Miss Elizabeth Watts and John Middents of the Fine Arts Department exhibited paintings at the 19th annual art exhibit at Springfield, Mo. Two Lindenwood students also had work selected for the exhibit. Miss Beverly Pannell, Aurora, Mo., exhibited an oil painting, and Miss Marie Koch, Oak Park, Ill., had a drawing in colored ink on display.

Miss Doris Banta, member of the Class of '44, and now a practicing attorney in St. Louis, spoke at the annual Citizenship Day convocation on May 5. Miss Banta was awarded the Lindenwood Fellowship and did her graduate work at Cornell University.

Members of the Linden Bark staff attended the annual convention of the Missouri College Newspaper Association at the University of Missouri on May 6. Charles C. Clayton, a member of the college's faculty was the speaker at the annual luncheon of the association.

Four delegates from Lindenwood attended the Public Affairs Conference at Principia College at Elsah, Ill. on April 29-30. The college's representatives were Marilyn Maddox, Nancy Starzl, Lorraine Peck and Mary Ellen Bemis.

Reviving a prewar custom, Lindenwood's faculty and student body enjoyed an all-day trip on the S. S. Admiral on May 25. The boat was chartered exclusively for the college for the day.

Members of Alpha Psi Omega presented their annual spring play on May 6. This year's play was "Antigone", a Greek tragedy. The play was directed by Robert Hume of the Speech and Dramatics Department.

Mrs. Fred M. Hudson, of Pocahontas, Iowa, mother of Miss Susan Hudson, a Lindenwood student, was chosen as the representative mother of the University of Iowa and was given special recognition at the university in May.

Charles C. Clayton, journalism instructor and an editorial writer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was awarded the Pall Mall prize of $500 and a news story covered by him was dramatized on the radio program, "The Big Story" on May 18.

Mrs. James A. Reed Receives Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree

Distinguished Alumna of Lindenwood Is Honored at 122nd Annual Commencement — Is Known to Millions of Women as Nelly Don

LINDENWOOD College honored one of its distinguished graduates at the 122nd annual commencement on May 30. She is Mrs. James A. Reed, a member of the Class of 1909, and known to millions of American women as Nelly Don. Mrs. Reed was presented for the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, president of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. Reed, Dr. Clarke said, "is endowed with a sense of duty and skillful fingers. During her undergraduate years at Lindenwood she was one of the best students of her class. Thirty years ago she began to give the women of America the creation of her skill in new designs for house dresses, which marked the end of the baggy garments then known as 'mother hubbards'.

"She is an artist, a capable executive, and something more. She has always remembered the human quality in her business and her relationships with her employes are among the finest in that field. With all her success, she has always remained humble of spirit. Lindenwood is honored in presenting her for the degree of Doctor of Laws."

The degree was conferred upon Mrs. Reed by Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president of the college.

It was in 1907 that Mrs. Reed, then Nell Quinlan, of Parsons, Kan., entered Lindenwood. She soon became active in campus affairs and her scholastic record in college was excellent. In 1909 she was named business manager of the Linden Leaves.

Even in those early years her talent with a needle and thread was well known on the campus, although her classmates did not foresee that she would become one of best known dress manufacturers in the world. In 1916, when she went to Kansas City as a bride, her friends began to admire the frilly washable frocks she made for herself. They suggested she could sell them. A Kansas City department store brought the first dresses she made, and quickly ordered more. Within a year the venture had grown to a factory with ten employes.

Today the Donnelly Garment Co., which she founded and still heads, makes and sells more than one million dresses a year, and the business grosses more than $12,000,000 annually. The new plant in Kansas City, completed in 1947, is said to be the largest dress manufacturing plant under one roof in the world. It furnishes employment to more than 1000 persons, with an additional 200 workers employed at a second plant at St. Joseph, Mo.

The Donnelly Garment Co. plants are not only models of efficiency and pleasant working conditions, but the company has also set an outstanding example in employe relations. About 10 years ago Mrs. Reed purchased a five-acre estate which has been turned into a country club for the exclusive use of the employes. The company pays the bills for group hospital and life insurance for the employes. Mrs. Reed's latest innovation is company-financed education. The company now pays tuition for evening courses for workers and provides scholarships for the sons and daughters of employes.

Mrs. Reed is the widow of the late United States Senator James A. Reed, who was for many years one of the leaders of the Senate.

Through the years Mrs. Reed has always maintained a loyal interest in Lindenwood and its welfare. Each year she awards the Nelly Don prizes to students in the Home Economics Department for outstanding dress designs. It is through her generosity that Mme. Helene Lyolene, noted Paris dress designer, spends several months each year on the campus as a style consultant and lecturer. Several years ago Mrs. Reed was the Alumnae Speaker at the annual dinner of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association. She is a member of the Alumnae Advisory Board of the college.

Four Lindenwood Students Participate In Washington Semester Next Year

FOUR Lindenwood Juniors will spend a semester in residence in Washington, D. C. next fall, as the college's representatives in the Washington Semester plan of the American University in the national capital. Lindenwood is one of seven universities and colleges which participate in the Washington Semester.

The college's representatives next fall will be Miss Mary Ella Bemis, Cornell, Ill.; Miss Jean Callis, Sedalia, Mo.; Miss Martha Ann Reid, Carrollton, Mo., and Miss Gretchen Schnurr, Otho, Iowa.

Last fall, the first year of the college's participation in the plan, three students spent a semester in residence at the American University. They were Miss Lorraine Peck, Troy, Ohio; Miss Miriam Reilly, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Miss Betty Jo Littleton, Miami, Okla. Dr. Alice E. Gipson was the college's representative on the faculty.

The Washington Semester is designed to provide students with the opportunity for study in the fields of the political sciences, public administration, economics and international affairs.

Miss Eldredge Represents College at Illinois Inauguration

Miss Edith E. Eldredge, Class of '32, and a member of the faculty of the Ottawa, Ill., High School, represented Lindenwood at the inauguration of Dr. Leslie A. Holmes as president of the Northern Illinois State Teachers College at De Kalb, Ill., on May 13.

Book on Alexander Pope Published by Dr. Sibley

Dr. Agnes Sibley, of the English Department, is the author of "Alexander Pope's Prestige in America", published by the Columbia University Press. The book was written as her dissertation for her Doctor of Philosophy degree at Columbia University.

St. Charles Lindenwood Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Francis Rauch (Kathleen Pieper) was elected vice president of the St. Charles Lindenwood Club at the May meeting of the club. Miss Marjorie Abeling was named treasurer. The terms of Mrs. Robert Beste, Jr. (Helen Culbertson), president, and Miss Lois Hachtmeyer, secretary, continue for another year.

More than 50 members attended the meeting and heard a book review by George Null, a member of the St. Charles School Board.

Mrs. W. W. Parkinson, wife of William W. Parkinson of Lindenwood's faculty, spoke on "A Woman's View of Europe Today" at a meeting of the St. Charles Lindenwood Club on May 23 in the Library Club Room on the campus. This was the last meeting until fall.

Miss Sara Malone Now Heads Washington Lindenwood Club

The Washington Lindenwood Club, organized last spring during a visit to the national capital of Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer, held a luncheon meeting at the Willard Hotel on April 19. Mrs. Albert Lucke (Ruth Lucille Correa) has moved from Washington and the club named Miss Sara Malone, the vice president to succeed her. Mrs. W. E. Bauer (Madaline John) was elected vice president.

Lindenwood Senior Wins Script Writing Prize

Miss Ruth Ann Ball, of Neosho, Mo., a Senior, was awarded first prize in the Second Annual Radio Script Writing Contest of the Association for Education by Radio. The prize of $25 was awarded for her 30-minute dramatic adaptation of the life of Sacajawea, an Indian.

Citizen Apathy Is Greatest Danger Of America Kazmayer Tells Graduates

Seventy-one Students Receive Degrees, Certificates and Diplomas at 122nd Annual Commencement on May 30—Dr. Raymond I. Lindquist Preaches Baccalaureate Sermon

SEVENTY-ONE graduates received degrees, certificates and diplomas at the 122nd annual commencement of Lindenwood College on May 30. They were presented by Dr. Eunice Roberts, dean of the faculty and the degrees were conferred by Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president. In addition, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Mrs. James A. Reed, an alumna of Lindenwood.

The commencement exercises, held at 10 a.m. on the lawn in front of historic Sibley Hall, climaxed a full week-end of activity on the campus. The day's program began with a prayer meeting of the Seniors with Dr. McCluer at 7:15 o'clock in Roemer Auditorium. At 8 o'clock there was a breakfast for the Seniors, their families and the faculty on the Archery Range. The commencement program opened with the academic procession, which formed in front of Roemer Hall.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, president of the college's Board of Directors and pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in St. Louis. Music for the program was provided by the Lindenwood College Choir under the direction of Milton Rehg, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Harry T. Scherer, a member of the Board of Directors and pastor of the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church.

The commencement address was delivered by Robert Kazmayer, of New York City, a news commentator and author. His subject was: "Citizenship in a Democracy Today."

"The greatest single factor in the world picture is not Russia, but the United States," Kazmayer told the graduates. The paramount question is whether or not we of the United States are going to be externally strong enough to stand behind what we stand for, and internally sound enough to cover our commitments with power, not only today but over a period of twenty years.

"Our dangers are subtle and psychological. Increasingly over large areas of our United States and permeating large strata of our society, there is the feeling that in this country, everyone can do less and less work, collect more and more pay for the work that is not done, and that the nation can grow stronger as we do it.

"A second danger in our national life is a weakening sense of citizenship responsibility. Today one questions whether the mass of the people do think for themselves, stand on their own two feet, and recognize the relationship between cause and effect. Rather one feels that every election issue is decided on the basis of 'what's in it for me?'

"The real danger lies not in Washington, but at the grass roots. Governments have always tended to usurp more and more power. That is why eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. The real danger lies in the millions who are apathetic. Democracy is going by default. Men and women are being promised by their government things which government cannot deliver. Lulled into a false security by these promises, men are exchanging their liberties, their initiative, their dignity, their heritage as free men, for a bunch of theories, most of which are imported from countries which are already dependent upon the United States for support.

"It is not the Communist under every bed that America has to worry about. It is the deadhead in the bed. Much of the trouble with America lies with us, the millions of us who shirk our political responsibility. Change the political atmosphere of the United States and Washington will change.

"You who are here today have the honor of belonging to a generation whose lips are going to be touched with fire. The world is passing through a truly great crisis. We have a very few years more before the end of the world—or before the dawn of a brighter day than mankind has so far even dared to imagine. When you are old, however, memory will bring these days back to you. I hope you will be able to say, those were great days. The world in that crisis called for volunteers and I answered. I gave of my best, I labored unsparingly, forever hopefully that I might be worthy of my generation, of my country, and of my God."

The baccalaureate sermon was preached on Sunday, May 29, by the Rev. Dr. Raymond I. Lindquist, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, N. J. Dr. Lindquist took as his theme, "The Educated Person in the World Today."

Sunday afternoon the Seniors and their guests attended a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. McCluer. Saturday night, May 28, the annual dinner of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association was held in Ayres Hall. Mrs. Cornelia Stumberg, president of the association, presided. Members of the graduating class were formally inducted into membership.

Three Seniors Receive Lindenwood Graduate Fellowships

Winners Announced at Commencement Are Helen Ray, Miriam Reilly and Elizabeth Keighley—Two Seniors Are Graduated "With Distinction"

THREE members of the Class of '49 were announced at the college's 122nd annual commencement as the winners of Lindenwood Fellowships for graduate study. They are: Miss Helen Ray, Hayti, Mo.; Miss Miriam Reilly, Bayard, New Mexico, and Miss Elizabeth Keighley, Gary, Ind. The fellowships are valued at $300 each.

The awards are made on the basis of distinguished work in the student's chosen field of concentration, high character, outstanding contributions in extra-curricular activities, and the conviction that the student is capable of doing a high quality of graduate work.

Miss Ray, who majored in art, received a bachelor of arts degree. She will study at the University of Iowa.

Miss Reilly majored in sociology and received a bachelor of arts degree. She has also been given a graduate assistantship at the University of North Carolina, where she will do her graduate work in sociology.

Miss Keighley majored in education and received a bachelor of science degree. She plans to continue her work in education at the University of Chicago.

Two members of the Senior Class were graduated "with distinction", a new scholastic honor given for the

Final Installment of Roll Call Of the Class of 1937

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

THIS month we present the final installment of the roll call of the Class of 1937:

Dorothy Ervin (Mrs. Roy M. Horn, Jr.), 300 S. 11th St., Longview, Texas: "The summer of 1937 was my first real step into the business world. I started work for Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., doing everything a "green horn" does for almost a year. In 1939 I was transferred to Phillips, Texas (exclusively an oil town) and enjoyed every minute of Panhandle dust storms and terrific winters. In 1941 I was put in charge of clerical work for a division of the Gasoline Department. Many young men were then being taken into the service, so my job was triple in responsibility and in actual work to be turned out. Marriage interrupted all this in the fall of '41, and in '42 our daughter was born. We joined my husband in San Diego, Calif. Roy has been with Consolidated Vultee Aircraft since 1942. We were transferred to Longview in 1945, and we are making our home here, permanent, we hope. Our daughter, Kathryn, is in the first grade, and I am planning on sending her to Lindenwood."

Kathryn Hope Ackerman (Mrs. Glen B. Henry, Jr.), 408 Sixth Ave., Shreveport, Ia.: "After my graduation from Lindenwood, I was employed by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Kansas City. I left there in 1942 to be married and live in Fort Worth, where Glen was with Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp., and where I had the double duty of learning to be a "Texan" and a housewife at the same time. At the present time, Glen is in Shreveport, La., opening his own business, and Janet Kay (our three-year-old) and I are in Kansas City waiting for him to solve our particular housing shortage."

Mary Louise Wetzell (Mrs. F. G. Williams, Jr.), 523 Bellaire St., Carthage, Mo.: "For two years I taught a third grade in one of the Springfield, Mo. schools. During the early summer of 1939 I attended Business School in Springfield and moved to Kansas City that fall with my family. I spent six years as a secretary in various offices. Two years of that time were spent in the Kansas City Medical Depot which was very interesting work. I also did Red Cross work with the Blood Bank and Canteen Corps., and U.S.O. work during the war years. On May 23, 1945 I was married to a boy I had gone with during high school days after he returned from two and a half years in the European theater. We were stationed at Mitchel Field, N. Y., for the remainder of the war. In the fall of 1945 we returned to Carthage where we have made our home ever since. We have two little boys, David Michael, born on the Fourth of July, 1946, and Bruce Kilborn, born on November 7, 1948."

Mary Ruth Tyler (Mrs. Chester E. Beaman), c/o Chester E. Beaman, Chief, Employee Utilization Section, Headquarters, BUCOM (P&A), APO 403, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y. "After graduation, I worked with the St. Louis Chapter, and later Midwest Branch office, American Red Cross, until 1942 at which time I resigned to accept a Federal position. I was assigned to several Ordinance installations in mid-west U.S.A. from May 1942 until April 1945 when I was transferred as the first civilian woman the War Department sent to the European Theater of Occupation to be engaged in civilian personnel administration in Paris, France until the end of the war, when I was transferred to Frankfurt, Germany. I consider my overseas experience priceless; the work itself was highly challenging since the establishment of a Civilian Personnel Program in occupied areas in Europe was a new project, and the problems of pioneering in any field are always stimulating and interesting. I returned to Europe in August 1946 after a brief temporary recruiting assignment in Washington, D.C. which ultimately resulted in my marriage on November 8, 1947. You see, one of the people I met, interviewed and approved for employment was Chester Beaman who went to Europe to become chief of Classification and Wage Administration. I went to the U.S. in October 1946 and a year later, shortly after Mr. Beaman's return to America we were married in St. Louis. We were both enrolled

Girl of the Month

MISS CATHERINE ORR of Milwaukee, Wis., is the Girl of the Month in June.

After being graduated in 1930 with an A.B. Degree, Miss Orr sold life insurance under her father's direction. After his death in the following year, she taught in a small high school for three years, teaching mathematics and French.

Circumstances during 1934 changed her career. During vacation time, she procured a job with the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, and what she thought would be a temporary field of work has stretched into sixteen years of social work.

She came to Wisconsin and the Children's Service Society in 1936. This agency is a private, non-sectarian, state-wide children's agency. It helps children who are dependent, neglected, illegitimate, and those with behavior problems. For four years she was the district worker in the Wausau office with direct responsibility for the work with the children, parents, and home finding, both boarding and adoptive homes. In 1940, she went to Milwaukee in a supervisory capacity, becoming the Adoption Supervisor in 1945. She also supervises the workers in the Eau Claire and Wausau districts, which combined territories cover counties in the northern part of the state.

Several leaves of absence made it possible for her to obtain her master's degree in social work in 1944 from the New York School of Social Work affiliated with Columbia University.

Her present job is a challenging one since an agency doing adoptive placements as one of its functions assumes great responsibility. The goal in placing a child is to approximate as nearly as possible natural family relationships. An adoption placement is a complicated multiple process involving case work with the natural parents, the study of the child and the study of the adoptive applicants. One of her particular jobs is to do the preliminary choosing of the homes for a child. She usually suggests two homes as they have many more families wanting children than they have children for placement. They then have placement conferences when the workers who have known the mother, child and adoptive families present the material on background information, medical and psychological reports, etc. They then discuss which family will best meet the needs of this particular child. The next step is the actual placement of the child. Miss Orr does a great deal of this or works closely with the worker.

In-service training of the staff in this area of placement and supervision in adoptive homes is also her responsibility, which is accomplished through individual and staff conferences. Committee participation both within the staff, the Council of Social Agencies, and professional organizations is part of the job.

Last summer she led an institute on Adoption Procedures at the University of Wisconsin under the auspices of its Extension Division and the State Department of Public Welfare.

At this time, her job is a specialized one in the agency and adoption is only a part of the service to some of their children. The majority are in boarding homes for temporary care and they will eventually return to their own homes. The Children's Service Society of Wisconsin gives service to approximately 700 children per year and places on an average, 75 in adoptive homes.

Miss Orr says she heartily recommends social work as a profession, where there are many opportunities in social case work, group work and community organization.

We congratulate her on her success in this wonderful field of helping children.

Three Students Win Recognition in Atlantic Monthly Contest

Three Lindenwood students won recognition in the annual Atlantic Monthly College Contest. In the short story division, Miss Jane Hall, De Witt, Ark., and Miss Remedios Rodriguez, of Manila, Philippine Islands, were given top rating, which meant that their entries were among the best 26 submitted from over the nation. In the essay division, Miss Janet Neilson, Oklahoma City, Okla., received a merit rating.

in the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Phoenix, Ariz., supposedly preparatory to going to Latin America with a private industry. Instead, in July 1948, in reply to a request for Mr. Beaman to become chief, Employee Utilization in Europe, we found ourselves happily settled in a lovely home in picturesque Student-Prince-Setting, Heidelberg, Germany, where life took on new charm for me, that of a housewife. My husband's work has required considerable travel into France and Germany and I have been privileged to accompany him on many of his trips. At the moment, I'm writing this in beautiful Vienna, Austria, where we are spending a week. It is most gratifying to note the improvement in all phases of activity as compared with the degenerate, seemingly hopeless ruins of Europe in 1945 and 1946. Now, people look better fed and clothed; rubble is being cleared away; reconstruction is continuing; there is merchandise in store windows; transportation is being restored; art objects have been returned to museums; cathedral windows replaced; concerts and operas are well attended. Europe is getting on its feet. Of course, there is still a long way to go—many international political, social, economic problems are yet to be solved, but life for all people is improving—slowly. And now as proof that contacts made in college are lasting. My former roommate, Alma Reitz, is coming to visit us in April at which time we plan to see as much of Europe as time will permit. We'll drive to Rome, stop at the French Riviera, see some of Switzerland, and during her thirty days with us in Germany we plan to comb the country side for sights and experiences of interest. I wish it were possible for a reunion of the class of '37 to be held at the Beamans' in Heidelberg."

Wilda Wise (Mrs. Wallace R. Stacey), 4534a Gibson Ave., St. Louis: "After leaving Lindenwood in June 1937, I taught Home Economics and Latin in my home town. I then came to St. Louis to work for the Federal Food and Drug Administration. In 1944 I was married to my childhood sweetheart, who at that time was studying medicine at Washington University. Our first child, Christopher, was born in New Orleans, La. After my husband's release from the Army we returned to St. Louis where he is taking specialized training in Obstetrics and Gynecology. Our fond hope is to have a baby girl who will, some day, be enrolled at Lindenwood."

Eleanor Hibbard (Mrs. James L. Gabriel), 1106 Williams St., Richland, Wash.: "After leaving Lindenwood, I was married in the fall of 1937, and can easily say I've never since had a dull moment. Since my husband is an engineer, we have moved from one construction job to another in the western part of the United States, but now find ourselves settled in the war-built "Atomic-city" of Richland, Wash. Since we came in the early construction days of 1943, it has been fascinating watching a city grow around us. Our three children, Stanford, 10, Anne, 9, and Donald, 7, keep me busy with such activities as P.T.A., and Cub and Brownie Scouts. We also, on days off, spend much time camping, fishing and shooting in the "great Northwest". A sideline is raising Cocker Spaniel pups. During the war, my husband participated in war work by joining the Civil Air Patrol, and both of us are still pilots in the C.A.P. (Imagine a Major and a First Lieutenant—myself—in one family?) Next to receiving the Christmas Story prize as a freshman, the day I received my pilot's license was one of the most exciting. All three children are as much at home in a plane as in the automobile."

Margaret Dean Crain (Mrs. Scott George), Navy 3930, Box 45-6, FPO, San Francisco, Calif.: "In 1939 I married Scott George. Scott continued his graduate work at Vanderbilt University after we were married and received his Ph.D. in English in 1943, just five months after the birth of our daughter, Lois Margaret. He taught at Vanderbilt during that summer and then entered the army. While he was overseas, Lois Margaret and I went home to Paducah, Ky., where I taught English in high school. Upon Scott's return to the United States, he entered the Foreign Service of the United States (Department of State) and was appointed vice consul at the Consulate General in Taipei, Formosa. We have been here for a year and a half and find it very interesting. A Foreign Service Officer can expect to spend from two to three years at each post, so we will probably be back home in 1950 for a short vacation before being assigned to another place."

Katherine Morton (Mrs. Roy F. Nelson), Route 1, St. Joseph, Mo.: "George will be 7 in May; Jane is 5; Morton, 3, and Johnny, 11 months—that is the biggest part of the story. Before my husband and family, there was a year in the School of Library Service at Columbia University with a year before and after that in the public library system in my home town of St. Joseph. But back to the present, we live in the country—Roy being a farmer—and find it a satisfying life. We have cattle, hogs, a few chickens, a horse, dogs, cats, an occasional rat, fox, wolf, skunk, possum and if we're lucky when we're looking out of the window with the field glasses, a jack rabbit. The most exciting recent addition to our wild life family is a pair of beavers. It seems a little startling to realize the girls I met when I first came to Lindenwood I now have known half my life. I cherish the memory of Lindenwood days and of those who made them so pleasant. Greetings to all."

Marjorie Hickman (Mrs. Clifford E. Drozda, Jr.), 5579 Bartmer Ave., St. Louis: "Cliff and I were married May 3, 1939 and now have three children, Clifford III, 8 years old, Marjorie, 5, and Jimmie, 3. Their activities don't seem to allow much time for too many of my own. However, I do see my St. Louis L. C. friends quite frequently."

Ruth Pinnell, 237 Henry Clay Blvd., Lexington, Ky.: "I have been extremely busy and frequently on the move since I left Lindenwood. I received the Master of Music degree from the University of Illinois in 1941. From there I embarked upon my teaching career, which took me to Yankton College in Yankton, S. Dak., for two years, Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., for three years, and now the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Ky., where my official capacity is Instructor in Voice. Along with teaching I am doing a lot of singing at the university, as well as in concerts and oratorios in this section of Kentucky. In recent years I have also spent some time in New York City taking lessons and keeping up with musical activities in general. Now I am about to make another move, which I hope will be the last for some time. I have accepted an appointment to the faculty of the School of Music at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., where I will go in September of this year as Assistant Professor in Voice. Greetings to all of my Lindenwood friends."

Of the 55 members in the class of 1937 there were 29 who failed to acknowledge the requests for news of themselves. One member, Margaret Aloise Bartholomew (Mrs. Curtis A. Hester), is deceased. Can anybody write us the address of Elizabeth Mary Boles (Mrs. Fillmore K. Mearns)?

The following letter from a member of the class of 1934 was received too late to be included in the class roll call:

Kathleen Breit (Mrs. Adrian Upchurch), 4923 Wateka Drive, Dallas 9, Texas: "After graduation, I taught two years in Little Rock, Ark. In 1936 I was married. We lived in Johnson City, Tenn., Anderson, S. C., and finally settled in Dallas in 1941. While my husband was in the Army, I returned to my home in Little Rock and worked as a Government Inspector at the Arkansas Ordinance Plant. Since the war, we have returned to Dallas, and it was the usual sad story—we had to buy a house to have a place to live. My husband is in the motion picture theatre business, which, to me, seems more fun than work. We see all the pictures months before release date at private screenings. There is always some exciting entertainment going on, on "Film Row." Our main interest now is our 9-month-old daughter, who is really president of our household."

Marjorie Moehlenkamp Is Finalist in Music Contest

Miss Marjorie Moehlenkamp, of St. Charles, a member of the Class of '49, was chosen as one of the three vocalists in the St. Louis area to compete in the national music contest sponsored by the magazine "Music News", and the Metropolitan School of Music in Chicago. Miss Moehlenkamp is a coloratura soprano.

The winner of the contest will receive a $1000 scholarship to the music school of the winner's choice.
