WUS Auction Scheduled For Feb. 21

Co-Chairmen Outline Aims - To Aid Students

Final plans are under way for the World University Service auction to be held Feb. 21 at 11 a.m. in Roemer auditorium, under the auspices of the Student Christian Association. Betty Smith and Cornelia Childs are co-chairmen.

"WUS sees needs and rises to answer them," Betty explained to the student body in a chapel service last week. "All the proceeds from our auction will go to the World University Service to help answer these needs and to help students in Western Europe, Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and South America."

Last year's auction netted $2,191 for WUS, Cornelia told the students.

"Let me give you some examples of the needs WUS sees today, Betty continued. "In Indonesia one out of every nine students has tuberculosis, in Germany two out of three refugee students live on less than a dollar a day, and in Calcutta 2,000 students live in rooms the size of a twin bed."

Lindenwood's enrollment has increased 62 per cent within the last six years, but the enrollment at the University of Jerusalem has increased 600 per cent within the same period, and student enrollment in Indonesia has jumped 1,000 per cent.

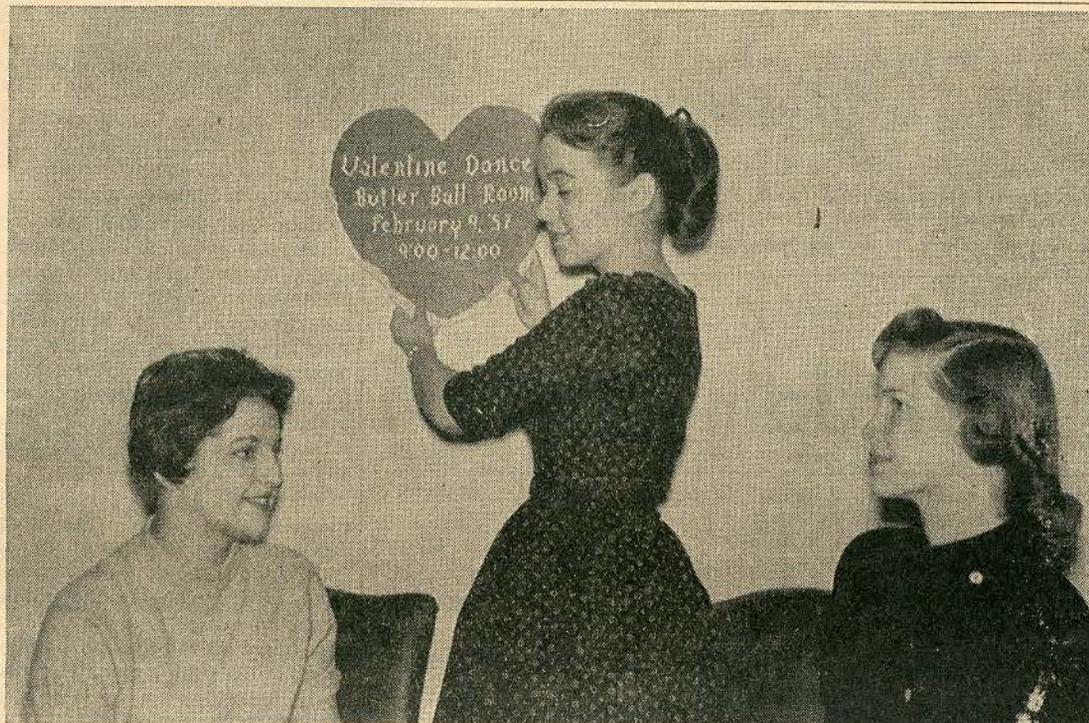

The proceeds from the Lindenwood auction may help finance a variety of WUS services, Betty explained. WUS supplies medical and X-ray equipment, builds TB sanitariums, and operates health centers. The organization equips class rooms, libraries, and laboratories, and builds dormitories and student centers. Also important are the scholarships and loans WUS grants; in this way, needy students who will some day be the leaders of their countries are able to secure educations.

"Our contribution is a handclasp of peace and good will to needy students throughout the world," Betty concluded. "By giving, we will fulfill this year's auction motto: 'Student hands across the sea.'"

Linden Scroll Holds All-Campus Sale; Adds $95 to Fund

The white elephant sale held Jan. 30 netted the Linden Scroll, senior service society, $95 toward its scholarship fund.

Martha Jane Faxon, a Cobbs hall junior, won the cake drawing after Dr. Alice Parker, English professor, had read her palm and told her that she would be lucky. About $10 was made on the fortune telling, and $7 was made on the cake, Marian Kasper, Scroll president, told the Bark.

Sophomores to Crown Valentine Queen In Colorful, Old-Fashioned Dance Setting

Red, pink, and white hearts will transform the Butler Gymnasium into an old-fashioned valentine for the annual crowning of the sophomore valentine queen tomorrow night.

Court members, revealed to the Bark by Marguerite Colville, sophomore president, are Anne Blackburn, Suellen Purdue, and Bettie Teasley.

The queen's identity will be kept a secret until the hour of the crowning ceremony at the ball, but she will be one of the three court members chosen by the sophomore class.

Anne, who comes from Elk City, Okla., is majoring in music. Suellen, of Kell, Ill., is a home economics major. Bettie, whose home is in Lebanon, Tenn., plans to major in speech.

Shirley Noland, junior from Nashville, Tenn., who has just returned from the Washington Semester program, will crown the queen. Shirley was last year's valentine queen.

The theme of the dance will be an "old-fashioned valentine," according to Suellen and Bonnie Burkhalter, general co-chairmen. Guests will dance to the orchestra of Bill McGinnis. Favors will be printed dance programs.

An after-dance party will be held in the Fine Arts building.

7 Students Added to LC

"Friendliness" is the word that characterizes Lindenwood to the five new students and two returning students, ranging from freshmen to juniors, who have enrolled at LC for the new semester.

The new students are Yolanda Breedon, Nahid Bozorgmehri, Patricia Ann Franke, Sara Beth Hendricks, Barbara Ann Mester, Sharon Poole, and Mattie Sue Winters.

Yolanda, a second semester junior from Anderson, Ind., transferred from Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind. She attended LC her freshman year, 1954-55. "Yo" plans to major in psychology, and lives in Cobbs Hall.

"I like Lindenwood much better than a larger school," she said, "because the faculty are more interested in one at a smaller college."

Nahid Bozorgmehri from Ahvas, Iran, is a first semester freshman living in Ayres Hall. She was scheduled to attend the fall semester, but was delayed in leaving Iran. Nahid, the sister-in-law of Shirley Dunaway Mehri, who attended LC from 1954-56, is planning to major in psychology.

Patricia "Pat" Franke from Ferguson, Mo., is a second semester freshman living in Ayres Hall. She transferred from Principia College.

"My friends highly recommended Lindenwood to me," she said. "I was planning to come next year, so I decided to change at semesters."

Sara Beth Hendricks is a sophomore transfer from Southwest Missouri State College in Springfield, Mo. "BeeBee" is from Springfield and plans to major in elementary education.

"I've liked all my classes," she reported. "I know I'm really going to like Lindenwood and Irwin Hall, for the students have been so helpful."

Barbara Mester is a second semester freshman transferring to Lindenwood from William Woods College in Fulton, Mo. She lives in Irwin Hall, and is planning to major in psychology.

"I came to LC because it offered the curriculum I needed, and also because I had friends here," she said. "I have already learned to like everything here."

Sharon Poole from Emporia, Kan., is a first semester sophomore transferring from Emporia State Teachers' College in Emporia. She lives in Sibley Hall and plans a major in business.

"I visited Lindenwood during the Thanksgiving holidays," she said. "I decided to attend LC, for I liked the friendliness and the atmosphere of the school."

Mattie Sue Winters from Antlers, Okla., is a second semester sophomore returning to LC, where she had her freshman year. She attended Southeastern State College in Durant, Okla., this fall semester.

"It's great to be back at Lindenwood," she said. "I missed my friends and even my classes!"

7 Make Straight A

Seven students made straight A records for the fall semester, and 47 students are on the Dean's honor roll for 3.5 (B-plus) or better averages, Dean Paulena Nickell announced.

Straight A students are Jane Graham Hubbell and Gwen Ryter, seniors; Ann Gatchell, junior; and Marguerite Colville, Jane Cooper, Rebecca Roberts, and Patricia Springer, sophomores.

Guest Speaker Is Dr. Kearns; Begins Sunday

"The Faith We Declare—the Life We Live" will be the general theme of Religion in Life Week, which opens at Vespers on Sunday.

The annual occasion, which is sponsored by the department of religion and the Student Christian Association, will continue with daily chapel and evening services through Thursday noon.

Speaker and leader for the week is the Rev. Dr. Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., minister of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Kearns will be presented more informally to faculty and students at a reception following Sunday vespers in the Library Clubroom. During his stay on the campus he will have conferences with individual students who request them.

Some of his individual sermon titles will be "Wanted—Unpurchasable Christians," "We Become What We Believe," and "Whom God Hath Joined Together." SCA cabinet officers will introduce him at the various sessions of the week.

Dr. Kearns

Dr. Kearns, who is the son of a Presbyterian minister, is a graduate of the College of Emporia in Kansas and McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. The College of Emporia awarded him an honorary doctorate in 1947.

His experience has included directing the Westminster Foundation at the University of Nebraska, where he worked with Presbyterian students, and working with students at Kansas State College when he was minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Manhattan, Kan.

For five years before going to Columbus, he was a staff member of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. He was director of the Department of Adult Work.

Dr. Kearns has participated in religion in life programs and religious conferences at many colleges and universities, including Princeton, Ohio State, Oklahoma A. and M., Tulsa, Wooster, Pennsylvania State, Washington and Jefferson, and the United States Naval Academy.

Linden Leaves Whisper

Snow Brings Sledding to LC

Snow was and is the big news still on campus (literally). M. J. Anderson and Marge Howell (Tennessee and Oklahoma respectively) took it, the snow, pretty hard. Last week they stood in front of Irwin greeting the dates royally with snowballs. They got a little of their own medicine back in the face, but their idea was original.

More snow news: Much good sledding on back campus behind Niccolls, girls. Elsie's going to try it soon, she says. The main reason snow was welcomed so heartily was that it meant that the ceiling would lift and planes could fly again. Betty Layton, Mary Alice Hounshell, Barbara Marr, Ann Emmert and your columnist were all stranded in Kentucky a day over semester break because the sky was too low. Barbara even spiced up her trip by losing her luggage. She says the cutest little man brought it to the dormitory to her. It had lodged in the baggage chute. Imagine that!

From all reports the SAE pledge class went over well last weekend as the boys spent their walkout in the St. Louis-St. Charles area. Where were they from? University of Arkansas of course; where else?

Barbara Bonner, Jan Kilgore, and Nancy Brown were eating dinner in the Gourmet Room at the Park Plaza the other day when the orchestra leader tried to get them to admit they were members of the Dorothy Cramer dancers. It seems the dance troop was at the Chase with the Crew Cuts, and the girls fitted the description of some of the dancers practicing for numbers. They told him he had a wrong number in their case, but it's a nice recommendation for the girls as well as LC.

To get a bit gossipy, Elsie hears that Frances Grace in Ayres and Diane Dowling in Niccolls are stealing important photographs so their entries in the Romeo contest will be sure to win. They'd better have given them back fast because the contest closed last Monday. It was a good try anyway, girls.

Have you had your pizza party yet? Catch up with the times and reserve your rec. room. It seems to be the rage to have a pizza party in the rec. room of your favorite dorm. Everybody's doing it.

East met West in the quonset huts during semester break. LC's hotel played host to two Parks men, two from Minnesota, one Puerto Rican, and two Armenians. Maybe that's some kind of a record.—A.H.

Ground Hog Day Seems Almost Spring-like to LC'ers Saturday

While the snow was on the ground, back campus was literally a "fair field full of folk." The Tea Hole rather resembled a ski lodge, with cold sledders coming in for warmth and coffee. However, last Saturday, Ground Hog Day, was sunny (for a change) and almost spring-like. Of course, the ground hog at the St. Louis Zoo has disappeared and didn't make an appearance, which is just as well because he surely would have seen his shadow. Maybe this means we won't have six more weeks of winter?

The Rolla Glee Club (bearded in anticipation of St. Pat's and looking like Amish elders) descended on the campus Saturday night.

Since Mr. Hume's article concerning his production of "Twelve Angry Women" was published in a trade magazine, he has received considerable publicity. Several college drama instructors now producing the play have written asking for advice. Latest to write in have been directors in several Texas schools and a small Catholic woman's college in Joliet, Ill.

Wasn't the Linden Scroll White Elephant Sale fun? The scene was something reminiscent of an Old World market. As one entered, carried along by the jostling crowd of bargain seekers, Carol Lee Knight could be heard shouting, "Take a 10 cent try for this delicious chocolate cake." Tillie Micheletto, at the other end of the library club room managed the fish pond with the skill of any circus barker: "Fishy, fishy, one thin dime to throw in your line." Dr. Marion Dawson, advisor to Linden Scroll, was stationed behind the "green door" loading goodies on the hook. Other Linden Scroll members dashed around (almost as though they were on a commission) giving 10 different reasons why one should buy a string of beads, a mystery pocket book, or an earring holder. The $95 profit indicates you must have done a good job, ladies, or maybe students were just bargain hungry.

This week's question is directed to Dr. Palmer: Is it merely chance that in the LC stables Miss Lindenwood lives directly across from Fraternity Man?—DS

Tripoli School Has LC Books

The books and maps sent by Lindenwood last summer to Tripoli Girls' School in Tripoli, Lebanon, are now being used by the school.

Miss Wadad K. Dibu, a 1949 LC graduate, and now president of the school in Tripoli, expressed her appreciation and thanks for the books in her recent letter to Miss Juliet McCrory, Student Christian Association adviser. Miss Dibu said that since the books were in the custom house for quite some time the school had just begun to use them.

A drastic need for books arose in the Lebanon school last year when a flood ruined its small library. Miss Dibu asked Lindenwood to help set up a new and larger library.

In response to her plea the SCA sponsored a drive to collect books from students and faculty members; a teachers' club in St. Louis spurred by Dr. Alice Parker, chairman of the English department, gave books; and many other organizations gave their aid and support.

"Since Tripoli Girls' School is an elementary and high school it could not use all of the books contributed," said Miss McCrory. "Those books more on the college level were sent to the Asian Foundation in San Francisco," she explained.

Like Lindenwood, the school in Tripoli is under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Art Dept., SCA Sponsor Binet Collection in Roemer Corridor

The George Binet Print Collection, a show of 16th to 20th century religious prints, will go on display Monday in the main corridor of Roemer Hall.

The Lindenwood art department and Student Christian Association are co-sponsors of the exhibit. The SCA paid for the costs, and the art department made the arrangements.

This exhibition of close to 50 original etchings, engravings, lithographs, and woodcuts was selected especially for the LC Religion in Life Week, which opens Sunday. The collection includes notable examples of religious printmaking starting with the early 1500s. Many of the prints were purchased recently in Europe by Mr. and Mrs. Binet.

As to the subjects, the greater part of the selected prints represent the Virgin and Child and scenes from the life of Christ. According to Mr. Binet's report of the show, pictures of particular interest are Rembrandt's two famous etchings,

"Christ at Emmaus," the large and the small plate, seldom seen together.

Mr. Harry Hendren, associate professor of art, remarked, "This is one of the few opportunities the students and faculty have to purchase original works of art."

Red Cross Instructor's Course Completed by 7

The Red Cross Instructors' course was completed last Friday by the following seven students: Emilie Blume, Kathryn Bogie, Ellen Devlin, Patti Jackson, Carolyn Kattmann, Connie Milliken, and Sylvia Patterson.

The girls are now authorized to teach courses in beginning swimming, intermediate swimming, advanced swimming, junior and senior lifesaving, water safety aid, part I of "instructors," basic survival, and advanced survival.

Basketball Intramurals Under Way; Butler, Sibley Win First Round

The first round of the basketball intramurals got underway last Monday afternoon with Butler Hall's 36-26 victory over the Day Students. Sibley eased by Cobbs in a 20-16 thriller.

As the Bark goes to press, the Niccolls-Ayres game has not been played. Games will continue to be played until Wednesday, when Lindy, the Women's Recreation Association trophy, will be turned over to the winning dormitory.

In the Butler Hall-Day Students game, Butler's Ellen Devlin, Ann Standeven, and Virginia Natho played exceptionally good ball. The first quarter found Ellen chalking up the first point with a free throw. Ann came close to making three field goals in the same quarter, but they rolled off the basket rim and were captured by Betty Dinkmeyer of the Day Students. The quarter ended with a 3-3 tie.

Among the confusion of fast running and high jumping in the second quarter, Betty Dinkmeyer made a field goal with her teammate, Norma Nixon, showing fine guarding ability. Good under-the-basket play was shown by the Day Students' Janet Batcheller. The half came to a close with Butler leading 13-12.

Norma, Janet, and Betty worked well together to combat Ann's many field goals. Sarah Dunkerton came in for Butler and responded quickly on rebounds.

High scorer for Butler was Ann with 22 points, and Betty copped honors for the Day Students with 15 points.

Mu Phi Initiates Four

Anne Blackburn, Elizabeth Butler, Mary Green, and Diane Holloway were initiated into the Lindenwood Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music society, yesterday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts parlor. They are sophomores.

Horse Shown by Fern Palmer Wins Silver Tray, Blue Ribbon

A silver tray and a blue ribbon have been won by Lovely Kalarama, a horse owned by Lindenwood.

Fern Palmer and Lovely

Lovely won first place in the 3-gaited division on the basis of accumulated points in horse shows during the summer. She was ridden in various shows by Fern Palmer, student riding instructor at Lindenwood.

Fern said that Lovely probably was the first horse owned by a college to win in this division.

The Missouri Horse Show Association gives points to the horses according to their placement in horse shows throughout the summer. The association met Saturday, Jan. 26, at a convention in Columbia, Mo., to tally points for winners.

A horse owned by Fern's parents, Murray Cason, won second place in the 5-gaited stallion and gelding division. The horse was ridden in shows this summer by Fern and her grandfather.

Fern's sister, Betty Jane, won the equitation division for riders 13 to 17 years old.

In the Sibley-Cobbs game, Martha "Marty" Latshaw was high with nine points. Sibley's Ann Bradshaw and Connie Milliken tied for four points.

A college team will be chosen from the dormitory teams and will play Monticello, Principia, Harris, and Maryville later this month, Miss Betty Barbee, assistant professor of physical education, told the Bark.

Who's Who At LC

E. Dawson Contemplates Tour

By Betty Layton

A full and interesting summer may be in store for Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, professor of English. Dr. Dawson is contemplating a theatrical tour of Europe, visiting theaters and meeting producers and actors, she told the Bark.

Traveling abroad, however, will not be a new experience for Dr. Dawson. She has made three previous trips across the ocean.

The first, in 1930, was, as she put it, a "general European tour." She says she was particularly impressed with the government of Czechoslovakia. At that time, President Masaryk, who had taught at the University of Chicago, was attempting to model the government after that of the United States.

Her second trip, in 1932, was spent in England, Scotland, and Ireland. Dr. Dawson visited the old Abbey Theater in Dublin, which recently burned.

While in England she attended the Malvern Festival. This festival, started in honor of playwright George Bernard Shaw, gave a series of plays ending with one of Shaw's own plays. In her characteristic soft voice, Dr. Dawson said, "I had the privilege of seeing the late Mr. Shaw."

In 1950 Dr. Dawson again went abroad, this time to the Scandinavian countries. In Copenhagen, Denmark, she took a course which included Danish history, social service, and government. It was during this visit that she traveled to Zurich, Switzerland, for a meeting of the International Federation of University Women, of which the AAUW in this country is a member.

The course in children's literature which Dr. Dawson teaches here at Lindenwood could be termed "right up her alley." Before coming to LC in 1927, she was on the staff of the Institute of Character Research Station at the University of Iowa. There she collaborated in the production of several books on children's literature, among them three volumes of folk fairy tales entitled The Wonder Road.

Her literary efforts, however, are not confined solely to children's stories. She has had two articles published: one, "Ibsen and the Greek Tragedians," in College English, the official magazine of the National Council of Teachers of English, and another, "Art in a Changing World," in the Modern Review, in Calcutta, India.

Though an Iowan at heart, Dr. Dawson was born at Evanston, Ill., where her father was a theological student. A minister's daughter, she has lived mainly in Iowa.

Dr. Dawson attended Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, where she took her B.A. degree and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society. Her M.A. degree is from Columbia University, and her Ph.D. from the State University of Iowa.

For relaxation, Dr. Dawson enjoys reading cleverly written detective stories, "in moderation," she added with a smile.

Outside Lindenwood

King Saud, Israel Occupy Prominent Places in News

Figuring prominently in this week's headlines is King Saud of Arabia, who has been visiting in Washington. In an interview Sunday, Saud said he approved President Eisenhower's controversial Middle East plan and would try to correct past misunderstandings about it. He said that Saudi Arabia does not have diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union, implying that his country will not turn to Russia for armaments.

Israel, on the other hand, has refused to withdraw its troops from the Gaza strip and Egypt's Gulf of Aquaba, defying the United Nation's sixth resolution calling on it to pull back its troops. The Assembly adopted a resolution Saturday night, again calling for withdrawal and another authorizing the use of the U. N. Emergency Force on the armistice line and "other measures" to keep peace.

It is interesting to note that Romanians elected all 437 candidates put up by the Communist party for their new parliament. A Soviet broadcast said the voting was an "enthusiastic demonstration for the people's democracy."

Here in the United States various disasters have occupied a large part of the news, the latest being a mine explosion in a Virginia coal field. Reports released as the Bark went to press listed 37 miners trapped or killed.

Other tragedies include four plane crashes, one a passenger plane, and heavy flood damage in eastern Kentucky. A special committee has been appointed to investigate the airplane accidents, and President Eisenhower has declared the flooded territory a disaster area. A. B. Chandler, governor of Kentucky, has sent National Guard troops into the area to prevent looting of homes.—B.L.

Niccolls Plans Valentine Theme for Open House

Niccolls Hall will hold its annual open house Sunday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The administration, faculty, students, and their guests are invited, Sandra Gordon, house president, told the Bark.

Valentine's Day will be the dominant theme for decorations, Sandra said. Doors and windows of many of the rooms will be decorated.

Refreshments will be served in the parlor.

Elaine Lunt, Sibley Hall Senior, Plans Summer Trip to Austria

Spending six months with an Austrian farm family, touring parts of Europe, and a possibility of studying in Austria are included in an all-expense paid trip won by Elaine Lunt, junior music education major.

The International Farm Youth Exchange sponsors several American youths every summer, fall, and spring on trips to Europe. The State Department in Washington and the state division of the national 4-H foundation are also sponsors.

The trip was awarded on the basis of Elaine's record during her 12 years of 4-H work in Pratt, Kan. Here she held every office of the organization. Elaine was state and national 4-H public speaking champion in 1952; and in 1954 she was awarded the state junior leadership, the highest award given in 4-H.

She has given between 12 and 15 demonstrations in county and state fairs. At one time, she was named highest in her state for her clothing demonstration. Elaine has made approximately 300 talks in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, and Nebraska, before civic, cultural, women's and 4-H clubs.

Elaine will leave the first of June for Washington, D.C., where she will spend a week in orientation. Then she will leave for Austria, returning some time in November or December. In Austria, she will live with two or three farm families during her stay, where her job will be to suggest better ways of farming, to learn to live with the people, and to find ways to help them in their economic life.

Upon returning to the United

Need of Economic Training for Public Urged in FTA Talk

Economic education is important to all persons, because everyone either buys, sells, or consumes, Glenn Ogle, executive director of the St. Louis Regional Council of Economic Education, told members of Lindenwood's Future Teachers of America Wednesday.

Mr. Ogle explained to the future teachers what economic education is and stressed the importance of teaching economics in the schools. A knowledge of economics acquired during school years not only should improve family economics, but will aid the nation in economic savings, he said.

Elaine Lunt

States, Elaine will spend a week or more in New York City making radio and television appearances. She will be expected to evaluate her trip for these talks.
