PRACTICALLY all of the colleges of America make it a point to give their former students opportunities to share with them in the work they are doing today. These appeals may have been intensified over the last few years because of the increasing costs of education. Incomes on endowments have not risen but the costs of the things that this income will buy have risen greatly.

An appeal to those who bear the stamp of an institution and who have received education within its halls is not an effort to burden alumnae with a sense of obligation to the college. Gratitude must never be demanded, though an institution should strive to deserve it. Nor have these appeals been based upon the well known fact that the college student does not pay the full cost of education. Income from endowment and gifts from friends of the institution must supplement tuition fees in order that the services which are provided by the colleges of America may be given to their students.

This is true of Lindenwood, as it is in most of the colleges throughout the country. Alumnae gifts grow out of loyalty to the purpose of the college, devotion to its program, and pride in its achievement, rather than out of a sense of indebtedness. They grow out of a desire to participate with those who staff the institution in providing meaningful opportunities to young women of another generation. The work of Lindenwood will bring happiness to those who share in it, just as the pride of the alumnae of the college will bring pride to those who staff it.

Some alumnae clubs have sponsored scholarships for particular students, and gifts have been designated for special awards to students. This year one of the things which has enabled the college to be of greater service to the student body has been the presence of a number of foreign students, many of whom have been on substantial scholarship grants. It is hoped that alumnae and friends of the college will give to the maintenance of these foreign students who have added much to the life of the institution this year.

For the sake of giving foreign students opportunities which in war devastated countries they do not now have, and for the sake of promoting international understanding and good will, Lindenwood College hopes to have a number of foreign students on the campus every year. The President of the Alumnae Association has expressed confidence that many of our alumnae over the nation will find satisfaction in making a contribution, whether large or small, to the support of this new activity at the college.

Gifts that have been received for this purpose and for other purposes are deeply appreciated. We hope that the college merits the pride the alumnae have in it and the support they are prepared to give it.

Training for Community Leadership Is Theme of Conference

Civic Leaders to Conduct Discussions in Variety of Civic Problems at Two-Day Workshop to Be Held on Lindenwood Campus on April 29 and 30

How educational institutions can assist communities to discover and train potential leadership and help local groups survey community resources and possibilities will be discussed at the regional conference on "Community Leadership" to be held at Lindenwood on April 29 and 30. The conference is under the direction of Paul Greer of the college's faculty.

Invitations to attend the two-day workshop have been sent to universities and colleges in the area as well as to civic groups. The conference is intended to stimulate the thinking of the average citizens concerning problems of health, delinquency, recreation, and community tensions.

Following registration of delegates on Friday morning, April 29, the keynote address will be delivered at 11 a.m. in Roemer Auditorium by Leonard Hall, noted newspaper columnist of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, whose subject will be "Listening In, R.F.D." Delegates to the Radio Conference will also attend this meeting.

Friday afternoon there will be four group discussions. A panel on "Community Health" will be conducted by Miss Gwen Goodrich, former field secretary of the Co-operative Health Federation and now a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin Workers College.

"Community Recreation" will be the subject of a second round table, to be led by Fred Naeter, publisher of the Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian. Delegates from Moberly, Poplar Bluff, Mexico and Jennings will participate in this discussion, which will include consideration of the benefits of recreation to health of mind and body and as a preventative of juvenile delinquency.

A third discussion group will be led by Dr. Homer Clevenger, head of the college's History Department and mayor of St. Charles. The subject will be "Growing Pains" and the discussion will include such problems as water supply, traffic, zoning, police and fire protection and finance.

The fourth topic for consideration will be "Community Tensions." The discussion will be led by Henry F. Chadeayne, comptroller of the General American Life Insurance Co., who will introduce the speaker, L. M. White, publisher of the Mexico, Mo., Ledger.

All of the discussions will be informal, in the manner of the old fashioned New England town meetings. Students will serve as "thought recorders" in taking notes of the discussions and will make their reports at the evening session.

On Saturday morning, April 30, there will be a general round table discussion based on the theme, "The Good Community Bases Its Stability on Change." The discussion will be led by Robert Blakely, chief editorial writer of the St. Louis Star-Times. Panel speakers will be State Senator Ed Long, of Bowling Green, Mo.; Irving Dilliard, an editorial writer for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and R. A. Langenbacher, former St. Charles County Agent.

Miss Jeanne Gross Is Elected Lindenwood's 1949 May Queen

Her Royal Highness

Miss Jeanne Gross, of St. Charles, a Senior, has been chosen as Lindenwood's 1949 May Queen, and will reign over the annual May fete next month. Miss Gross, who was Maid of Honor to last year's queen, was a Sophomore attendant two years ago. She is advertising manager of the Linden Bark and was a member of this year's Popularity Court.

The Maid of Honor, selected from the Junior Class, is Miss Joyce Nelson, of Moss Point, Miss. Senior attendants are Miss Mary Lou McNail, of Zeigler, Ill., and Miss Helen Sherwin, of St. Louis. Junior representatives on the court are Miss Joan Reed, of Mexico City, and Miss Bobbie Walters, of St. Louis.

The Sophomores chose as their attendants, Miss Martha Soldwedel, of Canton, Ill., and Miss Joyce Holt, of Mt. Vernon, Ill. The Freshman attendants will be Miss Shirley Hawn, of Waterloo, Iowa, and Miss Sylvia Tuller, of Wheaton, Ill.

Third Annual Radio Conference Will Set New Attendance Record

Program Will Feature Addresses by Prominent Radio Authorities and Demonstration of Production of Radio Show With Student Cast

ADVANCE registration for Lindenwood's Third Annual Radio Conference, to be held on the campus on April 29, attest the growing recognition of the college's Radio Department. A new attendance record is expected to be set this year. Last year more than 250 persons from universities and colleges in Missouri and Illinois, high schools of the St. Louis area, teachers and civic groups, attended the conference sessions.

One of the features of this year's meeting will be a "live" demonstration of the production of a radio script. The demonstration will be conducted by Ted Wescott, director of the famous radio program "The Land We Live In," and a production director of television shows for Radio Station KSD. Mr. Wescott has been associated with the radio and the theater for more than 12 years. Before coming to St. Louis he was on the staff of station WIND, WCBD and WGES in Chicago.

The script to be used in the demonstration has been written by students in the college's radio classes. On the morning of the conference student delegates from the universities and colleges of the area will be invited to try out for the cast. At the afternoon session the show will be presented in Roemer Auditorium to the delegates.

The conference will open with registration at 9 a.m. At 10 a.m. the staff of KCLC will give a breakfast honoring Miss Judith Waller, Director of Public Service of the Central Division of NBC. Miss Waller is one of the pioneers in the radio broadcasting industry and has been responsible for many radio "firsts". She is credited with the first transcontinental hookup, the first transoceanic broadcasts, the discovery of Amos and Andy, and the first broadcasts of major league baseball games. She is the author of "Radio, the Fifth Estate" and is recognized as an authority in the field of radio education.

At the morning session Miss Waller will speak on "Training for Careers in Radio."

The afternoon session will be followed by a tea dance for the delegates in Butler Gymnasium at 4:30 o'clock, sponsored by campus organizations, and by a dinner at 6 o'clock. The evening program will feature an address by a nationally known radio authority.

The conference is under the direction of Miss Martha May Boyer, head of the Radio Department, assisted by a committee of the faculty.

Jo Ann O'Flynn Reigns Over 1949 Popularity Court

Lindenwood's 1949 Popularity Queen is Miss Jo Ann O'Flynn, of Owensboro, Ky., a Senior and president of the Student Government Association. She received her crown at a dinner sponsored by the Linden Leaves on February 24.

Miss Bobbie Walters, of St. Louis, was the First Maid of Honor and Miss Suzanne Martin, of Peoria, Ill., was the Second Maid of Honor. Attendants were Miss Betty Bivens, of Pawhuska, Okla.; Miss Jean Babette Bush, of Lyons, Kan.; Miss Jeanne Gross, of St. Charles; Miss Joan Reed, of Mexico City; Miss Frances Claire Jones, of Bloomfield, Ind.; Miss Eloise Macy, of Sully, Iowa; Miss Mary Frances Morris, of Richmond, Ind.; Miss Dorothy Steiner, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Barbara Wade, of Galesburg, Ill., and Miss Marilyn Maddux, of Springfield, Mo.

Mistress of Ceremonies at the dinner was Miss Jane Foust, of Owensboro, Ky., editor of the Linden Leaves.

John Middents, of the Art Department, had three of his lithographs chosen for exhibition in the Hoosier Art Salon in Indiana recently.

Denver Alumnae Luncheon

Mrs. Reed Awards Prizes to Clothing Design Winners

First prize in the fashion design class of Mme. Helene Lyolene for the first semester has been awarded to Miss Jayne Collins, of Tiller, Ark. The prize is $15. All of the prizes were given by Mrs. James A. Reed, an alumna of Lindenwood.

Second prize of $10 went to Miss Bertha Chun, of Honolulu and third prize of $5 to Miss Lorraine Klockenbrink, of Kirkwood, Mo. First honorable mention was given to Miss Joyce Miles, of Saginaw, Mich.; second honorable mention to Miss Beverly Pannell, of Aurora, Mo.; third honorable mention to Miss Nancy Darnall, of Illiopolis, Ill., and fourth honorable mention to Miss Della Alexander, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Modern Language Tables Add Spice to Dining Room

"Please pass the potatoes" is a request that is never heard at six of the tables in the dining room in Ayres Hall. It is not because the students are on a diet. Instead it is because the girls are putting into practice conversational lessons in French, Spanish or German.

Recently the Department of Modern Languages organized the six tables at which only foreign languages are spoken. There are two tables for each language. The presence of some of Lindenwood's foreign students helps encourage the table conversation and members of the faculty join in the discussions.

Lindenwood Art Students Exhibit in St. Louis Art Show

Six students of the Fine Arts Department had paintings chosen for the annual exhibit of the Artists Guild of St. Louis in February. They are Miss Helen Ray, Miss Marie Koch, Miss Dolores Moore, Miss Beverly Pannell, Miss Barbara Hueftle, and Miss Ardis Schrik.

Miss Ray and Miss Koch, with Miss Jane Foust and Miss Dorothy Walker exhibited paintings and lithographs at the national Kappa Pi show at Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Visitors in Los Angeles

News From and About Members of the Class of 1937

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

TWELVE years ago the members of the class of 1937 received their degrees. The following members have answered our inquiries as to what they have been doing since that time:

Marguerite Raymer (Mrs. William Page Woodson), 2509 East "A", Torrington, Wyoming: "After leaving Lindenwood, I spent a year studying costume design. The following year I worked as a designer in a Decatur, Ill., garment factory. While there, I met my husband-to-be, and we were married in Effingham, Ill. (my home) in February 1940. Gracie Lou Arnold was my maid-of-honor, and Maurice Parker Steis, class of '21, was organist. In April 1941, our daughter, Jean arrived. In 1945, we moved out to Wyoming, where my husband is manager of the local Coca-Cola Bottling Co. I believe I'm a typical homemaker—participating in some church and school work, Jr. Woman's Club, two bridge clubs — and our latest recreation is a square dancing club! Would so love to see the rest of the class again. Torrington is on a good route to Yellowstone and the Black Hills, so don't forget to look us up on your Western vacations. We adore having guests!"

Thelma Riske (Mrs. George Ludwig), 604 Jackson St., St. Charles: "After leaving Lindenwood in 1937, I worked in the Research Department at Famous-Barr Company in St. Louis, for three years. I left there to work in the personnel department of Fraser-Brace Construction Company who were building a TNT plant for Atlas Powder Co., at Weldon Spring, Mo. In February 1941 I was married to George Ludwig. He is now in the U. S. Navy Reserve and is stationed at Lambert Field in St. Louis. We have a little girl, Judith Dean, who is now 5 years old. I am hoping she will want to go to Lindenwood, too."

Alma Reitz, 8038 Watkins Drive, Clayton, Mo.: "When I was graduated from Lindenwood, I went on to Washington University and received a Master's Degree in English the next year. From there I took a teaching position in the city of Berkeley in St. Louis County and taught English for all four classes, helped edit a year book, and coached a glee club and school plays for two years. From the day I left Lindenwood until September 1940, I spent all my summers working for the Shell Oil Company in their Touring Service Bureau. The public contact was most enjoyable and when Shell closed its local office I took a job with Sears, Roebuck as a clerk in the Personnel Office. For the past six and one-half years, I've been Personnel Manager there. The work combines all the things I like, as there are hundreds of people to see, employes to train and supervise, reports to write, and a thousand miscellaneous items to follow up. Every now and then a Lindenwood girl finds her way in and then things have to wait until our talking is done. At present I'm looking forward to a visit later in the spring with my old roommate, Mary Ruth Tyler-Beaman who is living in Europe."

Evelyn Coker (Mrs. Frederick W. Fisher), R.R.3, Box 10-A, Wapakoneta, Ohio: "I'm married to the vice-president of the Fisher Dairy and Cheese Co. here in Wapakoneta, twelve miles north of Lima, Ohio. We have three children, Stephen, 6, Joy Carol, 3, and Eric, 2. We have built a lovely new country home on seven acres of hilly, wooded land, and live busy, happy lives, taking part in as many civic activities as we can manage. My husband manages the production of two plants, which make both natural and processed (loaf) cheese. I hope that our daughter will someday elect to go to Lindenwood because her mother loves it so well."

Helen Keithly (Mrs. Paul T. Markham), 1627 Grant Road, Webster Groves, Mo.: "After leaving Lindenwood, I attended a business school, then taught for a year in the Alton Vocational School, in Alton, Ill. In July of 1938 I married Paul Markham, a photographic illustrator. We lived in St. Louis four years, then moved to Arlington, Va., where my husband served as Major in the Air Corps in Washington, D.C. After three years of army life we came back to St. Louis where my husband opened his own studio. We lived in O'Fallon, Mo., until a few months ago when we bought a home in Webster Groves. Linda Kay is our busy 8 years old who helps keep our life full of surprises. I have been interested and active in 4-H and Extension work, P.T.A., D.A.R., and several social clubs. It's such fun to read about classmates and I would love to hear from all of you."

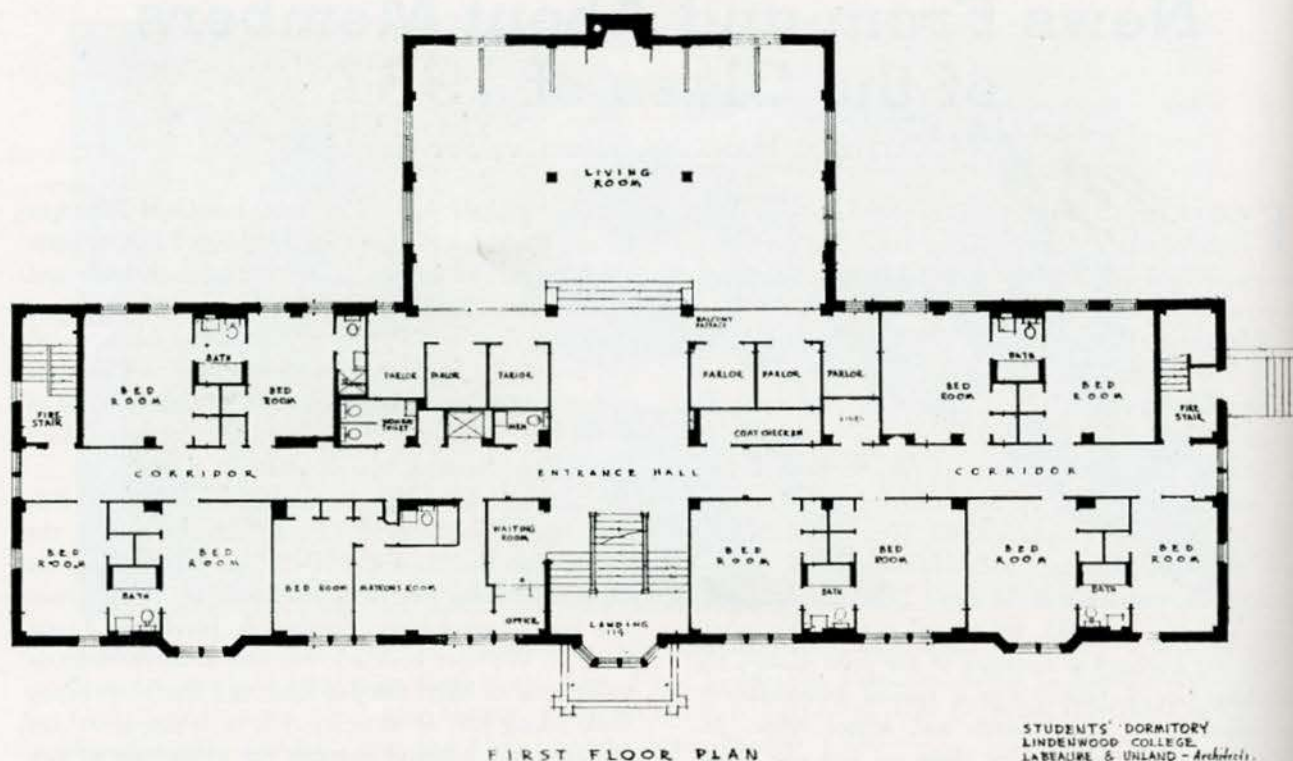

Dorothy Green (Mrs. Tom C. Grant), 4500 N.E. Sixty-third St., Oklahoma City, Okla.: "I am very busy with my two children. I have a girl, Julie, 8 years old, and a boy, Tommy, who is 9 months old."

Grace Stevenson, 501 Magnolia Ave., Bakersfield, Calif.: "I am working now as a statistical clerk and psychometrist in the Kern County Union High School District and Bakersfield College testing and group guidance office. I operate the school IBM machine

Floor Plan of New Residence Hall

Here is the floor plan of the first floor of the new residence hall now under construction on the campus. The blueprint shows the large living lounge at the rear of this floor, which will be surrounded by a number of date parlors. The roof of the living lounge will be a sun deck. It will be noted that all of the bed rooms in this hall have connecting baths.

which grades the objective test papers — then make tabulations and correlations of the results. My boss teaches classes in Orientation, Psychology, and Philosophy, and I grade his test papers and term themes. We also keep all the school aptitude, interest and personality test records for the college. It all makes me wish I had had more commercial training than three semesters of beginning typing.”

Virginia Wilkerson (Mrs. James E. McNeil), 820½ W. Third St., Sedalia, Mo.: “I was at home from graduation until 1945 when I married. During the war years I tried to do my bit by helping my father run our farm. With all the men at war and help scarce, the variety of things I learned to do was quite overwhelming. In August 1945, I married James McNeil and we finished out his Army career together in South Carolina. We are back in Sedalia. We have no children but keep busy with all the things that make up life in a small town. Right now, I’m president of our branch of A. A. U. W. and we are very busy preparing for the State Convention which is to be held here this spring. Hope to see lots of Lindenwood girls in Sedalia then.”

Anna Marie Kistner (Mrs. Fred L. Alexander),

330 West Tiffin St., Fostoria, Ohio: “One of my graduation gifts was a trip to Mexico where I spent five months with my uncle and his family. After this good rest it was time for me to get busy. I continued my study of violin and did some private teaching, and eventually went to work for the government at Weldon Spring, Mo., where I met the young engineer, Fred Alexander, whom I married in 1941. Fred went into the army, serving on the Atomic Research Staff at Columbia University. We were in New York for eighteen months. I found New York interesting and very exciting and did my bit for the war effort selling war bonds at the Chase National Bank, Wall St. Branch. In 1945 we went to Oak Ridge, Tenn., and in 1946 Fred was discharged. Our next move was to Cleveland, Ohio where my husband accepted a position in the Research Laboratories of National Carbon Co. While there I was affiliated with the YWCA and was active in organizing “Newcomer Clubs” and also worked in the Junior Canteens. We were transferred to Fostoria in 1947. I am teaching violin in the public schools, have a large class of private pupils and am continuing my musical studies in Toledo. I play some for church, club and private affairs and am active in the Women’s Club and the Community Concert Series work. Our latch string is out for any who should chance to come our way.”

Girl of the Month

UPON graduating from Lindenwood in 1938 with a major in chemistry and a minor in Latin, Miss Mary Elizabeth Jolley has changed her field of interest from chemistry to social work. For one and one-half years after graduation she sought employment and simultaneously participated in volunteer group work as a Girl Scout troop leader, a teen-age drama group director, and a camp counselor.

From October 1939 until August 1944 Miss Jolley was employed by the State Department of Public Welfare of Missouri, inducted as a public assistance visitor in Mexico, Mo., (her home) and in New London, Mo. After one and one-half years of public welfare work with Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children and general relief recipients, she was transferred to Montgomery City, Mo., as a County Director V. The position of County Director carries the responsibility for the administration of the Public Welfare program in that county and the supervision of the employees of the state agency. Going to Harrisonville, Mo., as a County Director IV of Cass County in 1942 and later to Sikeston, Mo., in 1943, as a junior casework supervisor of a seven-county district in southeast Missouri, Miss Jolley continued in the same type of work with added responsibility. It was in August 1944 while Miss Jolley was employed in the capacity of County Director III, Dunklin County, Kennett, Mo., that she terminated her employment with the Missouri Public Welfare agency.

During her five years of social work, Miss Jolley began graduate social work study with a few courses conducted in rural, off-campus classes by the George Warren Brown School of Social Work, Washington University, St. Louis.

In the position of chemist with the Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, Miss Jolley, for the fourteen months following October 1944, engaged in the work of the toxicological research section of the medical research division of this arsenal. She carried out routine analysis of chemical warfare protective ointments and during the latter part of the period helped in determining the toxicity of certain cyanide warfare poisons by physiological experiments.

Upon the termination of the war, while awaiting a decision about her application for admittance into a graduate school of social work, Miss Jolley re-entered the social work field. She became a home finder for a children's agency and institution in New Haven, Conn., an organization that was one of the oldest children's institutions in the country. In September 1947 Miss Jolley completed the M.S.S. degree at Smith College School of Social Work at Northampton, Mass. Graduate training in social work under the Smith plan involves a continuous block of field work placement. The nine months' field work placement part of Miss Jolley's graduate training was carried out at the North New Jersey Mental Hygiene Clinic at Graystone Park, New Jersey. This closely supervised, intensive casework experience was concerned with the neurotic problems of children and adults who requested outpatient treatment at this State supported clinic. The completion of the thesis involving original research was required and as one of five Smith students, Miss Jolley completed a project entitled "Appraisal of a Clinical Pastoral Training Program; Part I, Theological Students Before and After a Clinical Training Experience." This council for clinical training theological students with quarters in the Academy of Medicine, New York City, offers training of a clinical nature to theological students and ministers throughout the entire country, training through actual supervised experience in a mental hospital, a general hospital, or a penal institution.

As a psychiatric social worker, Miss Jolley began her work experience at Winter Veterans Administration Hospital in Topeka, Kans., immediately following graduation from Smith.

The experience that Miss Jolley has known at Winter Hospital has included serving as a social worker on the Medical Service with medical and psychosomatic patients, and later on the Acute Service with veterans who are recuperating from a mental illness and are preparing to leave the hospital. At present she is working with mentally ill veterans who are receiving treatment. Casework training as an in-service program is stressed. She served as a member of the committee preparing a manual for the use of the Social Service staff. She is a member of the American Association of Psychiatric Social Workers and an active participant in the Topeka Civic Theater.
