STDs - Are You at Risk?

by Jane Henthorn R.N.

Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), next to the common cold and the flu, are the most common infectious diseases in the U.S. Most occur in young people from adolescence to age 25. At the present time, there are over 20 recognized types of STDs.

Because the incidence is so high in the age group of many college students, we will publish a series of articles about STDs. In a previous issue we discussed AIDS. In this issue we will educate students about herpes using a little quiz from the Burroughs Wellcome Co., a company that manufactures a drug that helps relieve the symptoms of herpes.

The LindenWorld is published bi-monthly by the college and financed by advertising revenue and funds recommended by the Lindenwood Student Government (LSG). The opinions expressed herein reflect those of its editorial staff and not necessarily those of Lindenwood College or the LSG. We invite student submissions of copy.

From the Editor:

This will be the last issue of the Linden World before Spring Break. The next issue will be out on March 31, 1986.

As editor, I would like to encourage any student, group or faculty member who has a story to tell or an opinion to express to submit material for publication. If you have information but don't know quite how to put it all together, no problem. Just drop a note in the P.O. Box telling us how to reach you and someone will contact you and then write the article. All material may be dropped off in Box 722.

The following is a schedule of deadlines for the months of March and April. These deadlines will be adhered to.

Dr. Alejandro Bolanos

President of Nicaraguan Information Center to Speak at Lindenwood

Dr. Alejandro Bolanos, President of the NICARAGUAN INFORMATION CENTER, will be the guest speaker at Lindenwood College for the Lecture and Concert Series sponsored by the Lindenwood College S.G.A. on TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1986, beginning at 7:30 in the Parlor of Cobbs Hall. Dr. Bolanos will be speaking on "Nicaragua and the Sandinista Revolution.

Dr. Alejandro Bolanos-Geyer attended St. Louis University from 1942 to 1952 when he received his medical degree. He returned to his native Nicaragua where he practiced medicine until 1972, when his practice was disrupted by the earthquake of the same year. Six years later he left Nicaragua after his hometown of Masaya was burned and looted by the Sandinistas forces, one year before they took power. Since then, he has resided in St. Charles, Missouri. He was originally inactive politically. Reports of Sandinistas activities from friends and relatives still living in Nicaragua changed his mind, leading him to research the Sandinistas extensively and work to inform Americans of his critical findings.

Since 1972 he has dedicated a great deal of his time doing historical research on William Walker, an enigmatic American who became the president of Nicaragua in the mid-nineteenth century. Due to his professional research, Dr. Bolanos is considered the foremost authority on mid-nineteenth century Nicaraguan history. He is responsible for the research, translation and publication of a number of volumes and historical documents such as: La Guerra en Nicaragua;

The War in Nicaragua as Reported by Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper; The War in Nicaragua as Reported by Harper's Weekly; El Filibustero Clintor Rollins, and James Carson Jamison - Con Walker en Nicaragua.

Dr. Bolanos directs the NICARAGUAN INFORMATION CENTER, located in St. Charles, Missouri. This is an organization founded by him in 1982 to expose the Sandinista regime of his homeland. It also publishes an informational-newsletter quarterly dealing with current issues on Nicaragua.

HERPES COLLEGE QUIZ HOW MUCH DO YOU REALLY KNOW ABOUT GENITAL HERPES?

Herpes. Some of us joke about it. Some of us have it. Many of us may even dread it. For all of the nervous laughter and anxiety, it is amazing how little many of us really know about genital herpes. Here's your chance to pass Genital Herpes 101. Take the test below and grade yourself. Could be you'll ace the course.

- Which of the symptoms listed below are associated with genital herpes?
 - genital pain and itching
 - blisters, or lesions, in the genital area
 - fever
 - muscular pain or headaches
 - "a" and "b" only
 - all of the above
- How long after intimate contact with an infected and contagious partner can the first manifestation of herpes occur?
 - 4 days
 - a week
 - a month
 - varies greatly from person to person
 - six months
- Herpes outbreaks tend to recur. On the average, a person with herpes can expect a new attack:
 - every two-three weeks
 - several times a year
 - once a month
 - once a year
- The best way to find out if you actually have herpes is:
 - examine yourself for symptoms
 - go promptly to a physician for testing
 - wait to see if suspicious symptoms go away on their own
- True or false: There is no effective treatment for genital herpes
 - true
 - false

6. Herpes poses special problems for women because it
 - a. causes sterility in women
 - b. can be life-threatening to an infant at birth
 - c. can predispose a woman to cervical cancer
 - d. causes extended menstrual cycles
 - e. "b" and "c"
 - f. none of the above
7. Genital herpes is contracted by:
 - a. sexual contact with anyone who has had a herpes outbreak in the past
 - b. sexual contact with someone who is experiencing an active outbreak
 - c. exposure to toilet seats, towels, swimming pools or hot tubs with which a person with active herpes lesions has had contact
 - d. all of the above
8. True or false: Using a condom guarantees that a man will neither transmit nor contract the disease
 - a. true
 - b. false
9. What factors may play a role in triggering recurrent episodes of genital herpes?
 - a. menstruation
 - b. emotional stress
 - c. lack of sleep
 - d. tight jeans
 - e. all of the above
10. True or false. Having genital herpes makes a person more vulnerable to other sexually transmitted diseases such as syphilis, gonorrhea and AIDS.
 - a. true
 - b. false

Additionally, if active lesions are present in the birth canal at the time of birth, the newborn may become seriously ill. If you have herpes it is important to notify your obstetrician so that you may be monitored during the final stages of pregnancy. Should it be determined that herpes poses a risk to your baby, delivery by caesarean section may be recommended.

ANSWERS

1. F. Pain, itching, lesions, fever, muscular aches and headaches are all symptoms associated with initial outbreak of the disease. Not everyone who has genital herpes experiences all of these symptoms. Recurrences are usually less severe and rarely involve the flu-like symptoms, e.g. muscular aches and fever, of an initial outbreak.
2. D. The incubation period varies from one individual to another. Usually, the first outbreak occurs within three weeks after sexual contact with an infected and contagious partner. However, in some cases, it can take as long as three years before symptoms appear.
3. B. The average herpes patient will experience a recurrence three or four times a year. But here, too, there is a great deal of individual variation. Some people, apparently, never have a second attack, while others have recurrences so frequently that they may think of their herpes lesions as a chronic condition.
4. B. Testing by the physician is the only way to get an accurate diagnosis of genital herpes. Self-examination is the way most people come to suspect they have the disease; however, there is a possibility that they may mistake some other skin condition for herpes lesions. Herpes lesions will eventually disappear on their own, but the herpes virus remains in the body, dormant, until something triggers a new outbreak. Physicians now have reliable laboratory tests that can determine if the condition is indeed genital herpes.
5. B. Genital herpes is treatable. There is a prescription drug available from a physician called Zovirax® (acyclovir). A doctor can advise on the role of this drug in the treatment of genital herpes, as well as offer self-help measures and counseling to help control the disease.
6. E. There is some indication that have herpes might predispose a woman to developing cervical cancer. Fortunately, cancer of the cervix is easily detected in its very early stages by the pap smear. Having a pap test, at least once a year, will ensure that any abnormalities in the cervix are discovered and treated properly.
7. B. Although theoretically there are other possibilities, the experts strongly believe that the only way to contract herpes is through sexual relations with an individual who has active lesions.
8. B. Condoms do not offer adequate protection against either transmitting or contracting herpes. Men and women with active lesions should abstain from sexual activity.
9. E. No one knows precisely what triggers recurrent outbreaks. But all the factors listed may play a role. Tight clothing, for example, can cause heavy friction and irritation to the genital area. In addition, physical conditions such as poor nutrition, menstruation, or a cold or other respiratory infection are associated with recurrences. In some cases, though, episodes appear to be unrelated to any triggering event.
10. B. False. Herpes is unrelated to syphilis, gonorrhea or AIDS and does not lead directly to any of these sexually transmitted diseases. However, risk of multiple infections increases with increasing numbers of sexual partners.

In the St. Louis area, there is a clinic established for diagnosis and treatment of STDs. It is located at 801 S. Brentwood in Clayton and services are free of charge. The telephone number is 854-6656. No appointment is needed if people go to the clinic during the hours it is open:

Mon.-4:30-6:30 p.m. Tues.-8:30-10:30 a.m.
Wed.-9:30-11:30 a.m. Thurs.-12:30-2:30 p.m.
Fri.-8:30-10:30 a.m.

Those who prefer not to use the free clinic can also seek treatment from their personal physicians.

CALL EXTENSION 306

NEW COUNSELING INTERN

There is a new face in the C.A.P. Center and it belongs to Bonnie Rosen, counseling intern. She is currently a graduate student in the LCIE counseling psychology program and has studied in the graduate schools of Social Work, Sociology, and Anthropology at Washington University, where she also received her undergraduate degree.

Ms. Rosen, who has worked professionally in the areas of social work, politics, music, and radio, will assist Randi Wilson, Director of the C.A.P. Center, Niccolls Hall, with counseling students in career, academic, and/or personal matters.

She is available on Mondays and Tuesdays from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. To schedule an appointment, call Joann Massmann at extension 237.

Food Service Committee Organizes

A newly formed committee for Food Service Betterment has recently been organized. This is a sub committee of the hall government. Members of the committee are as follows:

Celia Angel, Melissa Risley - McCluer

Karen Bergman - Irwin

Kim Jones - Cobbs

Allen Sell - Parker

Scott Westbrook, Linda White - Head Residents

Sue Brown, Gene Goldstein - Food Service

Marilyn Morris - office of programs and residences

If anyone is interested in serving on this committee or wants to compliment, complain or suggest ideas for food service, please give to one of the members of this committee. The committee meets on Tuesdays, at 12:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

There is also a suggestion box in the cafeteria, please put any information regarding the above in this suggestion box. Thanks for your input.

One of the recent functions of the committee was to devise and distribute a food service survey. If you did not receive one of these, please take a few minutes to fill this out and return to P.O.Box 737. The committee will then tally the results of this survey and post results next issue.

Budweiser

Indoor Soccer Tournament

The Budweiser Indoor Soccer tournament is big off-season event in St. Louis soccer circles. The weekend tournament, held at the Bridgeton Soccer Club attracts the top programs in the nation.

Included in this year's field were Indiana, St. Louis University and Florissant Valley and SIU Edwardsville.

Lindenwood made its first appearance in the tournament. The Lions surprised everyone by advancing to the semi-finals. A 4-1 upset of JUCO National champion Flo-Valley highlighted the tourney for the Lions.

Senior Marc Schwering sees the Lions' participation in the tournament as beneficial to the program.

"I wish we could have done it earlier in my career," Schwering said, "It keeps the guys playing together, gives us seniors a chance to perform free for scouts. Also, advancing as far as we did will Lindenwood some exposure."

Exposure is exactly what Coach Scott Westbrook needs as he tries to repeat last season's playoff performance despite having to replace a host of seniors.
