Around the Lindenwood Campus

Miss Gretchen Bartenbach, of Grand Island, Neb., has been elected president of the Freshman Class. Other officers are: Miss Mary Beth Banta, Arcadia, Mo., vice president; Miss Alice Walthall, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, secretary; Miss Joan Keelinger, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, treasurer; Miss Suzanne Haas, Neosho, Mo., and Miss Estelle Swanson, St. Louis, Student Council representatives. Miss Suzanne Kirchner, Kansas, Ill., is the class' representative on the Judiciary Committee.

Lindenwood's literary magazine, launched last year, has been renamed the "Griffin." Miss Lorraine Peck, Troy, Ohio, is the editor. The first issue was published last month.

Charles C. Clayton, instructor in Journalism, was elected vice president of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity at the organization's recent convention in Dallas, Texas.

Members of the Advanced Radio Techniques class attended a seminar on television on November 17 at Radio Station KSD-TV in St. Louis. Miss Sally Joy, manager of Station KCLC, attended the meeting of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., on November 5.

Lindenwood riders won a riding meet from Monticello College on November 5, scoring 28 points to Monticello's 25. Members of the team included Betty Luther, Mary Ann Smith, Marilyn Madduc, Rosemary Egelhoff, Esteline Jones, Dorothy Patrick, Joyce Glauber and Sue Carpenter.

Dr. Homer Clevenger, head of Lindenwood's History Department, visited Washington, D. C., in November and attended a meeting of the advisors of colleges participating in the Washington Semester Plan.

Miss Dorothy Walker, editor of the 1950 Linden Leaves, and Miss Barbara Allen, literary editor, attended the annual convention of the Associated Collegiate Press Association in Detroit, Mich., recently.

Lindenwood will be on the air on New Year's Day. The Lindenwood Choir and Sextet have recorded a program of songs which will be broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting Company network. The program will originate from Station KWK in St. Louis and will be broadcast at 11 a.m., Central Standard Time. Milton F. Rehg is director of the Choir and Mrs. Lois Burkitt directs the Sextet. The accompanists are Miss Virginia Ratcliffe and Miss Carolyn Furnish.

Lindenwood Inaugurates a New Honors Program

Under Plan Described by Dr. Eunice C. Roberts Students May Now Be Graduated With Special Honors—Three Students Now Enrolled in This Program

By EUNICE C. ROBERTS, Dean of the College

ACTION of the faculty of Lindenwood College last year established an honors program which has been inaugurated this fall. Under this program it will be possible for students to be graduated "with distinction," "cum laude," "magna cum laude," or "summa cum laude."

There is a great deal of variety and elasticity in the projects which a student may undertake for graduation with honors. The entire program is under the direction of a Council on Honors composed this year of the Dean, Dr. Homer Clevenger, Head of the Department of History and Government, Dr. Agnes Sibley, of the Department of English, Dr. Mary Talbot, Head of the Department of Biological Science, and Dr. John Thomas, Head of the Department of Music. The student, working under a faculty advisor, submits an outline of her project for approval by the Council on Honors. Her work may extend over a period of two or three semesters. It may be a reasearch project or special problem in the student's major or minor fields. It may be a creative project such as composition in the field of music. It may be the covering of special assignments in various fields of knowledge designed to supplement the student's work in her major and minor fields and of greater depth than the typical undergraduate course. It may be the reading of a selected list of books.

Whatever the project, it must represent achievement of real distinction on the part of the student. The aim of honors work is not so much the completion of a fixed program as it is the student's self-development. It therefore requires of the student responsibility, initiative, and a genuine intellectual curiosity.

After the program is completed, the student and her work will be examined by the Council on Honors which will make a recommendation to the faculty on the degree of honor the student is to receive. Notation of honor received will appear on the student's diploma.

A student not enrolled under the honors plan but whose grade point average for the first seven semesters of her college work is 3.75 or higher will be recommended for graduation "with distinction."

This year there are three students pursuing work for honors.

Miss Lorraine Peck, a senior, is at work on a program of reading and research which she plans to complete with the preparation of a written report.

She has not yet determined exactly what the title of this report will be but her work is in the field of church-state relationship in this country at the present time. She is working under the direction of Mr. Manson M. Brien of the Department of History and Government. Readers will recall that Miss Peck was one of the "Washington Semester" students last year.

Miss Mary Ann Smith, a senior, is working under the direction of Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz of the English Department. Her work is in the field of English Literature. She is using a study of "Milton" as the basis for research into the seventeenth century, the forces which influenced its literature, and the effects which this century in turn had upon the literature of succeeding centuries. Miss Smith will write either one extensive paper or a series of shorter articles.

Miss Margherita Baker, a junior, is working under the direction of Mr. J. W. Grundhauser of the Department of Biological Science. Her problem is concerned with a study of the effects of various phytohormones on the fission rate of Paramecium. Her work will include much background reading and will involve considerable laboratory experimentation, including the development of special techniques, accurate observation, and the critical analysis of the facts observed.

It is probable that other juniors will begin programs the second semester.

Since graduation "With Distinction" depends entirely upon grades, it is not possible at present to know what students will be candidates for that honor. Two students, JoAnn O'Flynn and Bettie B. Wimberly, were graduated "with distinction" in 1949.

Admissions Counselors Visit Campus In October

Lindenwood's Admissions Counselors conferred with the administration and faculty at a weekend conference in October. Those attending included: B. B. Branstetter, 1211 West Main St., Marshalltown, Iowa, representative for Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas; Clarence C. Keel, 1900 Park Ave., St. Charles, representative for St. Louis, Southeast Missouri and Southern Illinois; James L. Lewis, 6922 Patricia Ave., Dallas, Texas, representative for Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas; F. B. Lamb, 126 N. Prairie St., Batavia, Ill., representative for Northern Illinois, and Carey L. Motley, 458 N. Missouri St., Liberty, Mo., representative for Kansas and Missouri.

Two Women Are Named to Board of Directors

Mrs. Leo Vogt, of Webster Groves, Mo., and Mrs. Arthur Stockstrom, of St. Louis, Are First Women Ever to Serve on Lindenwood's Board

A PRECEDENT-MAKING announcement was made by the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, president of Lindenwood's Board of Directors, on Founders' Day. For the first time in the 123 years of the college's history, women have been named to the Board. The new Board members are Mrs. Leo Vogt, of Webster Groves, Mo., and Mrs. Arthur Stockstrom, of St. Louis.

In announcing their appointment, Dr. Clarke said: "Lindenwood is a women's college. We need the woman's approach to education. The selection of these two outstanding women is a forward step in planning for the Lindenwood of the future."

Both of the new board members have long been active in civic and religious affairs in the St. Louis area. Mrs. Vogt is president of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society. She served as a member of the National Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., from 1935 to 1947.

She has been a delegate to the National Council of Presbyterian Women each year since the Council was organized. She is now director of the Church World Service Center of St. Louis, and is a former member of the Board of Education of Webster Groves.

Mrs. Stockstrom was educated at Beaver College, Pa., Vassar College and Columbia University, and she has done graduate work at Johns Hopkins University. She has served as a member of the Board of Directors of the John Burroughs School in St. Louis and as president of the Planned Parenthood Association of St. Louis. She is now a member of the Board of Directors of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America. Mrs. Stockstrom has also served as vice commissioner of the Girl Scouts of St. Louis and as Education chairman of the Missouri League of Women Voters. She is now a member of the Board of Directors of the Social Planning Council of St. Louis.

Thomas H. Cobbs Hall Dedicated on Founders' Day

More Than 1000 Alumnae and Guests Attend Ceremonies at Which Lindenwood's New Building Was on Display—Dr. Arthur H. Compton Gives Address

MORE than 1,000 Lindenwood alumnae, guests and students attended the annual Founders' Day observance on November 21, at which the college's new residence hall was formally dedicated. Thomas Harper Cobbs, vice president and counsel of the Board of Directors, for whom the building is named, and Mrs. Cobbs were guests of honor.

Because of the inclement weather the dedication program was held in Roemer Auditorium. Loud speakers carried the program to the overflow crowd, in other rooms in the building.

The Founders' Day address was delivered at the dedication program by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Chancellor of Washington University. He took as his subject, "We Educate For Peace." "The community rejoices with Lindenwood College on the occasion of receiving this fine new dormitory," he declared. "In a democratic society in which the government must follow the thoughts of its people, it is doubly important that the women, who have so large a part in shaping our ideals, have full education. They must have an understanding, a double share of the inspiration to fit life to the needs of the community, and a good knowledge of the arts which they themselves need to use.

"The college that is built on a religious foundation is in a unique position to aid in building American society. Here is a basis for understanding what we mean when we speak of freedom, the freedom to make the world what we believe it should be. In this day we are not concerned with temples built by hand. It is in men and women that our God lives, if indeed, he is alive at all in the life of man. In building men and women who will serve Him, we have before us a great vision that can give us strength in time of peace. These are the men and women who will devote themselves to building the lives of those around them, to insuring that we have a society of people for whom life has worth.

"It is just such an education that we would supply to our community. Lindenwood does this on the basis of its Presbyterian background. The Thomas H. Cobbs Hall will make possible such an education for an expanding group of young women who can build such a spirit into the life of our community."

The invocation for the dedication program, held in Roemer Auditorium, was given by the Rev. Dr. Harry T. Scherer, a member of the Board of Directors and pastor of the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church. The new residence hall was formally delivered to the Board of Directors by Louis La Beaume, of the firm of La Beaume and Unland, which designed it. The building was accepted and dedicated as Thomas H. Cobbs Hall by the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, president of the Board and pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis.

Mr. Cobbs responded to Dr. Clarke's tribute and then greetings were extended to Mrs. Cobbs by Miss Joan Reed, president of the Student Government Association. Dr. Clarke then presented the building to the administration of the college and Dr. Franc L. McCluer, Lindenwood's president, accepted it. The benediction was given by the Rev. Dr. Elmer B. Whitcomb, a member of the Board and pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church of St. Joseph, Mo.

A luncheon for the alumnae and guests was given at noon in Ayres Hall, and at 1:15 p. m., the alumnae, faculty and student body made the annual pilgrimage to the graves of Lindenwood's founders, Major and Mrs. George C. Sibley. A reception was held in the new residence hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., with the student residents of the hall acting as hostesses.

Roll Call of the Members of the Class of 1939

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

THIS month we begin the roll call of the Class of 1939. Ten years after graduation, the following members have responded to the request for information about themselves and their activities:

Jean Anderson, 3730 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis: "Since 1940, I have been working for Eisenstadt Manufacturing Co. in St. Louis, where I am now secretary to the treasurer. This wholesale jewelry firm makes the Lambda Chi loyalty pins for Lindenwood. My 'children' consist of 16 highly individual salesmen, and my work ranges from chasing a missing representative by telephone over half a state to entertaining diamond salesmen from Paris and Antwerp!"

Johnsie Fiock (Mrs. Charles E. Fildes), 318 S. Fair, St., Olney, Ill.: "After graduation I came back to Olney with Mother, and accepted a position as assistant librarian at our Carnegie Library. I was caught up into musical activities, which for me, included service as church choir director and soloist, and charter member and president of the girls' chorus of Olney, which maintains a limited membership of twenty. I have been called upon so constantly to appear as soloist for various clubs and churches that I marvel I don't tire of practicing, but instead, I seem to find increasing pleasure in singing. For two years I have had a 15 minute radio show each Sunday afternoon—'Music at Twilight.' Planning and presenting a program each week of numbers ranging from light classical to classical, and even including an occasional popular song, is a task which I find endlessly fascinating. Three years following my graduation, I married Charles E. Fildes. Having completed his medical school training and his internship, Charles was then a First Lieutenant in the Army, and I abandoned the library to join the ranks of war wives. As long as Charles remained in this country, we were together when possible. When he went overseas, I resumed my former interests and activities in Olney, and toured for a while as soloist with a woman lecturer and composer, until Charles came back to civilian life in December of '45. Since that time, he has finished a three year residency in surgery at Hines V. A. Hospital, Chicago, and from January of this year has been assistant chief of vascular surgery at Hines.

Mary Virginia Lay (Mrs. Paul E. Bar Hoover), 21965 Cromwell Ave., Cleveland, Ohio: "After leaving Lindenwood, I went on to school and graduated in 1941. I taught for one year and was married in June 1942. My husband, like many others, was in the service during the war, but we were fortunate to be together most of the time. We lived in Hampton, Va., for two and a half years, and then moved back to Ohio. We have been living in Cleveland for over two years and have built a new home, moving in last October. We have two children, Diana Lee, 6, and Bruce Allan, 3½. My husband is an electrical engineer for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, and my outside activities consist of teaching a Sunday School class and doing Little Theater work in our Players group here."

Margaret Hart, 3610 Gillham St., Kansas City, Mo.: "When I left Lindenwood, I went to Western Reserve University in Cleveland for my library school degree. I returned to Kansas City, and with the exception of an eight month period spent in the East, I have worked in the Kansas City Public Library ever since. This summer I took two months off and made a visit to Great Britain and France—that has been a dream of mine for many years. For once realization was even better than anticipation, and my trip was all that I had dreamed and more. I am already making plans for a return sometime in the far future."

ViElla Smerling, 1415 Lincoln Ave., Evanston, Ill.: "After securing my B. S. degree, I taught speech and English in high school, then took an intensive business course and entered the secretarial field. The next two exciting years were spent in Hollywood, Calif., as secretary to Jack Warner, head of Warner Bros. Studios. It now seems legendary—meeting many stars, attending premiers and previews and getting to know the movie people and their world. It was the kind of position one dreams about. Despite the glamour, I missed my home and upon my return I literally 'fell' into another position (albeit not quite as glamorous) as secretary to the national sales director of the now familiar product, Gold Seal Glass Wax. I saw this company start from nothing to become a million dollar concern in a short time. It was like a story from the movieland I had left. When this office moved to a distant city, I left to accept my present position, secretary to the executive vice-president of the Chicago Restaurant Association. I am an officer in the Eastern Star, give dramatic readings for clubs, am active in church work, and since 'Prince Charming' has not yet presented himself, I am very busy socially."

Imogene Stroh (Mrs. R. H. Stumpf), c/o Lt. Col. R. H. Stumpf, White Sands Proving Grounds, Las Cruces, N. Mex.: "During the three years of the war that my husband was overseas, I made my home in Washington, D. C. Part of the time, I worked for the U. S. Weather Bureau. Since then, Colonel Stumpf

Alpha Lambda Delta Chapter Is Installed at Lindenwood

Former National President of Scholastic Honorary Society for Freshmen Visits Campus for Installation on December 15

A CHAPTER of Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary society for Freshmen women has been installed at Lindenwood. The society was founded in 1924 at the University of Illinois. To be eligible for membership Freshmen women must have a 3.5 average in the first semester of their first year in college. They may continue as active members for three full semesters, or through their Junior year.

The chapter was installed on December 15 by Miss Gladys Bell, Associate Professor of English at the University of Denver and a recent national president of the society. The installation was followed by a banquet that night. A pledging service was held on December 6, at which time pledge ribbons of red, gold, and white were pinned on the candidates for membership. Upper-class students, who were eligible on the basis of their Freshman grades, were installed as charter members. They are: Mary Jo Sweeney and Dorothy Walker, Seniors; Margherita Baker, Jennifer Sullivan and Patricia Underwood, Juniors, and Lois Deisenroth, Caroline England, Janet Neilson, Nancy Lee Perkins, Barbara Sutton and Eleanor Trefz, Sophomores.

Honorary members initiated at the installation service were the following faculty women: Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, and Dr. Alice Parker of the English Department; Miss Mary Lichliter, Director of Student Guidance and Placement, and Dr. Eunice C. Roberts, Dean of the College.

Miss Lois Deisenroth has been elected president of the Lindenwood chapter. Other officers are: Caroline England, vice president; Barbara Sutton, secretary and historian; Nancy Lee Perkins, treasurer; Mary Jo Sweeney, upper-class advisor, and Dr. Roberts, faculty advisor. Jennifer Sullivan served as chairman of the pledging and installation committee. Members of her committee were Margherita Baker and Mary Jo Sweeney. Caroline England was chairman of the banquet committee, with Nancy Lee Perkins and Janet Neilson as members of her committee.

The Alpha Lambda Delta pin is a gold candle holder and candle with the Greek letters, Alpha Lambda Delta on the base of the holder. The flame of the candle is set with a ruby and the candle is set with four pearls.

Lindenwood Alumna Writes Book About the Vatican

The latest addition to the list of Lindenwood authors is Mrs. Ann Carnahan, whose classmates in 1931-33 remember as Elizabeth Ann Combs, of Chariton, Iowa. Mrs. Carnahan's book, "The Vatican: Behind the Scenes in the Holy City," was published recently by Farrar, Straus. An article, taken from the book, was printed in This Week Magazine.

After leaving Lindenwood, she took an advertising job in St. Louis. There, in 1935 she was married to Frederick B. Wolf, an attorney. Their son, Frederick Earl, was born a year later. After her husband's death in 1940, Mrs. Carnahan worked a year at Saks department store, and then was employed to redesign the Sears Roebuck catalog. Her next job was as an editor of Harper's Bazaar, where she remained until she went overseas to do a writing job for the Army in London.

In England she met William T. B. Carnahan, now a foreign news editor of Time magazine. They were married in Paris in 1945 and have a daughter, Merit Ann, now 3. Since the war, Mrs. Carnahan has worked for Vogue magazine and done free lance writing.

and I have lived in Los Angeles and are now at White Sands Proving Ground. Here I've had the excitement of seeing a number of German V-2 rockets launched along with several other missiles that have been fired for the Navy and Air Force as well as the Army. We are now to report for duty at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where my husband is to be an instructor at the school. We have the good fortune to have a fine, healthy son born last May."

Dorothy Seymour (Mrs. R. C. Harnden), c/o Chapman Chemical Co., 707 Dermon Building, Memphis 3, Tenn.: "After leaving Lindenwood, I attended the Traphagen School of Design in New York City for two years studying dress designing. I was married in November, 1941, and continued to live in New York for a year. My husband was then transferred back to the home plant of the Dow Chemical Co. in Midland, Mich., where he headed the Dowicide Division during the war years. In June of 1946, Bob left the Dow Co. to head the Agricultural Chemical Division of the Chapman Chemical Co. in Memphis. We are now living in the county outside the city, and expect to be permanent Memphians."

Mami Lou Albertson (Mrs. M. L. Taylor), 2106 Goldsmith Road, Houston, Tex.: "After I left Lindenwood, I finished my junior year of college, and was then married to W. S. Taylor in June of 1940. Our daughter, Linda, was born in 1941. Because my husband was in service, I lived with my parents, went on to school, and received my Bachelor of Arts in 1942. My husband was killed in 1943. I became secretary to an attorney that year, and I am still working for him. Needless to say, I like my work. Between my job and the activities of a growing daughter, I stay in a continual state of rush, but I am thriving on it."

Genevieve Horswell (Mrs. Kenneth L. Frank), 6229 N. Bay Ridge Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.: "Can it be 10 years ago since I received my certificate in Speech? It seems only yesterday that I was screaming the lines of Holiday in a mirror to win that degree! But I did keep on with speech and English. After a year of teaching, I went to Louisiana where I met and married Kenneth Frank, an artillery officer from Milwaukee, Wis., in a typical whirlwind wartime romance. We spent an army year sweating or freezing out at Ft. Sill, Okla., and then when the boys left this country in 1942, I went home to Iowa to 'sit it out.'

Girl of the Month

WE are happy to present Mrs. Albertina Flach Weygandt, of Belleville, Ill., as the Girl of the month.

Mrs. Weygandt was graduated from Lindenwood in 1933, receiving a Bachelor of Music Degree. After she left Lindenwood, she began specializing on the harp, beginning a course of study with Madame Pampari who is a graduate of the Milan Conservatory in Italy, and a protegee of Tedeschi, the Italian harp composer and teacher. During the 1935-1936 season, she became second harpist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and has just completed her fourteenth year with that organization. She spent five months of intensive study in Italy during the summer of 1936 with her teacher, which experience, she says, was a great inspiration to her.

This summer was her fifth year as harpist with the St. Louis Municipal Opera orchestra. The Opera season is twelve weeks, with a show every night, and a different light opera every week. The average nightly attendance at this open air theatre is 10,000. She says she enjoys being behind the scenes, as it were, when an opera is gotten in shape with just with one week of actual preparation. The chorus rehearses in one building, the main characters in another, and the dancers in another. Saturday night, at midnight, after the regular performance, is dress rehearsal. Sunday afternoon the cast rehearses the music and dances with the orchestra, and the Monday night performance is the first time the whole production is put together in its entirety. She says that it still amazes her that this can be done.

She has also had experience in radio work as harpist with the KMOX studio orchestra in the fall of 1948. Her musical calendar for the year includes various types of single engagements, such as weddings, receptions, funerals, musical shows at theatres, harp demonstration and programs at public schools, recitals, and teaching. She belongs to Mu Phi Epsilon, National Music Sorority, and with a sorority sister, a violinist, gives ensemble programs. In fact, they were musical delegates to the Sorority's National Convention when it was held in Denver, Colo., in 1943.

In addition to her professional activities, she holds office in two church organizations, and at home takes care of her family which includes two daughters, Susan and Shirley.

We are proud of Mrs. Weygandt's achievements in the music field.

Miss Adele Stine, of 44 S. Gore Ave., Webster Groves, Class of '25, is recovering from an operation to repair a laceration of her hand, suffered in September on a mountain trail in Colorado.

Dr. Alice Parker Fills Many Speaking Dates in October

Dr. Alice Parker, head of Lindenwood's Department of English and state president of the American Association of University Women, made several addresses over the state during October. On October 3, she spoke at a meeting of the Eldon Branch of the AAUW, and the following evening she addressed a meeting of the Boonville Branch.

On October 10 she presided at a dinner meeting of the Fayette Branch at Slater, Mo. On October 29, she spoke at a meeting of the Springfield Branch and the following day addressed the Carthage Branch.

On October 8 she was in charge of an AAUW Workshop at Lindenwood. Mrs. Carl N. Ettinger, president of the Iowa AAUW, spoke at the opening session. Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, of the English Department, presided at one of the group sessions at which Miss Doris Banta, Class of '43, spoke. Similar workshops were held in Kansas City on October 15 and in Jefferson City on October 22.

Approximately 100 Attend Lindenwood Dinner

Approximately 100 Lindenwood alumnae attended the annual Lindenwood dinner at Hotel Statler in St. Louis on November 3, held in connection with the annual convention of the Missouri State Teachers Association. Dr. Franc L. McCluer addressed the alumnae at the dinner.

Harvest Queen and Her Court

Then we came back to Milwaukee to live where we built our home. Now we're having a wonderful time with it and our two boys, Richy and Randy—typical little hot dogs who are demons but such fun! When I can, I spend time at my pet places—the Junior League Blood Center, The Parenthood Clinic, and the Protestant Home for the Aged.”

Virginia L. Hansen (Mrs. Wm. V. Potter), 3056 Cedar St., Riverside, Calif.: “After graduation from Lindenwood, I went on to college and then worked in a bank until I was married. Now with two active children, Read, 4 and Mary B., 2, I find my time well taken just being a housewife and mother. I did so enjoy the banquet in Los Angeles this early spring.”

Elizabeth Anne Field (Mrs. J. B. Miller), 1233 Woodlawn Dr., New Castle, Ind.: “I was ready for my last year in college when I was offered a job in The American Security Company, a loan office with headquarters here in New Castle. The decision was a difficult one, but I finally stayed home and became a working girl. The loan company saw fit to promote me until I was head bookkeeper when Barney finally came home after four years duty with the infantry in the South Pacific. We were married in November, 1945. John Pierson in July, 1948. Occasionally I help my husband in his monument shop, but for the most part my home and family keep me very busy. I am active in the local chapter of Psi Iota Xi, a bridge club, a literary club, the alumnae group of Kappa Alpha Theta, and some church work."

Jean Louise Christensen, 1532 Kessler Blvd., Longview, Wash.: "Since my discharge in 1946 as a WAVE after two and one half years in the U. S. Navy, I have been working for my father who is a physician. My duties are receptionist and secretary. I recently returned from a three weeks trip to Mexico City and other interesting spots in Mexico."

Gwendolyn Payne (Mrs. A. F. Hart), Route 3, Westminster, S. Car.: "After having been graduated from Lindenwood in June, 1939, I enrolled in the School of Hygiene and Public Health, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., where I worked on my Master's degree in bacteriology. The work was interesting, but I left the school to be married in 1941 when the doctor with whom I had been working was called into the service, and our research problem was shelved for the duration of the war. My husband worked for a construction company and I travelled with him all over Maryland and Virginia until he entered the service in 1945. I lived in Baltimore during his 18 months in the service, doing a lot of civilian defense work. After he was discharged, we moved to West Virginia until a year ago when we came to South Carolina to make our home. We have acquired an old farm in the foothills of the Smokies, and little by little we are restoring it to its original condition. We have three children—Michael 7, Patrick 6, and Sandra, 2—so my time now is spent being a mother and house-keeper and learning to be a farmer. I do a lot of church work, and am helping to organize mothers and teachers at school as there is no P. T. A. here. My best wishes to all the members of my class."

Mary Jean Lauvetz (Mrs. Edward G. Hart), 4427 Vista St., Philadelphia, Pa.: "After leaving Lindenwood, I earned my B. S. and M. A. degree. I then taught for several semesters at the University of Nebraska where I had charge of the educational psychology test clinic. For the next few years my activities were entirely concerned with the war effort—working as a chemist in a bomb-loading ordinance plant; then as a confidential research analyst for the U. S. Army Signal Corps in Washington, D. C.; and finally, the most gratifying position of all, as a Red Cross hospital recreational worker. It was in the latter capacity that I met Eddie. We were married Dec. 18, 1946, and I am now a confirmed Philadelphian. Eddie is associated with the Electric Storage Battery Co. Our two little ones—Jeanne, 17 months, and Bobby, 7 months, keep us busy and happy."
