Center for Experiential Learning invites you to the Spring Career Fair

This spring, the Center for Experiential Learning is formally inviting all Lindenwood faculty and staff to attend the Career Fair on Feb. 20 from 2 to 5 p.m. on the Evans Courts.

Faculty and staff are encouraged to attend the fair to network with the employers in attendance and see their students in action. Our employers consistently report that they enjoy speaking with and meeting faculty while hosting information tables on campus, so their attendance at the fair is appreciated by the Center for Experiential Learning and the employers!

Save the date and tell your students to join you!

Student Research Conference

The Student Research Conference and nomination/student submission form is now available online. The Student Research Conference will be held in the LARC on Tuesday, April 7, 2020. The conference sessions will be from at 12:30 p.m. through 4:45 p.m.

2020 Form W-4

The 2020 Form W-4, employee withholding certificate, is very different from previous versions. This is due to the federal tax law changes that took place in 2018. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is not requiring all employees to complete the revised form and has designed the withholding tables so that they will work with the new and prior year forms. However, certain employees will be required to use the new form: those hired in 2020 and anyone who makes withholding changes during 2020.

Even though the IRS does not require all employees to complete the revised form, and even if your tax situation has not changed, HR recommends you perform a “paycheck checkup” to see if you need to make adjustments to your current withholding. To conduct the checkup, use the IRS’s Tax Withholding Estimator. To effectively use the estimator, it is helpful to have a copy of your most recent pay stub and tax return. It is likely that the estimator will be updated to account for the 2020 tax tables in early January. Please note, if you do not submit a new form, withholding will continue based on your previously submitted form.

The IRS has also published Frequently Asked Questions that you may find helpful as you complete the form.

HR anticipates the 2020 W-4 form will be updated in Workday by the first week of January. An announcement will be added to the landing page of Workday and in the Digest when the new form is available.

If you have any questions, please contact Monica Seiter at mseiter@lindenwood.edu or (636) 949-4971.

Student Health Center Provider Change

Starting on Jan. 13, 2020, the Student Health Center’s medical services will be provided by BJC. BJC will provide the same level of outstanding care and services that was provided by SSM. The Student Health Center’s hours will remain the same (Monday – Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.). The Student Health Center closed on Dec. 13 at 3 p.m. and will reopen on Jan. 13, 2020.

Request for Computer Science Projects, Spring 2020

As the primary part of a computer science course (CSC43000 -Senior Projects) that Stephen Blythe will be teaching this spring, students are required to work on a "real world" group programming project. In order to facilitate this, he would like to gather several potential projects from campus sources. So, if you have a potential computer programming project, he would like to hear about it. Here are some things to keep in mind:

- 1) These will be student-run projects, so there's no guarantee that the resulting program will work for you (or at all). In other words, don't suggest something that is "mission critical" in any sense of the phrase.
- 2) Do not include anything that involves significant personal or other security-related data.
- 3) Students will be getting college credit for this, so there is no need to pay anyone any money.
- 4) You must meet with the students occasionally (at some points frequently) as the semester progresses. Please keep this in mind!

Regarding project size guidelines, CAMS is essentially a programming project but is FAR too large in scope to work with as a whole; however, an individual module or two to "add in" to CAMS might be OK. Of course, security is a big issue with CAMS, so such a project would likely not be possible for other reasons. A project that simply keeps track of ticket sales is likely too small, but a project that keeps track of open auditorium seats/locations, assists with ticket sales, and keeps track of actual ticket redemption (i.e. attendance) could potentially work.

Blythe will start deciding what projects to use in the class at the start of the spring semester, so please send any ideas by Friday, Jan. 10, 2020 (preferably sooner). For more information, Blythe can be reached at sblythe@lindenwood.edu.

Multi-Factor Authentication is Here!

In response to growing security threats and information security audit recommendations, Lindenwood University is adopting Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) for all faculty and staff accounts in January 2020. Information sessions are being scheduled for December and January to provide additional details on the implementation. To learn more, please click this Multi-Factor Authentication video link.

Depending on your last name, Multi-Factor Authentication will be enabled on all faculty and staff accounts beginning Jan. 22, 2020. Multi-Factor Authentication will be enabled each day at 7 a.m. according to the following schedule.

January 22 -- A-E
January 23 -- F-J
January 24 -- K-O
January 27 -- P-T
January 28 -- U-Z

LEARNING ACADEMY

The Grub Club

On the Menu: Dare to Lead

Brene' Brown says this about leadership: "Leadership is not about titles or the corner office. It's about the willingness to step up, put yourself out there, and lean into courage. The world is desperate for braver leaders. It's time for all of us to step up." We teach and lead every day. Who wants to learn more? Join the Learning Academy for a lunch-and-learn in the spring as we read Dare to Lead and follow the 10-week reading plan provided as a resource on her website. If interested, contact Brittany Brown for additional details.

Introduction to eLearning Jan. 6 Online Training Course

This is a four-week asynchronous course required for faculty and adjuncts new to teaching online at Lindenwood, but it is filled with great information seasoned faculty can benefit from as well. This course focuses on Canvas, instructor presence, responsiveness, and supportiveness. Introduction to eLearning is taught by a member of the Lindenwood Online team, who will provide feedback throughout the four weeks. Those interested in improving their online courses are welcome to participate! Click here to register.

It's Hip to be Square

The Learning Academy is excited to support a Teaching Squares program starting in January. A Teaching Square is made up of four instructors, typically from different disciplines, who conduct non-evaluative peer observations intended to facilitate reflective teaching and community-building. Universities that have Teaching Squares include UW Tacoma, Augustana College, and Tufts University. For more information, see this overview of the concept or check out this report on the pilot program at UW Tacoma. All full- and part-time faculty, as well as staff who teach are encouraged to join. If you're interested in participating in the spring 2020 semester, email Kristen Norwood by January 15.

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS WRITE ALONE!

If you've got writing to do but struggle to set aside time to do it, consider joining a Writing Circle for spring 2020! Writing Circles can take many forms, but the basic idea is that faculty and staff who are interested in creating accountability for writing as a habitual practice come together on a regular basis to write. Some circles are as simple as co-writing in a quiet space. Other circles discuss writing goals and progress. More formalized circles can include peer review and feedback. Read about how Writing Circles have been used at other universities here, here, and here. Are you interested in being a part of a Writing Circle starting in February? Email Kristen Norwood by Jan. 30 to sign up.
