By PRESIDENT GAGE

THE population of the United States is approximately one hundred and thirty million. Recently released figures estimate that church membership is fifty-six million or, by more liberal methods of calculation, seventy-two million. There are more than two hundred and fifty denominations. Quite certainly a majority of adults in this country are church members; a great majority have some denominational preference. We are a Christian people. Our great state papers, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America, are monuments erected in the progress of the Christian tradition. They are the political expression of ideals which came into the world as Christianity in which democracy is rooted.

"We the people" suffer today from blocs, pressure groups, and classes arrayed against each other. Divisive forces are at work. Nevertheless, our forty-eight sovereign states are united. Our one hundred and thirty million people, each one sovereign in his citizenship, affirms that men's hearts and minds are kingdoms and queendoms and they that rule them are kings and queens. Therefore, in a very Christian way we keep the "unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Our unity is in strange contrast to the great number of different churches to which we belong. No doubt churches are in honest competition to render the highest, best, and most enduring service. The divisions of an army never train their guns against each other unless they have lost sight of a common foe. Fundamentally we are united in the belief that all men are possible beneficiaries of the grace of God and united, too, in a fight against "the world, the flesh, and the devil."

Sometimes we hear advocates and prophecies of a "reunion" of the churches. Has there ever been a time when a greater spirit of Christian unity prevailed? Is not "unity in diversity" a law of life? There have been times and places where a false unity, not "the unity of the spirit," has been secured by suppression and persecution. Happily and providentially such unity is un-American and foreign to our spirit. Here in America we strive for union, not reunion. The golden age of unity is not in the past. It beckons to a brighter future than we have ever known. The unity for which we strive in America is the unity for which we strive throughout the world.

Our campus is a world in miniature. Here live and work six hundred people. We belong to at least twenty different churches. No one church is represented in preponderant majority. We are not divided into quarreling sects. We are friendly. We are proud of each other and of the churches to which we belong. Also we are hopeful. We are youthful. We are not trying to go back to something that once was and now is not; nor to create something that never was and is to be. We are trying to make more effective on the campus and throughout the world a Christian Spirit that has been and is and ever will be. This by educational processes appropriate to the level of higher education is the supreme purpose of the college.

Lindenwood Has Full Program For Second Semester

*Four Seniors Complete Work for Degrees in January —
New Members of Faculty and New Courses Are Added*

FOUR members of the Class of 1946 completed their work for their degrees at the end of the first semester. They are Miss Mary Louise Peterson, of Kansas City, Mo.; Miss Elizabeth Franke, of Webster Groves, Mo.; Miss Jean McDonald, of Washington, Mo., and Miss Marian Wagner, of St. Charles. They will be graduated with the other members of the class in June.

Several new members have been added to the faculty. The new assistant to Dr. Florence Schaper in the Office of Student Guidance and Personnel is Miss Jane Marker, of Evanston, Ill. Miss Marker did public relations work for the Navy during the war and last summer was supervisor of land sports at Camp Sky Lake, Sautee, Ga. She is teaching several classes in the Physical Education Department, including Social Dancing.

Another new faculty member is Miss Clarene Boyd in the Physical Education Department. Miss Boyd is the instructor in horseback riding.

John A. Holscher is a newcomer in the Fine Arts Department. He is an instructor in piano. Mr. Holscher was graduated from the University of Missouri and attended the Chris Tiansen Choral School. He is director of the Kirkwood, Mo., Choral Club and director of the choir of the Brentwood Congregational Church in St. Louis County.

Mrs. Rifkinson, who was formerly buyer for several large New York stores, has been secured to teach the class in Advertising and Merchandising, which is being offered this semester. Other new courses include: Food Preparation and Selection; Introduction to Sociology; Postwar Peace Problems, Anthropology and Comparative Economic Systems.

A full program of social events is planned for the remainder of the year on the campus. In addition to the formal dances and parties, "Fun Nights" are a regular weekend feature. Sponsored by the Student Activities Committee, the programs include a variety of games such as table tennis, shuffleboard, volleyball, and bridge. Refreshments are served.

Lindenwood is also continuing an active program in support of civic and patriotic activities. Lindenwood students contributed more than 600 garments to the Victory Clothing Drive in January and "laid" $79 on the line in the annual Mile o' Dimes campaign to aid in the fight against infantile paralysis.

In Hall of Fame

Nominated for the campus Hall of Fame by the Linden Bark, Miss Eileen Murphy, a Senior, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., is president of the Student Christian Association and art editor of the Linden Leaves. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau, Kappa Pi, Sigma Tau Delta, Pi Gamma Mu, the International Relations Club, the League of Women Voters and the Press Club. She is one of Lindenwood's representatives in the current edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

This month the campus Red Cross chapter will make 500 pairs of mittens to be sent to children in Europe.

Dr. Homer Clevenger Has Article in History Journal

Dr. Homer Clevenger, head of the history department, is the author of an article on "Teaching Techniques of the Farmers' Alliance: An Experiment in Education," in the November issue of the Journal of Southern History. Before its publication, Dr. Clevenger read the article at a meeting of the Greater St. Louis Historical Society.

Second Installment of the Roll Call Of the Class of 1925

By KATHRYN HANKINS, Alumnae Secretary

THIS month we complete the roll call of the members of the Class of 1925. The following alumnae have responded to the request for news of themselves and their activities:

Eleanor Dressel (Mrs. Robert Nelson Bowen), 891 Livingston St., Carlyle, Ill.: "My husband, two sons and I have been living in Carlyle, but we're moving soon to Bonne Terre, Mo. My husband is to be superintendent of a Novelty Shoe Company there. My boys are 9 and 3, so I spend most of my time in caring for my family."

Frances Fitzgerald (Mrs. John H. Hinsch), 3439 Eighty-sixth St., Jackson Heights, N. Y.: "After graduating from University of Nebraska in 1927, I taught in Nebraska and Kansas high schools for six years. Then I received a graduate degree from Columbia University, School of Library Science. I thoroughly enjoyed my work as a librarian in New Jersey schools until I married in 1938. Since then, I have been merely a housewife and now have two lovely children, Tom, 6, and Ellen, 4. I have been back to the campus only once since my graduation, but I think often of my friends and the two happy years I spent there."

Margaret Ann Wilson (Mrs. T. W. Wesson), 212 S. E. Riverside Dr., Evansville, Ind.: "I'm enclosing a snapshot, and one look at it will tell you what I do. Tommy is 2 years and 5 months, and Matt is almost a year old; and they see to it that I have very few spare moments. I'm going to try to get out to Lindenwood if I ever get back to St. Louis."

Viola Karrenbrock, 912 South Fourth St., St. Charles, Mo.: "Until three years ago, I taught in the primary grades of Lincoln School, St. Charles, Mo., but now I am teaching in Lockwood School, Webster Groves, Mo. At present I have a group of twenty-four first graders who keep me very busy. I enjoy my work immensely. It is challenging and interesting, and rarely, if ever, is there a dull moment."

Oda Jane Wentworth (Mrs. R. A. Hauck), 320 South Sixteenth St., Unionville, Mo.: "After leaving Lindenwood I attended Northwestern University for a year and then married. We lived in Evanston, Ill., till 1931, then moved to Unionville. We have two sons, 17 and 13. The older son attended Kemper Military School the last two years and is now at Missouri University. The younger son is in the local high school. My activities are the usual ones of a homemaker in a small community with some writing and public speaking as further mental stimuli. Frequently, on visits throughout the Mid-west, I meet friends known at L. C. On elevators in city department stores, on trains; even at our son's fraternity house, recently, an L. C. friend and I recognized each other. On these ensuing visits we are always surprised to find 'just how many years it's been.' It's never too many years, however, to forget old friends or our Alma Mater. The years do give one a greater appreciation of all that Lindenwood was and is."

Mary Frances Lynch, 2406 Edison Ave., Granite City, Ill.: "I always enjoy the Class Roll in the Bulletin and only wish you could get replies from all the girls. I am librarian at the Community High School here in Granite City. I take advantage of every opportunity to influence girls to go to Lindenwood if they seem to be interested in college."

Kathryn Porter (Mrs. Lawrence E. Allen), 1407 S. W. Twenty-first St., Miami, Fla.: "My time is pretty well taken up by the operation of a Nursery School and taking care of our home. We have two daughters. The older one, 15, is a sophomore at Miami High. The younger one, 12, expects to graduate from the elementary school next spring. We have fifty children enrolled in the Nursery School and will have an average of 45 children from 3 to 5 years old in attendance each day. This group manages to keep me and my assistant busy from eight until twelve. I have been a worker in the Girl Scout Program the past five years, having been a Brownie leader for three years and an Intermediate leader for two years. I have been active in the Baptist Church since girlhood and am at present teaching a Sunday School class of five year old girls. Our girls enjoy hearing about my experiences in Lindenwood and are anxious to "grow up" and attend Lindenwood too."

Lillian Hinkle (Mrs. Max Welton Coll), Box 919, Roswell, N. M.: "I am the mother of four boys—Max Coll II, 14; twin sons, James Neville and Charles Hinkle, 9, and Jon Fielding, 8. Aside from homemaking I take a very active part in D. A. R. work. I am past Regent of Roswell Chapter, D. A. R., and am National Defense Chairman and have been for the past four years. I am on the Social Committee of Roswell Country Club—also a member of The Women's Golf Association. What spare time I have, I

Joan Emons Is Lindenwood's 1946 Popularity Queen

Mary Swilley and Caroline Gillette Are Maids of Honor as New Queen Receives Her Crown in Formal Dinner in Ayres Hall on February 13.

CHOSEN by the student body in an election sponsored by the Linden Leaves, Miss Joan Emons, Lindenwood Senior from Alton, Ill., was crowned as the college's 1946 Popularity Queen at a formal dinner on February 13.

Her First Maid of Honor was Miss Mary Swilley, of El Dorado, Ark., a Junior. The Second Maid of Honor was Mrs. Caroline Gillette, of St. Charles, a Senior and editor of the Linden Leaves.

Members of the Queen Court were Miss Ann Hardin, of New Albany, Ind., Senior; Miss Carolyn Hempelman, of Des Moines, Iowa, Senior; Miss Peggy King, of Wichita, Kan., Senior; Miss Patricia Latherow, of Elgin, Ill., Senior; Miss Jane McLean, of East St. Louis, Ill., Senior; Miss Eileen Murphy, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., Senior; Miss Mary Lee Nathan, of Wichita, Kan., Senior; Miss Marie Szilagyi, of Dallas, Texas, Senior; Miss Keltah Long, of Elizabethtown, Ky., Junior; and Miss Jeane Sebastian, of Cuba, Mo., Sophomore.

The Mistress of Ceremonies at the dinner was Miss Mary Ann Parker, Literary Editor of the Linden Leaves, who announced the members of the court as they marched into the dining room in Ayres Hall to the strains of "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

The new Popularity Queen was crowned by her First Maid of Honor as the court stood at the head table. Following the dinner a reception was held for the Queen and her court in Ayres parlors.

The new Queen is vice president of the Student Government Association and is one of the college's representatives this year in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Father of Lindenwood Alumna Is Dept. of Agriculture Official

Mr. Gayle Armstrong, of Roswell, New Mex., has been named by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson as the special agent of the Department of Agriculture in the adjustment of the nationwide meat strike. Mr. Armstrong, who has been doing an outstanding job in the difficult task of settling the walkout of packing house employes, is the father of Miss Gayle Armstrong, who attended Lindenwood in 1942-44.

Lindenwood had the pleasure of having both Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong as its guests on the campus many times while their daughter was in college.

Southern California Lindenwood Club Elects Officers

The Lindenwood Club of Southern California, which was disbanded during the war, has resumed its regular meetings. At a meeting held on October 20 with Miss Alma Kinkade and Mrs. Benjamin Cunliff as hostesses, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Ollie Dameron, president; Mrs. C. H. Baker, vice president, and Mrs. C. V. Fetty, secretary and treasurer.

The November meeting of the club was held on November 20 at the home of Mrs. Fetty, with Mrs. E. Lankford as co-hostess. The Christmas party, on December 15, was given at the home of Miss Helen Rakestraw in Altadena. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dameron and Mrs. Lloyd Walker.

On January 19 the club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Eloise Bergman, with Mrs. Lillian Henning, Mrs. William Dean and Mrs. F. G. Farmer as co-hostesses.

Lindenwood College Now Has War Plane

Lindenwood students rubbed their eyes in amazement one morning recently when they found a war plane parked on the campus in front of Roemer Hall. The plane, a B. T. 13, used as a training plane during the war, was purchased by the college.

Its instruments will be removed and used in the physics laboratory and the plane will be on exhibit on the campus this spring as a reminder to the students of the recent war.

Lindenwood, during the war, purchased enough War Bonds to buy twenty such planes for the government.

try to learn something of the oil business in which my husband is engaged."

Margaret Elizabeth Boss (Mrs. John R. Short), Jackson, Mo.: "I am a homemaker. For several years after graduation, I taught in Jackson and then married and settled here. I have one child, a boy who is now 5 years old. I have visited Lindenwood several times since graduation and always find it a great pleasure to return. At present, I have a niece who is a freshman in Lindenwood."

Sara L. Shomberg (Mrs. Michael Kearns), 4305 Rossmoyne, Houston, Texas: "My husband, who has been a captain in the Navy, has been stationed here in Texas for quite some time. We are both so fascinated with Texas that we're thinking seriously of making our future home here. My husband is on terminal leave at present, and we are going back to sell our home in New Jersey. I received my Master's Degree in psychiatric social work from Smith College in 1931, and have found that training to be of great assistance in my Red Cross war work as well as all the other activities in which I participated for the servicemen. We had taken on a "ready made" family of foster children while still in New Jersey, but were not able to bring those youngsters to Texas—so I will have to start all over again if we Yankees do become Texans."

The following members are deceased: Roberta Mackechnie (Mrs. W. H. Rankin) and Wanda Vivian Little (Mrs. Carl McClain).

Crew of S. S. Lindenwood Victory Thanks College for Library

When the Victory ship, the S. S. Lindenwood Victory, was launched, Lindenwood College presented a library for the enjoyment of the ship's crew. The following letter to the college from the master of the S. S. Lindenwood Victory tells of appreciation of the gift:

"Many times during the past six months I have been reminded of your kindness and generosity in placing a library aboard this ship. The committee which made the selection deserves special mention as there was material to satisfy each one of us. It is always interesting to read a new author and I personally have made several new friends in this way.

"The bronze plaque and pennant were delivered aboard on our recent arrival in New York and have been placed in an appropriate place. It was, indeed, a splendid thing to do and we certainly appreciate your continued interest.

"At present the vessel is undergoing repairs after being blown aground on coral reefs near Okinawa. She is gradually losing her military bearing and as the guns are removed and the war paint concealed, we seem to sense a certain impatience stirring below decks in this debutante, to be off for the high seas. I know she will hold her head very high as she drops the pilot and takes the name of Lindenwood to new shores. Thank you again for remembering your namesake so well."
