian Lane work on decorations for the House Party weekend.

CBS Control Board Makes KCLC Take on New Look

The new year finds KCLC with a new look. A control board, given to KCLC by the CBS network, through the efforts of Mr. Robert Hyland, manager of KMOX, brightens the prospects of all radio and television majors and other students who work closely with the campus station.

Gay Jackson models a wool dress in KCLC's annual fashion show.

Mu Phi Begins Year's Activities

The new pledges to Mu Phi Epsilon are Judy Engelhardt, Joyce Arras, and Shirley Skyles. Pledged October 8, these three girls will undergo a period of training and be required to pass a written examination over the history, principles, and functions of Mu Phi Epsilon, a national music sorority, before they are initiated.

The officers for this year are president, Beth Bricker; vice president, Linda Street; secretary, Sally Patton; treasurer, Diane Duncan; historian, Meg Blumers; and faculty advisor, Miss Gertrude Isidor.

Representing the Phi Theta Chapter at the National Mu Phi Epsilon Convention June 26 to 30, were Beth Bricker and Linda Street. The national convention, which takes place every two years, was held on the Indianapolis University campus.

During the convention, Phi Theta Chapter was awarded the "Elizabeth Mathias Award." The award of $50 is given to the college chapter with the highest grade point ratio of all the college chapters in the nation. This is the third successive year that Phi Theta Chapter of Lindenwood College has won this award.

The new board, which is being rejuvenated by Mr. Jim Marlow of television station KPLR, is the first major improvement since the station went on the air in 1947. The equipment is being especially tailored to the use of KCLC. It will be more flexible, more efficient, and more modern than the old board.

Originally used by CBS in New York, the board will contain only the finest components. Mr. Marlow reports progress on the board, which, after its installation, will greatly facilitate the service provided by the station and expand the training offered to the station's operators.

New innovations do not stop with the board. This year's Station Manager, Gunilla Fredriksson, has many ideas which should greatly improve the over-all coverage of the station. Carrie Torgerson as head of production will aid Gunilla in putting the new plans into use.

Another face-lifting is taking place in the programming and publicity department, headed by Jack Dinkmeyer. With the assistance of Bylle Snyder, Jack is busy rearranging the programs and creating new shows designed to give the greatest possible amount of service to the KCLC listener. In the announcing and engineering departments, respectively headed by Pat Merrill and Tom Briscoe, interested parties are being signed as announcers or engineers. All of the new staff members, as well as the old, will be trained in the use of the new board by Tom Briscoe. The respective department assistants are Marilyn Brady and Sherry Ashly.

Judith Leatherby is head of sales this year with Kay Cushing and Margaret Arnhart as her assistants. Under a new sales policy, air time is no longer bought with money but with goods. In this manner refreshments and door prizes are provided for such events as the KCLC Open House and the annual WUS Marathon.

The continuity department has its usual intriguing task of supplying station breaks, commercials and introductions for individual programs. This year it is led by Medeena Spray,

ALD Honorary Pledges Members

Sunday, Sept. 30, Alpha Lambda Delta honored high scholarship freshmen at a tea, given from 3-5 p.m. in Niccolls lounge. The entire freshman class and the faculty and administration were invited to the tea, an annual event.

New pledges to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary, are Linda Stephenson, Glenda Gerred, and Charlene Wisdom.

Sept 19 the club pledged five sophomores: Glenda Gerred, Susan Gardner, Janet Hoetker, Linda Stephenson, and Charlene Wisdom, who had earned a cumulative 3.5 grade point average for their freshman year.

NEW PROFESSORS

tion to his teaching position he was engaged in research projects supported by Maytag Co. and the Research Corporation. He received his A.B. from Hope College; his M.S., Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

Mr. John B. Little received his degrees, B.M. and M.M., from Southern Methodist University and Eastman School of Music respectively. He has done in addition doctorate study at the Eastman School. Before his present position he taught piano and theory at the State Teachers College in Mansfield, Pa. He has appeared as a soloist with symphony orchestras in Texas and Pennsylvania.

An addition to the Department of Biology is Mr. Donald Jay Mandell. He obtained his A.B. from the University of California and his M.A. from Washington University. While at Washington U. he held a National Science Foundation grant. He previously taught in California high schools and then at San Francisco State College.

Mrs. Elba Valdivia-Remmling is a member of the Spanish Department. She received her B.A. from the University of Chile, her M.A. from the University of Wisconsin. Last year she was at the U. of Wisconsin doing doctoral study.

Mrs. Nancy Turner Richardson has joined the faculty of the English Department. She taught French and English at Cleveland High School in St. Louis, where her classes were part of the program for gifted children. She received her B.A. from Wellesley College and has done graduate work at Washington University.

Mr. Peter Lawton Simpson has also been added to the English faculty. He has taught at SIU in the East St. Louis center. He received his B.A. and M.A. from St. Louis University.

'Ole Miss' Lets Racial Conflict Come Ahead of Education

The University of Mississippi—Ole Miss—from which two Miss Americas have come—a serene, placid campus, along whose tree-lined walks belles and beaux have strolled and chatted—was the scene of one of the most recent violent protests against a United States law, that which protects the right of any American to attend whatever school he chooses.

The battle, complete with rebel yells, snipers, Molotov cocktails, and tear gas lasted one night at its most raging. There were other minor incidents, certainly; there were comments on both sides of the issue ("Why doesn't somebody kill him?" asked a coed; a marshal remarked, "If I were Meredith, I'd be ashamed to go to a school with them.")

Why was the battle fought? The participants could doubtless give many reasons; they all, when translated, came to nearly the same motive: the young ladies and gentlemen at Ole Miss did not want their campus contaminated by the presence of James Meredith, 29 year old Negro graduate student. Whether the people of Mississippi thought that the intellectual level of the university would be lowered or whether they simply did not like the color of Meredith's skin, the campus found itself littered with bricks, burned-out cars, broken pop bottles, and empty tear-gas canisters. The state found itself with a governor and lieutenant governor being held in contempt by the United States Supreme Court.

WRA Relays Cause Fun With 'Pie in Face' Incident

Eating pie — with only one utensil, that being the mouth! The Women's Recreation Association sponsored the pie eating contest as a part of the WRA Relays in September. As a result, the contestants were victims of pie in the face!

10:30 a.m., Alumnae will either return to the "dorm" and Cobbs Lounge for "sinkers and java" or revisit other areas of the campus. An art exhibit by Dorothy Neblett (B.A. '55), will be on display in Roemer. Miss Neblett is beginning her first year as an art instructor at Webster College.

A highlight of an already bright and memorable weekend will be an address by President Franc L. McCluer at the FOUNDER'S DAY CONVOCATION, 11 a.m. in the Chapel. Alumnae Certificates of Merit will be presented by Dr. McCluer to: Marguerite Urban Krueger (Mrs. Arthur J.), class of '06, conservationist, to Miss Betty Gray Proctor ('43), physical therapist, and to Sally Dearmont Hovis (Mrs. Robert L.), ('44), humanitarian and civic leader. Mrs. Krueger was listed as one of the ten St. Louis Women of Achievement in 1960.

Dormitory Decorating Awards will be announced at 12:30 p.m., during the Convocation Luncheon. This year the Day Students will join the decorating contest by decorating Roemer Hall. At 2 the Alumnae Meeting with Dyke Steinbeck Barton (Mrs. K. K.) class of '29, Alumnae Association President, presiding, will be held in Cobbs Hall Parlor. Meg Blumers, social chairman, and the Social Committee will be hostesses for the guided tour of the campus which will start from Roemer Hall at 4 p.m.

5:30 p.m., and it's the beginning of AN EVENING AT THE FAMOUS GASLIGHT SQUARE at the Georgian (6 o'clock, Social Hour . . . 7:30, dinner).

The final event of an eventful weekend will be a "TWENTY-THREE-SKIDOO" breakfast in the Cobbs Tea Hole from 9 until 10 on Sunday.

Mary Jean Du Hadway Craig is general chairman of the 1962 "House Party" weekend.

Even before this year's reunion begins the Alumnae Council and Club Delegates will meet with Dr. McCluer, Mr. Doenges, and Mrs. Barton in the Fine Arts Parlor on Oct. 18, to plan their various Alumnae activities for the coming year. This group will dine with students on campus Thursday night.

assisted by Marilyn Smith.

Janice Adlersfleugal and Sharon Munsch as KCLC's record librarians have the job of reclassifying the entire record library. The new system will allow records to be found by song title, album title, or by artist.

This year KCLC will offer a new service to its listeners. Sally Snyder, aided by Linda Culp, will edit all news before it is broadcast by the station. This will insure the students that only news of importance and interest to them will be aired.

The announcing department has posted its list of announcers for the year. Each girl will be heard on the air at least once every two weeks. The new announcers are: Tookie Basch, Louanne Bell, Leslie Brown, Eydie Clarkson, Linda Culp, Cherry Heatherly, Carol Johnston, JoAnn Knight, Sally Snyder, and Sue Snyder.

The new staff expresses the desire that with these innovations in management and the new board, KCLC's service to the college community will be greatly expanded and that the students will find it well worth their while to listen to KCLC.
