LINDENWOOD COLLEGE, ST. CHARLES, MO., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1960

NUMBER 1

Five Professors Join LC Staff; Varied Fields Represented

Dr. Helen Bedon is the new head of the Lindenwood chemistry department. She is teaching courses in beginning chemistry and quantitative analysis.

"So far I've been too busy to form an impression," remarked Dr. Bedon, concerning the LC students and the school as a whole. She received her A.B. degree from Meredith College; her M.A. from the University of North Carolina; and her Ph.D. at Cornell University.

Dr. Bedon has formerly taught at Sweet Briar College, Sweet Briar, Virginia; Lander College, Greenwood, S. C.; Women's Christian College, Madras University, Madras, India; and Salem College in Massachusetts.

Previously she has taught math and physics as well as chemistry. Her outside interests and hobbies include hiking, camping, and photography. "Sometimes I really get trigger happy," she laughed.

Dr. Bedon lives in St. Charles with her mother, Mrs. W. D. Bedon.

Marjorie Banks

Miss Marjorie Ann Banks is the new associate professor in the Education Department this fall. Miss Banks is teaching elementary education courses.

She has taught in elementary schools in Webster Groves and several other towns in Missouri and has been on the summer staff in the Graduate Institute of Washington University for the past 10 years.

She attended Missouri University, received her M.A. degree from Washington University, and her B.S. from Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College.

In 1952 Miss Banks conducted a three months survey in 15 foreign countries of children's play. Other work in the elementary area is her patented design of an instructional table which gives clear vision to children in classrooms.

Miss Banks was also the co-author of a social studies book, Where Rivers Meet, which is based on the history of the people and

41 Counselors Face Challenge

Forty-one counselors, with an average of six counselees each, have taken on new roles as "big sisters" in order to help the freshmen feel at "home" in their new surroundings.

They are responsible for interpreting college rules and activities, and being available for consultation on any problems that arise. Each semester a report is filled out on their progress and observations.

The program started Sept. 17, with a counselors brunch, where they received the names of their counselees. The following evening the freshmen were introduced to their counselors at a group meeting. This enabled them to get acquainted before the beginning of classes. On Sept. 19, a kickoff dinner was held in Ayres dining room, in which tables were reserved for each counselor and her counselees.

In the coming month, the counselors will hold meetings in which they will meet with Dr. Conover, Dr. Gouldner, and the field representatives.

"The student counselors strive to be good friends with their counselees, so that they can aid in adjustment to college life in many different ways," stated June Tavlin, chairman of student counselors and hostesses. She explained that the success of the program depends not only on the responsibility of the counselors, but also on the freshmen and their acceptance and cooperation.

Dr. D. M. Mackenzie Named Dean of Lindenwood College

Assumes Duties Of Former Dean Paulena Nickell

Dr. Donald M. Mackenzie, former associate secretary of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities, has been appointed new dean of Lindenwood College. He resumed his duties at the beginning of the fall semester and fills the post vacated by Dr. Paulena Nickell.

Although his appointment was announced in the spring, Dr. Mackenzie and his wife, Ruth, and two young sons, Roderick 13, and Donald, 16, didn't arrive on campus until August.

Dean Mackenzie, who calls home Homewood, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, holds his B.A. from Park College, Parkville, Mo., and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago. He has taught at Dakota Wesleyan, served as registrar at Shimer Women's College, and was Dean of Students at Blackburn College in Blackburn, Ill., for ten years.

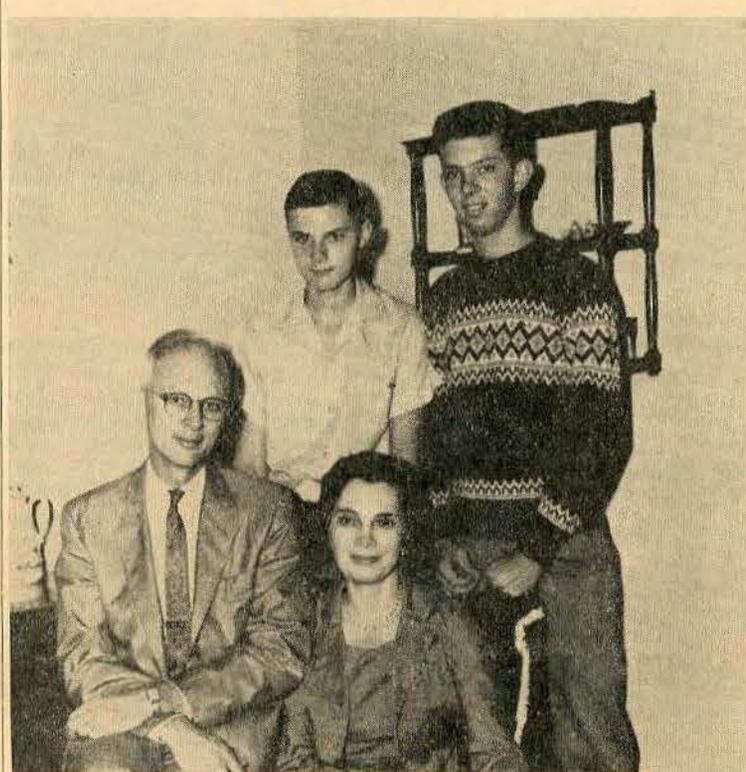

For one year he served as staff director for the Illinois State Commission on Higher Education and was affiliated with the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities in connection with the University of Chicago, before coming to Lindenwood.

When comparing Lindenwood to other colleges, the new dean smiled and frankly stated, "Here there is a healthy concern for the individual student which permeates the atmosphere of the college. Examples of this unique feeling can be found in the freshman counseling program, the varied and interesting curriculum, and the personal faculty-student relationship."

"Lindenwood offers a challenge to me and all who are a part of it. Its faculty, physical plant, and an able student body give it the best possible opportunity to educate women for the future."

Commenting on the recent announcement to expand Lindenwood, Dr. Mackenzie said, "The expanding

Enrollment of 548 Largest in History; Capacity until McCluer Hall Completed

The college year of 1960-61 has opened with the largest enrollment Lindenwood College has ever had. This year there are 471 boarding students and 77 day students, making a total of 548 students. The largest previous enrollment in Lindenwood history was in 1945, when the student body numbered 503.

A waiting list was announced May 28, when Lindenwood's capacity was reached. The enrollment now is as large as Lindenwood can accommodate until the completion of McCluer Hall, now scheduled for the fall of 1961. The new dorm will house 88 students.

The office of admissions at Lindenwood believes that the new freshman class, judged by the quality of high school work, is the most capable class ever to enter LC. Dr. Franc L. McCluer, college president, stated, "Each new student in this college has a chance of success if she earnestly wishes to have that success."

New Students Pledge Honor

"Every student entering Lindenwood College pledges herself to uphold the Honor Code in all matters pertaining to personal and academic honor. She is expected to uphold the regulations of the Student Government Association and to maintain high standards of conduct at all times."

Tonight beginning at 6:45 freshmen and transfer students will sign the honor pledge in the Library Club Room. Student counselors will accompany their counselees at which time each new student will repeat the pledge before the Honor Board and seal the pledge with her signature.

It is hoped an improved Honor Board will be the result of working more closely with the religion department. In the near future members of the board will be asked to fill out a questionnaire which will be used to compare the ideas of the student members and the religion department on honor.

Classmates Elect Bassnett, Ryan, Perkins

Elected last year as president of the senior class is Margie Bassnett. In the recent election Diane Humphreys was named vice president. Other officers are Kay Worth, treasurer; Barb Kasper, secretary and Jane Adams, student council representative.

Juniors Elect

Sophomores Elect

Patty Perkins was elected president of the sophomore class at a class meeting Wednesday, Sept. 21. The following girls were also elected at the meeting: Joyce Crockett, vice president; Karen Rasmussen, secretary; and Connie Wolter, student council representative. Another meeting will be held to elect a class treasurer.

It's going to be a big year for Patty Perkins, Margie Bassnett and Mari Ryan. From the way they're smiling it looks like it's going to be a good year also.

Kincheloe, Director, Selects Choralaires

Dr. Kenneth V. Kincheloe, chairman of the music department, announces the members of the Choralaires are Elizabeth Gorsuch, Mary Jane Austin, juniors; Meg Blumers, Beth Bricker, Karen Cloward, Sally Tibbals, Sherry Hayes, Linda Street, sophomores; and Nancy McMahan, Pat Kelly, Joyce Arras, Karen Roderich, freshmen. Frances Hammond, junior, is accompanist.

This choral group is chosen on the basis of auditions which Dr. Kincheloe, the director, conducts during Orientation Week. They plan special concerts for the student body later in the year.

Why Observe So Many Rules?

How many people in this country feel that the U.S. government made up laws against speeding, stealing, and killing just to inconvenience them? Surely not very many if any at all. Most people have the good sense to realize that anytime there is a group of people living together there have to be rules and regulations to act as a standard of living and to protect their own rights. This is not trite! Yet a good many people at Lindenwood seem to think that it is.

Contrary to seemingly popular opinion, Miss "L" and Dr. McCluer do not sit up late engaging in some sort of mystical ritual trying to think up "mean" things to do to the Lindenwood students. The rules of our community are the efforts of mature people trying to live in a mature world.

One can understand why a freshman might have difficult moments in adjusting to a new code of behavior; one has trouble understanding the upper classman for whom the honor system doesn't work, the upper classman who is far too superior to bother with these childish rules, or the upper classman who is constantly caucused with a sullen faced, "Why did, how did I ever wind up in this prison." Perhaps, this individual should realize that if she is so superior that she doesn't have to like rules she would have done well to have exerted her great strength of character and gone off to live completely alone. She would have to live completely isolated because only this way can one exist with complete disregard for the welfare of others. And rules and regulations are for the welfare of the others

It isn't one, two, or some small select group of people that make rules - it's the attitude and actions of everyone involved. So it might not be a bad idea for everyone involved to think about the obvious - There's a "why" for every rule.

There's Still Time, Students

This is a new year, for some a new life, and for most students it holds new promises. Certainly it's safe to say that all of us have been given an opportunity to enjoy a "second chance." How often has it been said, "Thank goodness it's the end of the year. Now I'll be able to start all over again."?

But it's just as safe to say that this "second chance" wasn't as successful as planned. For some reason the new year had the same old beginning which brought the same old results. Hours had to be spent catching up in several classes. When exam time came it was utterly impossible to absorb all the work covered in one year. Consequently grades went down or stayed the same.

The year 1960-'61 brings with it a "second chance" which is in reality a thirteenth, fourteenth, or fifteenth chance. After only three weeks of classes it's not as impossible as it might seem to begin planning for an academically successful year.

Right now time must be handled as a priceless treasure for IT is the key to this successful year. If it's importance is discovered soon the dreams of a "second chance" won't be lost. But, on the other hand, if it isn't discovered in the immediate future there is only one answer. Wait for another "second chance" and at that rate life will never prove successful.

Linden Leaves Whisper

Campus Swing Screech Proof Dating Situation Must Be Good

Well, here we are! It's kinda hard to believe another year has begun and what a beginning. Already I'm looking forward to the night when I'll be able to get to bed before the birds start singing "Good Morning to You."

Have decided the dating situation can't be too bad since I've already had to adjust to the rhythmic screech of the campus swings. As a matter of fact, it seems to me I heard somewhere that several students have found those contraptions much too juvenile and have taken up "sprawling." My! My!

Was glad to see the first jeans supper got off to a rousing good start. Those republicans are really on the ball. And didn't those Ayres girls show tremendous originality? If anyone would like the words just come to Ayres 213.

Those juniors and seniors who didn't get to the conversations last week really missed something. The coffee and cookies were delicious. Seriously though, I've heard several who were there say they wish we would have them at least once a month.

Grab your raincoat, towel and shoes. Shut your transom and windows. Leave the head light on but turn off all other lights in your room. Don't get excited. Keep your voices down. Watch out—Don't fall down the steps of the fire escape even if they are only two inches wide. I'm sure these instructions sound familiar now, but at one o'clock in the morning with a mad fire buzzer shattering one's peaceful slumber these great words of wisdom just might seem awfully unfamiliar.

Say freshmen. How are those old frat parties treating you? Just one word of advice. Be careful not to mix your cokes and 7-ups. That can kinda shake a girl up.

Can't sit here all day. Have got to get this newspaper on the press. For this first issue it seems appropriate for me to wish everyone good luck and don't worry, freshmen. You'll make good sophomores someday. B.B.

All Bark and No Bite

Frosh Frowns Turn to Frolic; Enrollment Tops

To the frosh we offer our sincere condolences. Their drooping faces, somewhat confused by all the rules and regulations, are traditional on campus. We don't guarantee complete riddance of the frowns but we do promise a gradual decay of unconfidence — and really it isn't THAT hard to go to Rolla. To upperclassmen we say: Study!

Lammert's Furniture Stores in St. Louis report they sold their entire stock of bunk beds to Lindenwood College. We don't know whether this is a true statement or not but we do know that many rooms are filled to the brim. We always did like the Boy Scout way of life.

Mary Lou Riley, an illustrious senior who manages to keep things in an uproar at dinner tables, popped a good one the other night. Seriously she announces, "Betty told me to tell you hello." Sara answers, "Betty, who's Betty?" Mary Lou, still straight-faced, "Why, Betty Crocker of course, she knows all the crumbs." Funny?

English Literature students are dreaming of Beowulf, according to Joan Maupin, while Butlerites keep a close watch out for peepers. Another report from Butler — one freshman forgot to pack her slippers from home so can't go many places without "slipping around."

the dorm she lived in? Well, this year every dorm is a melting pot of all four classes. Tradition becomes unimportant in this dynamic world—say the enrollment figures.

Campus Observations without factual information: Are there more northerners this year? Is three-fourths of the student body Republican? Do you note a more conservative touch to Lindenwood?

We hope the influence of NBC's "Great Debate" carries over to our campus. Wouldn't it be fun to see Gay Pauley and Jane Ely battle out the issues in front of the entire student body? Wonder who would be the moderator.

You've got it made in the shade if the Linden Trees don't fall. J.R.

Young Republicans Sight Hectic Year

On September 27 the Young Republicans held its first meeting at which time 120 students signed for membership. Last night officers were elected and a new constitution was adopted.

As one of its projects the Young Republicans is putting out the County Republican Newsletter. On October 2 the group had a coffee clotch in Cobbs' parlor at which time plans were made to attend the county Republican cover dish dinner tonight.

This Monday there will be a campus survey to see how many students are eligible to vote. Sometime in the near future the Young Republicans are planning to set up an absentee voters booth.

Hayes Hall Greet Semesterites; Answer to Aime Fontaine Found

September 15, 1960

Dear indewoo,
We have arrived! Of course, our brand new dorm isn't quite finished yet. Caroline Drane and Pat Morris, the first of the semesterites to arrive on the Hayes Hall scene, had to wait three hours for their beds to be moved in. Since we've been promised a fire drill soon, Nancy Calvert and Mary Lou Reed feel fortunate that there's a scaffolding outside their eighth floor window. Downtown campus, (our classes) being an hour's drive from the dorm, Betty Cheadle and Brenda Ebeling who live right across from the elevator, have been designated the all important duty of pushing the button fifteen minutes in advance of our "group departure."

On our first day in the big city, we set out in Calvert's car for a quick lunch, at 4:00. What should have been a ten minute drive from the dorm, turned into an hour and forty-five minute sight seeing tour, via the White House, due to Mary Lou's upside-down map reading.

Then we found the most fabulous supper club! D.C.'s answer to Aime Fontaine??? Maggie's. Thanks to former semesterites.

Today we all learned what it's like to be "just a number."—An I.B.M. number at that. We're all nursing tired feet after being in "heels and hose" for nearly eight hours today, at registration.

Connie Milliken, a '60 L.C. grad, flew in today from St. Louis; she's on her way to New York to study at Union Theological Seminary.

Our day started with a lecture from the dean of the school of government, in which she said that a Washington semester student must be capable of both assimilation and absorption. Since we've absorbed about as much as we can for today, we'll say goodbye for now.

Young Democrats Elect Carole Elam

Carole Elam was elected president of Young Democrats at its first meeting of the year on September 27. Other new officers are Susan Hill, vice president; Imelda Harra, secretary; and Peggy Payne, treasurer.

At this first gathering Mr. Ervin Davis, St. Charles County Democratic Chairman, informed the group of jobs it can do to help the campaign workers for the presidential election. Following the talk several plans were discussed for the coming year.

KCLC Begins Broadcasting

KCLC, the Lindenwood radio station, went on the air Monday night, at 7 p.m. The broadcasting theme for this year is "Personally Yours." Political forums, interviews, an all freshmen show, a drama hour, and an open form show are among the programs scheduled for the coming year.

The staff reports that the station has been completely rewired and may be heard any where on the campus. The KCLC staff for this year is made up of the following people: Gay Pauley, Margarita Tsinanopoulou, Terry Ross, Helen Newman, Anne Bryan, Jan Egly, Imelda Harra, Freda Miller, and Jane Ely. Miss Martha May Boyer is the sponsor for the group.

New Director of Development Assumes Post on LC Campus

Mr. Fred H. Doenges, director of the newly created Development Department of Lindenwood College, announces that the suggestions for improvements in and to the College are now in the hands of a long range planning committee. Dr. Franc McCluer, president of the College, heads the committee of 21 composed of members of the Board of Directors, administration, faculty, and the present president and two past presidents of the Alumnae Association.

The long-range committee is recommending at this time an increased endowment for faculty salaries, a science building, adequate physical education facilities, and contributions to the cost of the dormitory now under construction. These recommendations have been referred to Dr. McCluer for the Development Department program.

The new Development Department was set up in May with the approval of the Board. Mr. Doenges is preparing a series of five pamphlets to be sent to patrons and friends of the College. The first, "Lindenwood College . . . its Story," will give a historical background, note significant events in the 133 year history of the College, and will cover the educational program.

The following three pamphlets will include a financial report, a profile of the faculty, and a profile of the Board of Directors and administration. The fifth pamphlet will consist of the final report from the planning committee which should be available early in November.

Dorms Select 60-61 Officers

Officers and representatives of campus dorms have been elected in the past few weeks, except for the presidents, who were elected last spring.

Butler

Butler officers are Martha Ritter, president; Sue Wood, secretary-treasurer; Caddy Reiley, dorm social director.

Representatives are Barbara Barse, Honor Board; Linda Leech, Student Council; and Judy Huntington, WRA.

Sibley

Officers from Sibley are Susan Perry, president; and Mimi Armstrong, secretary-treasurer. Representatives are Sally Tibbals, Honor Board; Beth Potter, Student Council; and Imelda Harra, Social Council.

Irwin

Mary Margaret Warnecke, president of Irwin Hall, is assisted in her duties by a recently appointed house staff of the following girls: Winston Clark, Judy Petterson, Meg Blumers, Michaela McKittrick, Jacy Thomas, and Becky Walker. The honor board representative is Melba Lee Counts, and Judy Ross is the student council representative.

Cobbs

Working with Sue Allender, president of Cobbs Hall, are Peggy Payne, vice-president, and Stevie Harms, secretary-treasurer. Marlene Coddington is honor board representative; Linda Glasman is on the social council, and Mary Anna Wilke is student council representative.

Ayres

Donna Kay Green is president of Ayres Hall. As a result of the recent election Cathy Crebs is secretary-treasurer; Mary Records is honor board representative; Kathy Taylor is student council representative and Judy Letson is on the social council.

LC Welcomes Professors

'Chatting' Session First This Year

"What's on your mind?" was the question that opened the first junior-senior conversations on September 28. Everything from Jackie Kennedy's hairdo to Dr. Clevenger's religious beliefs was discussed. Approximately 55 students and faculty members were present. Five more conversations have been planned for this year.

Leaves Staff Calls All Picture Takers

Don't send your snapshots home to mother; send them to the Linden Leaves yearbook staff. Jerry Pat Harrison, editor-in-chief of the annual, has set November 1 as the deadline date.

From these pictures the Leaves staff will select the best ones to be put in the yearbook. The best snapshot will be published in the Linden Bark.

Public Relations Offers $50 Prize

A $50 "party prize" will be awarded for the most original doorway decoration welcoming the alumnae.

This "experiment" is sponsored by the Lindenwood Alumnae Association to help in making the Alumnae Weekend, Oct. 28-29, a memorable occasion. The decorations must be completed by 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, for the judging.

Members of the National Alumnae Council will serve as judges. The winning dormitory will be announced at lunch Saturday, Oct. 29.

Mrs. Helen Boyd Ostroff, Public Relations and Alumnae Secretary, requests that each hall utilize their ingenuity and talent and spare the expenses.

New Ayres Housemother Fits 'Loving' Name Say Dormmates

The new housemother at Ayres Hall, Mrs. Ruth H. Loving fits her name, according to students living in the dorm. Because she radiates a warm and friendly attitude one would be surprised to know she has never served as a housemother before and has been in the business world for a number of years. Although she has only been on the campus two weeks she is easily recognized as a smiling asset to the college.

Social Service Club to Hear Town Speakers

Members of the community service council and welfare agency representatives will hold a social service training institute Saturday, Oct. 15, at 9 a.m. in Fellowship Hall.

A series of speeches are scheduled on the different agencies and the type of work available. They include Dr. Homer Clevenger, professor of History and Government; Mr. Charles Thorn, Boys Club; a representative from the Retarded Children's Home; a representative from the Red Cross; and Diane Humphreys, a sociology major. Following these speeches there will be a period for questions and discussion.

The community service council, an honorary society composed of young women who have worked 100% of their required time in the welfare agencies, will also be available to answer questions about the type of work they performed in the various services.

The program is directed toward young women who have shown an interest in the field of social welfare. The institute is under the direction of the social service division of the Student Christian Association.

McCluer Appoints Chapel Committee

Students representing seven different denominations and seven campus organizations were recently appointed to the chapel committee by Dr. Franc McCluer, president of Lindenwood College.

Members of the committee are: Jane Tibbals, president of the Student Christian Association; June Tavln, chairman of the freshman counseling program; Terry Ross, Student Government president; and Sue Allender, dormitory chaplain.

Sally Wynkoop, Sharon Wittgow, Mary Jean Burger, Joyce Arras, and Beth Potter will also serve on this committee.

Faculty members of the Committee are Dr. McCluer; Dr. C. Eugene Conover, Dean of the Chapel; and Mr. William W. Thomas and Miss Mary Jean Bartholomew, of the religion department.

SCA Prepares For Active Year

Tomorrow 50 students will head for the hills, that is, St. Stephens in the Hills, for the SCA all-school retreat. The theme for the two day meeting is "Students' Concern in the World of Politics."

Roy Pfautch, senior at Princeton Theological Seminary, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Homer Clevenger and Mr. Frank Armstrong will also be present.

South Pacific

"SCA Terrific in South Pacific" was the theme for the first general meeting of the Student Christian Association on September 20.

Approximately 100 students came to hear the story of a student who was positive she was "Gonna Wash that 'Y' Right Outa Her Hair." But her dormmate finally succeeded in showing her the merits of the SCA.

Taking the lead roles were JoAnne Hudson and Beth Bricker. Francis Hammond played the piano. Others in the cast were Susan Pate, Mary Jane Austin, Marilyn Young, Liz Gorsuch, Marge Herschbach, Sherry Hayes, Ruthie Gipner, Pam Johnson, Lucia Rithmiller, Melba Lee Counts, Meg Blumers, Mary Ann Cunningham, Joan Leiper, Karen Cloward, April Anderson, Linda Street, and Sally Tibbals.

Elections

This summer at the Estes conference Nancy Babb, senior, was elected regional chairman of the YWCA.

In the national spotlight Connie Milliken, 1960 Lindenwood graduate, was elected chairman of the YWCA.

Conclave

Friday of orientation week was the annual SCA conclave at the ovens organized by Kathy Tuepker. The Women's Recreation Association started the program with a variety of games. Soon the group broke up into smaller discussion areas for about 45 minutes after which Mr. William Thomas gave a short talk.

Mrs. Loving, who spent a number of years as teacher and administrator at Miss Hickey's Secretarial School in St. Louis, calls Park Ridge, Ill., her home since she worked there prior to accepting the Lindenwood position. In Park Ridge she was in the real estate business for seven years.

job," she smiled, when asked about why she came to Lindenwood. "Here I find something new to do each day and a new topic to think about. Besides, I enjoy working with young people—especially Lindenwood's young women," she said. A picture of three happy-looking young boys on her mantel was a subject of interest. Her son, who is a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis, lives in Minneapolis with his family.

She couldn't find words to express her feelings about Lindenwood. "Here there is a sort of spirit of friendliness, not only in the students but the program, the faculty, the campus itself has a charming spirit. Maybe I can say it this way," she smiled, "Once you have met anyone on this campus you feel an immediate attachment and personal interest in the person. You will not forget to nod or speak the next time you see them."

Three Sophomores Pledged to ALD

Alpha Lambda Delta, national academic fraternity for freshman women, held special pledging ceremonies Sept. 28 in the Library Clubroom for three new pledges, Mrs. Betty Osiek, Michaela McKittrick, and Sally Tibbals.

The 37 Lindenwood members of the fraternity are required to maintain a 3.5 grade average or above. Initiation of the pledges will begin in October.

The organization also was host to a tea honoring the faculty and freshman class Oct. 2 in the Fine Arts Parlor according to Dr. Marion Dawson, advisor. Judy Ross is president of the local chapter.

Mu Phi Chapter Given Award

The Lindenwood chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honor society, was awarded the Elizabeth Mathias award at the national convention this summer. The award presented to the small college with the highest academic average is $50. Lindenwood won over 83 other chapters.

The local chapter elected the following new officers at a recent meeting: president, Nancy Ordleheide; vice-president, Beth Bricker; treasurer, Frances Hammond; secretary, Sharon Wittgow; historian, Pat Lacey; chorister and chaplain, Sally Tibbals.

A coke party for freshmen music majors was also held in Sibley recreation room.

Spritely Sports Spark 1920's; Clevenger Makes Touchdown

By Sue Hill

A young lady dancing across the golf course in a loose fitting robe would be a strange sight at Lindenwood today; but 40 years ago very few heads would have turned at this sight.

Asthetic dancing was the most popular of the physical education courses offered at Lindenwood dur-provided excellent defense. Usually the girl who fought the hardest and was the meanest was considered top on her team.

Posture tests are not new at Lindenwood; "Good Posture Week" was one of the features of 1927. The slogan for that year was "Flappers are gone and out of date, so pull in your neck and stand up Weren't those lovely ladies cute? Wonder if they carried their lunch in those bloomers.

ing the 1920's. The girls were instructed to forget themselves and do the natural movements, such as walking, running, and leaping gracefully. Stress was put upon making the body beautiful.

Hockey was the most popular of the team sports, but a young lady would probably run with fright today if she walked in on a hockey game being played as it was during the roaring 20's.

The Lindenwood ladies clad in middies, bloomers, and black hose had no knowledge of sportsmanship. Hockey sticks were flung every which way; hands and feet straight."

Physical education of the 1920's was somewhat limited as a result of lack of equipment and only one instructor in the department. Classes were large and unorganized; this made it impossible for the instructor to coach the girls on team etiquette and fair play.

Favorite events of the year were the faculty vs. students games. One of these games that is well remembered is the football game that the faculty won 6 to 0; the only touchdown was made by Dr. Homer Clevenger.

WRA Dance Set for Oct. 8

An all-school barn dance sponsored by WRA will be held in the parking lot behind Dr. McCluer's home Saturday, Oct. 8, from 8 p.m. until 12 p.m. Invitations have been sent to Washington University, Rolla, Westminster and various other schools. There will be a caller for the square dances, and records will provide popular dance music.

The committee chairmen for the dance are as follows: Karol Novak and Mary Gibson, decorations; Kathy Taylor and Judy Guthrie, publicity and invitations; Ina Rae Barklage, entertainment; and Janet Hancock, refreshments.

WRA Schedules Numerous Events

Board members of the Women's Recreation Association and the club's sponsor, Miss Mitzi Fenn, have scheduled the following events on the club's calendar for the coming year: L.C. barn dance, a camp out, a dorm sing, ice skating, roller skating, and a cook out. Various types of intramurals will also be taking place throughout the school year. All of the WRA activities are open to the entire student body.

'College Boards' New Requirement

Mr. W. F. McMurry, director of admissions, announced a change in the requirements for admission to Lindenwood which will go into effect next fall.

To the previous requirement of ranking in the top half of one's graduating class will be added the necessity for an acceptable score on either the scholastic test given by the College Board or that given by the American College Testing Board. There will be no change in the usual requirements concerning character, health, and finances.

Orchesis Revises Club Constitution; Fall Plans Laid

The officers of Orchesis and the club sponsor, Miss Grazina Amos, have been revising the club's constitution at recent meetings this fall. The members of Orchesis will vote on the revision at the first meeting of this year. A tentative schedule has been planned which includes teas, a fall and a spring program, a chapel program, a picnic, and several other events.

Eligibility to pledge Orchesis is granted upon completion of one semester of modern dance and enrollment in a second semester class.

Dr. Gouldner Presents Frosh Dating Seminar

Members of the freshman class will attend a symposium on problems in dating and courtship led by Dr. Helen P. Gouldner Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 4 p.m. and Thursday, Oct. 13 at 11 a.m. Dr. Gouldner, head of the sociology department, will open the programs with a speech and will hold an open question and answer session for the remainder of the program.

of the college is an educational as well as an economical necessity to the future of the college. Many of my hopes for the future of Lindenwood are somewhat hazy, but my mind is constantly full of new ideas for this college."

Specifically he stated some of his most immediate plans include the expanding of special student projects, the honors programs, and a more dynamic curriculum. He added, "Today's college student needs to work more on her own and develop, through her own initiative, the scholarship around her. Our wonderful and complete library, the culture of St. Louis, and even the beautiful campus give the Lindenwood student an opportunity to develop into a reflective type of person suited to the modern world she must live in."

'Thinking' Problems Topic for Club Meet

"Methods of Solving Problems" will be discussed at the first meeting of the Philosophy Club, Monday, Oct. 10 at 7:30, in the Library Clubroom.

Examples will be given of problems which can be solved by processes of thinking. All students who have previously taken or are enrolled in philosophy courses are eligible for membership.

Although there are no officers, a steering committee comprised of advanced students in the field will be formed at the first meeting. Dr. C. Eugene Conover and Mr. William Thomas are the faculty advisors.

Vesper-Chapel Programs Present Varied Faiths

A partial list of the semester vesper and chapel speakers includes various denominations and personages, according to Dr. C. Eugene Conover, Dean of the Chapel at Lindenwood.

"We are trying to make chapel and vesper services representative of various denominations and religious faiths by including students, the faculty and administration of Lindenwood, and visitors in religious education to the campus," stated Dr. Conover.

Speakers at the vesper services for October will be Dr. Alice Parker, professor of English; Dr. W. Sherman Skinner, Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis; Dr. John Biegeleisen, retired theological professor, who taught at Lindenwood last year; Mr. William W. Thomas, a member of the religion and Philosophy department.

Other semester speakers will include Alfred O. Fuerbringer, president of Concordia Theological Seminary, and Rev. George L. Catigan, bishop of the Missouri Episcopal Church diocese. Rabbi Ferdinand Issermann of St. Louis will speak Nov. 13.

Among the chapel speakers will be Father Keith Kreitner, former pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church, St. Charles, who will assume duties as chaplain at the University of Arizona soon; and Dr. Homer Clevenger, who will speak on "Man and Society." The SCA has charge of the Thanksgiving chapel.

Lichtliter Waiting To See Seniors

Seniors are urged to make their appointments with the guidance office soon, announced Miss Mary Lichtliter. This is especially pertinent for those who are going on to graduate school or into civil service work.

Miss Lichtliter said it takes some time to get all of the recommendations typed and sent to the prospective employers. Students must first register with the guidance office and then with Dean Mackenzie if going on to graduate school.

Eight Foreign Students Call LC New 'Home'

Eight international students are attending Lindenwood this year as compared with 15 last year.

These girls, representing seven different countries, are Nahid Bozorgmehri of Iran; Alicia Cabedes and Beatrice Escobar of Quito, Ecuador; Tsannia Lee of Korea; Connie Lo Ko of Hong Kong; Margarita Tsinanapolou of Greece; Kayoka Kimura of Japan; and Irene Reichling of Germany.

riivers in Missouri. In the past two years she has written two other books. She also has had several articles appear in professional periodicals.

William Thomas
Mr. William West Thomas, ordained First Presbyterian at Durham, N. C., will teach first semester courses in introduction to the Old Testament and a seminar in contemporary philosophy and theology.

Mr. Thomas who served as the assistant to the minister at Durham received his B.A. from Washington and Lee, Lexington, Va., and his B.D. from Yale Divinity School. He is presently working on his doctorate at Duke.

"Teaching of religion in college can be an extension of church ministering," he said in regard to his first college teaching position. Mr. Thomas will also do guest ministerial work in the St. Louis area.

He further stated, "One of my aims in teaching is to educate laywomen for an active part in life in church after graduation."

His interests include literature and art. He is especially interested in the relationship of Christianity to modern culture.

Second semester he will teach an introduction to the New Testament and elements of Christianity.

Lanore Sogard
Miss Lanore Sogard has been named the new director of the Lindenwood nursery school. She is replacing Miss Jane Wainright who has since become secretary to the Director of Development, Mr. Fred Doenges.

A native of St. Cloud, Minn., Miss Sogard holds a B.S. degree in Child Development from Iowa State College. She received an M.S. degree from Kansas State University.

Previous to her Lindenwood assignment Miss Sogard was a nursery teacher at Child Care Centers, Inc. in Milwaukee. She was a home economics instructor and director of the nursery school at Louisiana College in Pineville, La.

Lynn B. Dillon
The new part-time English instructor, Mrs. Lynn B. Dillon, is actually not as new to LC as people might think; she was a student at Lindenwood from 1940 until 1942. After leaving Lindenwood in 1942, Mrs. Dillon attended Washington University where she was granted her A.B. in English; she is at present doing graduate work at the same school.

Mrs. Dillon, who has spent a year in Denmark, is teaching English composition and an English methods course. She has an 11-year-old daughter, is interested in art and music, and enjoys writing. Mrs. Dillon is a member of The Commission on Religion and the Arts of the Metropolitan Church Federation of Greater St. Louis.

"Coming back to LC as a teacher," says Mrs. Dillon, "is a strange experience. Although the buildings and many of the faculty members are the same, everything is different. I feel as though I should be going to classes to be taught, not to teach."

SEA Begins Active Year; Will Initiate Students in October

The Student Education Association held its first meeting for the purpose of organizing new members yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Library Club Room.

In this meeting a film showing the organization's purpose, to offer advice and professional help to those who are planning to become teachers, was presented. In other meetings throughout the year the club will further fulfill this purpose by having representatives of the teaching profession visit with the members and speak at meetings.

The club which had 145 members last year ranks high among clubs of other colleges throughout the country in the number of members of the club as compared with the total enrollment of the college. SEA expects to have as many, if not more, members this year. However, they will not be sure of their total membership until after the formal initiation to be held Oct. 19.

Runaway Raft!

WE'LL NEVER MAKE IT, DAN! LOOK! RAPIDS AHEAD!

WE'RE NOT DONE YET!

WOW! WHAT A CAST!

SHE'S SNUBBED AROUND THE TREE - THAT'S THE MAIN THING!

Dan ties a pocketknife onto his fishline...

When their raft's mooring line parts, two "muskie" fishermen desperately fight the current to reach the shore of the river...

THE CURRENT'S HELPING US SWING IN - IF THAT 25-POUND TEST LINE HOLDS WE'LL JUST CLEAR THE RAPIDS!

YOU SURE THINK FOR YOURSELF!

"25-lb. test" means the line itself will stand 25 pounds of pull, but with the aid of the "spring" in the pole, it will hold much more.
