Student Body Chooses T. Ross As President in Tuesday Vote

Terry Ross, a junior from Omaha, Nebr., has been elected next year's student council president.

Terry defeated Nell McGee and June Tavlin, both juniors, in an election held Tuesday.

Terry attended the University of Nebraska in her freshman year, where she was social chairman of the pledge class of her sorority, and a member of the Red Cross and the yearbook staff. She was also a finalist in the Miss Cornhusker Beauty Contest.

In her sophomore year Terry transferred to Lindenwood and was a member of the KCLC staff. She was elected vice-president of Alpha Epsilon Rho and was on the Dean's Honor Roll second semester.

This year Terry attended American University in Washington D.C. under the Washington semester plan. She is a member of the KCLC staff and Alpha Epsilon Rho and is president of Press Club. She also belongs to the Young Republicans and the Social Skills Council.

In high school Terry was a cheerleader all four years and was chosen captain her senior year. She was homecoming queen and also a member of the National Honor Society.

A radio and television major with minors in English and history, Terry would like to work in Washington D. C. after her graduation.

Terry Ross

Second Semester KCLC Staff Named

KCLC's staff for second semester has been completed, announced Nancy Calvert, station manager. She will be assisted by a staff of nine members throughout the rest of this programming semester.

Nancy and Terrill Ross are co-program directors; Terry will also serve as chairman of workshop. Other staff members are Gay Pauly, production director; Mary Lou Reed, chief engineer; Charlotte McRee, chief announcer and newscaster; Lyn Arnold, executive assistant to Miss Boyer; Imelda Harra, publicity and social events; Helen Newman, assistant publicity; Jane Ely, continuity; and Ann Bryan, record librarian.

Sayle Chosen Best Dressed At Lindenwood

The 1960 August College Issue of GLAMOUR Magazine will present, for the fourth year, the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America." Glamour is conducting a nationwide college contest to select these girls. Lindenwood's entry in the contest, chosen by vote of the student body is Sally Sayle.

The nominees for the best-dressed girl on campus were nominated from a committee composed of two girls from each class. The nominees were Cynthia Fuller and Sally Sayle from the freshman class, Ann Hanna and Cherie Churchman from the sophomore class, Ann Boswell and Terry Ross from the junior class, and Sherral Musgrove and Meg Lewis from the senior class.

The nominating committee consisted of Patty Perkins, Kathy Taylor, Kay Kutnink, Ginny Vanice, Margie Bassnett, Carolyn Black, Meg Lewis, and Kay Dunham.

The name of LC's winning candidate will be sent along with three pictures of her into the national contest. Entries will be judged by a panel of GLAMOUR editors, and 10 winners will be selected.

Two weeks in New York in June will be the prize awarded to the ten national winners. They will be flown to New York on May 30th and will stay at the Biltmore Hotel until June 10th at GLAMOUR'S guests.

Recital Planned By H. Fujiwara

Hiroko Fujiwara, senior music major from Tokyo, Japan, will give her senior recital on March 8 at 7 p.m. in Roemer Auditorium.

A former student at Ferris Girls' Junior College in Tokyo, Hiroko came to the United States in 1958 and will graduate in June with a Bachelor of Music degree. "I am so excited," she bubbled, as we talked to her about future plans. "Before I worried about what I would do after graduation, now I know that I want to teach piano to American people in Japan."

Hiroko continued her piano under Patricia Bekman last summer at Chautauqua School of Music in New York. Miss Benkman is on the music faculty at Lindenwood.

In her senior recital, Hiroko will include selections from Scarlatti, Clementi, Schumann, Chopin, Bartok, and Otaka.

E. Mansfield Elected to Reign Over May Weekend Festivities

Shown looking at pictures in the art exhibit in Roemer Hall are Ellie Mansfield, who has been chosen as May Queen, and June Tavlin, who will be the special junior attendant.

Special Maid, 8 Attendants Comprise Court

Eleanor Mansfield, a senior from Cincinnati, Ohio, has been elected May Queen by her senior classmates. She will reign over weekend festivities of April 30-May 2 at the Lindenwood College Parents' Weekend.

An art major, Ellie has been art editor of Linden Leaves and has presided over Student Artist Guild meetings for two years. She is secretary of Linden Scroll and is active on the Social Skills Council. An assistant in the art department, Ellie hopes to enter the commercial art field after graduation.

June Tavlin, a junior from Cincinnati, chosen first maid, will crown the queen. A religious education major, June is vice-president of the Student Christian Association and was chairman of the recent Religion in Life Week. Active as a student counsellor, a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, secretary of Beta Chi, and junior class representative to the Honor Board, June plans to attend graduate school for future work in guidance and counselling after her graduation from Lindenwood.

Classes Elect Court

All members of the court were elected by their respective classes. Senior attendants are Barbara Larson and Dorothy Langridge. Chosen to represent the junior class were Stephanie Harms and Peggy Payne. Sophomore attendants are Anne Robertson and Marilyn Moes, and freshmen elected to the court are Jody Plumer and Patricia Thurmond.

Senior Representatives

Barb is active as secretary of League of Women Voters and advertising manager of the Linden Leaves. She was co-chairman for the Junior-Senior Prom last year. A psychology major from Clarendon Hills, Ill., she will be married June 18. Dott, an office management major from Rockford, Mich., is business manager of Linden Leaves. Practice teaching, being a student counsellor, and representing Cobbs Hall on the Honor Board and house staff keeps Dott busy. She plans to teach commercial subjects in St. Louis after graduation.

Junior Attendants

Alaska beckons to Stevie Harms, one of the junior attendants. She participated in mission projects set up by the National Council of Episcopalian Churches last summer and hopes to return this year. She is active as the advisor to the Junior SCA Cabinet and as a member of SEA. Stevie is a religious education major from Canton, Ill. Peggy, a home economics major from Carthage, Mo., plans to teach home

Alpha Lambda Delta Initiates Twenty-Seven New Members

Twenty-seven freshmen women have been invited to become members of Alpha Lambda Delta, national academic fraternity for freshmen women, according to Elizabeth Barnhill, secretary of the Lindenwood chapter. Formal pledging was Feb. 23 in the Library Club Room.

Requirement for membership in the fraternity is obtaining a 3.5 grade average during the freshman year.

New members will include Vicki Benson, Charlotte Boggess, Leanna Boysko, Elizabeth Bricker, Judy Conlin, Dianne Douglas, Cathy Harmon, Elizabeth Hellums, Linda Janson, Joan Leiper, Marylynn Overmann, Judith Patterson, and Kay Reinhardt.

Others are Judy Ross, Dottie Schultz, Mary Speer, Linda Street, Linda Swanson, Eleanor Taylor, Kathy Taylor, Lynne Tessari, Kathy Tuepker, Connie Wolter, Leslie Wood, Sue Wood, Sharon Worley, and Marilyn Young.

Initiation for the group will be held next month.

The following honorary members have been invited to attend the pledging ceremony: Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, Mrs. Mary Christenson, Miss Lula Clayton Beale, Miss Mary Lichter, Dean Paulena Nickell, Dr. Alice Parker, and Dr. Marion Dawson. Dr. Marion Dawson serves as adviser to the fraternity.

Present officers of ALD are Nicole Johnson, president; Margot Benton, vice president; Elizabeth Barnhill, secretary; and Caroline Drane, treasurer.

Rocket Expert To be March 9 Convo Speaker

Dr. G. Edward Pendray, one of the nation's foremost proponents of space flight and rocket power, will speak at a convocation in Roemer Auditorium on March 9 at 7 p.m. The title of his address will be "The Conquest of Space."

Dr. Pendray was one of the organizers of the American Rocket Society, the national organization of rocket and jet propulsion engineers. He is at present advisor to the Society on program development, publications, and public relations.

In 1948, for the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Foundation, he developed the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Jet Propulsion Centers at Princeton University and California Institute of Technology. He is currently a member of the Foundation Committee which guides the progress of centers for research and graduate education, and is advisor to the Foundation on rocket and jet propulsion development.

WUS AUCTION SLATED FOR MARCH 3

An Open Letter To President Eisenhower

Life is great. Life is good. But, President Eisenhower, LIFE IS REAL! Be it American or be it Communistic—life is real and must be lived realistically.

In your reply to Edward P. Morgan's question as to whether you had ever considered the psychological aspects of our struggle with the Russians, you sounded like a ten year old trying to win a gold star in Sunday School. The naive idea that "faith in our better way of life" will triumph is either sheer idealism or thoughtless issue-avoidance.

President Eisenhower, please reconsider. Surely as Ike the General never would you have allowed such a thought to cross your militaristic mind. You of all people should know the "cold, cruel facts of combat." We've all seen the effects of modern warfare and know full well that the next time the atom bomb is dropped it's not going to run around tapping people on the shoulder inquiring as to whether they are good or bad before it explodes in their faces.

Certainly, Sir, you and I and all other "thinking Americans" firmly believe that the democratic way is the way and that our way of life is the best yet. The Linden Bark is willing to give odds that the Romans thought that they were right too.

Somewhere in the Bible there is a passage that says that God helps those who help themselves. So for God's sake and for ours let's help ourselves. Let's face reality and know that there is an inside chance that we're going to have to fight fire with fire. Let's drop this Code of the West routine where the guys in the white hats always beat the guys in black ones and face up to the fact that most of us need something tangible to convince us that we are setting the pace for the Russians.

Sir, we are not condemning your faith—far from it—but we are condemning the unreality that can make the "American Dream" a nightmare.

Class Roots Politics Hit Campus

What's the big deal around here?

What goes on in our smoke filled caucus rooms where campus politicians mould the course of Lindenwood action? Are dormitory factions, superficial loyalties, and petty irritations undermining the very spirit of our governing system?

Or is it that our leaders who in carrying out their duties find, in the same sense that a private citizen feels he cannot work for the government because the salary is too low, that the cost in friendship and personal ideals is too high a price to pay for an honored and coveted position?

Certainly, we as an integral part of a self governing system, owe to our elected leaders our loyalty and support. The codes and aims set forth at Lindenwood are of such moral character that it hardly can be imagined that these same codes and aims could, in the final analysis, cause disruption.

To live by a system, we must keep faith in it and in the people who administer it. Dissension, strife and rumor weaken its effectiveness. If Lindenwood self government is to continue, her student-citizens must acknowledge it as a privilege and responsibility. They must keep in mind that to carry it out wisely and fairly, they must be above vindictive and immature behavior.

A leader in an organization, to be an effective leader, cannot please everyone. A few toes get stepped on, a few shins kicked. But let's not carry this thing so far that we break legs—and perhaps the very back of the governing system by which we choose to live.

Hearty Congratulations to May Court Queen; Spring Weather Brings Diamonds Out for Airing

The second round of the nine month battle has just gotten underway with renewed vigor, or perhaps more aptly, renewed hopes for better grades, a more active social life, and a fast approaching June 3. Chin up; it could be much worse.

Attention social skills council: A few hints seem to be in demand for the correct way to fall down a flight of stairs at the Chase Hotel. One very bruised Mary Beard would have found this information extremely handy.

You've never known real exasperation over a telephone call until you leave your school books in the booth and bring the phone book all the way back from St. Charles to your room. Alicia Cabiedes will tell you from experience.

Congratulations are in order to the lovely May Queen and her court. These young ladies will be charming representatives of LC at our annual May weekend festivities.

It seems that more readable signs need to be posted on the doors of Roemer washrooms. A lot of embarrassment would be saved, particularly by a freshman in Nicolls. Did you all know that Seeti Sheehan has been chosen as a Westminster homecoming queen candidate to represent Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity? Congratulations to the fellows on a good choice.

A particular quietness and serenity filled the chapel each noon and evening at our special Religion in Life Week services; however, on one occasion a loud thud jarred our thoughts, as a weighty object hit the floor. Wouldn't it be nice

Foreign Aid Funds Asked By President

President Eisenhower, in a special message, requested over four billion dollars for foreign aid last week. He explained by saying that "collective security is not only sensible—it is essential."

The funds would be divided between arms aid to America's allies and economic and technical assistance for the fiscal year.

As expected, the request caused much controversy in Congress, with the main argument based on "too much money, too little change in administration."

The state continued introducing evidence for the prosecution in the murder trial of Lynn Kauffman, as Mrs. Juanita Spector, wife of Lynn's employer, testified she heard a "muffled voice" from the victim's cabin around 7 p.m. on the night of Lynn's disappearance from the S. S. Utrecht.

William Van Rie, a radio operator on the Utrecht, is accused of beating Lynn in her cabin and dumping her overboard to drown in Boston Harbor.

She was enroute home with the Spector family after a year of research in Singapore, when the alleged murder took place.

A Federal grand jury indicted five of the nation's largest producers of heavy electrical products on the charges of fixing prices and rigging bids in monopolizing over two hundred million-a-year business.

Spokesmen for the companies, which include General Electric, Westinghouse, I-T-E Circuit Breaker, Allis-Chalmers and Federal Pacific Electric, expressed their belief that each of the firms comply with the anti-trust laws and practice its business on ethical standards.

The Soviet Union rejected President Eisenhower's plan for a partial nuclear test ban treaty; however, Semym K. Tsarapkin, a Russian spokesman, stated that no treaty would be accepted unless all tests were banned at the same time.

Tsarapkin then said that a limited number of Western inspection teams could be allowed to check any possible earth tremor for test violations, which is a complete reversal of the previous Russian stand.

Evidence was disclosed by House investigators that over forty thousand dollars in payola over a three year period, was distributed along with their phonograph records by four Boston companies.

A spokesman for one of the concerns said the purpose was not to get records aired, but to build good will for the companies.

Loud Noise, 'Visiting Fireman' Make Week So Frustrating

So take the bananas out of your ears and listen. What was the loud noise heard in Vespers last week? You'll find out if you rest heavily on the pew in front of you. What a scare!

You think spring has come? Weather reports vary and some are unfavorable. But we're still hoping aren't we? One thing hopeful—we hear the "spring birds."

Several students have asked that we say a word about the tea-hole music. So, here's our word: we believethemusicprovidedistheworstpossibleforanykindofrelaxationordancing. Honestly, though, we do en-what we'd call dating-dancing music joy the FM radio but it isn't exactly what we'd call dating-dancing music.

Congratulations go to the new student council president, and Karen Howlett, the sophomore Valentine Queen. Also—a pat on the back to the sophomore class for the well-attended dance. The big crowd made all their efforts worthwhile.

Probably the only unlikable thing about "Religion in Life Week" was the "unmail" it brought. We saw some mighty frustrated people banging on the postoffice doors. Some students were so anxious they were willing to get locked up until the mail was put up.

This has been an embarrassing week for us. First the broken pew and then a "visiting fireman"—some of our readers won't understand. You may not catch on—as we didn't, but we did learn a new slang term and got a good laugh in.

Religious Leader Talks to Students On Six Subjects

"Everyone has the capacity for faith and you may choose anything to be faithful to," Dr. David MacLennan told Lindenwood students during Religion in Life Week. "Christian Resources for Today and Tomorrow" was the main topic of the week and Dr. MacLennan spoke on different phases each day.

"There are certain roadblocks; for Christians to hurdle. We must have not only a picture book theology of Christ, but we must also find Him through daily living," Dr. MacLennan contined, as he spoke on "Have Faith—Will You Travel." "There is not where He is not," he said.

Other topics were, "More than a Popular Religion Needed," "What on Earth are you Doing for Heaven's Sake?" "When Your Confidence is Slipping," "On Becoming a New Person," and "Survival Kit for Christians."

monster—like a sore red thumb. Reminder: those who turned in Romeo pictures please pick them up in the Bark room. They are in a box which the owner is threatening to take away; she needs it for sheets. Thanks!

The prospectives were here. We hope they slept well. They were "squeezed" in and some Irwinites had a slumber party in the Rec Room to make way for our visitors.

All for now—its been REAL.

Griffin Sponsored Freshman Contest Ends Next Tuesday

The deadline for entries in the freshmen writing contest, sponsored by the Griffin is Mar. 2 at 5 p.m. The Griffin, an English department annual publication, accepts poems, plays, editorials, short stories, essays, character sketches and any other type of personal writing.

Manuscripts must be typewritten double spaced with pages numbered and labeled "Freshman Writing Contest." The work must be signed with a fictitious name, inclosing the writer's real name on the inside of the entry. If more than one is submitted by the writer the same fictitious name must be used. Work may be put in Norma Nixon's box, or placed in the box in the English seminar room.

Awards are based on originality, talent, interest, and excellence of style and material. First prizes and honorable mentions will be given. Winning etries will be considered for printing in the Griffin.

Young Democrats Attend Dinner; Hear Symington

Twenty members of Lindenwood's Young Democrats served as special ushers at Senator Stuart Symington's Testimonial Dinner last week. The representatives were provided with orchids and the $100 dinner at the Khorassan Room at the Chase Hotel. About 1500 guests attended to hear Sen. Symington declare his intentions of seeking the United States Presidency.

Dr. Homer Clevenger, and Dr. John B. Moore went as representatives of the school in the absence of Dr. Franc McCluer.

Speakers at the dinner were: the mayor of St. Louis, Congressmen, and the keynote speaker was Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Sue, Jane Organize Auction; KCLC Plans All Night Marathon

Plans for the World University Service Auction, an annual affair, are well under way, announced Sue Mary Allender and Jane Tibbals, co-chairmen of the SCA-sponsored event.

WUS, an organization devoted to aiding students in under-privileged countries, is the only charity to which Lindenwood students are asked to participate. "Actually, it's not a monetary contribution since everyone receives something for her money," stated Jane. "Besides, fathers can take it off their income tax."

"The auction will begin at 11 a.m. next Thursday and will continue until auctioneers 'Cyp' Krueger and Sue French have sold everything there is," declared Sue.

Publicity for the auction began Feb. 16, with a movie, "A Light Along the Way," which depicted WUS and its accomplishments throughout Asia.

It was followed up with a chapel service yesterday when Margarita Tsinanopoulou and Mary Ninan spoke on student needs in their countries, Greece and India. Jane and Sue explained "What WUS Is" and "WUS At Lindenwood."

Tomorrow night, the campus radio station, KCLC, will have an all night marathon beginning at 9:30 p.m. and lasting until 7:30 Saturday morning. Contributions may be phoned in until 1 a.m. and information on the auction and the articles to be auctioned will be broadcast all night.

"In past years girls have found it better to form groups in bidding for items they want," explained Jane when commenting on the "high prices paid."

"We particularly want the freshmen to understand how much fun the auction can be and to come prepared to enter into the bidding," emphasized Sue.

Both co-chairmen stressed that they knew of no other way "where people could have so much fun doing so much good."

Wash. U. Men Champions on KCLC Show

KCLC's College Knowledge was aired Feb. 9 when the defending champions from KBIL, St. Louis University, were defeated by men of the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity at Washington University. The students of St. Louis University, who won the quiz two consecutive times, lost 30-15.

The next program will be presented Mar. 1 at 8 p.m., when the champions will meet the Phi Delta Thetas from Westminster College. Questions on modern history, economics, and sports will be answered.

A skit was presented in Student Assembly on Feb. 9 to increase interest in College Knowledge. A satire on the program was introduced by Freda Miller. Helen Newman presided over a match between the "Theta Thugs" and "Wentworth Millinery Academy." Participating as the "Theta Thugs" were Helen Love, Sara Ann Smith, and Pat Thurmond, while Joan Berhard, Nina Knapp, and Mary Speer portrayed the cadets.

Yarn Mileage Presents Challenge For Needle Clacking LC Ladies

Wanted desperately; something to take the lady's mind off books!

Needed badly; a diversion to ease tension of college life!

Suggestion: knitting!

Results: holey socks, unsoakable soakers, and less free time to get tense!

These are only an innocent bystander's observation of a campus trend and certainly not an experiment in knitting. And, I don't mean knitting the brows!

When I asked needle clackers why they knitted all agreed it took their minds off school work and gave them something useful to do instead of wasting time talking and eating.

"The main reason I started knitting is that I wanted a handmade warm sweater and the only one I could find was $25. So I just bought beige wool yarn and followed the pattern in the book," Stevie Harms, Irwin junior, said. Stevie continued by stating another reason for her beginning knitting was her summer job in Alaska. She will be teaching knitting, "I'll have to know how to knit before I can teach it. Besides, a warm sweater will come in handy in that icy land," Stevie stated.

Less time consuming knitting projects are those of Bam Maddox and Ann Robertson, Irwin sophomores. Both felt they needed something "extra" to do but before attempting a difficult piece they have started a neck scarf. "Right now we're just experimenting—or you might call it wasting time for the good cause of limbering up," Ann explained. Since they started the scarfs they've decided to just keep knitting and make baby blankets. Both hope to move on to something more useful before the school year is over.

A pleated skirt! You mean you knitted it? Hard to believe. But it was true. It seemed a tremendous project for two skinny knitting needles. "I started knitting about a year ago when I was at the University of Nebraska. Everyone knits up there," Jane Bost said. "Oh, it takes me about three months to get something big done. Yes, it was hard to keep working on the same thing but with a diagram and book to follow it really wasn't that difficult," she offered. Jane, a junior from Irwin, has also knitted golf club covers, argyle socks, and is working on a walking coat. "My only problem with the coat is keeping enough yarn around. You know, it takes quite a lot."

Their instruments are pointed, their movements rhythmic, the campus knitters in sheep's clothing!

Drama Fraternity Pledges Students

Betty Darnall, Pat Payne, Ken Cox, and Steve Kardaleff were pledged to Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honorary fraternity, at the close of last semester.

Lindenwood now has six pledges, the other two being Marilyn Wilson and Keith Hammel, who were pledged last year. Before being formally initiated into Alpha Psi Omega, pledges must pass both a written and oral examination and undergo an informal initiation. A formal initiation will be held later this semester.

Chief Cook, Bottle Washer Loves to Do Own Cooking

Aime Fontaine, supervisor of the Lindenwood dining room, stood with spatula in hand, dishing up some delicious meatloaf, as he told of his life prior to coming to St. Charles. Turning back to his cooking momentarily, he explained, "we mustn't let it stay in the grease, makes it too soggy."

Lindenwood's first cook and bottle washer studied at the University of Massachusetts, where he received his Associates degree, then he went into the Marine Corps as the "mess sergeant" for a while before he became associated with the Crotty Company, which has charge of the Lindenwood dining room.

He is completely on his own, insofar as planning the menu goes, though he is required to keep up the standards of his company. He receives his budget from Lindenwood and takes it from there, buying food, planning daily menus, and taking requests whenever possible.

He enjoys cooking, though most campus food preparation is done by the kitchen help. He'd rather create something himself than go out to eat since "I always like to try new things."

He always seems to be busy, whether it is supervising the kitchen, getting opinions from the students, or tending to burst water pipes, as happened during the interview.

He likes Lindenwood because it has a "closer relationship" than did his former position at the State University of New York in Farmington. He feels that here he has a chance to get to know the students better, and thus can strive to please them more personally.

'Exchange Teacher' Will Be in Paperback Edition; Dr. A. Sibley Readies Book For '61 Publication

Dr. Agnes Sibley, Lindenwood English instructor, has received word that her recently completed book, "Exchange Teacher," an account of her two years of teaching in an English college, has been accepted for publication by Claxton Printers Ltd., Cladwell Idaho.

Going to England under the Fulbright Program in 1951, she taught English at Bishop Otter College, a teacher training school in Chichester, Sussex county, sixty miles from London. To complete the exchange, Miss Margorie Hiller, a Bishop Otter instructor, was able to come to the United States to take over Dr. Sibley's classes at Lindenwood. "Although the exchange usually lasts only one year, both of us enjoyed our new positions so well that we applied for and received an extension for the second year," commented Dr. Sibley.

Comparing the two colleges, Dr.

Sibley found Bishop Otter, with an enrollment of 200 women similar in many respects to Lindenwood. "However, enrollment requirements were higher than in most of our colleges, and less time was devoted to actual class sessions enabling the students more time for individual work."

In addition to her experiences at the college, Dr. Sibley also included in her book adventures which she encountered on her numerous "literary pilgrimages" throughout England, Scotland and Wales during the long holiday vacations and summer recess. "It was thrilling to visit all of the places I've taught about including Brontes' home, the Lake country, the Shakespeare region and Twickenham, Alexander Pope's home." Since Chichester is located only a short distance from both the sea and the Downs, she was also able to take several weekend trips to both places.

Because she was unable to write separate letters to all of her acquaintances and friends of her "fascinating and exciting experiences," Dr. Sibley wrote regular detailed accounts to Lindenwood where they were mimeographed and mailed to friends all over the United States. Motivated by the interest and favorable response which her letters received, she decided to write a book of her experiences using those letters as its basis. Writing vacations, Dr. Sibley was able to complete the manuscript by the end of the Christmas holiday.

Scheduled for publication in 1961, "Exchange Teacher" will be printed in a paperback edition. Its cover design, "an abstract combination of lines symbolizing contact between peoples and nations," was done by an art instructor at Bishop Otter College.

Visiting Scientist, Dr. Harrison, To Address Chemistry Classes

Dr. Anna J. Harrison, from the Canadian Research Council in Ottawa, will be the visiting professor at Lindenwood Mar. 3 and 4 in observance of Science Week.

Every year the National Science Foundation sends qualified professors to colleges all over the country. These professors become scientific advisors in the colleges they visit. Dr. Harrison, who has been appointed by the American Chemical Society, is coming to Lindenwood after visiting a college in Virginia.

After attending her freshman and sophomore year at Lindenwood College, Dr. Harrison received her A.B. and Ph.D. degrees in chemistry from the University of Missouri. Several years later she studied at Cambridge University in England on an A.A.U.W. fellowship. She is on leave from Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts, where she is a professor of chemistry. This year she is working for the National Research Council in Ottawa.

Dr. Harrison will deliver lectures in the various chemistry classes on the subjects "Opportunities for Women Scientists," "General Chemistry in Science," "Finding Atoms," "More About Atoms," "Measurement in Chemistry," and "the Meaning of Research." She will also hold personal conferences with all those interested.

Miss Mary Lear, head of the chemistry department, announced that all biology, home economics, mathematics students, and anyone else interested are invited to hear Dr. Harrison.

Thursday evening Dr. Harrison will speak to the members of A.A.U.W. in the Library Club Room. Everyone is invited to a tea to be given in her honor by the Triangle Club, honorary science society, at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

Classics Fraternity Initiates Members

Pi Alpha Delta, national honorary classics fraternity, initiated new members into the Lindenwood chapter Feb. 8 in the Library Club Room. Beth Potter, president, presided at the initiation ceremonies.

Ellen Gherkin was elected vice president of the fraternity and Judy Stute was elected treasurer. Officers already holding office are Beth Potter, president and Charlotte Saxe, secretary.

The new members are Roberta de la Torre, Jean Flock, Ellen Gherkin, Patty Perkins, Kay Worth, Judy Stute, Nancy Ordelheide, and Caroline Drane.

Following initiation, the members discussed plans for a faculty tea to be given April 10, and plans for a May banquet.

Counseling Program Proves Successful As Result of Evaluation States Glaser

"I feel that the freshman counseling program has been very successful for the first year," stated Karen Glaser in her evaluation report to some 35 freshman counselors.

The purposes and goals of the program were listed under four categories; 1) To orient the freshmen more quickly into the life of the college. 2) To develop inter-class friendships. 3) To supplement faculty counseling. 4) To enlarge the basic philosophy of the college.

Counselors were selected on the basis of "scholarship, ability to communicate easily with others, objectivity, sensitivity, good organization in her own planning, high values, and good attitudes in relation to the values and standards of Lindenwood."

Some of the questions asked on the questionnaire given to each freshman were: "Do you feel your counselor has been personally interested in you?" The responses were "62%—quite a bit, 25%—somewhat, 15%—not at all." "Has your student counselor been a good influence in relation to the standards of Lindenwood?" This resulted in "83%—yes, 7%—somewhat 10%—no." "In general do you like the counseling program?" The freshmen said "66%—definitely, 26%—somewhat, 9%—not at all."

Karen received a few suggestions for improvement but said, "I feel that these are problems which can be met with time."

Terrapin Presents Annual Water Pageant

"Tish" McLain floats through the air with the greatest of ease.

Terrapin will make its annual splash on Mar. 3 and 4 at 8 p.m. in Butler swimming pool, when the club presents its Water Pageant.

Ten numbers will be given by three groups: the minnows, coached by Jo Ann Dillinger and Judy Conlin; the dolphins, coached by Barbara Kasper and Sally Carey; and the sharks, directed by Ina Rae Barklage and Anna Belle Defabaugh. Coaches have planned the choreography for the individual groups.

After the presentation there will be a reception for the administration and cast. The reception committee is the minnows, and the publicity committee is the dolphins.

Miss Mitzi Fenn sponsors Terrapin, with Mrs. Grazina Amonas and Miss Dorothy Ross assisting.

Blue Flannel Men To Be Featured In Orchesis Skit

For the first time at LC young men will play a part in the Orchesis modern dance program. Steve Kardaleff, Ken Cox, and Keith Hammel will be the sensation of the 1960 police squad in "String of Pearls."

Unable to take a modern dance course at LC, the policemen, as drama majors, find it interesting to be a part of a technique so inter-related with drama. "It is a strange feeling, getting used to the circumstances involved, but it is a lot of fun," said Keith. "They let us do some of the easier steps that are not so involved as the solos."

While fulfilling a wish, these young men say they have had an enjoyable month of rehearsing. Beth Potter, president of Orchesis, said she enjoyed working with them and added that the three young men in the blue flannel suits have contributed much to the performance.

Orchesis Members to Portray Original Mystery Tomorrow

An original murder mystery in jazz, "String of Pearls," will be presented by Orchesis in its annual program. An open dress rehearsal is planned for tonight at 8 p.m.; the actual performance is tomorrow at 8 p.m.

"String of Pearls" was written by Orchesis members: Beth Potter, president; Karen Howlett, vice president; Pat Lacy, sec.-treas.; and

Joan Rundell. All choreography was planned by them to the music of Elmer Bernstein's "Man with a Golden Arm," Robert Prince's "Opus Jazz," Leonard Bernstein's "Westside Story," and Harris-Leigh "Jazz 1856."

Students from the intermediate and advanced modern dance classes, as well as Ken Cox, Steve Kardaleff, and Keith Hammel, will participate.

Beth Potter is student director, Molly Jo Beasley, stage manager, and Linda Gillespie, house manager. Linda Marculy is in charge of the posters and Pat Lacy, the scenery.

The program will be presented under the supervision of Mrs. Grazina Amonas.

Students to Hear About Careers In Anthropology

Professor Jules Henry, anthropologist at Washington University, will be on the Lindenwood campus Mar. 10 and 11. He will give a series of lectures on anthropology and talk with students interested in careers in anthropology. Faculty and students are invited to his main lecture to be given at 11:00 Thursday, Mar. 10. He will discuss the relations between culture and personality.

Professor Henry will be available during the afternoon of Mar. 10 and 11 to talk informally with students who are interested in anthropology either as a career or avocation. Students who wish to talk with Professor Henry may sign up for an appointment on the sociology bulletin board, third floor, Roemer Hall. For further information see Dr. Helen Gouldner, Room 329.

Professor Henry appears on campus under the auspices of the American Anthropological Association. He received his Ph.D. at Columbia University, and is the author of several books including Jungle People and Doll Play of Pilaga Indian Children, as well as numerous articles on anthropological theory, culture, and personality.

Freshman Dorm Wins Intramural

Nicolls Hall won the basketball intramural in a deciding game Feb. 8. They defeated the Day Students 37-36.

Lindy, the LC intramural stuffed dog, now resides in Nicolls for the second time in a row.

Bridge intramurals are now in session in the individual dorms.

Speaking of Sports

Bridge Players Must Go On

After closing hours in each dorm on the Lindenwood campus, a group of four girls can be seen in almost every room sitting around on the floor concentrating on a hand of cards, while the record players blared away full blast.

What were they doing? Why, competing in the campus bridge tournament, of course.

Tournaments have been held within each dormitory, the winners of which were decided yesterday. The victors of a match were the members of the team who won two out of three rubbers. These winners then competed against each other until the final champions were determined. Lindy, the school mascot, is the much coveted prize of the tournament.

Before each game the players stocked up on food so that they would have something to sustain them throughout the tedious hours of the match.

Of course the girls gained much profit from these sessions. Besides hearing all the recent records, they tuned in to the latest gossip and found out who got pinned or engaged last weekend.

The only difficulty encountered by the bridge players was that of keeping score. It seems that many started out with no knowledge in this field at all and had quite a bit of trouble deciding who won what.

Extramurals Schedule

The schedule for the extramural basketball games is as follows:

Feb. 29 Fontbonne vs. Lindenwood there 5:15

Mar. 1 Webster vs. Lindenwood there 5:15

Mar. 8 Fontbonne vs. Lindenwood here 5:15

Mar. 10 Webster vs. Lindenwood here 5:15

Mar. 18 Harris vs. Lindenwood here 5:15

Tryouts for the extramural basketball team were held on Feb. 22 and the team will be announced later.

LC Day Students Plan March Beatnik Party

A dance will be given by the Lindenwood day students in the Library Club Room on March 5 from 8 to 12.

Day students and their dates or husbands will come dressed like Beatniks, the theme of the dance. Records will provide music.

Home Ec Club Plans Meeting

The guest speaker for Colhecon on Mar. 1 at 7 p.m. will be Mrs. Clara Nienhueser, the proprietor of the Clarella Beauty Shop and the LaVogue Beauty Shop in St. Charles. She will demonstrate several different hair-styles and give suggestions on care of the hair. A round-table discussion on the use of makeup will round out the evening. Before the meeting Peggy Payne will provide entertainment at the piano.

A business meeting and refreshments will follow the program. Committees are Kathleen Stafford, refreshments; Mary Lou Reilly, invitations; Beth Allen, posters; and Martha McGinnis, programs.

Miss Margaret Lindsay, associate professor of home economics, the sponsor of Colhecon.

Sixty Nations Join In Day of Prayer

The Junior Cabinet of the Student Christian Association sponsored the Universal Day of Prayer for Students last Sunday, Feb. 21. Miss Mary Watson, a graduate of Washington University, delivered the message at the evening Vesper service.

The Lindenwood community joined with students from sixty other nations in this endeavor. The purpose of the program is to bring together the minds and hearts of all students in praise and thanksgiving to God.

Miss Watson, now an English teacher at North Kirkwood Junior High, is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. In 1959 she was one of twenty-four student delegates selected to participate in a Summer Student Exchange with the U.S.S.R.

Susan Drozda, program chairman for the Junior Cabinet, planned the service.

Dr. Kincheloe To Judge In High School Contest

Dr. Kenneth Kincheloe, head of the music department, will be a judge at the Illinois High School Solo and Ensemble music contest in Lincoln, Ill., Feb. 27. Dr. Kincheloe will be the judge for the woodwind section.

Every spring, high schools all over the country hold music contests, in which each section of the music group is evaluated separately by qualified judges.

Starting next Saturday, Dr. Kincheloe will travel to high schools in Illinois, Missouri, and Iowa each weekend until April and will judge different sections of orchestra each time.

"I have judged for a number of years in about 20 states," Dr. Kincheloe said.

Colleges, Fraternities Invited to LC Mixer

Invitations to all colleges and fraternities in the surrounding area have been sent for the forthcoming mixer in Cobbs Hall on March 5. The theme will be "Shipwreck," and the dress is informal.
