Last year, Dr. Gill presented the baccalaureate address. While he was Dean of the Chapel, he acted in dramatics productions at Lindenwood. Dr. Gill's wife, Katherine, is a sister of Miss Mary Yonker, Dr. McCluer's secretary. The Gills have two children.

Poetry Society Picnics At Blanchette Park

The Poetry Society will hold their annual picnic at Blanchette Park May 19, for supper. All members are invited. The plans are to enjoy the menu and to read members' poetry.

Mary Sue Terry, president of the organization, commented that she hopes the menu will be something different this year. The picnic will be the last meeting for the society this year. Officers for next year will be elected in the fall.

Alpha Lambda Honors Seniors At Annual Picnic; Officers Named

Yesterday steaks were sizzled as Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary fraternity for freshmen women, held their annual picnic honoring the senior members.

This year's steak fry honored Vivian Hiatt, Nell McGee, Nancy Ordelheide, Gay Pauly, Sally Seifert, June Tavlin, Mary Sue Terry, and Jane Tibbals.

Dr. Marion Dawson, of the biology department, sponsor of Alpha Lambda Delta, grilled the steaks. Julia Adamson was chairman of the salad committee; Sue Matthews' committee supplied cookies; Mattalou Roth and her committee were responsible for

Senator Smith To Deliver 134th Address

Senator Margaret Chase Smith will deliver the 134th annual commencement address on Saturday, May 27, at 10 a.m.

three full terms in the Senate. She has been in Congress since 1940, when she was elected to the House of Representatives to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, Rep. Clyde H. Smith. Prior to 1940 she was active in Republican circles in Maine.

Before entering politics, Mrs. Smith served as teacher, newspaper, and woolen company executive, and wrote a syndicated column for five years. She presently holds positions on the Senate appropriations committee, the Armed Services committee, and the space committee. Her roll-call voting record—almost 1000 consecutive roll calls—is the all-time record in the history of the U. S. Senate.

Mrs. Smith was rated one of the "Ten Most Admired Women in the World" in 1959 and 1960, and voted "Woman of the Year," five times by Associated Press writers.

The picnic was the freshmen's first service for the organization since their initiation last March.

Officers Elected

Monday night, May 8, Alpha Lambda Delta elected officers for next year. The new executives are Sarah Kline, president; Anne Brightwell, vice-president; Sally Snyder, secretary; and Linda Cox, treasurer.

Mrs. Schreiber, Rev. Stoerker To Get Honorary Degrees

Fifty-eight seniors will receive degrees at the 134th annual commencement exercises to be held in the Lindenwood College Chapel Saturday, May 27, at 10 a.m. Senator Margaret Chase Smith will deliver the address and will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Divisional Plan To Reorganize College Studies

A new divisional plan for organizing the Lindenwood College curriculum has recently been approved by the faculty, Dean Donald M. Mackenzie has announced. The plan calls for grouping the departments of instruction to four divisions: (1) the Division of the Humanities; (2) the Division of the Natural Sciences; (3) the Division of the Social Sciences; (4) the Division of Professional Education.

Included in the Division of the Humanities will be the departments of art, classics, English, modern language, music, philosophy, religion and speech. The Division of the Natural Sciences will include biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics. Economics, history, political science, psychology, and sociology will comprise the Social Science Division, while education, office management, home economics and physical education will make up the Division of Professional Education.

In commenting on the divisional plan Dean Mackenzie pointed out that this arrangement of the curriculum is not new in American higher education, and that it is only the first step of many that must be taken to strengthen the educational program of the college. By grouping departments dealing with related subject matter together it is hoped that both the faculty and the students will become more conscious of the interrelatedness of the several academic disciplines, that the barriers between departments can be broken down, and that students will be able more readily to see the unity of knowledge.

The divisional plan provides the framework for other changes in the curriculum which Dean Mackenzie hopes can be made in the interest of providing a more vital and effective educational educational experience for the student. Among these are broader courses organized on a divisional basis, divisional majors, and divisional seminars.

Credit Policy Changed

Another action recently taken by the Lindenwood faculty removed the penalty imposed on upperclassmen who registered for courses numbered under 150. A junior or senior now will receive full credit for such courses. The reduction of credit policy was adopted earlier to force the students to take certain Thirty-six seniors are candidates for the Bachelor of Arts degree, and 22 will receive a Bachelor of Science degree. Those receiving degrees after completing the requirements are Nancy Agne, Doris Cagle, Georgia Wood Baruch, Anne Bryan, Elizabeth Ann Gorsuch, and Linda Markuly.

Mrs. Schreiber

Elizabeth Tracy Schreiber, a Lindenwood graduate who is professor of French at Washington University in St. Louis, will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws.

Mrs. Schreiber was awarded the Lindenwood Fellowship in 1929 and applied it the following year for study at the Sorbonne in Paris. She also holds a diploma from the Paris Institute de Phonetique. Last month Mrs. Schreiber was awarded the French decoration, the Chevalier de l'Ordre des Palmes Academiques, by M. Jean Beliard, consul general of France.

Rev. Stoerker

A Doctor of Humanities will be conferred upon the Rev. Theophil Stoerker, St. Charles community leader who has served as administrator and superintendent of Emmaus Home since 1929. One of the Stoerker daughters, Marian, a physical education instructor at Wellesley College, is a 1954 Lindenwood graduate.

Bark Receives Gold Plaque

Receiving top rating in the Missouri College Newspaper Association in class B was the Linden Bark. It was one of three newspapers in Missouri to be awarded an inscribed plaque for scoring the most points in its respective class of less than 1000 students.

Other newspapers receiving top ratings were the Capaha Arrow, from Southeast Missouri State College, and the Stephens Life from Stephens College.

Nancy Hisey received the gold plaque for the Bark at the convention in Columbia, Mo., Saturday, May 5. A total of 102 delegates from 15 schools attended the brunch.

Jan Rollins received a gold-filled MCNA key for the best human interest story in class B. Lois Pedersen, next year's Bark editor, received a MCNA key for the best special column.

Eleven class I certificates were given to individual writers on the Bark staff, and 12 class II certificates were presented.

Cut System Needs Revision

There has been much discussion on the campus about the cutting system which is inadequate to meet the needs of students and undesirable according to some of the faculty.

The present cutting system which allows one cut per credit hour, is immature and seems to be based on the assumption that college students are not capable of getting to class and getting an education without being babysat by the faculty and administration.

This system is an imposition on the conscientious and mature student who is capable of deciding how many cuts she thinks she can take in a course without penalizing herself. Perhaps she would like to go on a field trip in her major, attend a convention, sit in on a lecture, or fulfill some other important out of class obligation. This is impossible most of the time under the present system.

The cutting system is an imposition on the faculty who have to go through the red tape of counting noses and reporting overcuts.

It is time that the rules of the college reflect the maturity, the responsibility, and the self-discipline which these rules are trying to instill in students. Any students who would be so lazy about class attendance that they would jeopardize their understanding of a course and their grade do not belong in college but at home where their parents can take care of them.

An unlimited cut system with the following stipulations seems to be more mature and more flexible and better suited to help the best interests of the students:

1. First, P.E. classes in which two cuts are allowed, music lessons, and lab sessions should continue under the present system.

2. Second, a student should understand that the consequences for cutting are her own responsibility except in cases of sickness.

The primary purpose of college is to get an education. The students who come here if they realize this would not abuse the unlimited cut system. Students who do not realize that the primary purpose of college is to get an education do not belong here.

Lois Pedersen Named Editor Of Linden Bark for Next Year

The following positions on the Linden Bark staff have been announced: Lois Pedersen will be the editor in chief next year; Marily Lewis will fill the position of assistant editor.

Sue Snyder will act as features editor while Sally Snyder will edit news copy. Mary Gibson will be the sports editor. The photographer next year will be Margaret Temple. Mrs. Phylis Rice will be the faculty advisor.

The positions of business manager and reporters so far have not been filled. A questionnaire was put in the mail boxes today in which students may petition for these positions. The questionnaire should be put in box 136 or the journalism room, 18, by June 1, 1961.

Next year the Bark will be under a new system. It will be an extra-curricular activity, and the money for the organization will be furnished from the Student Activities Fund. There will be no classes in journalism next year. Staff mem-

Choir Presents Spring Concert

The Lindenwood College Choir under the direction of Mr. Milton F. Rehg presented their annual spring concert May 14 in the college auditorium.

"The Voice of My Beloved" from the Song of Solomon, "Pueri Haubraeorum," and "Echo Song" were featured selections.

Joyce Arras, Mary Anne Cunningham, and Diane Duncan sang solos in a skit from "The Pirates of Penzance." Linda Street, choir president, had a leading part in "Perfect Young Ladies."

Among the selections was "The Shepherd to His Love" written by Mr. Rehg.

bers will be under the activity point system.

Next fall there will be three or four training sessions conducted by Mrs. Rice and the staff which will acquaint the new staff and reporters with journalistic policies and the style of the Bark.

CURRICULUM

courses in their first two years. In the opinion of many, however, the policy was not educationally sound; if a student, regardless of classification, satisfactorily completes a course she should be given full credit for it according to the thinking of many on the faculty.

The faculty specified that certain degree requirements must be completed by the end of the sophomore year: six semester hours of English, six semester hours of biology, three semester hours of religion or philosophy, and six semester hours of the history of civilization.

Freshman English Revamped

A number of other changes in the curriculum have been approved for next year. Most significant is a revision in the freshman English course. The new course which will be offered for the first time next fall, will combine the freshman English course and English literature. It will emphasize critical writing and the use of great literary models, thereby developing an understanding of literature at the same time writing skills are being improved. "The new course," said Dean Mackenzie, "should do much to remove the frequently-heard criticism that freshman English is just more high school English." An advantage of this arrangement is that the student will be able to enroll in an advanced literature course during her sophomore year.

U.S. Diplomacy Strives Toward Laotian Peace; Vice President Johnson Cheered in Viet Nam

In a move to save the Laos peace talks Dean Rusk, United States Secretary of State, decided to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andre Gromyko. They met last week to talk over the major issues of the tiny nation's bitter war.

Thirty-six American students at Oxford University in England sent a letter to President Kennedy asking that the United States soften their diplomacy with Cuba and Castro. At the same time some 5,000 met in New York's Carnegie Hall as "peacemakers" calling for peace all over the world.

Veep Tours Vietnam

A people-to-people campaign, similar to the one that helped gain him the vice-presidency last November, was launched by Lyndon Johnson when he arrived on a mission to South Viet Nam.

The vice president assured the Vietnamese that the United States would furnish support to the country in any war against Communism. Johnson made it clear that he will not recommend that U.S. troops be sent into South Vietnam.

Throughout the grassroots tour Johnson received waves of friendship and shouts of support.

Recession Declines

The first industrial advance since last July was reported by the Federal Reserve Board.

Industrial production increased 2½ per cent, and the May output of cars is also climbing. The Board also reported increases in the amount of new employment and income. The issued statements were the strongest evidence that the country had recovered from the recession.

Soviets Assert Doctrine

Premier Khrushchev again asserted Communism's position in the world, saying that war is not necessary and that the communist doctrine would embrace the world without force. "We do not need war to achieve domination of our ideas, he shouted to the 10,000 people at Thilisit. The Soviet premier did not state how long he thought it would be before the communism doctrine would spread all over the world.

All Bark and No Bite

Common Initials Recognized; Science Smells Fight To Win

I've been thinking about the initials on campus, and have come to the conclusion that there are so many common ones around that they should be recognized.

Here's one list: L.P. record, K.P. duty, S.S. Queen Mary, P.P. glass, B.B. gun, G.E. refrigerator, P.M. (recognizable from sign-out slips), J.D.—what we're all accused of being, D.A. (Mr.), A.C. spark-plugs, L.S. means fine tobacco, C.C.—the pet of all the chemistry majors, F.M.—what KCLC has gone, L. (and) M.—low in tar with more taste to it!

This naturally leads to smells. On Roemer third, formaldehyde from the biology labs and hydrogen sulfide from inorganic chemistry are fighting for supremacy. Terrace level smells like a mixture of freshly-dittoed tests and Othello. Ug! But at least the starlings are gone.

Here's a leftover from way back. During A Man Called Peter when Katherine, who was very unromantically dumped at her dorm door, rushed upstairs in a trauma; one LC freshman remarked to another, "Gosh—she forgot to sign in!"

Disappointment, disappointment. We had four days of rain—only thirty-seven short of beating Noah!

Carol Weaverling on Niccolls third has developed the nasty habit of taping unrepeatable remarks made by her visitors and then playing them back! Her door often wears the sign, "Keep out! Recording Session!"

Fall Vespers Announced

Next fall Lindenwood students will hear some unusual and interesting Vesper speakers.

Hobart Mitchell, a Quaker vocalist, professional musician, and former professor of English, will present a program of sacred music entitled "Sermon-In-Song." Mr. Mitchell will sing religious selections and then interpret them.

Dr. David B. Mace, executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, Inc., New York City, will hold a discussion group following his Vesper address.

Also slated for next fall are the Methodist Bishop Eugene M. Frank of Missouri who has spoken previously at Lindenwood, and Prof. Lionel A. Whiston, Jr., of Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves. Prof. Whiston is also a commentator for KMOX radio.

I just made a great discovery! There are a light post five and an 18. Now all we need is Marco Polo to tell us what they mean.

We're sorry, promoters of Grid-iron. The money for the long range planning committee will come from Churchhill.

There's a wasp buzzing my desk, so I'm going to hide in the closet. Keep those screens closed!

Linden Leaves Whisper

Baccalaureate Talk Anticipated; Niccolls Enjoys New Room

Just think! It's nearly the end of the year except for one slight hurdle, FINAL EXAMS. Actually at this point I can hardly wait for the baccalaureate address. Last year when Dr. Gill was here he had everyone in stitches. In fact, I remember the lady sitting behind me saying to her little girl, "This is a Baccalaureate service, dear. It's just a little different. That's all." By that time the tears were really streaming down my face.

Well, Niccolls is certainly buzzing since its new living room opened up. Already the head resident has given a house warming. The girls are having parties every night so they can use their new kitchen. Boy you sure can't blame them for taking advantage of their new facilities, that is, if you have any conception of what the old kitchen is like. Two years ago it was thrilling to have some men come in to splash a little green paint around.

Wasn't it nice to have such nice weather over May Weekend, as usual? Let's see. The sun came out for the horse show. It didn't start raining until right after the coronation, and on Sunday the rain held off until most of the parents climbed into their cars. I understand we won't have to worry about the May coronation any more.

This has to be a short column this time so I'll wish all of you the very best of luck on your finals. And to the seniors I'll simply say "Remember."

'Musical Blackouts' Plays LC Stage

Repeated Wed.
By Request

"It's a Grand Night for Singing!" About twenty-five L.C. students sang and danced in "Musical Blackouts" on Saturday, May 13, at 8 p.m.

The purpose for presenting the variety of numbers from numerous musical scores was, as director Pam Johnson says, "There is a great lack of things of this sort at Lindenwood and if it is accepted enthusiastically by students and faculty, the possibility for an actual musical production in the next years is very promising." The acceptance of this idea would mean an appropriation of funds to produce a musical in a much more elaborate way.

"Blackouts" included songs and dances from "Pajama Game," "The King and I," "South Pacific," "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," "West Side Story," "Cinderella," "Flower Drum Song," "Porgy and Bess," "Carousel," and "Oklahoma."

The musical also included an Indian interpretation of "The Lord's Prayer" by Mary Lou Lowe, who will be performing the same dance in the Miss Oklahoma City Pageant this summer. The opening song was "It's a Grand Night for Singing." An adaptation of "Honey Bun" from "South Pacific" featured Heather Brisbin as "Nellie" and Jean Willmore as "Luther, Nellie's 'Honey Bun.'" A small group of dancers, led by Julie Holmes "warmed" the audience with their version of "Steam Heat." Other acts were interpretive dances from "The Bad Seed" and "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" directed by Penny Bowen.

Visiting Speakers Present Three Sociology Lectures

In an effort to acquaint students with personal reports of empirical research in sociology, Dr. Helen P. Gouldner, of the sociology department, has engaged three speakers for her classes during the month of May. These lectures are open to both faculty members and students who wish to attend.

On May 12, at 9 a.m., Mr. Myron Schwartz, director of the Jewish Community Relations Council, demonstrated the famous "Rumor Clinic" for the introduction to sociology classes.

Mr. Schwartz is well known in St. Louis for his work in human relations. He has taught at Washington University and has served a number of summers on the Human Relations Workshop conducted by St. Louis University.

Dr. Joseph A. Kahl will lecture to students in introduction to sociology tomorrow at 9 a.m. Dr. Kahl, who recently returned from more than a year's research on problems of industrialization and urbanization in Brazil, will lecture on the industrialization of underdeveloped countries.

An Associate Professor of Sociology at Washington University, Dr. Kahl has published widely in the fields of stratification and social change and is regarded as an expert on problems of change in Latin America. attired as Roman gods or goddesses and playing the role of their own deities, arrived, the wedding ceremony of Bacchus, Bob Hilliard, and Ariadne, Jacy Thomas, was presided over by the priest, Mr. Douglas Hume.

Following the wedding, the guests reclined on pillows to eat in Roman style the feast of Roman ham, green beans, American tossed salad, Roman bread, Roman apple pie and cheese, and punch.

Each wedding guest brought a wedding gift, all of which were presented to the wearer of the most authentic costume, Ellen Gherkin, who portrayed Minerva. Pat Morris, as Ceres, was runner-up.

Then the traditional wedding procession, some members bearing torches, crossed the campus to the "groom's home," Irwin recreation room, for the reception. Dessert of wedding cake and coffee were served.

Ellen Gherkin, president of Pi Alpha Delta for 1960-61, commended the following committee chairmen for their work in preparing this unique party: banquet, Jacy Thomas; entertainment, Roberta De La Torre; invitations, Caroline Drane; food, Mary Lee Brannock; and decorations, Hermina Lambrechtse and Mary Lee Brannock.

Twelve Students Tell Stories To Children in Local Schools

Twelve Lindenwood students have been participating in a project of storytelling in the grade schools, nursery school, and school for the mentally retarded in St. Charles.

Jane Adams, Sue Allender, Winston Clark, Susan Ellis, Jane Eyler, Carolyn Jurgensen, Judy Letson, Margaret Odell, Beth Potter, Marty Radford, Gretchen Siegfried, and Kay Worth have traveled to the school to read and tell stories.

Carolyn Jurgensen commented on this experience, "The experiences in the classroom have given me insight into classroom activities and have helped me become more acquainted with young children."

Marty Radford stated, "I feel that the work involved in preparation was well worth the results."

"Since I have been confronted by a classroom situation in telling stories, I feel that I have built up a lot more confidence . . . The most amazing thing I have observed is just how smart first graders are!" said Winston Clark.

Jane Eyler's comment, "This project has been one of the most rewarding experiences I have had while preparing to teach in the elementary grades," was accompanied by her supervising teacher's remark, "It has been a pleasure to have Miss Eyler visit our room."

Gretchen Siegfried told of the initial difficulty, "It took me two sessions to get into the feel of telling the stories to children."

"I used flannel illustrations for The Three Billy Goats Gruff and mounted them on colored paper. The children seemed to enjoy them very much," said Jane Adams, telling of her technique.

Susan Ellis reacted, "After these sessions I am positive that I want to teach kindergarten . . . Not until I read stories to kindergarten children did I realize how much difference expression related by the teller's whole body makes to the success of the story."

Margaret Odell admitted, "There is a difference between the theory and practice of storytelling."

Kay Worth said, "My group of children was one of the most appreciative audiences imaginable."

"My Uncle Remus program was the most fun of all," remarked Judy Letson, who told her stories to third graders at Lincoln school.

The girls devoted themselves to their storytelling, and such comments from the supervisors as "imagination — none," "animation — poor," "climax — children missed the point of the story" appeared on criticisms just once before they brought improvement. Miss Lenore Sogard, of the nursery school, commented on Beth Potter's accomplishment, "For today's session Beth had chosen two new stories which the children enjoyed. Her bright smile and enthusiasm helped her with the children. Today they were responsive and some of them might have stayed for another story."

The general function of the Board is to determine policy governing the three student publications, Linden Leaves, the Linden Bark, and the Griffin. It will make decisions concerning such matters as the choice of editors and staffs, the function of sponsors, and the financial arrangements of the publications.

The Board held its first meeting on May 12.

Methods Course Takes Field Trip

Members of the Methods of Teaching and Reading class recently observed three practice teachers from Lindenwood while teaching their units. They wanted to see the various methods in teaching reading employed and to have the children read for a purpose.

Margaret Sebaugh's first grade at Benton Grade School was observed while having a reading class.

Wilma Tyau was also one of the practice teachers cooperating on this trip. Her third grade unit at Lincoln School was working on "Our Wonderful Universe." In this class the children had done reading for oral reports.

The children in Ruth Ann Kern's first grade social studies unit at Blackhurst School read on "Animals that Give Milk for Children to Drink."

Foreign Governments Universities Give 200 Fellowships for Graduate Study

Over two hundred fellowships for graduate study in 15 foreign countries in 1962-63 will be offered by foreign governments and universities through the Institute of International Education.

The Institute of International Education announced today that applications for these fellowships are now available.

The fellowships cover tuition costs and varying amounts for living expenses for study in universities in Austria, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Iran, Israel, Italy, Mexico, The Netherlands, Poland, Rumania, Sweden and Switzerland. Students applying for Austrian, Danish, French, German, Israeli, Italian, or Netherlands government awards may apply for a Fulbright Travel Grant to supplement their fellowships.

Two additional awards, offered by an American foundation, are for study or research in any country in the Far East, South or Southeast Asia, and Africa.

General eligibility requirements include United States citizenship, a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent before departure, foreign language ability, and good health. A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given applicants under 35 years of age who have not had extensive experience abroad. While married persons are eligible for most of the fellowships, the stipends are geared to the needs of single grantees.

College and university students should obtain application forms from their campus Fulbright Adviser. Other prospective applicants may obtain further information and application forms from the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, New York; or any of the Institute's regional offices.

Recruits Needed In Peace Corps

Candidates for the Peace Corps who want to begin their service this summer will be tested May 27 or June 5 for their fitness for one project already announced and others now being explored.

The Peace Corps is actively recruiting for engineers, surveyors, geologists, teachers of English as a secondary language, community development workers and agricultural extension workers.

The Peace Corps Entrance test can also be taken by anyone interested in joining the Corps at any time in the future.

Candidates who have a questionnaire on file with Peace Corps Headquarters will be notified of the time and place of examination by the middle of May. With few exceptions, they will not have to travel long distances to a testing center.

Those who have not filled out a questionnaire may do so at the testing center and will be allowed to take the test if circumstances permit. Preference, however, will be given to those applicants who had submitted their forms by May 8.

The May 27 examination will be for volunteers who wish to work as elementary school teachers, teachers of English as a second language, in agriculture or animal husbandry, as engineers, surveyors and geologists.

Peace Corps candidates can take one or both tests. The second test will be given June 5.
