LC PREPARES FOR MAY WEEKEND GUESTS

Alpha Psi Play Of War Intrigue Opens May 1st

A presentation of the unhappiness and horror war can bring to a man and people close to him, is the theme of "Watch on the Rhine," a three act play by Lillian Hellman, to be presented on May 1, at 8 p.m. in Roemer Auditorium. Members and pledges of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity at Lindenwood, comprise the cast.

The production, which was successfully presented on the New York stage, is part of May-weekend festivities. Parents, guests, faculty, and students are cordially invited to attend.

Julie Orr, who directs the production and portrays Sara Mueller, wife of a German anti-Nazi in the play, says, "This is an unusual story of intrigue; of anti-Nazi warfare that takes place in the United States, not in Germany, so that the realization of war is not removed or untimely. It symbolizes that a man of principle, as well as of action, will fight for what he thinks is right no matter what happens to his own life."

Edwin VonWoert, who attended Lindenwood last year as a scholarship student, will portray Kurt Mueller, the German-born anti-Nazi. Mr. VonWoert has been flying up for weekend rehearsals from the University of Arkansas where he is teaching and studying for his Masters' degree.

Two young boys, Ricky and Brian McCullough, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Burt McCullough of St. Charles, play the roles of Joshua and Bodo Mueller, sons of Kurt and Sara Mueller.

Other characters in the play are: Ferrol Finch, Anise; Keith Hammel, Joseph; Suellen Purdue, Fanny Farelly; Diane Floyd Hodges, Martha DeBrancovis;

Douglas Hume, Tech DeBrancovis; and Connie Sutton Clements, Babette Mueller.

Heading the staff is Helen Bohn as stage manager with Jo Lovins and Marian Van Horn as electricians; Keith Hammel working on sound and properties; and Marilyn Wilson acting as house manager.

The entire class and crew will return to campus on June 23 to present the production for the Missouri Presbyterian Synods' Meeting.

Following the play, Alpha Psi Omega members will entertain campus guests, students, faculty and parents at a reception in Cobbs Lounge and Patio.

Gay Pauley Wins 1959 AWRT Scholarship in National Contest

Gay Pauley, junior from Pine Bluff, Ark., has recently been awarded the 1959 Junior Scholarship offered annually by the American Women in Radio and Television. It is the only one given in the country.

She will fly to New York City as the guest of AWRT to attend the national convention held Apr. 30-May 3 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The $750 scholarship will be formally awarded at a dinner on Apr. 30.

Gay is a speech major with emphasis on broadcasting and an education minor.

Her activities during two years at Lindenwood include membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic society for freshman women; Alpha Epsilon Rho, national honorary radio and television fraternity; and the Student Christian Association. Gay, treasurer of the sophomore class, has also

Choralaires to Present Annual Vesper Concert Next Sunday

Six choruses from "Alice in Wonderland" will be sung by the Choralaires, a select group of Lindenwood vocalists, as part of their annual vesper concert, Apr. 26 in Roemer Auditorium.

The music for this part of the program is by Irving Fine on the texts from "Alice in Wonderland" by Lewis Carroll.

Sacred music from the 16th through the 19th centuries by such composers as Farrant, Gibbons, Bach, Mozart, and Brahms will be included in the program, said Wayne Balch, director.

The third part of the concert will be devoted to secular music by four modern American composers including David Diamond, Paul Hindemith, Burrill Phillips, and Gardner Read.

During the year the Choralaires sang at the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church on Christian College Sunday, and on April 19 they sang at the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis.

They will be taking part in the coronation ceremony of the May queen.

President Travels To Chicago Meet

Kansas . . . Oklahoma . . . Chicago . . . St. Louis . . . run, run, run, is the agenda for our president, Dr. Franc L. McCluer. He is a busy man with a heavy schedule. This week he is in Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of which he is a member. While there he will serve on the groups' Commission on Colleges and Universities.

Two weeks ago Dr. McCluer was in Kansas and Oklahoma inspecting and accrediting colleges and universities for the North Central Association Of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Raising money for our college was also a big project which he undertook last week. Being president of the Missouri College Joint Fund Committee, Inc., a fund-raising group of colleges in Missouri, he was in St. Louis at their annual fund-raising drive to solicit for money used for education.

Math Teachers Meet Saturday

A joint meeting of the Missouri section of the Mathematical Association of America and Missouri Council of Teachers of Mathematics will be held at Lindenwood College Saturday, Apr. 25.

The morning session is scheduled separately. The Missouri section of the Mathematical Association will be held in Roemer Hall, Room 225. The Mathematics Council will meet in Room 219.

Following lunch, which will be served in Ayres Dining Room, a joint session will meet in the Library Club Room. Presiding over the afternoon session will be Prof. Francis Regan, chairman, Department of Mathematics, St. Louis University. Dean Paulena Nickell will welcome the guests. "What is MODERN MATHEMATICS, anyway?", topic of the afternoon address, will be given by Prof. R. V. Andree, department of mathematics at the University of Oklahoma.

'Bitsy' Thomas To be Crowned May Queen

Tradition and ceremony will highlight Lindenwood College's annual May Weekend which will open officially at 8 p.m. next Friday with the presentation of Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine" and will last through dinner on Sunday.

As May Weekend is also parents' weekend, parents of students will be here from all parts of the country. Reservations have been made by 271 Lindenwood friends as the Bark goes to press.

Following the play, starring Julie Orr in the title role, Alpha Psi Omega will sponsor a reception in Cobbs Hall lounge and patio for students, faculty, and guests.

Saturday's festivities start with the annual college horse show at 9:30 a.m. From 10 a.m. to noon the home economics department will hold its open house and display in Roemer Hall.

KCLC, the Lindenwood radio station, is planning an open house at 11:15 that morning. The staff will conduct guided tours through the station.

The art department will have three exhibits on display for parents' weekend. They will be shown in Roemer Hall, Fellowship Hall of the Lindenwood Chapel, and in the art department in the Fine Arts Building.

Taking the spotlight Saturday afternoon will be one of the biggest events of the weekend, the coronation of the May Queen, senior Elizabeth Ann "Bitsy" Thomas of Nashville, Tenn.

Mary Warner, president of the senior class, will narrate the May fete which will feature the crowning of "Bitsy." Presented with the queen will be her court which consists of Ann Hanna and Linda Williams, freshmen; Ann Boswe and Karen Witt, sophomores; Mary Margaret Lewis and Sherral Musgrove, juniors; and Carolyn Baue and Kay Fryfogle, seniors.

Special attendant to the queen will be Kay Magie, junior, who will crown her. Steven Wise will be the crown bearer.

Also being presented during the ceremony is the 1959 graduating class, which will form a procession through an honor guard formed by the sophomore class.

A program honoring the queen will follow the coronation. The college choir will sing "I'll See You Again" and "Let My Songs Fill Your Heart." The advanced modern dance class will present a May dance and the Choralaires will sing choral settings from "Alice in Wonderland."

Members of the junior class will usher for the fete, and the freshman class will be official hostesses for the day. The freshmen will also host the queen's reception to be held on the green immediately after the ceremony.

A dinner will honor the queen Saturday night in Fellowship Hall. All members of the court and senior class with their dates and families have been invited to the

Honor System Must be Voluntary

The honor system, one of Lindenwood's most distinctive features, is the center of our scholastic and social systems. Within the last year, it has also become the center of controversy.

Many of the students and faculty feel that the honor system is failing—or rather that the students are failing the honor system. The honor system will continue, but will it continue to work?

Perhaps one reason that the honor system is looked upon lightly by some is that it is compulsory to accept the rules of the system to remain in the college. It seems that honor which is, in a sense, a way of living governed by the inner self and governing all actions and attitudes cannot be thrust upon people. It is a decision which must be accepted wholeheartedly. Half-hearted cooperation is not effective cooperation. Once accepted, personal honor should then be taken for granted by students and faculty alike and continual reminders would be unnecessary. Each time students are reminded, each time students are requested to sign attendance cards, each time honor is questioned, their faith in the honor system and what it stands for is lessened.

This is perhaps what we need—renewed faith in the honor system. But first there must be a voluntary system of cooperation.

Students Want Telephone Rule

Recently there seems to be some confusion concerning receiving phone calls "after hours". Any emergency call can, of course, reach the student any time of the day or night.

The rule in some dormitories on campus is that a student can accept a phone call "after hours" if the person answering the telephone wants to locate the student. In other dorms, however, students cannot receive calls "after hours".

Since each student does not have a private telephone, it is often difficult, and sometimes impossible, for all the telephone calls to come in before 11 p.m. Many times a student wishes to use the phone, but is unable to do so because other students are using it.

We feel that it is absurd to say that a college woman cannot receive a phone call after 11 o'clock if another student answers the phone and is willing to find the girl. A student should not take advantage of this privilege and use the phone every night "after hours." If such a situation should occur, the house staff can deal with the offender. However, it is equally unjust to keep this rule just for the sake of the rule. Why should students be told that they can neither get another student for a call, nor receive a call?

If a call should come through at an extremely late hour, most probably no one will hear the telephone anyway. In one dormitory, students from the ages of 19 to 22 must ask permission to accept a telephone call after 11 o'clock. This seems foolish, since we do not ask permission to talk over the phone at home.

Cooperation and understanding are important factors in living with one another. These qualities can be stressed in the use of the telephone.

WUS Contributors Haunt St. Louis Pawn Shops; Congratulations to Two Recently Married Students

It used to be the Ides of March and now for most it's the Ides of April, but for some 450 of us it's the 17th of April that brought such bad news. We know, however, that everyone of you cheery souls who were so eager to do your part for WUS were just thrilled out of your minds when you got to pay the big debt last Friday. As one girl was heard to say, "I never looked at that watch anyway and what with summer coming up what possible use could I have for all those winter clothes?" Wonder if there's anything in the book about frequenting St. Louis hock shops?

BSV (That's Before Spring Vacation.) I promised to announce who found the most Easter eggs in the big hunt. While I really don't have much to match my figures with I promise that Ann Cook looked more places than anyone else in the world. As a matter of fact, it was only lack of time that kept her from going all over the world. At any rate, only Cook could go into a restaurant, order hot tea with cream and wind up with coffee and lemon.

Very best wishes to Connie Sutton Clements and Diane Floyd Hodges both of whom got married spring vacation. (Don't know if this has anything to do with it or not, but some of you "hopefuls" might try getting into the speech department. Here's two majors that did O.K. for themselves.)

The party's over, but hear that it was great fun while it lasted. It didn't even make any difference if you were at Le Chateau or the Golfview Inn, because they were really swinging both places last week end. Oh, it's so great to be young and in college where you do nothing but race from one party to another. (If you don't believe this last bit—just ask anyone over 40 and they'll tell you that it's true.)

I want to take this opportunity to apologize to Mary Green and the music department for something that was said in student assembly last week. Also want to tell her that everyone of the swimming majors and minors were at the water show.

Out of space, ideas, time, and patience, so will bring this thing to a close NOW. J.E.

P.S. It wouldn't dare—it just wouldn't dare rain for May Week-end again.

Linden Leaves Whisper

Beta Chi Contemplates Buying Belated Gift for Dr. McCluer

In last week's "Scientifically Yours," Charles Darwin finally proved that man did evolve from ape. One interesting point he brought out was that an offshoot, the dog, is a direct relative of man. To substantiate this theory he visited LC's campus disguised as a plumber. The evidence he gathered pertained to the way in which many LC gals have been shedding their hair with the arrival of spring. In fact one dorm made a "Do-It-Yourself-Shearing (not George)" record with about 9 Yul Brynner's in one try.

Beta Chi has been contemplating taking up a collection to buy a horse for Dr. McCluer as a belated birthday gift. It's whispered that the underlying, subversive thought is to make a little money for Beta Chi by getting the local chiropractor to give them a percentage.

It's also whispered that the administration plans to level and pave the golf course and install parking meters to accommodate all the four wheeled vehicles that tearful parents parted with spring vacation. One ambitious student is supplementing her allowance by running a taxi service to and from Chapel.

Here's a twisted compliment to some of LC's profs. The other day in the hall I overheard one student remarking to another about the morning's lectures. It went like this: "Some of these profs remind me of a divine being. They passeth all understanding."

By the way, did you know that "In order to reach your dormitory by 1:00 a.m., it is necessary for you to get to Wellston in time to get the county bus leaving Wellston at 11:45 P.M." For your clarification, that bit of handy information is taken from Article 9 of LC's "Memo to Students" concerning "Transportation to and from St. Louis." Oh, and if you can't meet the Greyhound schedule, or the Page-Wellston Bus or the Hodii-amont Street Car, happy walking and remember "ABSOLUTELY NO BUMMING RIDES."

Attention Mr. House! Better grill the kitchen staff (not literally) because there's been a security hundredths of LC's population must have had a much fabulous time spring vacation because plans for final transportation home are already being set. However, some of the gals that went north for their siestas came back looking slightly aggravated. One near-Arctic-ite said she played golf everyday—but got tired of painting the balls red so she could find them in the snow drifts. Anymore it's impossible to tell the Jealous Side from the Went to Florida Side. Everybody's burning up.

We wonder about the attitudes of various faculty members of the history department. (Not really, though) For instance—one day last week, when Dr. Clevenger was substituting for Mr. Armstrong, he asked the class what the reaction of the small, highly nationalistic Balkan States was toward Turkey in 1911. To further explain his question he put it in the following terms—quoted nearly word for word. "If I knew that Mr. Armstrong was out waiting for me behind a tree with a knife, what would I do? I'd run right home and get a shotgun!" S.B.

LC Mentioned In New Novel

A new novel, "Semper Fi," by Gene Hendryx, which is to be released this spring, mentions Lindenwood College several times.

Mr. Hendryx was a delegate to the national convention of Democrats from various college campuses which was held at Lindenwood in 1948. He wrote a poem mentioning Lindenwood following the convention and later included the college in his novel.

At the time Mr. Hendryx visited LC, he was a student at Sul Ross College majoring in chemistry. When he returned from the convention, he changed his major to economics and later received a masters' degree in government.

In a recent letter to Dr. Homer Clevenger, chairman of the history and government department, Mr. Hendryx said, "I don't believe I have ever attended a convention in my life that gave me the inspiration that yours did. Since that time I have made dozens of conventions, political and otherwise, but none of them gave me the feeling of Lindenwood."

Best Poetry Read at Tea

Some of the best poetry written during the school year 1958-1959 was read at the annual tea held by Poetry Society Sunday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5 o'clock in the Library Club Room. Guests at the tea were the Lindenwood faculty and administration and members of Poetry Society and their special guests.

The poems read at the tea were selected by a judging committee composed of Dr. Alice Parker, professor of English; Dr. Agnes Sibley, associate professor in English; James Feely, English instructor; Elizabeth Bohn, Jane Cooper, Cornelia Childs, Mary Margaret Ahrens, president of Poetry Society, and Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, sponsor of Poetry Society.

Members of the food committee, headed by Diane Floyd Hodges, were Elizabeth Bohn, Nicole Johnson, Nancy Russell, and Joy LaVigne. Nancy Rector was chairman of the invitation committee which included Judy Batton, Bitsy Thomas, Louise Leak, Jill Rebman, Emily Hunter, and Beth Randles.

Dr. Conover Discusses Gifted Student Program at Conference

Dr. Eugene Conover, professor of philosophy, presented the "Program of Lindenwood College for Superior Students" at the annual conference of "Teaching the Gifted Student" at Westminster College, Apr. 11.

Representatives of 27 colleges and universities from five different states heard Dr. Conover discuss the superior student plan that is provided at LC through advanced placement in beginning courses, advanced courses, and extra-curricular programs. Through these classes a student is able to show his superior abilities by entering courses designed for more advanced students or for upperclassmen.

He explained the Honors Day program or Honors curriculum that is being developed. Through this plan the superior student will be guided by a committee instead of a counselor in her college program. In the future special workshops, reading courses, and seminars are to be organized under the direction of the committee.

Griffin Magazine to be Distributed Honors Day

Lindenwood's literary magazine, The Griffin, will be distributed free of charge to all students on Honor's Day, May 7, according to Dr. Agnes Sibley, Griffin faculty advisor.

Cornelia Childs, editor of this year's magazine, says the '58-'59 Griffin is the best and biggest ever published, with many freshman entries.

Jr. Classical League Meets On Campus

The tenth annual State Convention of the Missouri Junior Classical League, national classical organization made up of high school students enrolled in Latin, was held on our campus Saturday, Apr. 11, under the direction of Dr. Hazel M. Toliver, classics professor, who is the state chairman of the League.

Thirty-five schools from various areas of the state were represented with an attendance of 800 high school students. The purpose of the JCL is to encourage understanding and appraisal of the Civilization of Greece and Rome to which our present western civilization is indebted in its government, laws, literature, language, and arts.

The meeting was conducted by the student officers and the program, which included sketches from various Latin plays, was put on by members of the League. Dean Paulena Nickell welcomed the guests at the beginning of the program. Lunch was served in the Ayres Dining Room where members of Pi Alpha Delta, classics club, acted as hostesses on behalf of the LC students.

Committee Chooses 5 Students As Washington Semesterites

The five Washington Semester students to represent Lindenwood College this coming fall at the American University in Washington, D.C., have been announced by Dr. F. L. McCluer, president. They are Margaret Bassnett, Connie Ellis, Gay Pauly, Terrill Ross, and Jane Tibbals.

The students will combine study of American government with work in their major fields. In addition to a special project assigned to them by the university and a seminar course which studies different phases of the national government, they will supplement their schedule with not more than nine hours of academic subjects.

Dr. Homer Clevenger, professor of history and government and member of the Washington Semester Committee, told the Bark, "The students who go from Lindenwood to spend a semester in Washington are carefully screened by the Washington Semester Committee. Their scholastic record, campus reputation, test scores, and personality traits are carefully weighed. The girls who are going this year rate as highly as any group we have sent. We expect them to do as well as all our other 57 participants.

The other members of the committee are Dean Paulena Nickell; Walter M. Beattie, Jr., chairman of the sociology department; Martha May Boyer, associate professor of speech; and Dr. John Moore, chairman of the economics department.

Margi, an Irwin Hall history and government major, is from Downers Grove, Ill. She plans to study international trade.

Connie, an Irwin Hall sociology major from Little Rock, Ark., plans to study the 1960 White House conference on children and youth.

Gay, an Irwin Hall speech major from Pine Bluff, Ark., plans to study an analysis of NBC's, "Meet the Press," as a democratic and political factor in the life of our nation.

Terry, a Sibley Hall radio and television major from Omaha, Neb., plans to study the national association of broadcasters with particular emphasis on the department of governmental relations.

Jane, an Irwin Hall religious education major from Collinsville, Ill., plans to take a survey of government officials to find out the influence which church membership has on the execution of the duties of their office.

New Counselor System Planned

The freshman counseling system has been revised for next year. Instead of having student counselors only through orientation week for incoming freshmen as has been done in the past, there will be approximately 75 students who will act as hostesses and each be in charge of two students during the orientation week. Later, 35 of these students will be selected by Miss Lichliter and Karen Glaser, freshman counselor, from all three upper classes to serve as counselor for the entire year.

The job of a hostess is to write her two freshmen during the summer answering their questions regarding school policies. They will also be in charge of them during orientation week. Students who are interested may sign up anytime after an announcement is made in student assembly, Tuesday, Apr. 28.

Students who are selected as student counselors for the year will be in charge of seven freshmen. This is an honorary job for those who are willing to give their time and energy. Selection will be based on scholarship, ability to communicate easily with others, to organize, and to recognize problems.

This new program of student counseling will begin during the first week of classes. The purpose of this program is to give the counselees closer contact with their student counselors during the entire year.

Panel To Discuss Current Philosophy

Carole Cordill, Annika Scott, Rachel Amado, Emma Kayserili, and Janice Nelson, panelists, will discuss the existentialist school of thought at the final meeting for the year of the Philosophy Club at Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Conover's home at 7:30 tonight.

This contemporary type of philosophy will be discussed according to its characteristics and implications.

Bank Does $50,000 Business As Money Flows In and Out

An average of $1500 including checks, deposits, and withdrawals passes through Lindenwood's bank on an average day. The amount is greatly increased on Fridays and near approaching vacations. The yearly business of the bank averages over $50,000.

The bank is a service facility for students and faculty under the supervision of Robert C. Colson, business manager, with Miss Marjorie Abeling as cashier. It serves approximately 98 percent of the students, with 60 percent using the facility for safekeeping of their money. The bank also supplies change for the book store, "Tea Hole," and post office.

What would LC Ladies do if they didn't have a place to obtain change for the little necessities of life? What would "Nani" Kong and "Seeti" Sheenan have done if the bank had not been able to provide $20 worth of change so they might telephone their parents when Hawaii was granted statehood? Transactions range from 10 cents for a candy bar to $100 for a wedding dress.

Sociology Films Depict Different Cultures of Man

"Peoples and Cultures of the World," a film series which has received wide recognition, is being sponsored by the sociology department and offered for all students.

The aim of the film series is to provide a better understanding of different cultures of the world, and to show the relationship and unity of man regardless of racial differences; and also to show the similarity of man's behavior beyond the difference in culture.

Among the films to be shown are: "World Without End," and "Lady from Philadelphia." The first is a documentary showing field work of UNESCO in Mexico and Thailand, two countries which, though widely separated, share many of the same problems. The second is a report by Edward R. Murrow T.V. on a tour Marian Anderson made for the State Department.

Graduate Elected To School Board

Miss Lois Hachtmeyer, a Lindenwood alumna, was elected to the School Board of St. Charles in a recent election. A supervisor of public schools in University City, she is the first woman ever elected to the St. Charles board.

Terrapin Club Gives Aquatic Show in Gym

Edgar Allen Poe would have been proud to have seen his short story, "The Masque of the Red Death," portrayed in Terrapin's aquatic carnival given in Butler's pool Apr. 16 and 17.

The excellent lighting handled by Jane Ely and crew helped create the mood for the different scenes of the colored rooms. The colored windows along the side of the wall, and the huge red mask and white grand-father clock on the ends of the pool added much to the both revelous and gloomy atmosphere of the presentation.

The colors of the costumes were keyed to the rooms which they represented. In one scene, the Blue Room, the swimmers wore royal blue leo-tites with matching leotards decorated with silver sequins and accentuated with silver caps. The body lights in the Green Room were quite effective, especially when the human water wheel was gracefully executed by the swimmers.

A reception was held after the first performance in Butler's recreation room.

Beta Chi Model Riding Habits In First Annual Style Show

Beta Chi's first annual style show, presented in Cobb's lounge Apr. 9, was deemed a success by Miss Fern Palmer, riding instructor and club sponsor.

Unusual and beautiful habits were modeled by members of Beta

A black side saddle dress was modeled by Mary Gibson. Barbara Dale Dunlap wore a semi-formal three gaited brown habit, and a blue semi-formal five gaited outfit was shown by Susan Perry. Marcia Worley modeled both a formal hunting and semi-formal jumping outfit. A navy formal five-gaited outfit was modeled by Cynthia Wieland. Lettie Russell and Mary Rankin modeled formal three-gaited ensembles.

The show was narrated by Mary Gunter.

Twenty Students Work For 'Camping Skill' Certificates

A camp counseling course, offered and open to all students interested in the area of camping and in becoming more proficient with the basic camping skills, is being taken by 20 students who will receive their certificates in May.

It is possible for those enrolled in the course to become certified in various camping skills. The class is being conducted by Miss Dorothy Ross, chairman of the physical education department, who received her national certification as an instructor a year ago through the American Camping Association.

The American Camping Association has designed this program to give direct aid to camp leaders in the teaching of basic camping skills through training and testing in campcraft and leadership. Included in the program are ropecraft, gear and shelter, map and compass, firecraft, food, toolcraft, health and safety, nature and conservation, trips, and leadership.

The program is comprised of two degrees of ratings, "Campcrafter" and "Advanced Campcrafter," presented to those who want to be counselors through sectional sponsored or approved training courses.

It is patterned somewhat on the American Red Cross Water Safety Certification program; the students desiring certificates must be at least 18 years of age and have experienced a training and testing period covering 18 to 20 hours. Upon certification, depending upon the type of rating, the participant is entitled to try for the more advanced rating.

The students enrolled in the course under Professor Ross are Jan Ayres, Nancy Lou Baker,

L. Arnold, N. Bohn Name New Horses To Win Contest

Lindenwood's two new horses have names. Tischamingo was suggested for the palamino by Helen Bohn; Lady Lynn, for the spotted mare by Lynn Arnold. The students entered winning entries in a contest to name the stable's newest acquisitions and each will receive a private riding lesson given by Miss Fern Palmer, the riding instructor.

Sandy Schmitt, Sheila Reel, and Cynthia Richards were accepted as members of the Beta Chi Club at the initiation dinner held at Golf View Inn, Mar. 24.

Several Beta Chi members plan to attend the Stephens Horse Show at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Saturday.

Tryouts for the square-dance were held Friday, April 8. The couples selected for the dance are: Mary Rankin Lettie Russell, Susan Perry and Diane Glass, Mary Gunter and Cynthia Wieland, and Judy Brown and Pat Haven. Mary Gibson and Margaret Marie Ahrens are the flag-bearers.

Students Give KFUCO Show

Yesterday "Jimmy's Adventure" was presented on KFUCO radio in Clayton by the radio and television production class at 3:45 p.m. This was the third story for children in a series of six that students are presenting.

The story is about a little boy, lost in Yellow Stone National Park, who is fed by the animals and finally carried back to his parents on the antlers of a moose.

It was written by Emmy Hay, directed by Gay Pauley, and the musical score composed by Mary Taylor. The cast included: Ferol Finch, Emmy Hay, Gretchen Lent, Jo Lovins, and Terrill Ross.

"Around the World in Eighty Days" is playing in St. Louis on an extended engagement. If enough students are interested, buses will go to Forest Park or on special tours. Students have the opportunity to see the St. Louis Cardinals play, to go to the theatre and dinner or to the Showboat. Buses may also be arranged to take groups in to St. Louis to some of the large churches for services on a Sunday.

Miss Odell, social director, says that groups of students may plan a special trip. She urges, "If there is something you would like to see or do in St. Louis or off campus, check with me to see if it is possible and we will charter a bus and make the final plans."

Reports of "huge successes" have returned from Butler's spaghetti dinner, the trip to Kemper, and the class parties held last week-end.

been a member of the Dean's Honor Roll for four semesters and has won the President's Scholarship for two years.

"I never thought I would win the AWRT scholarship; but since I have I realize that I couldn't have done it without the help of all the people here, and I will tell the conventioners so in New York," Gay told the Bark.

After graduation Gay plans to work in a broadcasting station, or for an advertising agency doing broadcasting production.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THIS SHORT QUIZ WILL TIP YOU OFF!*)

1. When your friends impart confidences, do you feel (A) uncomfortable, or (B) complimented?

A B

5. Do you find that you work or study more effectively (A) under supervision, or (B) on your own schedule?

A B

2. Do you prefer a task which demands (A) the organization of complex details, or (B) a constant flow of ideas?

A B

6. Is it your feeling that close friendships with superiors would be (A) a great help, or (B) actually a hindrance to your career with a firm?

A B

3. Would your first reaction to a difficult committee appointment be that you had been (A) "stuck," or (B) honored?

A B

7. Which, to your mind, has the greater influence on you in making a good grade: (A) the instructor, or (B) the subject matter of a course?

A B

4. If you were a contestant on a quiz program which of these question categories would you prefer: (A) popular songs of today, or (B) current events?
