COMMUNIQUE

VOL. FOUR, NO. 28; MARCH 18, 1986

SPORTS INFORMATION INTERNSHIP - Lindenwood is looking for an outstanding student to participate in a newly-created internship program that will be available next fall. Offered by the Athletic Dept. in conjunction with the Public Relations Office, the program will offer up to six hours of academic credit for a student interested in sports who is majoring in communication.

"This individual should be looking toward a career in either sports administration, print or broadcast journalism or a related field," said Athletic Director William Shapiro. "This job would be challenging and most enjoyable, and it would provide many rewards, especially in a major market like St. Louis. The experience would be invaluable for future employment," he added.

The student would work closely with Shapiro and Public Relations Director Randy L. Wallick. Duties would include, but not be limited to, writing sports-oriented media releases, both straight news and feature material; establishing and maintaining media contacts in the area; coordinating statistical compilation and output; working with National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics officials on ratings, statistics, rankings, honors, etc.; and assisting in administrative duties in the Athletic Dept.

If you're interested or know of someone who may be, contact Shapiro at extension 313 or Wallick at 383.

DENNEY RECEIVES STATE STIPEND - Diane M. Denney, assistant professor of education, is one of two recipients in Missouri to have been awarded a $6,900 graduate stipend from the Missouri Planning Council (MPC) for Developmental Disabilities. Funding will be used for tuition and expenses at St. Louis University, where Denney is pursuing her doctoral studies.

Last year, the MPC offered stipends to graduate students interested in completing a project which would benefit the mentally-retarded and developmentally-disabled populations in the state. Denney plans to dovetail the project with her graduate thesis in special education. She will be working with the St. Louis Regional Center for the Developmentally Disabled, a tax-supported public agency of the Missouri Department of Mental Health.

photographic survey of suburban environment and social entertainment. Hanlon, who graduated with an undergraduate degree in history and communications, plans to pursue a graduate degree in photography this fall.

SBA, COLLEGE JOIN FORCES - The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) and Lindenwood have joined forces to formulate the Small Business Development Center as a means of providing consultation services to St. Charles area businesses in the area of accounting, management information systems, personnel and marketing. The program is under the direction of Arthur E. Prell, chairman of the Business Administration Dept., and Terrence G. Peterson, an adjunct faculty member. Part of a three-credit hour management workshop, the program is being administered through the SBA's Small Business Institute.

It involves about 20 students who, under the direction of Prell and Peterson, will serve as consultants to businesses in the area. The program offers a practical training ground for students, providing them with first-hand opportunities in working with area businesses. All information obtained in the management workshop is confidential.

Assisting the Small Business Development Center are Robert W. King, associate professor of business administration; Lynn Moore, assistant professor and director of Fashion Marketing; and William D. Wood, president of Retail Marketing Concepts, Inc., of St. Louis.

LEADERSHIP WORKSHOP SATURDAY - The Hall Government is sponsoring a leadership skills workshop Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. Following lunch, workshop sessions will cover party planning, communications and listening skills, publicity ideas, meeting management, team building, time management and planning sessions. All students interesting in running for residence hall government positions next year MUST attend this workshop. The workshop also is open to any interested student. For further information, as well as details about residence hall government positions, contact your head resident or Marilyn Morris at extension 222.

'COUPLA WHITE CHICKS' OPENS THURSDAY - The popular comedy, "A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking" by John Noonan, will be presented March 20-22 at 8 p.m. in the FAB. Directed by MFA candidate Jannell L. Robinson, the two-person play features Gail Payne as Maude and Lisa Albert as Hannah Mae. It follows the unlikely relationship between a pair of seemingly-mismatched neighbors who, through a series of nont-so-normal incidents, discover a new richness and diversity in friendship. The three-night performance is part of the Performing Arts Department's Downstage studio season. A $1 donation is requested at the door.

SCHOLARSHIP DAY MARCH 24 - The college's Scholarship Committee and the Admissions Office are cohosting Scholarship Day, March 24, on campus. Nearly 80 students who have applied for the prestigious Guy C. Motley Scholarships will be on campus taking part in a variety of activities, including interviews for the awards. Called "the cream of the crop," these outstanding students will be competing for the college's first Motley awards this fall - full-tuition scholarships worth $30,000 during the next four years! The day's events begin with opening remarks by President Spainhower, Dean of Admissions Miriam King-Watts and officials of the Scholarship Committee and Admissions Office staff following breakfast in the MAB. Other activities include attendance at classes and workshops, scholarship interviews, a "mix-and-mingle" luncheon with faculty and staff at 12:30 p.m. in the Cardinal Room of Ayres, and a Trivial Pursuit competition at 1:30 p.m. Faculty and staff members are urged to attend the luncheon to meet some of the country's outstanding high school seniors.

COUNSELING SERVICES AVAILABLE - Bonnie Rosen, a graduate student in LCIE and newly-named counseling intern in the CAP Center, is available for students who want to talk about career, academic or personal matters. She is available from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each Monday and Tuesday at the CAP Center in Niccolls.

NEW BOOKS AT BUTLER - Newly purchased books at Butler Memorial Library are YEAGER: AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY by Chuck Yeager, THE PRIVATE WORLD OF LEONARD BERNSTEIN by John Gruen, FURO: THE JAPANESE BATH by Peter Grilli, WALT WHITMAN: THE MAKING OF A POET by Paul Zweig, the COMPLETE GUIDE TO PRESCRIPTION AND NONPRESCRIPTION DRUGS by H. Winter Bath, CRITICAL ESSAYS ON WILLA CALHER by John J. Murphy, THE ROSENBERG FILE by Ronald Ladosh, FOR COLORED GIRLS WHO HAVE CONSIDERED SUICIDE WHEN THE RAINBOW IS ENUF by Ntazade Shange, THE MARCH OF THE FOLLY: FROM TROY TO VIETNAM by Barbara W. Tuchman and DEPRESSIVE STATES AND THEIR TREATMENTS by Vamik Volkan. Stop by today and check out these new books!

TEMPORARY JOBS AVAILABLE - Twenty telephone operators and several managers are needed for a telemarketing business opening in the St. Charles area. All are temporary positions, lasting 16-20 weeks. For more information and application procedures, contact Donna Bennett at the CAP Center in Niccolls, extension 307.

PEER COUNSELING WORKSHOP TONIGHT - Faculty, staff and students are invited to a workshop, "I'm Okay and I Can Say So," today at 8 p.m. in McCluer Hall, sponsored by peer counselors. The 90-minute workshop will include topics on self-esteem; the affects of emotions, desires, values and goals; and the need to feel good, mentally, physically and emotionally. Consisting of students who have completed an intense training program, peer counselors are an essential part of the college's advisory and counseling system. They play a vital role in indentifying other students at risk, general college life concerns and needed resources and referrals.

JOB SEARCH WORKSHOP SATURDAY - The CAP Center's final job search workshop is scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at the CAP Center in Niccolls. Topics will include resume writing, interviewing skills, networking and information on the hidden job market. Reservations are required; to secure them, contact Joann Massmann at extenson 237.

OUTSTANDING COMEDY OPENS APRIL 2 - One of the most outstanding comedies of the English language, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," will close this year's season of the Lindenwood Mainstage with performances April 2-5 and 10-12 at 8 p.m. in Jelkyl Theatre. This classic comedy of manners mixes young lovers, mistaken identities and some of the most memorable characters and dialogue together in a witty puzzle that will delight audiences of all ages. For more information, contact the Box Office in Roemer Hall.

FOR FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES - A liberal arts program for all freshmen and sophomores is scheduled from noon to 1:15 p.m. Thursday in 111 Young. A panel of faculty members and employers will discuss the meaning, value and marketability of a liberal arts education in today's society. If you are interested in attending this program, and are assigned to an advisor rather than a preceptor, contact Joann Massmann in the CAF Center, extension 237. Upperclassmen, faculty and staff also are invited to attend.

SIBLEY LECTURE THURSDAY - In observance of Women's History Week, Lindenwood will host a lecture by Mary E. Ambler on Mary Easton Sibley at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the MAB Lounge. Sibley and her husband, George, the surveyor of the Santa Fe Trail, founded Lindenwood on its present grounds in 1827. Ambler is a Lindenwood alumna who served as associate professor and librarian until her retirement in 1974, the year in which she was named librarian emeritus. She has served as the college's archivist since then. The lecture is free and open to all faculty, staff and students.

RELIGIOUS LECTURE MARCH 25 - "The Constitution or the Bible: Lindenwood College, the Elijah Lovejoy Heritage and Freedom of the Press" is the title of a community lecture to be presented March 25 by the Rev. Robert W. Tabscott, minister of the Des Peres Prebyterian Church. Sponsored by the Lectures and Concerts Committee, the free lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the MAB Lounge.

The Rev. Tabscott is president of the Elijay Lovejoy Presbytery, and is the producer of the "Pictorial History of the St. Louis Community," titled THE VIGIL, which has been exhibited at Lindenwood and throughout the metro area. Currently, he is working on a script for a documentary to commemorate the sesquicentennial of Lovejoy's death in 1837 at the hands of an Alton, IL, mob that was angered by his anti-slavery newspaper editorials.

TICKET DEADLINE IS THURSDAY - March 20th is the deadline for purchasing tickets for the March 26th trip to the Ice Capades, sponsored by the College Life Office. Priced at $5 each, tickets include transportation, snacks and the show. For further information, contact Marilyn Morris at extension 222.
