The Meaning of Founders' Day

TO EVERYONE OF US the word "remember" is one of the most important words in the vocabulary. The remembrance of the things to which we are devoted points the direction in which we shall move in days ahead. This is true of an institution as of an individual. Dr. John Mackay once put it "The road to tomorrow leads through yesterday." It is well, therefore, that we celebrate in the fall of the year the founding of our college and rededicate ourselves to the ideals and purposes which have been revealed in the life of Lindenwood College as we revere the memory of noble founders.

Lindenwood alumnae are acquainted with the story of Major George C. Sibley, and his wife, Mary Easton Sibley, the daughter of the first postmaster of St. Louis, who founded a school for girls in their home located in a grove of linden trees at the edge of St. Charles, Missouri, soon after Missouri was admitted to the Union. Mrs. Sibley was a woman of noble vision and great character and she and her husband devoted themselves and their property to the establishment of a girls' school of national reach at a time when many thought education was an unnecessary luxury for women. The reader of the history of Lindenwood College is impressed with the vision and devotion of the founders, with their belief in education as dealing with the whole life, and with their understanding that freedom and excellence in education can be best achieved on the basis of Christian faith.

We shall find strength in the history of our college and the foresight of its founders. Mr. Justice Jackson has pointed out, "It is only the educated man the world has to fear." It is equally true that educated men and women are our hope. Lindenwood College rejoices in a sense of partnership with all institutions devoted to education that is Christian and accepts with great delight the responsibility for its unique function in the higher education of women. Our Founders' Day program on October 19 was good for the college community. All of us who were here—faculty, students and administrators—feel that we shall do our work more significantly because of the inspiration of this day.

Dr. Oreen Ruedi Delivers Annual Founders' Day Address

Member of Class of 1924 Discusses Place of Women in Modern World and Urges Fuller Participation Solving Problems of Mankind

A CHALLENGE to women to help solve the common problems of humanity was issued by Dr. Oreen Ruedi, head of the Sociology Department of Southwest Missouri State College, at the annual Founders' Day convocation on October 19. Dr. Ruedi is a member of the Class of 1924. She holds graduate degrees from Smith College and Clark University. She is co-author of a textbook on sociology, "The American Way of Life."

Dr. Eunice Roberts, dean of the college, delivered the invocation at the convocation. Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president of Lindenwood, introduced Dr. Ruedi and gave the benediction. Following the convocation, there was an alumnae luncheon in Ayres Hall. In the afternoon the annual pilgrimage was made to the graves of Major George C. Sibley and his wife, Mary Easton Sibley on the campus, and open house was held in the residence halls.

Mrs. James A. Reed, of Kansas City, a member of the Class of 1909, who had accepted the college's invitation to speak at the Founders' Day convocation, representing the Alumnae Association, was unable to come to St. Charles because of illness. Mrs. Reed, who is known to millions of American women as Nelly Don, was awarded an honorary degree at the 1949 commencement.

"Because we are women, we have a road ahead of us that challenges all that is best in all of us," Dr. Ruedi declared. "Ours is the whole of humanity — human rights, freedom from want, freedom of opportunity, freedom to play, to think, to work. These are women's tasks, but they are the common problems of mankind. The job ahead of us is too great for us to think of either a man's or a woman's world. It must be a world united in presenting a common front if we are to survive."

It is a paradox, she continued, that the freer women become, the more discontented and frustrated they are. Today's woman is free of many of the traditional masculine ideas of the Nineteenth Century. No longer is the capture of a husband, woman's entire existence, she said.

"But the fact remains that women are confused. Women had fought so long that when they found themselves in possession of all the potentialities they had listed as imperatives, they immediately began to try to enjoy all the privileges granted to men. For the sake of achieving their goal the feminists oversimplified the goals of women. One result has been that women are trained to believe that to have prestige they must have a career equal to that of men patterned upon the careers of men. By and large colleges have followed this line of reasoning and have trained both men and women for careers using the same curricula.

"All too few colleges have recognized that woman's life by the very nature of woman falls into a pattern of choices. A man expects to get a job, marry, have children and still remain single-minded with no break in his pursuance of his goal—success in the economic field. A girl may have a career, and, or marriage with or without children, but whatever her decision is, it will demand sacrifice and compromise.

"Part of the confusion stems from our failure to understand and appreciate basic values and relate them to the needs of the times. We claim to be developing complete men and women, and we have abandoned the old liberal education which met the needs of the old aristocracy and trained minds to think, and weigh evidence. Vocational education was added to give opportunity to all who wished to train for jobs.

Roll Call of the Class of 1941

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

WE BEGIN this month the roll call of the Class of 1941. Nine years after they left Lindenwood, the following members have sent news about themselves and their activities:

Martha Weber (Mrs. Thomas R. Spencer), 4000 Colonial Ave., St. Louis, Mo.: "In August, 1941, I married Thomas R. Spencer, then an army officer. After living at various army posts, I returned home when my husband went overseas. I accepted a position in the Personnel Department at Barnes Hospital where I am still employed as Personnel Director. I enjoy my work and am certain that I could not find a more interesting position in another field. I am a lecturer in Hospital Administration for the Washington University School of Medicine. My lectures are confined to the field of personnel administration. I am a member of the Industrial Personnel Women of Greater St. Louis, and this year am serving as its President. These activities combined with my position leave me little time for other pursuits."

Barbara Hill (Mrs. Gordon T. Harmon), 7416 Esterbrook, St. Louis, Mo.: "After graduating with a B. S. in Education, I taught English the following year at Steelville, Ill. High School and while there I met Lt. Harmon, who was a pilot instructor at a nearby Army Air Base. We were married the following spring and spent a wonderful, if brief, time at various air bases. My husband went to Italy in the fall and I taught for a few months in the St. Louis schools. When he returned we moved to Tulsa, Okla., and returned to St. Louis after he had finished his interrupted college course. Our two children, Rich, 4½, and Gayle Maureen, 3½, constitute the main interest and keep me happily occupied."

Pearl Lucille Lammers (Mrs. Eugene F. Schaberg) 824 Lindenwood, St. Charles: "After graduating from Lindenwood, I taught in the elementary grades until June, 1946 when Gene came home from the Army, and we were married. We live in St. Charles and have just recently moved into our new home. We have one daughter, Ann, who is 2."

Marjorie J. Ecker (Mrs. Edgar A. Hill, Jr.), 1201 S. 12th Et., LaFayette, Ind.: "I have two boys—Danny, 4, and Randy, 17 months. We built our home in Lafayette, and by the time I take care of our home and family, there isn't much time for anything else. I belong to several church organizations and bridge clubs. The girls in Indianapolis have organized an alumnae club, and I attend the meetings once a month."

Irene Altheide (Mrs. Don W. Korte), Quarters

612, Naval Proving Ground, Dahlgren, Va.: "The years between college graduation and marriage were devoted to music education. I had four pleasant years as Vocal Music Supervisor at Jennings Public Schools, St. Louis County, Mo. In July, 1945, I married Don Walker Korte, a naval officer. We have two children; Don Walker, Jr., 26 months old, and Martha Maria, 2 months old. Since 1946 my life has been that of a typical navy wife as she follows her sea-going husband from port to port. At present we are enjoying our bit of "shore duty" at Dahlgren. While here I have had the opportunity to pursue my two musical interests, namely the piano and choral conducting. I am studying piano in Washington, D. C., and have frequently appeared as soloist, and also presented a full recital last year. In addition to studying, I also have a large class of piano pupils. My other interest is directing the Chapel Choir and the Junior Choir at the Navy Chapel.

Janice Martin (Mrs. Paul B. Henderson), 14156 S. Calumet St., Dolton, Ill.: "After getting my Bachelor of Music Education Degree, I was married. I spent the next two years on the faculty of the Leo C. Miller Studios in St. Louis, teaching piano at a nearby school as well as at the studio. When my husband returned from overseas, we moved to a suburb of Chicago where we are busy grooming Clair Ann (born October, 1947) for her entrance at Lindenwood."

Betty Jane Daniel (Mrs. E. W. Smith), Box 3254, Great Falls, Mont.: "After leaving Lindenwood I worked in St. Louis for three years and then got married to a Lieutenant in the Air Force whom I met while I was at Lindenwood. During our six years of marriage we have been on the move a great deal except for the two years we were stationed at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. At present I am busy with my career of being a wife and mother. We have two precious little boys—Gary Lee, 2½, and Richard Daniel, 5 months. Recently we received orders transferring us to Anchorage, Alaska for a two-year tour of duty. We invested in a three-room fully modern house trailer where we intend to live during our stay in Alaska."

Barbara Lou Saley (Mrs. James G. Farnes), 8721 S. Emerald Ave., Chicago, Ill.: "A day of last June was the high point of my life—my wedding day. By comparison, that day makes prior events insignificant. Jim and I lead a happy, contented life and work hard making plans for our future. The two years I spent teaching science in an Iowa school and the three years as a social worker in California were just a part of my education for this happier living."

Ryan, Genee Head Schubert, Mrs. Jack L. Stanford, Mrs. Lela Manning Stewart, Mrs. Frances Cowan Woolridge, Mrs. Winfield R. Jones, Margaret L. Price.

Dr. McCluer on Program At Admission Counselors Meeting

Dr. Franc L. McCluer was among the prominent educators who addressed the sixth annual conference of the Association of College Admissions Counselors in St. Louis last month. On October 27, Dr. McCluer addressed a dinner meeting of the Tulsa, Okla. Lindenwood Club, and on October 29, he made two addresses at a meeting of the Amarillo, Texas Presbytery.

Lindenwood Classes Select Officers for 1950-51

Miss Patricia Underwood, of Knox, Pa., has been selected by her classmates to lead the Class of '51. Other Senior officers are Marilee Darnall, Illiopolis, Ill., vice-president; Carolyn Furnish, Kansas City, Mo., secretary, and Helen Parks, Hornersville, Mo., treasurer.

The Juniors elected Joy Hellwig, Chesterfield, Mo., president; Ruth Beutler, Hinsdale, Ill., vice-president; Joyce Fleet, Houston, Texas, secretary; and Barbara Burcham, Doniphan, Mo., treasurer.

Missouri Organists Guild Meets at Lindenwood

The Missouri Chapter of the American Guild of Organists met at Lindenwood on October 30. Miss Pearl Walker and Miss Gertrude Isidor of the Music Department gave a recital for the Guild, with Paul Friess and Miss Virginia Winham as accompanists.

Twenty-seven States and Eight Countries on Campus This Year

Twenty-seven states and eight foreign countries are represented in the student body at Lindenwood this year. Missouri leads the states in the number of students enrolled, followed by Illinois and Iowa. Foreign countries represented on the campus are: Germany, France, Sweden, Malaya, Iran, Guatemala, Greece, Cuba, and the territory of Hawaii.

There is one pair of twins, Jean and Joan Buckner, of Sioux City, Iowa, who are freshmen.

Girl of the Month

WE PRESENT this month — Colleen Johnson.

Immediately upon graduating from Lindenwood, in 1947, Miss Johnson went to the Oberlin Conservatory of Music for two years, receiving a Master of Music Degree there in 1949. In that same year she entered a thesis in the Mu Phi Epsilon Musical Research Contest and received first prize for it. As a result of this contribution to musicology, she was granted membership in the American Musicological Society.

During the past year she has been a resident member of the music staff of Westtown School, a Friends' boarding school near Philadelphia. This position has included such a variety of work as teaching private piano lessons, instructing second grade class music, acting as assistant to the choral conductor, starting a music record lending library, and serving as school accompanist and chapel organist. She is also conducting a cherub choir in the Germantown Unitarian Church of Philadelphia.

Dorothy Hennig (Mrs. R. R. Popham), 50 West 53rd St., New York, N. Y.: "Upon graduation from Lindenwood, I took a business course in Chicago and my first job was with the Alien Property Custodian, a wartime government agency, until 1944 when that office was moved to another city. Then I went to work for Henri, Hurst & McDonald, a Chicago advertising agency, until I married in June of 1947. We settled in New York where Dick had been living and working for several years. At first I was so lonesome and had so much time on my hands that I decided to go back to work. I accepted a full-time position with Trans-american Broadcasting & Television Corp., where I still am employed."

Geraldine Wachter (Mrs. Bowan Jones), 7439 Embury Court, St. Louis, Mo.: "After graduating from Lindenwood, I taught high school music for one year in Deering, Mo. In June of '43 our wedding took place. Like so many war brides, I wanted to follow my husband. Finally Bowan was appointed to the staff of a hospital in Long Island, N. Y. We were fortunate to find a small bungalow near the hospital and he was stationed there until after the war. We returned to St. Louis in January, 1947. June of 1947 was a memorable month for us. In that month we moved into our new home, my husband, who is a physical therapist, opened his business, and on June 27, Bonnie Gail was born. Last summer Bonnie contracted polio. Under my husband's guidance and treatment she recovered and today it is hard to realize that such a thing did happen. Someday I'm sure Bonnie will enjoy Lindenwood as much as I did."

Jenna V. Giles (Mrs. C. E. Vickery), Ormsby Village, Anchorage, Ky.: "After my graduation from Lindenwood, I married my childhood sweetheart, Charles E. Vickery. Our dreams of his attaining a Doctorate of Theology and our having a family are coming true. We have a 7 year old girl, Kay, and a 6 year old boy, Bill, and our Daddy is now completing his first year's study toward the coveted Doctor's degree. We have been in Louisville for five years. I have been teaching nursery school until this year when both children entered public schools. Since everyone else in the family is in school, I decided to complete work toward a Bachelor's degree in Religious Education. Next year after completing eight hours of elective work, I'll graduate—then I plan to take social service training."

Kathryn Salyer (Mrs. L. W. J. Webster), 383 N. High, Chillicothe, O.: "After my graduation from Lindenwood, I taught Latin and English in Seaman, Ohio. While there I met my future husband. But before our marriage, war came and Lloyd went overseas for two years. While he was in the service, I returned to my home town, Mt. Sterling, Ky., to teach Latin and French. After his return to the States, I resigned my position and joined him in San Leandro, Calif., where we were married, March, 1945. We remained there until his discharge in September, 1945. After arriving back in Ohio, Lloyd returned to his job

Radio Clinic for Mid-West College Stations Held at Lindenwood

A CLINIC of campus radio stations, the first of its kind in the Middle West, was held at Lindenwood on October 27 and 28, with the Lindenwood station, KCLC, as host. Representatives of college and university stations from 19 schools in seven states attended the clinic sessions, which were under the direction of Miss Martha Boyer, head of the College's Radio Department.

The clinic was sponsored by Region Seven of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System. The student delegates produced radio shows of all kinds, including news broadcasts, dramas, interviews, variety shows and musical programs. Their work was evaluated by executives of St. Louis radio stations. A highlight of the clinic was the programming of a two-hour broadcast over KCLC on the opening night. Howard Hansen, National Program Director of IBS, and Ed Wilson, conductor of his own programs over KWK, were among those who addressed the clinic. The visitors were housed in St. Charles homes and were served their meals on the campus.

Among the representatives of St. Louis radio stations, who judged the shows written and produced by the student delegates, were Rex Davis, news editor, and George Clarke, production director of Station KMOX; Miss Louise Munsch, of Station WEW; Ted Westcott, production director of Station KSD, and Bruce Barrington, director of Station KXOK. Miss Lorraine Peck, Class of 1950 and now on the staff of KWK, also assisted in the judging.

Miss Gretchen Schnurr, Director of Station Relations, and Miss Marilee Darnall, Director of Education for KCLC, were in charge of local arrangements for the clinic.

in Chillicothe. I decided to substitute at the schools here and eventually found myself back in the regular teaching routine. I'm now kept busy and pleasantly occupied with my home, my husband, and my school teaching."

Margaret Barton (Mrs. Vernon Korty), 5406 Quintana St., Riverdale, Md.: "After graduation, I spent a year studying history on a fellowship at the University of Illinois, and harvested a Master's Degree complete with a master. Vernon and I were married in 1942. We have two children; Freddy, 3, and Peggy Jo, a first grader, who has kept us busy this past year by bringing home communicable diseases. This has made me even more thankful for my training and experience as a nurses' aide during the war. Usually my time is filled by homemaking and taking a few stray courses that were crowded out of the college schedule. I dabble occasionally in writing, but so far a Dr. Christian radio play (1945) has been my only major success."

Ruth Faucett (Mrs. Rober W. Hanf), 423 Terry Ave., Seattle, Wash.: "Following graduation I took a year's training as a medical technologist in Portland, Ore. I continued working there for two years more, then spent about a year with my family in San Antonio. In the spring of '45 I returned to Portland and continued with my work until Feb., 1947, when Bob (an interne at that time) and I were married. Upon completion of his internship we spent the following two years in Seattle where Bob was stationed at a Navy dispensary. The day after his separation he started his residency in radiology. While he is busy learning I am busy learning too, but from our two babies. Karen is now 2½ and Bill is 15 months old."

Sallie Van Buren (Mrs. J. E. Pennybacker), 7 New St., Danbury, Conn.: "After leaving Lindenwood I studied dress design and fashion illustration in Chicago for two years, and it was another year before I actually found a job in commercial art. My first job out of art school was as a writer for a local newspaper. When I finally got into the art business it was with a big commercial studio in Chicago as a sales representative. During my daily trips by train to Chicago I had occasion to see Carol Bindley, Doris Nahegian and Sally Murfey. Early in 1945, like a lot of other Lindenwood girls, I joined the American Red Cross and prepared to go overseas. After a short jaunt to the Caribbean, I got to the Philippines and finally to Japan. At first mine was a recreation job and along with two other gals I ran a club and canteen at an airfield about 40 miles from Tokyo. Soon, though, I was called to Tokyo by the Public Relation Department. I was to be "your radio program called 'Lunch-eon Date with Sallie.' After many struggles with my nerves, I began to take the show in stride and eventually became head of the radio department. Since my return to the U. S. in 1947, I have been doing many things—Interior Decorating, writing, and even photography. I finally gave up the whole thing and married a radio announcer in February."

Dr. Oreen Ruedi Delivers Address

"In the emphasis on mass training, we have failed to carry over the core of traditional liberal education. We have failed to place an equal value on the capacity for understanding which was a goal of the humanists. The cultural lag in educational philosophy accounts in part for women's confusion, discontent and restlessness. Women are far from equality in their own thinking because they still compare themselves to men. They still do not quite trust their own sex.

"There is no use arguing superiority or inferiority of men and women. Women and men must recognize that there are differences. That is no cause for judging that women have less mental ability. Recognizing that men and women are different means only that the basis of inferiority is removed."

Piedmont, Wichita Falls, Tex.: "After receiving my A.B. in October, 1943, I was married to Lt. Jack Helmcamp of Wichita Falls, Tex. Our children are Jack, Jr., 5; and Jan Carol, 4. That statement in itself is enough to prove that may days are always full, busy and interesting. Most of my time is spent in being housewife and mother. Extra time I devote to study club, Sunday School work, a few social clubs. We have been settled here for four years since the war."

Nelle Motley (Mrs. Jack Buckner), Fulton, Mo.: "After I graduated, I went to Washington, Mo., to teach public school music. The next year I married a young dentist there, Dr. James R. Pearson. My husband was killed in an automobile accident four and one-half years later. The following fall I entered Colorado State College to work on my master's degree. Two years ago I was married to Jack Buckner, an auctioneer, farmer, and one of the owners of the Callaway Stock Sales Company. We live on a farm one mile from Fulton and I dearly love it—we completely modernized our home and it is quite comfortable and I have all the butter and cream I want to cook with! I still take piano lessons, off and on, although being only one-half mile from the country club is bad for my piano practice."

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

Mrs. Paul Stoesz, who was Dorothy Mary Lowe and attended Lindenwood in 1942-44, writes that she and her husband, Dr. Paul Stoesz, are now living in Bassett, Nebr. and have two sons, David, 3½, and Marc, 1½. After leaving Lindenwood, Mrs. Stoesz was graduated from the University of Nebraska School of Nursing in 1946. She and her husband were married that year and lived for two years in Madison, Wisc., where Dr. Stoesz was doing cancer research.

Miss Jeanette Julia Gund, of St. Louis, who is a member of the Class of '44, received a master of arts degree in physical education from the University of Iowa at the August 9 commencement at Iowa City.

Mrs. Robert Anthony, of Peoria, Ill., who was Phyllis Maxwell and attended Lindenwood in 1943-45, visited the campus recently. Mrs. Anthony is now on the staff of a Peoria radio station.

Mrs. F. M. Slack, who was Geraldine Logan and attended Lindenwood in 1942-44, writes that she and her husband are now living at 3514 Westcliff Rd., Fort Worth, Texas. She sends news of two other alumnae. Mrs. John Cunningham, who was Lucille Linian and attended Lindenwood in 1941-42, lives in Jackson, Miss. and has two sons, John and James. Mrs. William Patterson, who was Mary Catherine Lewis and attended Lindenwood in 1941-42, lives in Texarkana, Ark., and has two daughters, Ann and Patricia.

Miss Louise Lyon, who attended Lindenwood in 1929-31, is now living in New York City and is a piano teacher with studios in 903 Carnegie Hall.

Mrs. L. R. Hain, of 1382 Plymouth Ave., San Francisco, Calif., writes that her son, Lewis Collins Hain, was married on October 14 in San Francisco to Miss Ramona Carole Bronson. Mrs. Hain, who was Eva Meek, attended Lindenwood in 1913-15 and was married in May, 1919 by the late Dr. John Roemer, then president of the college.

Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, who was Gretchen Gidley and attended Lindenwood in 1933-34, writes that she and her husband have recently built their own home on Hill Blvd. Rd., East Liverpool, Ohio.

Mrs. Keith B. Lawton, who was Barbara Larmer and attended Lindenwood in 1941-42, writes that she and her husband have purchased a home at 453 Maple St., Benton Harbor, Mich. They have two children, Randolph, 2½, and Anne, 4 months old.
