

COMMUNIQUE

VOL. FOUR, NO. TWO; JULY 2, 1985

LCIE FACULTY MEMBER, STUDENTS WIN EMMYS - Peter V. Carlos of the LCIE faculty and four recent graduates have received St. Louis Emmy Awards.

For the first time, this year's recent awards featured a student category and the LCIE captured the award with a documentary written, produced and directed by students Sharon Price of St. Peters, a May LCIE graduate; Susan Eppers of Lake St. Louis, a 1984 LCIE alumna currently enrolled in the graduate program; Susan Gibson of St. Peters, a May graduate; and Kevin G. Aandahl of St. Louis, a 1984 LCIE graduate. Carlos received an Emmy as faculty sponsor to the four in addition to separate awards in two other categories - local television spot produced for less than $7,500 and corporate film.

Under the supervision of Carlos and David Smith, sports director for Continental Cablevision of University City, the four produced "A Fighting Chance," a 30-minute documentary on University City resident Louis Howard and his quest to make the 1984 Olympic boxing team. The documentary, which was coproduced, directed and edited by Price, currently is being aired by Continental Cablevision.

A member of the LCIE faculty since 1979, Carlos teaches communications, video production and documentary-making. He is an independent producer, writer and director who received the awards during special ceremonies held June 22 at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel.

SUMMER SOCCER CAMPS THROUGH JULY 19 - Nearly 800 junior and senior high school students from throughout Missouri and Illinois are on campus through July 19 to compete in week-long soccer camps directed by Pat McBride. Designed for both novice and advanced players, the soccer camps stress individual concentration on ball skills, classroom and film instruction, programs for beginners and advanced players, kick boards, skill tests and drill and scrimmage sessions. Now in his 17th years of directing soccer camps, McBride is a former two-time college All-American who has directed the St. Louis Steamers and Kansas City Comets of the MISL. Lindenwood facilities have been used each summer by McBride and his staff because of the college's Astro-turf stadium, grass playing fields, residential accommodations and lights for night play.

NEWS ABOUT SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS - Individual media releases on student scholarship awards are being prepared and disseminated to newspapers throughout the country as part of expanded marketing efforts. "We've found that newspapers in rural areas, particularly in Missouri and Illinois, are publishing our news releases in their entirety often with an accompanying photo of the student," said Randy L. Wallick, public relations director. "Publicity generated by this coverage not only cites the student and his or her academic and leadership accomplishments, but also credits Lindenwood with its efforts this year to award nearly $700,000 in scholarships to deserving students," he added. Last year, more than 300 scholarship news releases were disseminated through the summer by the PR Office.

"Linden Week Communique" is published each Tuesday morning during the fall, winter and spring semesters and biweekly during the summer. Produced as a joint effort of the college's Public Relations Office and Printing Center, it is disseminated to all faculty, staff and students. The deadline for submission of editorial copy is 9 am Monday prior to Tuesday's publication; copy should be sent to the Public Relations Office, #6 Roemer Hall.

AND, BABY MAKES THREE! - Jane Katheryn is the daughter of Phyllis Morris, secretary in the Development Office, and her husband, George. Born at 6:30 p.m. June 13, 1985, at St. Joseph Health Center, the baby weighed six lbs., six ozs., and was 19 inches long at birth. Jane Katheryn is the St. Charles couple's first child.

AND, BABY MAKES FOUR - ON MOM'S BIRTHDAY - It was a 10 lb., 13 oz., birthday gift for Leasa Ferry on June 18 when Joshua Robert was born at 4:49 a.m. at St. Joseph Health Center. Leasa is record keeper for the Alumni and Development offices while her husband, Robert, is director of the Computer Center. The baby, the O'Fallon couple's second child, was 21 1/2 inches long at birth.

COME ON IN - THE WATER'S FINE - With the arrival of those lazy, hazy days of summer, how about enjoying a dip in the Lindenwood pool? The pool is open to Lindenwood employees, alumni, families and guests (it's not open to the public). Hours are from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. A nominal admission is charged; fees are $1 per person, 50 cents per child 12 years of age and younger and $1 per guest and alumni. Family memberships are available at $25 each.
