BULLETIN

When Lindenwood's second annual radio conference is held on April 23, students in the Radio Department will demonstrate the outstanding work in radio now being done by the college. This view of one of the radio studios shows a group of students during a broadcast.

Current Comment

By PRESIDENT MCCLUER

Lindenwood College is a four year college for young women. It is an accredited, degree granting institution. Two years of study on a campus of a college so well equipped and splendidly staffed would be especially valuable, but it is desirable that we remember that courses of study are designed for four years. The college should make its strongest appeal to those who expect to win a bachelor's degree.

Lindenwood presents, in the happy phrase of Dr. Alice Parker, "an invitation to maturity." Life and study in this institution are designed to foster maturity of thought, of feeling, and of action. We are in accord with the considered judgment of most of the educational leaders of America that this maturity requires four years of study. The work of the institution is undergirded by Christian philosophy and faith but is not hampered by a narrow sectarian approach to any problem.

The curriculum is carefully and deliberately arranged to require four years of residence in the college community. Much of the campus activity must be planned by the students whose leaders will inevitably be found in the upper classes. The responsibilities of these students will be one of the chief factors in the maturing process of life here. Most of the students will live on the campus in a friendly community which respects the truth and whose citizens seek that truth together and share together responsibilities for determining the character of college life. Education at Lindenwood does not consist merely of a collection of credits or a special sequence of courses. Intellectual and moral responsibility can not be handed out on a platter or contained in certain specified courses of study, but will be acquired by citizens who live with one another, study with one another, and are able as mature young women to share one another's burdens.

Lindenwood is small enough to provide attention to individual needs and to give assurance that there will be a friendly personal relationship between teacher and student. As a college for women it not only emphasizes some courses of special value to women, but unlike a co-educational institution, it stimulates young women to discover and develop their own talents and abilities in an environment in no way dominated by attention to the needs of masculine students. Courses in liberal arts, fine arts, and in some vocations are given here with an integration that offers a liberal education. Training in vocational fields includes those of education, recreation, home economics and dietetics, journalism, radio speech and dramatics, secretarial training, music, art, and preparation for graduate work in social service.

Each student is made to realize the peculiar value of liberal studies. Expansion of curricular offerings in line with the established policies of the institution are being studied. Additional teachers in several fields will be added before the college opens in the fall. Future bulletins will carry statements describing purposes and programs of the several departments.

The college calls upon its friends to bring the opportunities offered here to the attention of the finest young women who may be interested in the effective program of a senior college for women. We look back over the last one hundred and twenty-one years of Lindenwood's history with pride. We look forward to its future with confidence and enthusiasm.

Department of Communications Is Keyed to Modern Needs

Accuracy of Expression and Accuracy of Thought are Marks of Maturity Sought by College in English Courses

By DR. ALICE E. GIPSON

Academic Dean and Head of the English Department

THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNICATIONS at this college, that is, the departments of oral and written English, take their responsibilities seriously. There can be, we realize, no better preparation with which to send a student out into any walk of life than the ability to use, if not beautifully at least clearly, her mother tongue in speech and in writing. In this department there is no division as regards the discussion of the vocational versus the liberal education. Aristotle, over 2,000 years ago, indicated that even then there was this discussion among the people of his country when he said: "From the present mode of education, we cannot determine with certainty to which men incline, whether to instruct a child in what will be useful to him in life, or what tends to virtue, or what is excellent; for all these things have their separate defenders." However, none of the most rabid adherents of the vocational or of the liberal will deny that a great asset to the young woman going out into the world is her ability to write accurately and clearly, to speak accurately and clearly. It is to this end, as one of its purposes, that the Department of Communications tries to train its students.

If this ability is necessary for a young woman going out into the world trained in a vocation, it is just as necessary for the young woman who is going into her community as a representative of the student trained in a liberal education. She will be called on constantly to show her knowledge of the only language that most of us speak adequately, — our mother tongue. It is, therefore, deplorable when a college graduate fails to speak and to write as she can be trained to do. Here at Lindenwood, we have any number of students of whose ability in these lines we are very proud. The writing done by many of them, the poetry composed, as well as their grasp of the English language in their daily speech, show that they are educated young women.

But not only does this department look toward the use of the English language as a tool, we also recognize it as the medium through which much of the most inspired writing of the world has been done. We, therefore, hope to train our students in clear thinking, in ability to judge between the good and the shoddy; to train them in adequate criticism and the proper scholars' humility as regards not only what the student may have done but also what she is capable of doing: in short, an appreciation of the greatest that has been thought and said in our mother tongue. Long ago, the poet Cowper said: "Knowledge is proud that it knows so much. Wisdom is humble that it knows no more." If the Department of Communications at Lindenwood College can train its students not merely in a mental but in a spiritual appreciation and application of those lines, it will feel that it has accomplished at least part of its purposes and obligations as members of the faculty of the College.

Distinguished Campus Visitor

Major General Harry H. Vaughn, military aid to President Truman, was a campus visitor on January 19th and 20th. Gen. Vaughn, who was a classmate of Dr. Franc L. McCluer at Westminster College, was the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. McCluer. He is shown here chatting with Lindenwood students. From the left: Miss Willie Vertel, Miss Carol Brower, Miss Nancy Bailey, Gen. Vaughn and Dr. McCluer.

Five Members of Class of '48 Complete Work for Degrees

New Enrollment High Set as College Begins Second Semester — Ten New Students Arrive on the Campus

FIVE MEMBERS of the Class of 1948 completed the work for their degrees at the end of the first semester. They will be graduated at Lindenwood's 121st annual commencement in June. The Seniors who finished their work last semester and have left the campus are: Miss Helen Louise MacCulloch, 4800 Hillcrest Road, Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Arminta Jane Nichols, 4400 Lee Ave., Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Genelle Phillips, 815 S. Fifth St., St. Charles; Miss Patricia Shoot, Charleston, Ill., and Miss Virginia Sue Stegall, 514 North Ave., Hannibal, Mo.

Lindenwood's enrollment for the second semester, which begins February 2, is the highest in the college's history. There are ten new students on the campus this semester. They are: Miss Frances Lucille Carpenter, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Caroline Cooke, Wilmette, Ill.; Miss Janet C. Hall, Canton, Ohio; Miss Barbara Ann Hueftle, Eustis, Nebr.; Miss Sharon Olsen, Sioux City, Iowa; Miss Martha Jean Murrill, Flat River, Mo.; Miss Helen Mae Peden, Lincoln, Nebr.; Miss Betty Louise Rutterford, Manitou Springs, Colo.; Miss Marye Anne Warnock, Magnolia, Ark., and Miss Billie Marie Whitnell, Chicago, Ill.

Final examinations for the first semester began January 24. A full week's program for relaxation and entertainment was provided during the examinations by the Office of Student Guidance and the Student Government Association.

Second Annual Radio Conference to Be Held on April 23

Dr. I. Keith Tyler, Noted Radio Educator, To Head List of Speakers—Colleges and Universities in Missouri and Illinois Will Send Delegates

PLANS FOR LINDENWOOD COLLEGE'S second annual radio conference, to be held on the campus on April 23, are now being completed under the direction of Miss Martha Boyer, of the Radio and Speech Department. Last year seventeen colleges and universities in Missouri and Illinois sent delegates to the conference. Invitations will be sent this year to these institutions as well as to high school students in the St. Louis area.

The conference will focus attention upon the important role the radio now plays in world events and everyday living and the responsibility higher education must share in its development as a medium of communication and understanding.

One of the principal speakers at the meeting will be Dr. I. Keith Tyler, one of the nation's outstanding authorities on radio education. Dr. Tyler, who is professor of education and director of radio education at Ohio State University, spent several months in Germany last year as a special advisor to the United States Army. He is president of the Association for Education by Radio and is one of five educational representatives on the Council on Radio Journalism.

Dr. Tyler is the author of numerous articles on education and is the co-editor of "Radio and the School" a new guidebook for teachers and school administrators. In 1944 he was given the Annual Award of Merit by the Advisory Committee of the Chicago School Broadcast Conference for his "outstanding and meritorious service in educational radio."

A full day's program is planned for this year. In addition to the notable speakers who will address the conference there will be a demonstration of the college's radio equipment in the Fine Arts Building, a tea for delegates and visitors, and a dinner in Ayres Hall.

Lindenwood's radio equipment now includes sound-proof studios, a modern control room, microphones, amplifiers, and recording and playback tables.

Dr. McCluer and Dean Gipson Attend College Meetings

President Franc L. McCluer and Dr. Alice E. Gipson, academic dean, attended national conventions of college associations in Cincinnati, Ohio, the week of January 12. Dr. McCluer represented the college at the meeting of the Association of American Colleges. Dr. Gipson attended the meeting of the Association of Academic Deans.

In Hall of Fame

Miss Margaret Groce, of St. Charles, a Lindenwood Senior, who has been nominated for the campus Hall of Fame by the Linden Bark. She was the Maid of Honor to last year's May Queen. She is active in the Day Students' Club, the Press Club, Future Teachers of America, Triangle Club, and is on the staff of the Linden Leaves.

First Installment of Roll Call of Class of 1933

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO the Class of 1933 left Lindenwood. This month we present the first installment of the roll call of the class. The following members have responded to our request for news about themselves and their activities:

Doris Oxley (Mrs. E. L. Spellman), 810 Oakwood Ave., Wilmette, Ill.: "The first year after leaving Lindenwood, thanks to the Fellowship, I spent a profitable year at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. In 1934 I married Ed Spellman, whom many of the girls will remember as the chap who commuted to St. Charles for Saturday dates from Madison and Eau Claire, Wis. Ed was working for the International Harvester Co. then, and we went to Ft. Dodge, Iowa, to live. Later we moved to Pateau, Okla., then to Chicago, and finally bought a house at 810 Oakwood Ave., Wilmette, where we still live. Our oldest son, John, is almost 11. Our second son, Henry, is in the first grade, and the third, Jim, is enrolled in nursery school since he is only 4. That leaves 14-months-old Ann home alone with me. Now I can look the whole world in the face for I have at long last produced a future Lindenwood girl. With such a family circle, it is hardly necessary for me to go elsewhere for entertainment. However, I attend P.E.O. when I can get away, and do my share of church work."

Eutha Olds, 1004 Kavanaugh, Little Rock, Ark.: "I have been with the Extension Service since 1935. I had a leave of absence in 1944 to study at Columbia University, N. Y. I am now County Home Demonstration Agent in Pulaski County, Little Rock, Ark."

Marie Blaske (Mrs. Binford E. Spencer), R.R. 4, Freeport, Ill.: "Housework is badly neglected the day the Bulletin arrives, and I have found the news of the classes especially interesting. Following my graduation, I filled in my time with various jobs including a bit of social work. In September, 1934, I became a library assistant at Washington University Library. In 1937, I was made librarian of the George Warren Brown School of Social Work Library. In June, 1940, I was married to Binford Spencer, a research chemist. We lived in Laurel, Miss., for a short time, and then came here to Freeport. We have two children, blonde, blue-eyed Elise, who is 5, and brunette, dark-eyed Gerard, who is 2½. My life is the busy one of the homemaker, but I find time for a little church work, a study club, and of all things, the Do Si Do Club. The latter is a group of couples who learn and enjoy square dances, and great fun it is!"

Lillian Webb (Mrs. George A. Hubbard), 506 S. Meramec, Clayton, Mo.: "In December, 1934, I married the most wonderful man in the world! I have two children, a girl 11 and a boy 10. My time is taken up with the usual housewifely duties, plus P.T.A., Cub work, and a smattering of church work. Political work is taking more and more of my time, and I urge every Lindenwood girl (past and present) to take part in the coming elections as the solemn duty of an educated woman. My hobby has been the breeding, training and running of field trial dogs (pointer, of course), at which I have attained some success. This gives me a splendid hobby which I can share with my husband."

Agnes Marie Bachman (Mrs. R. V. Sandy), 220 S. Castle Ave., Salem, Ill.: "After graduating from Lindenwood, I taught foods in the Salem High School for three years. In 1936, I was married and gave up teaching. I worked as clerk for four years in the County Treasurer's Office. I have two lovely little girls, Sandra Kay, who will be 6 years old soon, and Patricia Ann, who was born last August 1."

Betty Fair (Mrs. C. B. Eugene), Lanesturn Cottage, Old New Garden Rd., Avondale, Pa.: "After I was graduated from Lindenwood, I entered nurses' training at the Oklahoma University Hospital School of Nursing. When I finished there, I began working at a combination of nursing and teaching. Eventually I became Assistant Director of Nurses at the Oklahoma University Hospital. In August, 1943, I was married, and my husband and I started to make our home in Oklahoma. Within a month he was transferred back to Wilmington, Delaware, where he is an assistant advertising manager with the DuPont Co. We now live within commuting distance of Wilmington. I manage to find enough to keep me busy at home now since I have one daughter 2½ years old and another 3 months old. On one of my visits to Oklahoma I managed to visit the campus between trains. It was summer, and everything was closed, but the campus looked beautiful. Naturally I hope my two daughters will want to attend Lindenwood."

Gretchen Hunker (Mrs. Victor Fred Wolter), 605 LeFevre St., Salisbury, Mo.: "I am a homemaker in the same little town of Salisbury. I have two children, Marily and Steven. My speech course at Lindenwood has proved very useful to me. It is always pleasant to recall Lindenwood days and friends."

Eleanor Kriekhaus (Mrs. Charles Kling), 2004 Thirteenth Ave., Rockford, Ill.: "I moved to Rock-

Lindenwood Children

Christmas brought pictures of a number of Lindenwood children. We present these youngsters this month. Others will be published next month. Upper row from the left: Charles J. White, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. White, 1930 N. W. Twenty-seventh St., Oklahoma City, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher McMurry. Mrs. White was Jean McMurry, Class of '43; Eleanor Louise Kling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer Kling, of Rockford, Ill. Mrs. Kling was Eleanor Kriekhaus, Class of '43; Arthur L. Palmer, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Palmer, of Lebanon, Mo., and grandson of Mrs. Stanleigh Palmer, who was Lindenwood's first four-year graduate and has served as president of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association. Mrs. Palmer was Pauline Weisgerber and she is a member of the Class of '21; Jeanann Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stokes, of Gary, Ind. Mrs. Stokes was Louise Bellows, Class of '31.

Lower row: Win Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crawford, of 5542 North Kenman St., Chicago, Ill. Mrs. Crawford was Dixie Burnham and she attended Lindenwood in 1940-41; Michael, 6 months-old, and Ramsey Lammers, III, 4 year-old, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lammers, of St. Charles. Mrs. Lammers was Dorothy Keyes, Class of '41; Janet Kay Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen B. Henry, of 3133 Bristol Road, Fort Worth, Texas. Mrs. Henry was Kathryn Hope Ackerman, Class of '37; Jane Douthit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Douthit, of 6020 Bullard St., Oakland, Calif. Mrs. Douthit was Anna Shelton and she attended Lindenwood in 1920-22.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Sorliece are now living at 702 Fourth St., Clear Lake, Iowa. Mrs. Sorliece was Gwen Macy.

A letter from Mrs. Tom Ramsey tells of a change of address for her family from Glendale, Calif., to 6111 Walnut Hill Drive, Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey have a daughter, Carolyn Ann. Mrs. Ramsey was Marjorie Nutt and she attended Lindenwood in 1939-40.

Lindenwood's alumnae are on the move. Another letter tells of a new address for Mrs. Robert F. Gentry, who is now living at 703 Cherry Lane, East Lansing, Mich. Dr. and Mrs. Gentry have a daughter, Sharon Elaine, 3½, and a son Steven, born on October 31. Mrs. Gentry was Frieda Hardeman and she attended Lindenwood in 1941-42.

Mrs. Louis F. Geissler, Jr., writes that she and her husband are now living at 333 East Sixty-eighth St., New York City. She was Carolyn Jane Shanks and she attended Lindenwood in 1943-44.

ford to teach music in the public schools in 1943. On September 24, 1944, at the Court Street Methodist Church in Rockford, I was married to Charles Spencer Kling. We became the proud parents of a baby girl on June 8, 1946. Eleanor Louise is 18-months-old now, and we are even more proud, if that is possible!"

Geraldine Edna Hamblin, 4215 McFarlane Ave., Burbank, Calif.: "Since I left Lindenwood, I guess I have had what is laughingly called a "career." After graduating from Lindenwood, I went to Colorado University at Boulder where I found four of my old L. C. friends in my own sorority house—Ruth Johnson, Willetta Walker, Bettye Moan and Evelyn Johnson. We had a happy two years and parted to "make our way." I came to Los Angeles where I worked up until the war broke out. I worked with store designers and did everything from drafting to Christmas shopping for the boss. The war found me managing a warehouse for heavy construction hardware, and next as legal secretary at Bendix Aviation and working two nights a week as a volunteer on the Searchlight Board for the Fourth Fighter Command. After that I went to Warner Bros. as a secretary to writers, producers, or what have you, and finally ended up in the Research Dept. where I spent two years doing art research for motion pictures. Now, after all this time, I think I should do something with my L. C. Certificate in Public School Art, and I am working like mad to get my credits evaluated for the second semester! Of course, all has not been work. Ruth Johnson and I have managed wonderful vacation trips each year; we just got back from two weeks of touring Texas and Louisiana."

Frances Louise Warner (Mrs. Harold O. Schneider), Route 4, Box 351, Salem, Ore.: "Since leaving Lindenwood in 1933, I did social work in Nebraska and Cleveland, Ohio. I took my graduate work at the University of Chicago for a year and a half and additional psychiatric work at Western Reserve University in Cleveland. From Western Reserve I was granted a Master's Degree. I continued to work with the adolescent girl while the doctor was in the Navy for three and a half years. When he returned to the states, we came here to live. We were fortunate to have a super baby boy born to us last April 28. There is little else to say except that Oregon is a wonderful state from the scenic and weather standpoint. Not being a native Oregonian, I do admit that the rain, rain, rain in the winter months is trying. My husband is an Internist which offers us a bit more private life than other medical fields." (To be continued)

Lindenwood Bride

On December 3, Miss Adah Louise Parkinson, of Mt. Carmel, Ill., became the bride of H. Paul Waterbury at Mt. Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Waterbury are now at home at 514 Mulberry St., Mt. Carmel. Mrs. Waterbury is a member of the Class of '43.
