

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE COMMUNIQUE

A HEARTY AUTUMN WELCOME TO LINDENWOOD COLLEGE ALUMNI!

VOL. FIVE, NO. 13

OCT. 14, 1986

ALUMNI ART EXHIBIT

Several stained glass church windows by Jeffrey R. Zumwalt of Linn Creek, MO, are on display now through November 7 as part of an alumni art exhibit in the Hendren Gallery. The hand-blown antique glass windows are among photos and sketches to be displayed by Zumwalt, a 1971 alumnus who owns a studio in the Lake of the Ozarks. He specializes in commissioned work and in preserving stained glass through restoration.

Also on display is a collage series by Betsy Nimock, a 1955 alumna. The series, "Women and the Work of Their Hands," explores the individual and intergenerational lives of women. It includes a variety of materials such as scraps of quilts, handmade laces, 19th century diecut lithographs, old photos, French silk flowers, vintage adornments and Nimock's expressionistic oil paintings.

Faculty, staff and students are invited to a special reception to honor both artists, scheduled Friday from 5-6 p.m. at the gallery. Exhibits can be viewed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and from 1-5 p.m. on weekends. The showings are sponsored by the Lindenwood Alumni Council in conjunction with the Associates of the Fine Arts.

AD TO APPEAR IN NATIONAL MAGAZINES

As a first, Lindenwood will be advertising in regional editions of eight national magazines in December - DUN'S BUSINESS MONTH, MONEY, NATION'S BUSINESS, NEWSWEEK, SPORTS ILLUSTRATED, TIME, U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT and WORKING WOMAN. The full-page ad, entitled "Lindenwood - A Great American College for All Ages," will be circulated to nearly 162,000 subscribers of the eight magazines, which have a combined readership of 927,000 in the metro area. In addition, the print campaign will be supplemented with a half-page ad in ST. LOUIS MAGAZINE and reinforced with radio spots on Bruce Bradley's weekday morning show on KMOX-AM and with recorded messages on KYKY-FM, said Public Relations Director Randy L. Wallick.

DOWNSTAGE PRODUCTION OPENS OCTOBER 23

"Chekhov and Friends," a collection of works by Russian playwright Anton Chekhov, opens the Downstage Studio Theatre's season with performances at 8 p.m. October 23-25. Chekhov's famous one-act jests, "The Proposal" and "The Bear," are part of the Lindenwood fare along with an adaptation of one of his short stories. The production is being directed by MFA directing candidate Matt Schliesman. The three performances are in 101 FAB, so make plans to attend one!

HIGHER EDUCATION WEEK

"Education Is Freedom" is the theme for National Higher Education Week, an October 25-31 celebration to focus public and media attention on the contributions institutions and their graduates like Lindenwood and its alumni have made to American Society. Governors of all 50 states and mayors of major cities have proclaimed this event to enhance public understanding of higher education and to increase public and private support for education at all levels.

PRESERVATIONIST TO SPEAK

"Preservation and Public History" is the title of a presentation to be given Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the FAB Auditorium by Edward F. Zimmer, historic preservation planner for the Lincoln/Lancaster County Planning Dept. in Nebraska. His appearance is part of Alumni Reunion Weekend. A 1973 Lindenwood alumnus, he has a doctorate degree in American studies, awarded from Boston University in 1984. Zimmer has served as a lecturer for the National Endowment for the Humanities' Learning Library Program and as an architectural historian for the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History in Washington, DC. His presentation is open without charge to all faculty, staff and students.

Ir inkluswa St. Nicolas Greek Orthodox, St. Francis Xavier and First Presbyterian churches. Registration deadline is Wednesday in the College Life Office.

HOMECOMING MUMS FOR SALE . . .

Cheerleaders will be selling homecoming mums this week in Ayres Cafeteria. Cost is $3 each. If you're interested, contact Beth Bodnam at Ext. #366.

LAST APPEAL FOR UNITED WAY . . .

If you haven't made a contribution to this year's United Way Campaign, you still can do so this week as the college's drive comes to a close. As part of this year's campaign, Lindenwood is seeking a 100% participation from its 275 employees and a goal of $2,500. Tax-deductible contributions can be made directly to the United Way, or through payroll deduction. Take a few minutes now to turn in your pledge card and support this year's efforts!

YEARBOOK PHOTOS FOR STUDENTS, FACULTY . . .

Seniors need to make appointments now through October 31 with Gallery Photography in St. Charles, 946-6629, to have pictures taken. There is no sitting fee for seniors. October 31 is the deadline for inclusion in the yearbook, so do it today. Questions? Call Bonnie Hoesli, yearbook editor, at Ext. #374.

For underclassmen and all faculty members, photos will be taken October 28-29 in the Night Owl Nook of Butler Library, from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m. This year, there will be individual faculty pictures taken rather than group photos.

Speaking of the yearbook, someone is needed to design the cover and select the theme for this year's yearbook. The winner will receive a free yearbook in addition to having a great addition for his or her portfolio. For further details, contact Hoesli.

INGRES DATABASE SYSTEM INSTALLED . . .

John Dooley, assistant professor of computer science, has announced the availability of the INGRES relational database management system on the college's PDP-11/44 academic computer system. INGRES is an excellent teaching tool and currently is being used in the CSC 305 File Processing and Database Theory course, he said. The system was acquired as part of a package of programs included with the UNIX operating system from the University of California at Berkeley for $200. Dooley modified the program to run on the college's academic computer and installed it. Commercially-available versions of INGRES cost about $5,000 plus installation.

WOMEN'S BOARD FORMED . . .

A volunteer group, the Lindenwood Women's Board, has been formed with a two-fold purpose to plan and sponsor programs of interest to women and interested men at Lindenwood and to channel information of relevance to women. The group will have its first session October 29 from 12:30-1:30 p.m. at Young Hall Lounge. Featured will be Edith Graber and Carolyn Scott with a presentation, "I'm Not a Feminist but . . ." All interested staff, faculty and students are invited to bring a brown bag lunch and attend.

Board members consist of Jan Czaplá, Jean Fields, Graber, Darlene Jemison, Karen Johnson, Ellen Irons, Marilyn Kay, Jean Taylor, Miriam King-Watts and Pat Wyatt.

OFFICE MANAGER POSITION OPEN . . .

An immediate opening exists for a full-time, 12-month office manager's position in Niccolls Hall. Duties include working closely with the CAP Center, the Office of Programs & Residences, the College Chaplain and the LSG. If you're interested in applying, or if you can recommend someone, contact Joann Massmann at Ext. 237 before October 20.
