FCC APPROVES POWER INCREASE FOR KCLC

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has approved an application from Lindenwood that calls for increasing the power of its community radio station, KCLC, from 1,500 to 25,740 watts. Installation of new equipment and facilities to boost the signal must be completed by Aug. 31, 1985, according to the FCC approval. More than $100,000 will be needed for new equipment such as an antenna, transmitter and transmission lines as well as for installation costs, said Jim Wilson, KCLC general manager.

Details of two fund-raising drives scheduled for this fall and next spring will be announced shortly as a means of obtaining the necessary funding. Earlier this year, more than $12,000 in cash and contributions were raised during a successful on-air funding drive.

The increase in power for KCLC, 89.1 mkz on the FM dial, will mean the station can reach a much larger audience in the bi-state area and have a greatly-improved signal for listeners in St. Charles and St. Louis counties, Wilson added.

STUDENTS RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS, COMPUTERS

Tammy L. Edmondson of St. Charles and Susan A. Eppers of Lake St. Louis are the recipients of nearly $12,000 in academic scholarships and computers in the recent joint promotion among Lindenwood, ComputerLand of St. Louis and KY98 Radio. Edmondson, a sophomore this fall, and Eppers, an LCIE graduate student, were the top winners in the promotion that was available to students who wanted to continue or begin studies in communications at Lindenwood.

To enter the promotion, which attracted nearly 30 applications, students were asked to write why they wanted to improve their skills, enhance their careers or better prepare themselves for tomorrow's world by obtaining a degree in communications at Lindenwood.

Both will receive two scholarships valued at up to $2,800 each. The scholarships are named for well-known St. Louisian John Auble, former cohost of KSDK-TV's popular "Newsbeat" program and currently a columnist for the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT and announcer for KY98. Each student also will receive an Eagle Spirit Portable computer, valued at $2,700 each, furnished by ComputerLand of St. Louis in Maryland Heights in cooperation with B&W Distributors, Inc., of St. Louis. The promotion was arranged through the college's Public Relations and Admissions offices in cooperation with the sponsors. Lindenwood officials as well as representatives of KY98, B&W and ComputerLand of St. Louis each said the promotion was well received and highly successful.

"We're honored to be a part of the John Auble Scholarship program," said Gary L. Hendren, vice-president of marketing for B&W. "Our participation is attributed to our admiration of Lindenwood's progressive philosophy of quality education, community involvement and its ability to recognize the individual needs of its students," he added.

Runners-up in the promotion included Wilma Henrichsen, Lisa M. Olliges, Connie Scrivner, Charles Sherwin, Bridget M. Okragly, Tim Phelps and Karen Barbour.

LEGACY LUNCHEONS DESIGNED FOR STUDENTS

As a means of strengthening communications between the administration and students, President Spainhower has created the Legacy Luncheons each Wednesday from 12:15-1:15 p.m. in the new Legacy Room of Ayres Cafeteria.

All full-time students will receive invitations throughout the year to attend one of the free, informal luncheons. About 25 students are selected each week, with invitations mailed to them 10 days before the event. Students are urged to return their invitations immediately so food service arrangements can be completed.

Frequently, guests like alumni, members of the President's Council or key administrators, are invited to attend the sessions, but for the most part the luncheons are informal and merely provide students with an opportunity to meet the President and others. Further information and reservations can be obtained by contacting Jane Pace at extension #200.
