Around the Lindenwood Campus

Work on the first issue of Lindenwood's new literary magazine, "Peter Pan," is nearly completed. Publication is scheduled for April, with the initial issue containing 64 pages. Miss Marie Koch has designed the cover and is in charge of the inside illustrations.

There are nine new students on the campus for the second semester. Five states are represented by the new arrivals, including New York, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri and Illinois.

Miss Martha Reid, of Carrollton, Mo., was crowned Queen of Hearts at the Valentine Dance on February 12 in Butler Gymnasium. Her attendants were Miss Carolyn Furnish, of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Nancy Doran, of Eagle, Colo.

The fifth annual Gridiron Dinner of the Press Club will be held in Ayres Hall on March 16. Miss Dorothy Steiner is in charge of the Skits Committee.

The Student Christian Association's auction for the World Student Service Fund recently raised $927. Some of the money will be sent to the national headquarters and the remainder will be used for a scholarship for a foreign student at Lindenwood next year.

One hundred and twenty students are listed on the Dean's scholastic honor roll for the first semester. To earn a place on the honor roll the student must have at least an S average.

Dr. George E. Sweazey, a member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker at Lindenwood during Religious Emphasis Week, observed this year from February 6 to 10. Miss Nancy Bailey was chairman of the committee in charge of the week's program.

Work on the 1949 Linden Leaves is progressing rapidly. The annual subscription sale was completed in January.

An innovation on the campus this year was a college-wide bridge tournament, held in February and sponsored by the Student Government Association. The winners of the student play will meet the victors of the faculty tournament this month.

Lindenwood will have a candidate again this year for queen of the St. Louis Flower Show, to be held March 18. The college's candidate will be selected by a vote of the student body.

Many Contributions Received To Lindenwood Alumnae Fund

Mrs. Cordelia Stumberg Urges All Alumnae Who Have Not Yet Sent in Their Contributions to Help Reach Year's Goal of $10,000

MANY contributions to the Lindenwood Alumnae Fund have already been received. The Lindenwood Alumnae Association has set its goal for the year at $10,000 and subscriptions are sought from both individuals and alumnae clubs.

One of the purposes for which the money is to be used, it is pointed out by Mrs. Cordelia Stumberg, of St. Charles, president of the association, is to provide assistance to Lindenwood's foreign students. Contributions may be specifically designated for this purpose, if desired. Alumnae clubs throughout the country are raising money for the funds by a variety of activities, and alumnae in other cities are now organizing so they can join in raising a portion of the fund.

Additional subscriptions are needed, Mrs. Stumberg emphasizes, if the association is to attain its goal. Contributions should be sent direct to the Alumnae Fund in care of the college.

A partial list of friends and alumnae who have contributed follows:

Gayle Armstrong, Doris Banta, Mrs. Kenneth M. Barklage, Louise A. Barrow, Aimee Becker, Mrs. D. O. Bennett, Mrs. Allan Bond, Mrs. Vernon H. Branneky, Mrs. H. J. Civic Leaders to Address College's Community Conference

First Annual Regional Workshop on Community Leadership to Be Held on Campus on April 29-30 Under Direction of Paul Greer

CIVIC leaders from eastern Missouri and the bordering counties of Illinois will lead the discussion groups at the regional conference on "Community Leadership," to be held on the campus on April 29 and 30. Invitations to attend the two-day meeting have been sent to civic groups and students of the colleges and universities of the area.

The conference is under the direction of Paul Greer, a member of Lindenwood's faculty. "Adjustment to peace-time conditions has encouraged the desire among citizens of small American communities to consider the solution of civic and social problems," he points out. "Decisions close at hand in their own communities may have to do with such matters as health, delinquency, and the tensions that beset the American way of life."

Following registration on Friday morning, April 29, the opening session will be a joint meeting with the delegates attending the third annual Radio Conference on the campus, at 11 a.m. in Roemer Auditorium. At this meeting the speaker will be Leonard Hall, noted columnist of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who will discuss "Listening In, R.F.D." The interest of Mr. Hall, who lives on Possum Trot farm near Caledonia, Mo., was evoked by the theme of the conference, which is that no community ends at the city limits, but must include in its planning the surrounding countryside.

Four discussion groups will begin their sessions after a luncheon. A panel on "Community Health" will be led by Miss Gwen Goodrich, former field secretary of the Co-Operative Health Federation of America, and now a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. A participant in this panel will be Dr. C. E. Lively of the University of Missouri.

A round table on "Community Recreation" will be conducted by Fred Naeter, publisher of the Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian. Delegates from Moberly, Poplar Bluff, Mexico and Jennings will participate in this discussion.

"Growing Pains" will be the subject of a third discussion led by Dr. Homer Clevenger of Lindenwood's faculty, who is also Mayor of St. Charles. The fourth session will be on "Community Tensions" and will be led by Henry F. Chadeayne, of St. Louis, who will introduce the speaker, L. M. White, publisher of the Mexico Ledger.

The plan of informal group discussion, resembling the old New England town meetings, is designed to

Dr. and Mrs. McCluer Meet West Coast Alumnae

Late in February President and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer traveled to the Pacific Coast to get acquainted with Lindenwood alumnae in that area. In Los Angeles on February 18, the Los Angeles Club gave a dinner in their honor at the University Club. There were 110 persons at the dinner, at which Miss Alma Kinkade, a former president of the Los Angeles Teachers Association, presided. Both Dr. and Mrs. McCluer addressed the club.

Officers of the club are: Miss Helen L. Rakestraw, president; Mrs. Paul Ellis, vice president; Mrs. Conn Gertmenian, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Florence Golden, corresponding secretary.

In San Francisco on February 21, there were 31 alumnae who greeted Dr. and Mrs. McCluer at a luncheon at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. A formal organization was effected, and after an address by Dr. McCluer, officers were elected as follows: Mrs. William J. Lawrence, president; Miss Lavone A. Hanna, vice president, and Mrs. A. C. Hunt, Jr., secretary-treasurer. The club will meet on the third Saturday of each month.

On February 24 at the Cosmopolitan Hotel in Denver, 61 alumnae were present to greet Dr. and Mrs. McCluer. A Denver Lindenwood Club was organized with the following officers: Mrs. George L. Caman, president; Miss Phyllis Verploeg, vice president, and Miss Cornelia Achelpohl, secretary-treasurer. The club will meet monthly.

National Radio Figures To Headline Third National Radio Conference

Miss Judith Waller, Director of Public Service of NBC, to Discuss Training for Careers in Radio—Ted Westcott, Radio Producer, Will Demonstrate Production Techniques

NATIONALLY known radio personalities will headline the Third Annual Radio Conference at Lindenwood College on April 29. Plans for the conference, now being completed under the direction of Miss Martha May Boyer, Head of the Radio Department, include an address by Miss Judith Waller, Director of Public Service, Central Division, of the National Broadcasting Company; a demonstration of production techniques by Ted Westcott, director of "The Land We Live In" and a director of production in television for Station KSD; and an address by another national radio authority.

Last year more than 250 persons from universities and colleges in the St. Louis area, high schools of the area, teachers and civic groups attended the conference. It is expected that the registration for this year's conference will set a new attendance record.

Miss Waller is one of the pioneers in the radio broadcasting industry, and has been responsible for many radio "firsts." She is credited with the first transcontinental hookup, the first transoceanic broadcasts, the discovery of Amos and Andy and the first broadcasts of major league baseball games.

She was one of the first leaders in the field of radio education and is a central figure in the development of the Radio Institute, conducted for many years by NBC in cooperation with Northwestern University. She is the author of "Radio, The Fifth Estate." Her headquarters are now in Chicago.

Mr. Westcott has been associated with the radio and the theater for more than 12 years. He was a staff announcer in Chicago for stations WIND, WCBD and WGES. He appeared with the Actors Company of Chicago in such well known plays as "Escape Me Never" and "Flight to the West." When the last war broke out he enlisted in the Air Corps and participated in 50 missions over Europe. He returned to Chicago in 1945 and appeared on a number of radio and television shows. In July of that year he was named director of "The Land We Live In", then presented over KMOX in St. Louis. When the show was moved to KSD in 1947 he transferred to that station, where he now directs television productions for KSD-TV in addition to "The Land We Live In."

The tentative program for the conference will open with registration for delegates, beginning at 9 a.m. The staff of KCLC, Lindenwood's station, will give a breakfast for Miss Waller at that time. At 10 a.m.

Miss Waller will discuss "Training For Careers in Radio" at an informal student session.

During the morning, Mr. Westcott will conduct tryouts for the half-hour student radio show to be produced at the afternoon session. The script for this show has been written by students of Lindenwood's Radio Department, and tryouts for parts in the cast will be open to all student delegates. The show will be presented and recorded at 1:30 p.m. as a feature of the program which will include a demonstration of production techniques by Mr. Westcott.

A tea dance, sponsored by campus organizations, will be held for the delegates at 4:30 p.m. in Butler Gymnasium, and at 6 p.m. there will be a dinner in Ayres Hall.

The evening session will convene at 7:30 o'clock, and will feature an address by a nationally known radio speaker.

Miss Martha Boyer Named Judge Of Scholastic Writing Contest

Miss Martha May Boyer, head of Lindenwood's Radio Department, has been named one of the judges of the Scholastic Writing Awards Contest, sponsored in the St. Louis area by the St. Louis Star-Times. The contest, part of a nation-wide contest, is open to high school and upper elementary pupils.

Miss Boyer has been appointed to the faculty of Washington University in St. Louis to teach a course in radio during the summer session. She will also be a member of the faculty of the Radio Workshop for Teachers, sponsored by Radio Station KMOX, the University of Missouri and the St. Louis Public Schools.

St. Charles Lindenwood Club Gives Christmas Party

On December 13 in the Sibley Club Parlors, the St. Charles Lindenwood Club gave its Christmas party. Santa distributed gifts and games were played. Mrs. Henry Rauch and Mrs. Dorothy Lammers were in charge of the program and Mrs. Robert Fischer was chairman of the refreshments committee.

A musical program by Lindenwood students featured the January meeting. Students who participated were Jean Eiel, Marjorie Moehlenkamp, Carolyn Furnish, Mary Jo Sweeney, Mary De Vries, Katherine Pemberton and Barbara Watkins. A short business meeting followed.

Lindenwood's three students who participated in the Washington Semester plan of the American University in the nation's capital, posed for this picture at a reception in Washington in January. From the left are: Miss Miriam Reilly, of Pachuca, Hidalgo, Mexico; Miss Lorraine Peck, of Troy, Ohio; Dr. Alice E. Gipson, Lindenwood's representative on the faculty of the American University; Dr. Homer Clevenger, of Lindenwood's faculty, and Miss Betty Jack Littleton, of Miami, Okla.

Lindenwood Students Return To Campus From Washington

Lindenwood's three representatives in the Washington Semester plan of the American University in Washington, D. C., have returned to the campus for the second semester. They are: Miss Miriam Reilly, of Pachuca, Hidalgo, Mexico; Miss Lorraine Peck, of Troy, Ohio, and Miss Betty Jack Littleton, of Miami, Okla.

A reception, honoring Dr. Alice E. Gipson, Lindenwood's representative on the faculty of the American University and former academic dean of the college, was given on February 13 by Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer at their home on the campus. Dr. Gipson taught classes in "Modern English Dramatists" and "American Literature" during the fall semester. She has now returned to her home in Idaho "to rest, and maybe to write a little."

Each of the Lindenwood students completed a project concerning some phase of the national government during the semester. Miss Peck's project was "American Woman in Politics." During the semester she also served as the Washington correspondent of the college radio station, KCLC, and each week sent a recorded interview with Washington personalities, for broadcasting over the station.

Miss Reilly chose as her subject "The United States Government in Service Training Program in Federal Security Agency For Specialists From Latin America." She attended the meeting of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations.

Miss Littleton's subject was "A Lobby: Friends' Committee." She attended the United Nations Ball.

encourage wider participation in community thinking and planning. Emphasis on this approach grows out of the new course in Sociology at Lindenwood called "Community Leadership."

At the evening meeting, "thought recorders" will report on the various discussions. Saturday morning there will be a forum on the theme "The Good Community Bases Its Stability on Change." This meeting will be conducted by Robert Blakely, chief editorial writer of the St. Louis Star-Times.

The conference will close Saturday afternoon with a demonstration of folk games and recreation, in which Lindenwood students will participate.

Third Installment of Roll Call Of Class of 1936

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

THIS month we present the third installment of the roll call of the Class of 1936. The following members have responded to our request for news about themselves and their activities:

Rachel Hinman (Mrs. Christian A. Hovde), 201 Duke of Gloucester St., Annapolis, Md.: "In the years away from Lindenwood, I have been playing the organ just as ardently as I did during those four happy years on the campus. There have been many experiences—funny, sad, important—but there has never again been quite the thrill I felt at the time I was "Mrs. Sibley's Ghost." Even the experience of playing for Truman and Churchill when they visited Westminster College didn't equal that first important event. After leaving Lindenwood I went to the Detroit Conservatory of Music where I received my M.M. degree in theory of music. During that time and for several years after I played at various churches in Detroit and taught at the Conservatory. While there it was good to continue a friendship begun at L.C.: Audrey McAnulty was also at the Conservatory. In 1944 I went to William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., where I taught organ and piano for two years. Three previous summers had been spent at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, and in the summer of 1946 I went to New York to study organ. There I learned about the fine position which was open at St. Anne's Church in Annapolis, Md. I tried out for it and was accepted. It is a beautiful, large church with a great history of three hundred years. And, believe it or not, I am the first woman, in all those years, to hold down the organ bench. I understand that it was with many misgivings that the Vestry hired one of the fairer sex, but at the end of the first year, which had been a success, someone remarked, "Never underestimate the power of a woman." And isn't that right, girls? Also in the fall of 1946, Christian Arneson Hovde walked into my life, and by 1948, he had convinced me that I might as well be darning his socks in my spare time. We were married on Easter Day last year. Chris is working toward his doctorate in chemistry and teaching at Johns Hopkins University. Annapolis has great historic interest, the glamorous Navy and the Hovdes. So why not include us on your next trip? My very best wishes and love to all."

Mary Long (Mrs. Charles Fleetwood), 1222 12th St., N., Fargo, N. Dak.: "Not until the fall of 1937 could I find a school willing to risk my inexperience. After two years of teaching English and Latin in my home town school, I resigned to marry a graduate of St. Louis University whom I had met at an L. C. date-dance in 1934. On our wedding day, France and England declared war. The population upheaval didn't catch us until the fall of 1941 when my husband was transferred by U. S. Rubber from rubber research to munitions. At Des Moines, in June 1942, our daughter was born and my life's purpose was set. With the war's end, Charles returned to rubber research. Just as we were settling down in Eau Claire, Wis., our house was sold and there was no place to go. This seemed the opportune time for a long contemplated break so my husband turned to teaching. This is his third year as a professor at the North Dakota Agricultural College. The winters in Fargo are long and cold but our fine associations on and off campus keep us content. Our Molly, now 6, loves school as her parents did. She has shown quite a talent for music and I am increasingly grateful for the excellent musical instruction I received at L. C. Offices in two campus groups and active membership in other organizations afford plenty of social life. A good book club is helping me to avoid mental laziness. I do all of the housework and make most of my clothes and Molly's. I surely must be happy for no day is long enough. A sincere thank you to Lindenwood for good friends and a fine background for living."

Mildred Ann Atkinson (Mrs. Virgil G. Edwards), 3433 W. 10th St., Indianapolis 8, Ind.: "After graduating I taught Latin and English in my home town, Bicknell. While teaching, I became Mrs. Edwards, and we lived in Vincennes, for a short time. We have lived in Indianapolis for the past eleven years, with the exception of two during the war. I lived in Bicknell, while my husband was a lieutenant in the Navy. After his discharge, we both went to Bright's Floral Design School in Chicago, and bought a floral business. I am just a busy housekeeper with two lovely girls. Sandra is almost 8 and already planning on Lindenwood. Susan is 14 months."

Florence Virginia Wilson (Mrs. R. A. Guilford), 9150 Winchester Ave., Chicago, Ill.: "In the fall of 1937, I took a position teaching English and Speech in the high school at Iron Mountain, Mich., as cold a spot as I ever hope to encounter. I spent two years there, and a year teaching in the high school at Dwight, Ill. I was married in 1941 to a man who sells advertising for Parents' Magazine, and have two children: a boy, Robin, born in December 1942 and a girl, Linda Dee, born in December 1947. I do a great deal of play reading and book reviews for Women's Clubs and other Federated organizations. I have been director of the Children's Theater, an organization that give plays to 1400 children once a month. My best wishes to all."

Adele Cote (Mrs. Lawrence S. Dayton), 3207 Castelar St., Omaha, Nebr.: "After graduation I worked for my Dad for two years. In 1938 I married Larry Dayton and have been busy being a housewife and mother to Betsy, 8, Jeanie, 5, and Kathy, 3. I am a Board member of P.T.A. and hold an office in P.E.O. We own some farms in Iowa, but prefer to remain city folks. I hope to get back to Lindenwood for a reunion. My four years there were truly the most carefree of my life."

Corrine Paulsen (Mrs. G. H. Thurston), Box 685, Casper, Wyo.: "After leaving Lindenwood, I started to work for an Omaha loan company that summer and continued with the same company until my marriage in 1942. My husband is an engineer so the next four years were spent in moving from one war project to another. Two and a half years ago we came to Casper. We operate a building block plant so my Lindenwood training is in use once again. Our son, Ricky, who is 4½ years old, loves it out west and can hardly wait until he's old enough to be a "real western cowboy." We like it here in Casper very much, especially the nearness to the Tetons and Yellowstone Park whose wonders we have seen the past three summers."

Kathryn Fox (Mrs. Harry Lee Naylor), 404 North Rodey, Albuquerque, N. Mex.: "In 1937-38 I had the great pleasure of representing Lindenwood in Wyoming and Colorado. After that I did newspaper work in Cheyenne until 1940, when I went to Washington as secretary to my Congressman. At Christmas 1940, I was married. While my husband was in the European Theater, I worked in Cheyenne for the United Air Lines B-17 Modification Center. When my husband returned from overseas we came to Albuquerque, where he is taking graduate work in anthropology—specifically, archaeology. Our son, Galen Fox Naylor, was born here in December 1946. Some months ago I started working again, this time at Sandia Base. I find the work extremely interesting and enjoyable, partly because the Staff consists of such well-educated and brilliant men."

Jean Kirkwood (Mrs. John Phipps), 803 State St., Lawrenceville, Ill.: "I worked for my father for several months after graduation and in January 1937 I was married to Oliver Phipps. We have two children, John Tom, 11, and Margaret Louise, 6. Naturally I am very busy with Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts. I am also interested in church work, being secretary for the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church. I belong to the local chapter of a National Philanthropic Sorority and we are active in all civic affairs of the community."

Dorothy Barton (Mrs. C. A. Hollingsworth), 2901 Broadway, Pittsburgh 27, Pa.: "After graduation I spent four years teaching mathematics and science in a small high school in western Missouri. During my vacations I traveled over the country becoming acquainted with our United States and neighboring lands. I visited the World Fairs at New York and in California and made short trips into Canada and down to Cuba. The next two years I worked in the chemistry department at the University of Wyoming at Laramie. After a summer in Mexico City and Texas, I took a position as head of the chemistry department at Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa. For three strenuous years I did my best to take the place of two or three teachers. And then I attended a summer session at the University of Iowa—trying to decide whether or not to start work on a Ph.D. in chemistry. But I met an instructor at the University, Dr. C. A. Hollingsworth, and decided that a Mrs. degree would be much better. After our marriage we went to Waynesboro, Va., where my husband worked as a research chemist for Dupont. This year he gave up industrial work and he is now a chemistry instructor at the University of Pittsburgh. To "help" me I have two little girls, Diane, 3 years old, and June, 8 months old. They are a constant source of inspiration and joy."

Dorothy Bockstege (Mrs. J. F. Miller), 1108 Ravenswood Drive, Evansville, Ind.: "After attending Lindenwood I graduated from and received a master's degree from Indiana University. I taught at Central High School in Evansville until I married in 1941. While my husband was overseas in the air corps during the war I also taught. Until the past summer we lived in New York City but have returned to Evansville and have just purchased a home. We have two children: Jo Ann, 3 years old, and Jerry, Jr., 8 months old."

Eleanor Payne (Mrs. Terence Quilliam), 9 Arundell Road, Weston Super Mare, Somerset, England: "After graduating from Lindenwood, I went to Persia where I lived with my parents, and did secretarial work for various firms. I also did a little teaching. In 1940 I was married to Terence Quilliam, an Englishman, and for five years we continued living in Persia where he was employed. The last three years we have been in England. Terry has bought a grocery store—a "green" grocery, because mainly fruits and vegetables are sold there. We have four children: Elizabeth, 5, and Frances,

Girl of the Month

WE PRESENT Mrs. Norma Paul Ruedi Hazeltine as the Girl of the Month. She received her A.B. degree from Lindenwood in 1930, her M.A. degree in Comparative Literature and English from Southern Methodist University in 1932, and has worked on a Ph.D in English at Missouri University.

Mrs. Hazeltine was a teacher of Latin and English after she received her Master's. She has also taught Spanish, Fine Arts, and Journalism, and she taught in both high school and college.

Her special interest seemed to be writing; agricultural experiences, gained from vacations at her parents' home in the Missouri Ozarks, won her a job in 1943 as Assistant Editor at Colorado State College, Fort Collins. There she wrote magazine articles, prepared Sunday supplement features, radio programs for KOA-NBC, Denver, and Rocky Mountain Radio Council, transcribed shows as "Norma Paul," and in 1944 went to Washington, D. C. to continue writing about the nation's natural resources. She is now in an administrative position as Assistant to the Commissioner of Reclamation in the Department of the Interior.

Her work now concerns the development of the West through a comprehensive reclamation program which includes in addition to irrigation, hydroelectric power development, flood control, improved navigation, silt control, domestic and industrial water supplies, fish and wildlife preservation, and recreational advantages. She spends even her "out-of-office" hours keeping up with the new trends in conservation. She says, "Little did I dream when I studied westward development in Dr. Gregg's American Literature class that some day I'd be enthusiastically digging into mountains of material and working at it with the proverbial energy of a natural-born beaver."

Every Tuesday evening, she takes a graduate course in radio and television production and direction with a CBS producer on the American University campus. Before this, she enjoyed a graduate course in dramatic radio writing conducted by an ABC producer-writer in cooperation with AU. As a member of the Women's National Press Club and the American Women Broadcasters, she has a chance, sometimes, to peek behind-the-scenes.

Some of her highlights since her college days are: feature writer and columnist for the Dallas Times-Herald; society editor and signed columnist, Springfield (Mo.) Newspapers, Inc.; correspondent for Associated Press; short stories, articles, poems published in periodicals ranging from such magazines as the "Saturday Review of Literature" to "Country Gentleman" and "Farm Journal." For a while she had a column, "Now, in Washington" by Norma Paul in a Washington paper. She has written reams of speeches, articles, and radio scripts during the past five years.

Mrs. Norma Paul Ruedi

She says, "You may well wonder how a Lindenwood major in Latin and English and a minor in romance languages fit into these varied activities since undergraduate days. First of all, I received a Master's in Comparative Literature and English because of thorough undergraduate training from Miss Hankins, Dr. Gregg, Miss Stone, and Dr. Terhune. Later I taught Latin, and Spanish, as well as courses in English, Fine Arts, and Journalism. And I continue to find plenty of reason to rejoice in my Lindenwood liberal arts education. Some of the best speeches I have written have been filled with classical allusions. Journalism has been another collegiate course that has helped me wield a more potent pen, while L. C. Public Speaking classes helped me gain poise."

We congratulate Mrs. Hazeltine upon her successful career.

College Choir to Make Spring Tour in Three States

Eleven cities in three states will be visited by the Lindenwood College Choir, which will leave the campus on March 10 on its annual spring tour. The Choir, with 30 voices, is directed by Milton F. Rehg. The soloists are Miss Mary De Vries, Miss Marjorie Moehlenkamp, and Miss Barbara Watkins.

The itinerary of the trip is as follows: Union, Mo., Thursday morning, March 10; Lebanon, Mo., Thursday night; Marshfield, Mo., Friday morning, March 11; Carthage, Mo., Friday night; Joplin, Mo., Saturday night, March 12 and Sunday morning, March 13; Baxter Springs, Kan., Monday morning, March 14; Miami, Okla., Monday afternoon; Neosho, Mo., Monday night; Monett, Mo., Tuesday morning, March 15; Aurora, Mo., Tuesday afternoon. The Choir will return to the campus on March 16.

Fifteen Students Are Awarded President Scholarships

The five ranking members of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes were awarded President Scholarships at a student convocation on February 15. These scholarships, established last year by the Board of Directors, are honor awards based solely on academic records. The scholarships for Juniors are for $300. The Sophomore winners receive awards valued at $250, and the Freshmen awards of $200.

Junior winners are: Miss Lorraine Peck, Troy, Ohio; Miss Mary Jo Sweeney, Overland, Mo.; Miss Dorothy Walker, Grand Island, Nebr.; Miss Helen Jones, Remington, Ind.; and Miss Patricia Schilb, Pilot Grove, Mo.

Roll Call of Class of 1936

3, who were born in Persia, and Peter, 2, and Margaret, 7 months. Last summer I came to America with the children for the first time since my graduation. My father drove us to Missouri for a short visit, and we stopped at Lindenwood for a few minutes. Needless to say, I lead a busy life keeping house and taking care of the children. Cooking for us all is a full time job in itself, especially with the problems rationing causes. I should love to hear from my friends. If any come to England, we would be delighted to see them."

Evelyn Brown (Mrs. W. T. Miller), 1733 Del Norte Ave., Richmond Heights, Mo.: "Upon graduating in June 1936, I was prepared to go into the teaching profession armed with a five year high school teacher's certificate in French, Spanish, and English. We were in the depression period, so my efforts at finding a teaching position were useless. I took a temporary job with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company which turned out to be a full time position in the business office as a service representative. After working four years in the main office, I was transferred to another office where a Mr. Miller was the manager, and in October 1941, I became Mrs. Miller. In October 1943, our daughter, Janet, was born. This year she started to kindergarten and I was given the opportunity to teach fifth grade in the same school, so Janet and I have been going to school together. I am enjoying every moment of teaching. My four years at Lindenwood and the friends I made there are treasured memories."

Two Generations

Mrs. W. W. Winters, of Lincoln, Nebr., sent us this snapshot posed with her son, Konrad Guy (the middle name is for Guy C. Motley because the baby's cry sounds like "Yippee") Mrs. Winters was Merryl Ryan, a member of the Class of '46.
